M'GRAW'S MEN ARE FAR BEHIND BUT MAY RETALIATE – MARTIN

By JACK MARTIN
(Of the BOSTON NATIONALS)

Pulling up from the depths of defeat at a time when spectators had settled back in their seats to await the ultimate outcome so favorably swayed in favor of the fast traveling Athletics, Johnny McGraw's crippled and limping herd of ballists launched a brilliant flash of speed that for a time threatened to sweep the Philadelphians completely off their feet and even up the 1913 World's Series. With the score standing 6 to 0 against them the balky New York machine sprang the inevitable and before the Mack crew knew what had happened they had scored a total of five counters on some clean smashing. "Big Chief" Bender pulled himself together at the crucial moment, however, and putting his shoulders to the wheel as defeat stared him in the face, he ended a gruelling warfare and the fourth contest of the championship series went to the Quakertown nine by a count of 6 to 5.

McGraw followed my dope of yesterday and sent Al Demaree, the frail-looking cartoonist, out to tame the runaways while Connie Mack sprang a big surprise in sending the Chippewa Indian to the hurling slab. The New York sketcher had taken a big task on his none too broad shoulders and he was plainly laboring under difficulties. Coupled with the nervousness ever present when a youngster makes his debut before a world's series crowd, Demaree had to contend with a crippled machine as a supporting cast and when the support broke and flood rushed in, "Rube" Marquard was sent to do the rescue stunt. "Rube" was in good fettle and did some good baseball pegging while he was in the spotlight. The game to all appearances was lost when he stepped to the mound, but in the event of his being able to steer off that final run in the sixth the count would have remained a tie and there is no telling what would have happened.

Today it looks like a world's title for the Athletics to everybody except the New York players and if Matty is unable to stem the tide of battle this afternoon the 1913 baseball curtain will be lowered and the Philadelphians will start their celebration. New York was plainly hampered in the first quartet of contests by bad breaks in the luck and at times poor judgment on the part of those at the helm of the Giants' engine have had much to do with the outcome of the battles that have been waged.

In the second inning Fred Merkle dumped Barry's foul back of first base and Barry immediately followed his chicken stealing with a double lick to the outfield patrol scoring the Philadelphians' first counter of the fourth contest. Merkle has been reported to be a cripple and his playing is plainly being done on pure grit and remarkable nerve and I do not think it is fair to the great first baseman to hand out a panning or lacing for this costly error. Many a ball player, in a crippled state like the first sacker, would remain out of the game, but he has been on deck every contest since he was injured always playing until his injured limb gave way under the strain. Furthermore, he was the hitter who gave the ball a round trip to the left field bleachers in the stretch stanza and opened a rally that for a time appeared like a victory for the New Yorkers. This clout put the McGraw regiment in the running and the initial corner guardian raised himself up to the Baker pedestal. "Heap Big Chief" Meyers was quoted as saying that he would be willing to separate 500 simoleans from his person if he could get into the 1913 world's series and swing a bat for the cause, but it is doubtful if the redskin could do any better than Larry McLean has done to date with the hickory. Meyers has handled the slants of the Giants hurling brigade for the past two years and with him behind the bat with his cranium full of knowledge concerning the ability of each as a heaver, it is probable that the New York pitching department would have shown to better advantage however. As it is, the bronze colored fighter can do nothing but hand out dope from a comfortable seat on the bench and nurse his throbbing split thumb while McLean is guiding the the destinies of a batch of the tossers who a few months ago were strangers to him. McGraw's baseball judgment leaps into prominence again in this place. The veteran manager pulled a big card when he drew McLean to the Gotham fold, but Meyers knows the Giants' pitchers' pecularities and knowing can call for the turn that may derrick the moundsmen from a big ditch.

With a collection of broken limbs and strains that would rival the curiosities of a morgue after a New Haven train wreck, the Giants are giving a remarkable account of themselves and if in the same condition and playing under the same baseball circumstances as the Athletics would probably be on the credit side of the game score today. The New York pitchers deserve all the credit that can be handed out to them at any sacrifice, for their work on the mound. Every man sent to deliver the bullets to the Philadelphia earthworks has twirled his head off to stop and prevent the cannonading but with a crippled aggregation of supporters to back them up, their prowess and cunning has been fruitless.

Wally Schang, the little backstop, whom I picked as the coming star of the series after the first battle had ended, has fulfilled my greatest anticipations and continues to heap laurels upon his young personage every time a battle is staged. The Giants' pair of pitchers who did duty yesterday called a halt in the flight of Collins, Baker and McInnes in their hit gathering stunt but Schang was left unscathed by the firing of the big fellows. The cross fire receiver did something little short of superhuman yesterday when he knocked four counters across the home plate and romped over the platter with one for himself. Thus five out of the half dozen runs must be directly or indirectly credited to the Philadelphia catcher and the fans are anxiously awaiting his future stunts in this series. When I said this man Schang had the goods I was criticised by some of the fans who had been following Metropolitan dailies during the dopesters' reign just before the series started. I picked him as a winner independently and he has come into his own and the so-called "big men" of baseball have failed or refused to give his remarkable work the recognition it deserves. Jack Barry is another man who has evidently fallen from the good graces of the big writers of the pastime and while he has been pulling off sensational fielding and batting stunts in every contest his work has gone unheralded.

Connie Mack is fortunate to have such men as Harry Davis, Danny Murphy and Ira Thomas to help him out in the managerial lines and the combined cunning and inside knowledge of the National Pastime possessed by this quartet is enough to keep any rival leader guessing seven days in the week and twice on a holiday. McGraw has to conspire with Wilbur Robertson if he seeks advice from another member of his club but the big pitcher developer is the only man he can apply to for assitance in a confidential way. One of the necessary assets to a real baseball game is a good coach at the difficult corner. A man to guide the destinies of base runners with accuracy is just as necessary as a good twirler.

JERSEY CHAMP WINS METROPOLITAN TITLE

Plainfield Contestants Eliminated Before the Final Round.

Mrs. Marshall McLean added to her laurels yesterday when she defeated Miss Marie Wagner in the final and deciding match of the women's metropolitan lawn tennis championship singles at the West Side Tennis Club, by a score of 6—1, 7—5. The holder of the New Jersey title fairly outplayed Miss Wagner in the opening set, but had to work harder in the second, and won only after a hard struggle to keep back Miss Wagner's increasing strength.

The fair weather brought out a good crowd of enthusiasts. Play began long after the scheduled time, and it was nearly dark when the last game came to an end. Miss Wagner seemed to be off her game altogether in the first set, missing points on the easiest kind of shots. Mrs. McLean took advantage of every opening, and drove her shots through with speed and accuracy. She bothered Miss Wagner with her lobbing and wonderful placing. The New Jersey champion practically ran away with the set.

In the last set Miss Wagner managed to get her pace and resorted to her low driving net game, putting Mrs. McLean to the test on play after play. The points fell about evenly, Miss Wagner working the games to deuce. In the final games Mrs. McLean had the better of the argument, and Miss Wagner weakened badly.

GOLF TOURNAMENT FOR WOMEN ONLY

Four Days' Event at Country Club Begins on October 27.

Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, chairman of the women's golf committee of the Plainfield Country Club, announces a four days' tournament for women members of the club to be held on October 27-30 and November 2-6. It will be a nine hole medal play handicap event, the total score of the two best rounds to count. There will be first and second prizes for the best net and second best net scores.

Invitations have been sent out to the women of the club to take part in the play, but if for any reason there are any persons who have failed to get one, Mrs. Stockton desires that they will participate in the play just the same.

In order to assist in the work of handicapping, Mrs. Stockton would like to receive from prospective contestants two scores of the first nine holes before October 22.

WILLIAM WINS $1,000 STAKE.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 11.—The performance of William, the three-year-old bay colt who holds the world's record for pacers of his age, was the feature of the closing day of the Great Western harness races, worth $1,000, at the Illinois State Fair yesterday. William won in two heats.

"MAC" SAYS

Increditable as it may seem, there are still some people who really think the Giants will win that big title and then again there are some people in Plainfield who don't know that a world's series match is being staged. That's why the world is still going around.

On the level, now, wouldn't you be surprised if the McGraw crew trounced the Athletics in the next three tilts? So would we.

Some rabid fan started the report that McGraw had committed suicide last night and one of the jinks that fell for the stuff called him up at the hotel in New York. Muggsy himself answered the 'phone and opined very strenuously to the contrary.

In fact McGraw and Matty say that the Giants will win the pennant. We have always had a pretty good opinion of Matty's veracity at that.

Chief Meyers avers that he would give $500 to get a lick at the ball in a pinch. Lots of fans would be willing to take a bigger chance than that for the redskin's share in the golden melon.

Have you ever thought what a shame it is for a good looking bunch like the one in front of the Daily Press office everyday, to stand watching a team like the Giant's get beat?

Many a well cooked dinner and succulent steak tasted like a wash day dinner in New York last night. Wonder why?

"Rube" Oldring had an unfortunate day yesterday. The big fellow had a triple and a single but both came at a time when they bore no fruit.

The smooth working infield of the Athletics is what is making the Giants' warts stand out so prominently. Pitted against a human ball team the McGraw crew wouldn't look so bad.

WOODCOCK SEASON OPENS.

The woodcock season opened yesterday morning, and will continue up to and including December 15. Many of the local gunners left for various parts of the State Thursday, so as to be on hand for an early start yesterday morning. Woodcock have been reported plentiful in the hilly section of the northern part of the State, while good reports have also been received from the central and southern sections.

OLDRING PLAYED ON LOCAL FIELD

MADE A GREAT DEBUT

Athletic Outfielder's Chance to Get into a World's Series Game Came at That Time When He Got Two Hits Off "Matty."

While Plainfield fans, as a whole, favor the Giants and root for the McGraw crew because they hold out at a burg a little nearer the Giant's camping ground than Philadelphia, there are some here who are anxiously watching the work of the Quakertown crew and are rooting their heads off for a Connie Mack victory. One of the chief reasons for this division of opinion is the fact that "Rube" Oldring, a favorite of the American League, is an old time Plainfielder and romped in the Keystone territory of Crescent Oval during the days that Manager Philip Daab guided the destinies of the local club. Old time Plainfield fans well remember the "Rube" and recalling his great work in a Pet uniform, will do anything to help him succeed as a big leaguer.

Oldring played in Plainfield during the year of 1905 and had for his teammates such men as Wally Cosgrove in centerfield, Conley in right field, Pete Cregan in left field, Kiernan at short, Lund on third, Dave Driscoll at the first corner, and Al Farmer behind the bat. Ernie Lindeman twirled for the Pets at that time and the Plainfielders, while Oldring was a member, lined up against such teams as the New York Nationals, Jersey City Eastern Leaguers, Elizabeth Stars, Cuban Giants, All-Americans and Newburg. Oldring batted second in the local batting order, the same as he is hitting in the world's series, and got his first chance to bat against Mathewson, whom he is now pitted against in a world's series tilt, on Crescent Oval, October 11, 1904, nine years ago today. This was a time when most local ball players were bawling instead of playing ball and only the thirty-second degree fan remembers the great outfielder as he appeared in Plainfield regalia.

In the 1908 world's series between the Giants and the Athletics Oldring was one of the brilliant stars of the battles waged and he is doing some more clever fielding and good batting in the 1913 session. "Rube" has been a big factor in this series both on the defense and offense. His fielding has put Philadelphia in the lead and his trusty willow has been one of the bright spots in the Quakers' play.

FLETCHER FINED $50 FOR USING PROFANE LANGUAGE

Shibe, Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Just before the Giants and Athletics lined up for the fourth game of the world's series McGraw and his men were plunged into gloom by another blow—this time self-inflicted. It was reported that Fletcher would not be allowed to play.

Complaint was made to the National Commission by Umpire Connolly that Fletcher used profane language to him after Shafer had been called out at second in the ninth inning of Thursday's game. Connolly goes into details in regard to language used, some of which, he says, will noe bear repetition. The commission has taken a firm stand against rowdyism in the world's series.

The commission decided to fine Fletcher $50 for the offense. The commission also decided to permit him to play in the world's series.

P. H. S. SWAMPED RIVAL WARRIORS

Local Schoolboy Season Opened at Parker Field Yesterday Afternoon.

CAPT. PEACOCK STARS

Blue and Red Trounced New Brunswick High School Warriors to the Tune of 35 to 7—Great Offensive Work Pulled Off by Local Boys.

Plainfield High School football warriors opened the 1913 season auspiciously on Parker Field yesterday afternoon trimming one of their oldest gridiron rivals to the tune of 35 to 7. From the flip of the coin which was called by Captain Bill Peacock until the last minute of play had been completed in the fourth quarter the playing was fast and at times unusually rough, but the Queen City regiment always managed to hold an upper hand and set the pace for the Middlesex county delegation at all times. Little by little the red and blue representatives drew away from their Brunswick opponents until at the end of the contest, the locals had compiled a neat vantage score that was more than enough to prove their superiority.

Receiving the kick-off on the forty yard line in the first quarter the P. H. S. eleven started a steady and ripping march down the terra firma, tearing off profitable end runs and smashing line bucks. Reaching the New Brunswick's fifteen yard line Peacock took the pigskin and plunged into the opposition in attempt to make the first score but was penalized fifteen yards for alleged hurdling. With the oval thirty yards from the whitewash mark Peacock manipulated a clever forward pass to Herman who raced over the chalk line for the first six points. Another counter was added when Peacock kicked the goal.

Butler kicked off to a New Brunswick player who ran the ball back to the middle of the field before being pulled to earth and P. H. S. took charge of the situation once more when the opposing half back fumbled the ball. A series of fumbles at this point sent the ball alternating to first one team and then another until P. H. S. got another grip on the offensive work and marched down the gridiron for a second touchdown. In the second quarter New Brunswick worked the ball to the P. H. S. ten yard line on a series of forward passes but P. H. S. held the visitors for downs with the ball one yard from its goal.

In the third quarter P. H. S. kicked off and with several forward passes and trick plays the visitors worked the ball up the field and scored a touchdown. Peacock made a long end run on the first play after the kick-off and after placing the ball in a vantage point Snyder was sent over the line for another score and Peacock kicked the goal. Mann scored the next touchdown on a beautiful end run and Rosenson made the final score after Mann and Peacock had worked the ball down through some sensational offensive playing, Peacock again kicking the goal.

LOCAL QUOITERS VANQUISH RIVALS

Elizabeth Team Falls an Easy Victim, Losing all of the Seven Contests.

Playing at Elizabeth last night the Columbia Lodge, Number 58, of this city, defeated the Elizabeth Lodge, No. 24, seven straight games in connection with the A. O. U. W. of N. J. quoit league which is now well under way. The Queen City quoit pitchers displayed rare skill in every one of the contests and at no time did the Betsytown representatives have a lookin. In the third game the home team was held to an even half dozen points while in the fourth the Elizabethians could get but seven counters while the Plainfielders were running up their twenty-one. In the first contest the visitors launched their right to the superiority handle by starting off with a rush and returning an initial score of twenty-one to eight.

While three of the contests were exceedingly one-sided, the second and fifth were made interesting by some better playing on the part of the home quoiters who managed to run up seventeen and eighteen points respectively in these two contests and came within an ace of spoiling the Plainfielders' unblemished record. In the final game of the series Townley gave way to Colter who followed in his predecessor's footsteps and assisted Kinney to put a grand finale on the evening's work with a count of twenty-one to twelve.

The scores: First game—Townley and Kinney 21, Coeyman and Tomlinson 8; second game—Townley and Kinney 21, Coeyman and Tomlinson 17; third game—Townley and Kinney 21, Coeyman and Tomlinson 6; fourth game—Townley and Kinney 21, Coeyman and Tomlinson 7; fifth game, Townley and Kinney 21; Coeyman and Tomlinson 18; sixth game—Townley and Kenney 22, Coeyman and Tomlinson 13; seventh game—Colter and Kinney 22, Coeyman and Tomlinson 12.

The sand is being put on to make the macadam less slippery and at the same time repair the places that have worn in.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness of a Bad Back.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
May result seriously if neglected.

Dangerous urinary troubles often follow.

A Plainfield citizen shows you what to do.

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of the trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally, when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

PENNANT IS WON BY WOLF PATROL

Troop No. 5 Awarded the Championship in Boy Scout Exhibition.

QUAIL A CLOSE RIVAL

In a drizzling rain that did not even dampen the ardor of the Boy Scouts of the city the contest between the three crack patrols of the city for the championship pennant given by Paul R. Collier was carried through to a successful conclusion on Saturday afternoon at Parker Field before a fair-sized audience of adult and juvenile scout fans. After a 3-hour struggle, during which many departments of scoutcraft were demonstrated, the pennant was awarded to Wolf Patrol of Troop 5 of the First Presbyterian church, of which John Cassbrook, second class scout, is leader. The members of this patrol which, by their fine appearance and splendid execution of scout work, now carries the championship flag, consists of Chester Alpaugh, Stockton Burr, Robert Cortwright, LeRoy Western, Clifford Dunn, Harold McKay, Howard Allegar, Alfred Smalley and Godfried Clay.

A close rival for the honor was Quail patrol, made up of scouts from every white troop in the city and led by Thomas Fitch, first class of Troop 8. This patrol consisted of Harold Zeek, first class, of Troop 5; Albert S. Dealaman, second class, of Troop 5; Carlton Dunham, of Troop 5, Clifton Wiggins, of Troop 9; Herbert Penn, of Troop 8; Howard Leek, of Troop 10; Howard Hall, of Troop 9, Clair Higgins, of Troop 5, and George Reed, of Troop 9, went into the contest with only one week's preparation and the splendid showing these scouts made won for them honorable mention by the judges.

Eagle Patrol, led by Charles E. Rice, first class honor scout; assisted by George Lohmann, second class, Colin Millard, first class; John Cartwright, first class; Joseph Angerbauer; Homer Scruton, second class, Raymond Hansen, Harold Wahlig and Byron Farland, demonstrated a wonderful mastery of scoutcraft and scout handiwork, including some lofety portable towers built and erected by its members, but through an unfortunate violation of one of the scout laws by a temporary member of the patrol, it was disqualified by the judges.

The jury of award consisted of William H. Murray, president of the local Y. M. C. A. and a member of the National Editorial Board of the Boy Scouts of America; the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Herring, chaplain of Troop 5, and pastor of the First Presbyterian church; H. E. Parker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and L. S. Sackett, National Deputy Field Commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America.

The bicycle polo match between teams from Troop 5 and Troop 7, the colored scout organization, resulted in a tie and it will be played off at some other time to be agreed upon at a subsequent meeting. The contestants were Troop 5, Fourth Assistant Scout Master W. A. W. Thompson, George D. Walsn, Irving Manley (second half), and Joseph Angerbauer (first half); Troop 7, Edward Clay, Arthur Parson and John Kates.

During the exhibition Troop 7, under the direction of Scoutmaster Joseph A. Garner, gave a splendid demonstration of scout drilling, executing several very intricate figures. This feature was roundly applauded as was the singing by the colored scouts.

Aside from the scout work the one mile handicap arranged by John Fritts to help make the scout field day a success and which was given to the scout movement of Plainfield by a special sanction of the American Athletic Union was the event of the day. The presence among the contestants of William Anderson, holder of the senior scholastic record won only two weeks ago, and of William Weber, of Elizabeth, who holds the half mile record, added interest to the day's events.

This race was won by Anderson, in 4 min. ½ sec.; John Fritts, of the Pastime A. C., came in a very close second, not more than 6 inches separating the two men at the tape, and William Weber, third. The entrants and handicaps follow: J. Masters, of the Pastime A. C., 85 yards; A. Day, of the Plainfield High School, 85 yards; Tom Stead, of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., 80 yards; William Weber, of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., 40 yards; William Anderson, unaffiliated, 15 yards; J. F. O'Connor, of the N. Y. A. C., 50 yards, and O. Gibbons, of the New York A. C., scratch.

The scout pace in 12 minutes was a dead heat, all the contestants finishing a minute and a half ahead of time. Every scout present at the exhibition entered the event.

MISS HANAFORD NOW MRS. SWEENY

Wedding Ceremony at Y. W. C. A., Rev. W. E. L. Ward Officiating.

Miss Edith Hanaford, daughter of the late Francis W. Hanaford, of 336 East Sixth street, and Hugh Bartley Sweeny, son of Mrs. Margaret D. Sweeny, formerly of Plainfield but now residing at Bridgeport, Conn., were married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Warner E. L. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's church, of whion the bride and bridegroom are communicants, officiated.

The bride was gowned in white satin with an overdress of embroidered chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and illies-of-the-valley. She was given in marriage by her cousin, Frederick E. Shaw, of Roselle.

The maid of honor was Miss Marie Benedict, of Roselle, who wore a gold colored gown, carried pink carnations, the bride's birth flower. Ten young women were ribbon-bearers, as follows: Miss Minnie Serrell, of this city, and Miss Grace TenEyck, of Cranford, who were gowned in pink; Mrs. J. Wesley Hegeman, of Cranford, and Miss Margaretta Runyon, of this city, gowned in white; Miss Anna Hastings, of Bound Brook, and Miss Faith Parmelee, of New York, gowned in pink; Mrs. Hubert Suydam, of Bound Brook, and Miss Helen Birdsell, of Roselle, and the Misses Elizabeth Wetherell and Beatrice Gardner, of this city, gowned in white.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon was the best man and the ushers were Peter Sweeny, brother of the bridegroom; Samuel B. Bogart, of this city; Ralph P. Shaw, of Roselle, and Chester H. Briggs, of Cranford.

The ceremony was performed in what is known as the "peacock" room, which was elaborately decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and cosmos. There was also a floral altar. The Wedding March was played by a three piece orchestra. Following the ceremony there was a reception, during which congratulations were offered and a buffet supper was served The bride's table was in the library. Mrs. Sweeny received a large number of useful gifts, including several checks. The couple left about 10 o'clock for a trip through New York State. They will reside in the New Madison upon their return.

Mrs. Sweeny was formerly an assistant at the Y. W. C. A., and for that reason it was suggested that she be married there. Mr. Sweeny has been associated with the Plainfield Business College for several years, prior to which he held a position with the New York Telephone Company.

MICHAEL LAWLER FOUND IN UNCONSCIOUS CONDITION

Lying on the sidewalk, Michael Lawler, of 606 New street, was found in Liberty street, last night, by Patrolman Wicht. He was bleeding from a cut in the head. The man had fallen unconscious to the street and was unnoticed by passersbys in the poor light afforded by an electric lamp several hundred feet away, until Wicht happened along.

The injured man was taken to his home in the ambulance. His physician said his condition is not at all serious.

WHY NOT THE LAMP?

If the person who "borrowed" the Pierce wheel from the front porch of the house located at 423 Central avenue sometime during Wednesday evening will apply to the sporting editor of this paper, he can secure the lamp which he evidently overlooked when taking the wheel. The bicycle, fuly equipped, is valued at seventy-five dollars and the absence of the lamp will decrease the value to some extent.

MUST SUPPORT FAMILY.

Michael Monahan, of 840 West Fourth street, who was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman McCarthy, on the complaint of his wife, who claimed that he spent his money for intoxicants instead of providing properly for his family, was ordered to pay his wife $3 each week and placed on probation, when arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza.

PROMISES TO QUIT TOWN.

Anna Dilts, who has caused the local police considerable trouble since coming to Plainfield, received the clemency of the court when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza for disorderly conduct. Promising to leave town, she was released on a suspended sentence.

CLERIC OPPOSES LIBERAL SUNDAY

Rev. John Y. Broek Sounds a Protest Against Recent Movements Here.

"TIME TO WAKE UP"

Suggests Crusade Against "Open" Sunday—Pastor Refers to Parker Field and the Public Library In Support of Argument.

Deploring the fact that recent events point to a more "liberal" Sunday in Plainfield, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, in a statement issued today declared "it is high time to wake up and have a crusade against the liberal Sunday." His statement follows:

"Some of my parishioners have asked me to utter some words of protest against the recent inroads that have been made in our city for a liberal Sunday, and I gladly do so. They have even suggested that a protest should be sent to our Mayor. This summer we have witnessed the opening of Parker Field on Sunday afternoon. A friend said to me the other day; 'we may invite five hundred evangelists to a recreation park on Sunday afternoon, and it will count for naught when they allow the selling of refreshments on the grounds and present sacred concerts made up mostly of waltzes, popular marches and other secular music.'

"The second move is to open our Library on Sunday. The opening of the Library on Sunday, is to my mind entirely unnecessary, and it is not a square deal to our librarians to compel them to work on Sunday. It is a very lame excuse to say that there are people who have no time to exchange books during the week.

"The next move, I suppose, of this liberal program will be to have certain stores open on Sunday for the convenience of those who are too busy to purchase during the week.

"I utter my strongest protest against these liberal movements on the Lord's Day. In the name of our churches, and Sunday schools, and many anxious fathers and mothers, let us call a halt. It is high time to wake up and have a crusade against the liberal Sunday. We want to preserve the Sabbath as a day different from any other day in the week. We do not desire to continentalize our Lord's Day. As a city let us remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy."

GERMAN-AMERICANS HAVE A JOLLY TIME

The winter social season of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein was ushered in last night, when the members of the organization held an entertainment in Saengerbund Hall. Over 300 attended the event which was featured by a musical program. Following the entertainment, a supper was served by the Women's Auxiliary. Dancing was enjoyed shortly after midnight.

Miss Lucy Kuntz, as "Eve," and Raymond Baker, as "Adam," made a decided hit in a comedy love skit entitled, "Adam and Eve." An appropriate playlet was also staged entitled "Columbia and Germania." The turners gave an exhibition of their skill on the various apparatus. Hermann Klinsman and August Wolff recited in both German and English. The program also included selections by the Aurora Society, of New Brunswick, and the Concordia Society, of Perth Amboy.

The arrangement committee was composed of Adam Muff, John Alster, George Ahnert, Charles Meyer Alfred Luthman and August Wolff.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR ENDEAVORERS RALLY

Local churches will send delegations tomorrow night to the First Presbyterian church, Dunellen, where the annual rally of the Plainfield C. E. Union will be held.

The program has been arranged as follows: 7:45 to 8 o'clock song service, Clifford Braider presiding at the organ; 8:00 to 8:15, devotional exercises led by the pastor, Rev. Ernest E. Brown; 8:15 to 8:30, announcements and roll call; 8:30 to 8:45, presentation of banner by Arnold Finkle, president of the Dunellen C. E. Society to the organization having the largest representation at the rally; 8:45 to 9:30, address by Rev. Elliott Field, of Philadelphia, "The Call of Duty;" benediction.

JAS. KNIGHT ASKS ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

Wife Served With Papers as She and Kettenring Are Held for Grand Jury.

Walter C. Kettenring, of Race street, the borough, and Mrs. Anne Knight, of Park avenue, both married, were arraigned before Mayor Stewart in the City Court, Saturday afternoon, on serious charges, and were held in $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. They were released when William Stanbery, of Scotch Plains, became their bondsman. Immediately following the proceedings, Mrs. Knight was served with a copy of her husband's application for divorce, citing her to file an answer in the Court of Chancery within five days. Mr. Knight following his wife's arrest in company with Kettenring several days ago, at once started proceedings to secure an absolute divorce. He is represented by Judge William G. DeMeza.

Mrs. Knight and Kettenring were arrested by Patrolmen Kelly and Flatley in the presence of Mr. Knight and three friends of the latter.

VOTERS WILL DECIDE CIVIL SERVICE FATE

Elizabeth, Oct. 13.—Eleven members of the Union County Board of Freeholders met here this morning and finally succeeded in passing a resolution providing for a referendum at the coming election placing county employes under civil service. But the situation is as much in the air as before, for the reason that County Clerk James C. Calvert claimed, when notified, that the time for such action expired last Monday and he refused to accept the resolution, basing his action on Justice Bergen's decision.

The freeholders were guided by the opinion of the Civil Service Commission, which said that the time had not expired for taking such action. Just what further will be done in the matter was not known here today, but the matter will probably go to the courts with the result that the clause will not be placed on this year's ballots.

ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS HEAR BATTLE STORY

Mrs. Dennett and Miss Hinchey Tell of Progress of Their Campaign.

Under the auspices of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, a tea was given at the home of Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, on Mountain avenue, Saturday afternoon, at which time Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, natinal secretary of the Woman's Suffrage Association, and Miss Hinchey, of New York, representing the Women's Trade Union, addressed the assemblag.

Mrs. Dennett's address was of especial interest for she bronght encouraging reports of the progress of the work in States where the women are striving for legislation which will give them the franchise. She spoke hopefully of conditions in New Jersey, giving a more or less detailed report of what has been and is being acomplished toward that end in the State. Mrs. Dennett was full of enthusiasm and encouraged her hearers greatly by her words.

Miss Hinchey spoke more particularly from the point of view of a trade woman, in which she described conditions among the working women of New York, the low wages paid, and gave an interesting side-light concerning recent strikes, and told of the conditions which led up to them. Her remarks were listened to with unusual interest, coming as they did from one who is so closely in touch with conditions among the working woman.

After the addresses tea was served. Mrs. Frank W. French and Mrs. George Hodges poured. They were assisted by Mrs. H. C. White, Mrs. William Power, Mrs. Lamar VanSyckel, Mrs. A. B. TILDEN ESTATE TRUSTEE DISPUTE

WOULD OUST SMITH

Smith Had Declined to Approve Tyler as Bigelow's Successor When the Latter Died—$400,000 in Trusts.

A disagreement has arisen betwen the surviving trustees under the will of Samuel J. Tilden, which has necessitated legal proceedings. This became known Saturday with the filing in the New York Supreme Court of a notice of appearance by John R. Halsey, as attorney for Samuel J. Tilden, a nephew of the statesman. An action has begun under the head:—"The Petition of George H. Tilden, Caroline D. Whittlesey, Susan T. Sabin and Anna Gould, as beneficiaries under the will of Samuel J. Tilden, deceased, to compel George W. Smith to account as trustee under the will; for the removal of George W. Smith as trustee, and for the appointment of Cornelius B. Tyler as trustee in place of George W. Smith."

The trouble, it is said, arose following the death of John Bigelow, one of the trustees, when former Mayor Lewis V. F. Randolph, of this city, and Mr. Smith endeavored to decide on Mr. Bigelow's successor. They were unable to agree on any person, according to an authority conversant with the matter, and the beneficiaries considered that results best might be obtained by the substitution of Cornelius B. Tyler, of this city, a New York lawyer, whom it was thought would be able to settle the matter with Mr. Randolph without difficulty.

The amount of the trusts which are held for the various beneficiaries is said to be about $400,000 and is invested in securities which are considered satisfactory.. There has been no question in regard to the manner of handling the property, it is said, those who profit from the funds asking for an accounting merely to follow out the legal custom. The trust funds were set aside by the will of Mr. Tilden for the benefit of his nephews and nieces. Thomas H. Wight, of New York, is the attorney for all the petitioners.

Mr. Tyler, who is a director of the Plainfield Public Library, is a brother of William S. Tyler, president of the Board of Education and former councilman.

MISS PHILLIPS RETURNS FROM A TRIP ABROAD

Miss Mabelle C. Phillips, of Madison avenue, agent for the Charity Organization Society, returned yesterday on the steamer Cameronia of the Anchor line, after a two months' trip abroad. The homeward passage was a very stormy one, the waves rolling mountain high. She was sitting besides the captain at the dinner table on Thursday, when he received a wireless message of the disaster to the steamship Volturno, which was burned and abandoned in mid-ocean. The Cameronia was too far away to be of any service in the work of rescue.

Miss Phillips spent most of her time in the mountains of Switzerland and Austria, but she also visited Antwerp, Munich, Cologne and a few interesting places in Scotland.

Miss Elsie Suffern, of North Plainfield, also returned on the same ship.

Miss Clara Penn Crane, Robert Newton Crane, Jr., and Thomas Fortune Crane, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newton Crane, are suffering with attacks of whoping-cough.

CHILD BADLY HURT WHEN HORSE FALLS

While riding along Rahway road yesterday afternoon, Mrs. A. K. Adams, of Union avenue, Cranford, was thrown from her horse when the animal slipped on the tarred surface of the road and she sustained severe contusions about the face and body. Mrs. Adams was riding on the extreme right hand side of the road to allow the numerous automobiles to pass and the sttep incline from the center of the roadbed, which is treacherous at this point, caused the animal to fall and throw the rider to the macadam roadbed. She was only slightly stunned by the fall, however, and the three children who were with her at the time of the accident had gone on ahead not knowing of the accident that had befallen their companion.

The injured woman remounted the animal which was none the worse for the fall and when she caught up with the children who were some distance in advance she found two of the riders in a state of great excitement while a third, her eleven-years old daughter, Elizabeth, lying in the road unconscious. The girl had met with a similar accident at a place in the road that was constructed like the spot where Mrs. Adams was thrown and the child had ben thrown heavily to the hard street bed.

Passing automobiles were hailed and the injured child was placed in one and hurried to the office of a physician in Rahway where a hasty examination showed that the child's injuries were of a serious nature. After first aid treatment the girl was taken to her parents' home in Cranford where she was reported to be resting comfortably today. The party included Mrs. A. K. Adams and her daughters, Elizabeth and Madeline, and a friend of the children, Joseph Hartzell, also of Cranford.

They had ridden from Cranford during the afternoon and were traveling at a slow pace when the accident occurred.

Machel, of Elizabeth.

The delegation from the local churches met in front of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield at 1 o'clock, and marched to the North Avenue station of the Jersey Central Railroad, headed by the St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps. The representatives of St. Mary's church formed in line under the direction of Wilbur Schaefer and Father Bogan. Robert McCormack led the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society and Rev. Edward J. Dunphy, of Dunellen, and Rev. John Baldwin, of South Plainfield, were in charge of the delegations from their respective parishes. The trip was made on a special train which stopped at Westfield, to take aboard members from the Holy Trinity church.

AGGRIEVED WIFE SUES MRS. COMAN

PAPERS ARE SERVED

Stir in Fanwood—Defendant's Husband Died Three Months Ago—She is Said to Be Wealthy—Schneider is Her Coachman.

Mrs. Abby K. Schneider, of 102 Central avenue, has filed a suit in the Supreme Court, Trenton, for $20,000 against Mrs. Katherine Coman, of Fanwood, charging the latter with the alienation of her husband's affection. The papers were filed by the plaintiff's counsel, Swackhamer & Bird, and have been served, and it is expected that the trial will be held during the January term of court.

Mrs. Schneider in her declaration of complaint says that "John A. Schneider is and has been her husband more than two years, and that on September 12 last and on divers other days since that day Mrs. Coman allured, enticed and took away from the plaintiff her husband and since September 12 has deprived the plaintiff of the support, maintenance, affection and consortum of her husband.

"In consequence of the premises, the plaintiff has lost the affection of her husband and has been deprived of his society and assistance which she otherwise would have had and has suffered great stress of mind, and therefore demands $20,000."

Mrs. Schneider is employed at the Morey-LaRue Laundry on East Fourth street, and six months ago she had her husband arrested on a non-support charge. At that time, Mr. Schneider was put under oond to pay his wife $3 a week. The latter was at one time employed as chauffeur for the late Ellsworth D. Middlekauff, who met a tragic death near Chester, Morris county, while on a joy ride. About four months ago he took a position as coachman for Mrs. Katherine Coman, at Fanwood.

Mrs. Coman has lived at Fanwood for the past two years. Her husband died about three months ago. She is said to possess considerable wealth. She is fond of outdoor life, one of her favorite pastimes being horseback riding.

YOUTH IS ACCUSED AS AN EMBEZZLER

Mulford Darling, Who Ran Away, Walks Into Police Station and is Arrested.

Back from a trip to various parts of the country with a carnival show, which made a one-week's stand in this city some time ago, Mulford Darling, of Duer street, is in the North Plainfield jail on a charge of embezzlement, preferred against him by Benjamin J. Phelps, former principal of the Borough High School. It is alleged that Darling on May 10, sold $28.75 worth of tickets for a playlet given in the Park Club by the North Plainfield High Echool A. A., and appropriated the money to his own use. Before Darling could be apprehended after the complaint was sworn out against him, he ran away with the circus.

Darling, who is twenty-two years old, was at one time an inmate of the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg. He came back to Plainfield, Saturday night, and walked into the borough headquarters, with an air of apparent innocence and asked of Marshal Pope: "I hear stories that I am wanted for stealing some money. Is that right?" Pope said, "You're right," and taking a warrant from his pocket continued, "And you're under arrest."

The alleged embezzler is being held for a hearing pending the arrival of Mr. Phelps, who resigned as principal of the borough institution and accepted a position in High Bridge.

FRANCIS INCH, CAPTAIN.

He Had Been Commander of the Volturno Only a Month.

Captain Inch comes out of the tragedy a hero. He showed great courage and coolness, being once called upon to instill courage into some of the crew at the point of a pistol. His alertness and bravery doubtless cut down the loss of life considerably.

T. L. WOODRUFF DIES; END WAS EXPECTED

Thrice Lieutenant Governor and Prominent In Politics.

New York, Oct. 13.—Timothy L. Woodruff is dead at his apartments in the Carlton House, Madison avenue and Forty-seventh street, this city. The end was expected, as he had been unconscious for twenty-four hours, and the doctors expected his death before it came.

With him when he died were his son, John E. Woodruff, and his wife; the widow, Mrs. Rodney Ward, a daughter, and her husband.

Mr. Woodruff was stricken with paralysis on Sept. 29 while he was speaking at the meeting held in Cooper Union to formally notify the fusion candidates of their nominations.

Timothy Lester Woodruff, lieutenant governor of New York for three terms (1897-1903), was born at New Haven, Conn., on Aug. 4, 1858. He was the son of John Woodruff, who was a Connecticut congressman from 1855 to 1865, and Harriet J. Lester. He traced his descendants on his father's and mother's side to the earliest settlers of the Nutmeg State.

In August, 1896, Mr. Woodruff started his boom for lieutenant governor at a reception in his handsome home in the park slope section to ninety-two delegates, who later represented Kings county at the convention which was held at Saratoga. He landed the nomination and was elected. He was elected on a ticket with the late Frank S. Black, governor. Mr. Woodruff was twice re-elected, serving as lieutenant governor under Governors Theodore Roosevelt and Benjamin B. Odell.

FIGHT FOR CONDEMNED MAN.

Friends of Leo M. Frank Are Working Hard to Save Him.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 13.—Although Leo M. Frank has been tried, convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of fourteen-year-old Mary Phagan, interest in the case continues as keen as when the condemned man was facing the jury.

This is due to the fact that Frank's friends have denounced the verdict as a monstrous perversion of justice and have begun a campaign that is almost nation wide to get a reversal.

Frank was sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 10, but a motion for a new trial prevented the sentence being carried into effect. This motion has not yet been argued, but probably will be in two weeks.

If Judge Roan, who presided at the trial of Frank, denies the motion, the case will be taken to the Georgia supreme court, and should that tribunal refuse to interfere Frank's attorneys say they will take the case to the United States supreme court.

THINK WOMAN SLAIN

Find New Clews In Port Monmouth Mystery.

PARTY SEARCHING SWAMP.

Series of Curious Circumstances Arouse Suspicion of Authorities—Detective Intercepted Stranger Who Was Leaving Farm With Basket of Woman's Clothing.

Red Bank, N. J., Oct. 13.—Odd actions of a man whose identity is still to be determined have convinced the Monmouth county authorities that a murder has been committed on a farm belonging to Henry Coe at Port Monmouth, a suburb of this city. Prosecutor John S. Applegate has the theory that the victim of the supposed murder was a woman and that her body was buried in a swamp on the Coe farm. A searching party of policemen and farmers began a thorough examination of the swamp.

The attention of the county authorities was drawn to the case by Mr. Coe, who said that three weeks ago he saw a man and woman standing near an abandoned asparagus house on his farm. They seemed to be quarreling.

Newspapers were found of the dates of Aug. 15 and 16, and from each newspaper an article had been torn. Mr. Coe turned the basket and its contents over to Prosecutor Applegate, with the remark that the conditions under which he found it had aroused his suspicions. County Detective Elwood Minugh was assigned to the case, with instructions to watch the asparagus house. Detective Minugh, following the instructions, saw a man enter the house and after an interval leave it.

By an arrangement with the detective Mr. Coe intercepted the stranger as he was leaving the farm. The stranger made an inquiry about a basket of clothing, and when he was asked whose clothing he was looking for he said it was his wife's.

"But where's your wife?" demanded Mr. Coe.

"None of your business," the man said in sudden alarm. He turned and ran before Mr. Coe could detain him. Twice since the conversation about the basket of clothing the stranger has been seen prowling along the edge of the swamp near the house where the basket was found.

There will be addresses of congratulation by representatives of the four leading universites of the old world—Alois Riehl for Berlin, Arthur Shipley of Christ college for Cambridge, Emile Boutroux for Paris and Arthur Denis Godley of Magdalen college for Oxford. Dr. Francis Patton, for fourteen years president of Princeton, will make the dedicatory prayer.

HOSPITAL TO RAISE $75,000.

Hackensack Folk to Begin Whirlwind Campaign on Oct. 15.

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 13.—The Hackensack hospital will celebrate on Oct. 15 its quarter of a century of active service with a whirlwind campaign to raise $75,000 or more. Representative men and women of Hackensack, who will collect this money, say that they will be successful.

Men and women of many near by towns are taking an active interest, for they have occasion to use the Hackensack hospital. These places include Hasbrouck Heights, Ridgefield Park, Carlstadt, North Hackensack, Oradell, River Edge, Westwood, Hillsdale, Park Ridge, Pearl River, Ridgewood, Little Ferry, Bogota, Maywood and Rochelle Park.

Money is needed to pay for improvements just made reaching $15,000. A nurses' home, more private wards and an isolation hospital are needed, and there are debts to be met.

HURLS BIBLE TO STOP SUICIDE

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 13.—Albert Kent, twenty-seven years old, is in a serious condition in the Orange Memorial hospital. He attempted to commit suicide by drinking carbolic acid, but his mother succeeded in knocking the bottle from his hands by hurling the family Bible.

Kent is employed at the Edison factories here. He has a wife and two children in Newark. He left his wife several weeks ago and went to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kent of 29 Mitchell street.

Before his mother knocked the bottle from his hands with the Bible Kent had already swallowed some of the poison. If Kent lives it will be due to his mother's well directed aim.

"LIVE-WIRE" WORK.

We feel sure that the hundreds of fans who stood in a drizzling rain on Saturday afternoon to hear the story of the great game as reported by the Daily Press by megaphone as speedily as flashed by wire, play by play, from the Polo grounds, appreciated the part played by the Dutch Arms band for their entertainment. Under the leadership of E. D. Young, these forty trained bandmen discoursed tuneful airs between the innings. Needless is it to add that they made a great hit with the crowd and the Daily Press wishes to thank the Dutch Arms organization for its services which were given free.

Never before in the history of local newspaperdom has a Plainfield paper reported the World's Series as was done by the Daily Press last week. We introduced the scheme of announcing the progress of each game last fall when we first used the general news reporting ticker for that purpose supplementing it with a megaphone. Thus each play was announced with all possible haste and our service, as all the fans know, was quicker and better than was afforded anywhere else in the city.

Another achievement was to be found in the newspaper itself, the entire game being reported, inning by inning, in detail and not merely the score by innings but the complete and accurate box score. All local records were smashed when this paper, containing the features enumerated, appeared on the street in less than ten minutes after the game was over each afternoon. Moreover, it was the only local newspaper distributing to its regular office subscribers an edition with these features.

We mention this not in a boastful spirit but simply to call your attention to the fact that the promise we made less than two years ago to be enterprising in all things and to be fully abreast of the times is being kept. "A live newspaper in a live town" is our motto.

BURNING LEAVES.

Just at this time each year, it appears necessary to call attention to the nuisance and unhealthy practise of burning leaves in the streets. It is bad enough to find it allowed by ordinance during certain hours, but it is worse still to see no enforcement of the ordinance.

October should be one of the most beautiful months in Plainfield. Our magnificent thoroughfares are studded on either side by stately trees, presenting a picture hard to duplicate. The autumnal foliage is most beautiful. But when clouds of smoke from the burning leaves piled in the streets rise in the air the sight becomes an unpleasant one. This, however, is of minor importance. It matters little how scenery is spoiled and how the streets are littered with ashes in comparison to the danger to health. Chiefly do those subject to asthma suffer from this practise, but all to a degree, health authorities will tell us, are affected.

The proper way to dispose of the fallen leaves is to bury them or if possible to cart them away. But if they are going to be burned this disposition of them should be made during the hours provided by ordinance and they are up to the noon hour. And bear in mind, also, that the ashes must be removed within twelve hours.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is an octogenerian. He has an idea in his head that he can "come back" and that is why he is a candidate for Congress. But "Uncle Joe" wouldn't be happy if he should "come back." Congress would be a very strange place; he wouldn't be at home there at all.

HUGHES' CAMPAIGN IN OLD SOMERSET

The voters at Harlingen and Rocky Hill, Friday night, heard George T. Hughes, of Watchung, present his arguments as the Progressive party Assembly nominee. He was accompanied by Philip J. Roosevelt, who is a giant physically at least. With the Bull Moose spellbinders were four automobile loads of Bound Brook and Somerville "Armageddians," among whom was Irving S. Whiting, of Bound Brook, and Jacob Todd, the party's nominee for sheriff, who hails from Hillsborough.

Making a dash across country to Harlingen, the campaigners paused at the Harlingen Hotel, where speeches were made to a goodly sized crowd from the porch of the hostelry. Then on they sped to Rocky Hill, where a couple of hundred employes of the terra cotta plant had gathered at Voorhees' Hall. Hughes' explanation of the anti-injunction plank in the Progressive platform interested the voters as did his explanation of the remedy offered for the high cost of living. Roosevelt, who is a cousin of T. R., outlined briefly the salient planks of the Bull Moose platform and party principles.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR ABRAM L. CADMUS

The funeral of Abram L. Cadmus was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at his late home on Plainfield avenue. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Lewis Bond.

There were beautiful floral tributes from the missionary societies, Ladies' Aid Society, Christian Endeavor Society and Session of the church and Otis Corbett and the employes of the Commercial Mills also sent tributes. Stanley Karner, of Denver, and Miss Esther Karner, of the Northfield School, grandchildren, reached here in time for the service.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Stanley Karner, Newell Karner, grandchildren, and Alvin Hoagland and Elston Hoagland, nephews of Mr. Cadmus.

DR. EASTMAN SPOKE AT RALLY SERVICE

Interesting rally day services were held under the auspices of the Sunday-school of the Congregational church at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, yesterday, following the morning preaching service. John M. Whiton, the superintendent, was in charge of the program. There were remarks by Rev. Dr. George P. Eastman, of Orange, who occupied the pulpit in the morning, and Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., made the address which was appropriate to the occasion. There was special music and the school sang rally day songs. The cradle roll members were present and a feature was that the youngest one was five weeks old.

Rev. Dr. Eastman delivered an excellent sermon in the morning, on the subject of "Rock Christians." He said that there are enough amiable, complacent and good-natured Christians in the world, but what is needed is more of the "rock Christian kind." He followed the geological idea, adding that there are three processes which combine to make these kind of Christians, pressure, cement and fire.

MISS CORNELIA WILSON DIES IN 74TH YEAR

Mrs. Cornelia V. Wilson, aged 73 years, widow of Christopher Wilson, died at 7 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas E. Currin, Jr., 62 Mountain avenue, following a short illness with pneumonia. She recently came here to spend some time with her daughter. Mrs. Wilson was born near Cranbury, but for many years lived at East Millstone. Since the death of her husband she had been accustomed to dividing her time with her two daughters, Mrs. Currin, and Mrs. Augustus B. Vliet, of Clyde Station, near New Brunswick. She also leaves a son, George D. Wilson, of Readington.

Mrs. Wilson was a member for many years of the Reformed church at East Millstone and was actively interested in the work of that church. The notice of funeral will be given later.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. HELEN W. CAMPBELL

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen W. Campbell, wife of the late James Campbell, of Truell Court, were held in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, this afternoon, Rev. Cortland H. Mallery officiating, assisted by Rev. Charles Townsend, of Rosemont, Pa., a former rector of the Church of the Heaveny Rest, of which Mrs. Campbell was a life-long member. A musical service was held at the church and following the recital of the regular burial office the following hymns were sung: "On the Resurrection Morning," "Rock of Ages" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery, New York.

Mrs. Campbell died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Sutton, of Manasquan, where she had been spending the summer. She was a communicant in the Church of the Heavenly Rest and the rector, Rev. Mr. Mallery, had been called to visit her several days ago on account of the serious condition of her health.

ALFRED MACE PREACHED.

A congregation that filled every seat in the auditorium and overflowed in the Sunday-school room, attended the service at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, to listen to Rev. Alfred Mace, of London, England. This gifted man, whose father was Jem Mace, the English prize fighter, and whose mother was a Gypsey queen, was converted forty years ago and since then has been doing preaching on both sides of the Atlantic. An account of his discourse will appear in tomorrow's issue.

MR. ZELLER'S FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Theodore J. F. Zeller, of West Dunellen, who died Friday of heart trouble after a short illness, were held this morning at St. John's church, Dunellen, where Rev. Father Dunphy officiated. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, and was in charge of Rev. Father Butcher. The pall-bearers were Mr. Zeller's nephews, Frank, Joseph and Arthur Zeller, and Isaac, Felix and Jeremiah Burns.

TEXAS RECTOR HEARD.

The Rev. Henry Easter, rector of Christ church, El Paso, Texas, at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, last night, described in a graphic way, life in the Lone Star State. He is a typical westerner. The speaker occupied the pulpit at the evening service but substituted the talk for the usual sermon. He is a delegate to the general convention of the Episcopal Church in New York city.

BRILLIANT START BEAT HOLY CROSS

REGULARS WERE TARDY

Visitors Shift to Offense After They Make a Touchdown in the First Three Minutes of Play and Hold Holy Cross.

Launching a brilliant flash of speed at the first chirp of the referee's whistle, the Franklin A. A. football team, of Newark, defeated the Holy Cross eleven in the first few minutes of play on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon. Manager Doyle ordered the game started before three of his regulars were on the field of play, who arrived late despite the fact that the game had been pushed ahead to four o'clock instead of three, the usual starting hour, and it was while these recruits were on the line that the visiting aggregation dealt its death blow and flashed the spurt that meant victory. Receiving the kickoff on the thirty yard line the Holy Cross warriors started a smashing attack on the visitors line, but were soon repelled and n sooner had the Newarkers gotten possession of the oval than they pushed it across the chalk mark for a touchdown and victory.

During the remainder of the contest Holy Cross sent its backfield against the opposition's defense with terrific speed but the stonewall of the Franklin machine was unyielding and what gains the boroughites made were on open plays. Both teams displayed a woeful lack of variety in their work and the usual repertoire of trick and series plays were entirely missing. The one bright spot in the victor's attack was their ability to execute the difficult forward pass and the two neat throws from Quarterback Kiefer yielded material gains and both times got the pigskin out of dangerous territory. The Newark eleven fairly bristled with ginger and playing against an almost constant influx of substitutes during the whole four periods they fought through an excellent battle to victory.

The locals most serious defects were faulty generalship, giving the ball to its opponents without kicking on the fourth down by substituting the forward pass, and in the delay of the backs in getting up to the line.

The Franklin's attack, while not as versatile as that of some teams that have gone down to an overwhelming defeat before the locals, had far more power than that of the Holy Cross eleven, and also boasted of excellent interference on the wide tackle runs in which two men were taken off to take care of one Holy Cross end. The visitors set a terrific pace and while Holy Cross eschewed the forward pass almost entirely, their opponents intermingled this spectacular open stunt with simple, old fashioned criss-crosses.

Gillen was the main cog in the winner's defensive machine and time after time the husky fullback stormed through the red and white line for sensational gains. He was plainly overworked by Franklin's field general, but gave no signs of fatigue at any time during the battle. Invariably when he was called upon to gain the distance needed he tucked the pigskin under his arm and smashed a hole in the local's line which yielded like so much tissue paper before his engine like body. The lineup and summary:

HOPE CHAPEL VETERANS ALL BACK IN THE FOLD

Captain Jim Doig of the Hope Chapel basketball team, put his men through another drill Saturday night on the Chapel floor and the team is gradually rounding into shape to meet the teams Manager Leighs has scheduled to appear on the local court.

All of last year's men are back in harness and several new and promising candidates have made their appearance. A number of stiff joints were reported after Saturday night's drill but aside from these kinks the men are in the best of condition and are now ready to get into the game.

CONNIE MACK PAYS TRIBUTE TO PLAYERS.

"Great boys, eh?" said Connie Mack, over and over, as thousands surged about him at the end of the final game for the world's title. He stood at the end of the visiting plays' coop for several minutes after Plank had been carried away on the shoulders of his admirers, receiving congratulations. McGraw was one of the first to reach him. "Sorry we both couldn't win, John," was Mack's reply to the rival manager's felicitations.

"It ended just about as I expected,' Mack said. "I've got a wonderful team. It did not surprise me that even such great pitchers as Mathewson, Marquard, Tesreau and Demaree were unable to hold them in. Too bad Matty had to be beaten., I can't say too much for Plank and Bender, but even they would have been unavailing had they not been backed up so beautifully. Just say that I consider them all wonders."

"MAC" SAYS

REMORSE.

Because we thought the Giants would win
We wagered almost everything:
Oh, Grave! Where is thy victory?
Oh, Death! Where is thy sting?

The 1913 season is now all over but the firesides managers and their unbeatable systems of ball playing. Are you a member of the hot-stove league?

Plank was said to have retired from baseball after Saturday's big clash, but there are many who harbor the opinion that there will be a trunk checked straight from Gettysburg to Jacksonville, Fla., next spring.

The open season for holdouts and retirements is now underway. A ball player who does not do one or the other of these stunts is fit only for the bushers.

That habit of blowing up in the final game of the world's series seems to be ineradicably planted in the systems of the Giants. They did it in 1911 at Shibe Park, they did it per their Mr. Snodgrass and Mr. Merkle in 1912, and Saturday, Captain Larry Doyle, of the team, united with Mr. Merkle in going up in a balloon and losing the game.

Giant bug—Wait until next year when the Giants play the Athletics. (Maybe, if some black hand artist doesn't get Matty and McGraw out of the way.)

Without the ast two mentioned stars the Giants would be fighting it out with St. Louis for the cellar championship.

Now that the baseball controversy has been satisfactorily settled, maybe the diamond stars will give the pigskin warriors a chance to get in the limelight for a few weeks.

Just as an example of the grip the world's series held over the football artists, see what happened to Holy Cross, Saturday afternoon. Several of the regulars were too wrapped up in the big series to get on the field in time, and while the locals were battling with three substitutes, the Newarkers pushed the ball over the last chalk mark for a touchdown and victory.

Manager Doyle says, "Keep your eye peeled for some shifts that are due in the scenery of red and white.' Everybody's watching "Doc."

Hope Chapel and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball teams both held stiff practises Saturday night. It looks as though both of these teams would have some new players this year and veterans will be replaced in several cases by new material.

Rumors have it that Burnett Brodziak is starting a basketball team to play independently around these parts. Have you been approached with a contract? If not, you are evidently not recognized as a basketball player.

All the wise guys who were so free in their conversation to the effect that the world's series was all fixed got a severe jar last Saturday. The Philadelphia club, because the big series came to an end Saturday, had to return to the Quakertown fans something like $45,000. This was made necessary because the club sold when the reserved seats were offered for sale a series of tickets good for thre games in Philadelphia and but two of the contests were played. The same practise was followed in New York but three games were played there.

SOME SHIFTS DUE FOR LOCAL ELEVEN

Manager Doyle Threatens Expulsion to Those Who Neglect Practises.

Manager "Doc" Doyle has a surprise up his sleeve for some of the regulars on the Holy Cross football team who have been slighting practises during the past week, and unless the offenders do penance prior to the next contest, there will be several new faces in the lineup Saturday afternoon, according to Doyle. Much of the blame for last Saturday's defeat can be laid to the negligence on the part of several of the strong men on the line, who were too wrapped up in the outcome of the world's series contest to make their appearance on Cricket Field until after the game had started and when they had shifted their interests it was too late, for the visitors had sent the oval ploughing over the last chalk mark for a touchdown, which meant victory.

With the regular men on the line it is probable that the visitor's crushing attack in the open minutes of play could have been warded off and the worst would have been a scoreless tie. Several of the men on the red and white eleven had been absent from practise so long that Quarterback Coyle had difficulty in making his signals plain and frequent conferences interrupted play and slowed up the battle perceptibly.

FINAL FIGURES FOR THE WORLD'S SERIES

Final standing of the teams was as folows:

Team	Won	Lost	Av.
Athletics	4	1	.800
Giants	1	4	.200

Clubs	$68,108.50
National Commission	7,567.65

Total paid attendance for five games, 151,000. Total receipts for five games, $325,980, divided as follows:

Players	$135,168.89
National Commission	32,598.00

The pool for the players was completed with the fourth game. The winners wil divide $81,110 and the losers $54,050. This means $3,244 to each of the Philadelphia players who were eligible to play in the series. The New York men must be content with $2,162.

The players' share of the receipts for this series is not as great as last year when the Giants met the Red Sox. Then twenty-two Boston players divided $88,543.02, and each man carried off $4,024.68. Twenty-three Giants split $59,028.68, each man receiving $2,566.48.

It is said that Connie Mack promised the Athletics the club's share of the receipt's of Saturday's game if they won. If this is done the twenty-five players wil divide $115,164.42, and each man will receive $4,606.57.

PARK GOLFERS DEFEAT MIDDLEBROOK COUNTRY CLUB

The members of the Park Golf Club engaged in a team match on Saturday with the Middlebrook Country Club of Finderne and defeated its opponents by a score of 10 to 6. E. A. Barcalow, Fred Green and Frank Howard did all the scoring. The summary:

Park Golf Club—Charles Smith 0; E. A. Runquist, 3; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 0; H. H. Woodland, 2; Charles B. Morse, 2; Clarence J. Hand, 0; Royle T. Phillips, 0; W. V. Byard, 3; total, 10.

These cards were returned for the President's cup:

Royle T. Phillips, 99, 14-85; Charles B. Morse, 103, 13-90; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 102, 5-97; Clarence J. Hand, 123, 23-100.

RODE AFTER HOUNDS IN A DRIZZLING RAIN

There was a fair sized crowd out for the run of the Watchung hounds, Saturday, in a drizzling rain which wet riders and hounds alike to the skin. The water tower at Netherwood was the meeting place and the hounds were cast in at the woods crossing the following farms: Coles, VanNest, Maier, The Gables, Johnston, Elliott, Hastings, Ryan, Scheelen, Miller, checking at Cook's poultry farm.

The hounds were again taken up and thrown in on the Cook farm, crossing numerous farms and finish- The slippery going caused by the rain of the past few days was responsible for what appeared to onlookers to be a nasty fall that Harry L. Finch had when his mount fell at a four-rail fence. Luckily he was not injured and he finished with the following: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; H. A. Bourne, H. S. Hollis, F. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

FATHER'S "REP" IS A VALUABLE ASSET

Young Bob Fitzsimmons Had the Somerville Warriors Scared to Death.

According to Dunellen football enthusiasts, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jr., is about as real a gridiron artist as his daddy was a world's champion pugilist. Young Bob, who is a quiet and unassuming fellow, seventeen years old and weighing 160 pounds, accompanied the Dunellen eleven to Somerville Saturday and played as tackle.

The first quarter was played and during that time the husky Fitz, Jr., brought down some of the ambitious goal-makers of the Somerset eleven in jig time. The scorer designated young Fitz as "Fitzgerald" in the lineup and it was not until time had been called that the "big guy's" identity became known.

With Dunellen holding a big lead the whistle blew for the second quarter. During the recess it became noised about that "Fitzgerald" was the son of the erstwhile noted Robert Fitzsimmons.

"No more of that guy for me," remarked one of the Somervillian athetes. "He'll have us all in the hospital if he keeps in the game."

Five minutes later the game came to an abrupt termination. The pigskin was flat and windless. Efforts to "blow it up," revealed a big slash in the football.

This, according to Dunellen partisans, was caused by a Somerville player when it became known that Dunellen's husky warrior was Bob Fitzsimmons, Jr.

"They were afraid of him, that's all," declared Ben Cole, Jr., captain of the Dunellen aggregation.

FIRST ROUND MATCH PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

The first round match play for the four-ball championship of the Plainfield Country Club was the chief event of interest at the club on Saturday and the players were very evenly matched as indicated by the scores. The results:

Class A—Frank O. Reinhart and E. A. Lyon defeated P. J. McKeon and Arthur Murphy, 1 up; H. R. Stockton and A. J. Watson defeated Dudley H. Barrows and C. B. Morgan, 1 up; J. Whitney Baker and R. S. Rowland won from H. D. Hibbard and E. T. Willson by default; Will T. Glenney and W. Lester Glenney defeated W. H. Rogers and S. D. Lounsbery, 1 up.

Class B—G. S. Clay and D. W. Taylor defeated C. W. King and H. G. Phillips, 1 up; W. L. Alling and George Bomann defeated H. E. Moore and Harry Williams, 4 and 2; R. H. Cox and Owen H. Fleming defeated C. C. Burke and L. H. Gates 3 and 2; A. W. Kleinecke and R. C. Blancke, Jr., defeated Burnett C. Kenyon and T. S. Wheeler, 4 and 3. George T. Rogers won the sweepstakes with a score of 98, 27-71.

In the evening there was the weekly dinner-dance, which was attended by nearly seventy-five members. The music, a feature, was by VanEps Brothers.

RANDOLPH BEATEN BY ALL-STAR CAST

Harter and Other Local Men Play Good Ball for Johnson's Stars.

Cliff Randolph, the local hurler, who is now wearing a Suburban uniform, lost a close battle to Walter Johnson's All-Stars on Suburban Oval, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 4 to 3. The star twirler of the American League occupied the mound for his stars and was hit for eight safeties, but he fanned fifteen of the opposing batters against Randolph's six.

Among the players on Johnson's team were Joe Harter, the Plainfield centrefielder who played the same position, and pounded out a two bagger and a single out of four times up; Hartman, the former Plainfielder who played shortstop and got a two-sack mash besides a pretty single; Bruggy, the local's left fielder, who played first base; Eddie Craig, of New Brunswick, on second, and Jackolitch, who played against the locals two weeks ago on the International Stars, behind the bat. Ten hits were made off Randolph.

DAILY PRESS CUP FOR SAURER TEAM

Presentation Will Be Made at a Final League Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow Night.

The final meeting of the season for the City League will be held in the rooms of the West End Athletic Club tomorrow night, at which time the Daily Press trophy will be awarded to the Saurer baseball team, champions of the league during its initial season of existence. The Saurer nine won out with a good margin to spare in the City League race and as a result the first cup will go to the motor truck company's representatives on the diamond.

The City League is a successor to last year's Manufacturers' and many of the players who were on the rosters of teams in the old organization shifted their names to the new one when it was formed. All of the meetings have been conducted in the rooms of the West End A. C., which were turned over to the organization when it was first launched and the past season has been an unusually successful one in every way. While no definite action has been taken as yet it seems probable that a similar league will be started next season under the same management.

LOCAL PLAYERS ON TY COBB'S OUTFIT

All-Star Cast Appeared in the Bronx Yesterday and Won Close Battle.

Ty Cobb, with an aggregation of local talent, found the going pretty stiff yesterday on the New Bronx Oval, New York city, when he lined his forces up against the crack Bronx Athletics and won out after some hard battling by a score of 3 to 1. The star batter of the American League had the following players known to local fans on his all-star contingent: Jack Martin, at shortstop; Wally Cosgrove in right field; Bill Dalton on second base; Tee, of New Brunswick, behind the bat, and Reslegle, the twirler who held the Pets to two hits here three weeks ago, on the mound.

Ty went to bat four times but repeated his stunt pulled off at Elizabethport a week previous and failed to get a hit. Cosgrove got a bingle and Martin was credited with two putouts. Martin also got a sacrifice hit.

AJAX QUINTET HELD ITS FIRST PRACTISE

Coming together again for the fourth consecutive year, the Ajax basketball team representing the local Y. M. C. A., held its initial practise of the season on the association court Saturday night and as a result those at the helm of the team have become greatly encouraged over the prospects of putting out another winning aggregation. Last season the Ajax won the open championship of the city from Hope chapel and present indications seem to point to a strengthening of both quintets this season.

So great has been the influx of new material and so promising are the candidates available that some of the veteran players will have to do their best work in order to retain their old berths, now sought by new men. Owing to the absence of William Peacock, who will play with the Plainfield High School five and the possible absence of Andrew Hetfield, who may also give his entire time to his alma mater, two new men will have to be selected and Albert Brynairski, who will again lead the team, is scouting around for two more players and has a big field to select from.

Those out in uniform for the practice Saturday night were Peacock, Hetfield, Buckle, Eminck, Brynairski, and McNamee, and C. William Bingeman, who will coach the team. Among these men, Peacock and Bryniarski are the only two veterans left from the first year when the team was organized by George W. Whitaker, but Hetfield joined the aggregation soon afterward.

FRANKLINS WANT ANOTHER CRACK AT HOLY CROSS

The Franklin team which defeated Holy Cross Saturday is anxious to play a return game and it is probable that another gridiron struggle will be arranged by the respective managers sometime next month. The Newarkers would also like to book games with other aggregations in this vicinity. This can be done by addressing Chopse Welte, 192 Amherst street, East Orange.

FIRST BASKETBALL CONTEST OF 1913

Local Players Will Play All-Elizabeth Team October Twenty-fifth.

What will probably be the first basketball game of the season for local players will be staged in Elizabeth a week from next Saturday night, when an all Plainfield five is scheduled to appear on the Hippodrome court in that place. The local promoter has gathered together an aggregation of five players and it is quite likely that a series of contests will be arranged after the first one is played. The Hippodrome court is a new one in Elizabeth and the Plainfield team will play the inaugural contest with the Elizabeth quintet that night.

A special program has been arranged for the opening of the new court and the local players are expected to appear in the main feature as opponents to the Elizabethans. The Plainfield team will take the field as follows: Dunning, McNamee, forwards; Doig, centre; Heron, Leighs, guards.

ATHLETICS WON CHAMPIONSHIP THROUGH UNPARALLED PLAYING

By JAMES J. McNAMEE
(Sporting Editor of the Plainfield Daily Press)

Bidding farewell to baseball after a public career that dates back for nearly twenty years and displaying a degree of cunning and mastery that would arouse the envy of many a hurler twenty years his junior, Edward S. Plank, the "Grand old man" of organized baseball, appeared in the role of a Giant Waterloo at the Polo Grounds Saturday afternoon, triumphantly pulling the flag to the top of the highest mast in the baseball world and curtailing a wonderful series of baseball games by giving Cornelius McGillicuddy's Philadelphia American League team the championship of the universe and all outlying suburbs.

Two great managers, popularly conceded to be the shrewdest and wisest in the National pastime, entered the Polo Grounds Saturday afternoon, one to retrieve a lost cause and the other to put over the final crack in the 1913 series that would give him and his wonderful herd of hallists the supreme honors on the diamond. John McGraw offered "Big Six" Mathewson as a martyr to the cause while Connie Mack, the shrewd and silent son of Erin, selected Eddie Plank to do the "come back" act and even up matters with old "Christy," who defeated him in the second game after a ten-inning battle. Thus, two masters of the curve and break, met each other under the same circumstances as they did eight years ago when each was in the salad days of his career, Matty twirling for New York and Plank for the Athletics. Saturday's contest was a wonderful testimonial to the ability of these two big fellows, when, after teammates of the former battle had passed far into the background they came back and defended their titles as heroes of the superlative type of baseball.

Sailing along on the crest of victory, Plank twirled the greatest World's series contest in the history of the National pastime, allowing the New York aspirants to the title but two hits and heaped laurels upon laurels when three men were retired in order eight out of the nine innings as the direct result of his knowledge of curvology. His twirling was will nigh perfection itself and was all the more remarkable because the veteran, who is rapidly approaching his fortieth year, came back after a rest of two days and pitched the greatest ball of the series. Over the first four frames not a runner saw first base, the southpaw mowing down the opposition with heartless invincibility.

Mathewson's work was by no means off color, but the New York defense crumbled like so much paper behind him at the crucial moments of play. Matty's wares were sold at a high cost and his supporters were an inferior cast, outclassed both on the defense and offense. Giant players were guilty of the solidest-worst plays ever seen in a big title clash and at times the New York infielders handled the ball as though it was a hunk of quick silver covered with vaseline. Fred Merkle pulled the most prominent "bone" when he let two runs simmer across the platter on the "thickest" play imaginable and Burns, patroling the outfield beat, heaved a costly one over Larry McLean's head (and that's some altitude), letting in the third run. Plank was supported by a $100,000 infield that looked like a $1,000,000 stonewall to the Gotham club swingers.

Through superior all around tactics the Athletics outplayed the Giants by a wide margin in every contest of the five staged with the exception of the first one played in Philadelphia when Maty pulled the New Yorkers out on the bigger end of the score after a ten-inning battle, despite the fact that his support was not even then up to the standard it should have been. The sole cause for the McGraw clan's defeat comes in the fact that they did not support their twirling star, while the Athletics put every ounce of prevention into the final game and effected the cure.

While most of the limited number of bingles were of the zipping variety, it was nothing less than a pitchers' battle, both hurling artists holding the play exclusively to their infield. Each first base guardian garnered in fourteen put outs and many of the decisions were based on an eyelash advantage. The Giant adherents gave the greatest demonstration of real rooting that has ever been heard at a baseball struggle and it was due to no lack of enthusiasm that the McGraw crew lost out. The spectators kept up a bedlam from start to finish and it was hard to realize that all was over even after Captain Doyle had been put out for the last time in 1913. The hit-killing Quaker checked a new home spurt and squelched many a run that could be seen arising in the field before it had time to sprout.

Both pitchers knew the prescription for every club swinger who stepped to the plate and had it not been for the errors of omission and commission behind him and the fact that his teammates were as weak as wind-blown straw, Matty would not have been put to rout.

Everything ended just as I predicted Friday, airtight pitching without the necessary punch behind it being pushed unceremoniously into the background and a well oiled and regulated machine, proficient in every department of the game and balancing one good feature with another, winning out with a triumphant spurt. While the Giants' baseball luck did not appear to be focusing at any one time during the series, the teams were battling under well nigh even terms and the margin of defeat is enough to cover up any discrepancy that might be unearthed as the result of injuries, etc., to Giant players. No excuses can be offered and it is better for the Nw Yorkers to make up in sportsmanship for what they lack in baseball ability. Connie Mack won the series through clean and unparalled playing and he and his youngsters cannot be praised too highly for their startling work.

Individualism figured conspicuously in the outcome and on a pinnacle above all the rest of the talent is seated Wally Schang wrapped in wreaths of laurel. At least two of the Quaker's victories must be credited to this young graduate of the International League, and he has been a prominent nemesis of the New York crew from the time the very first gun was boomed last Tuesday morning. His trusty willow drove out hits when safeties meant counters and counters meant victory, and his work behind the bat could not be bettered even by a more experienced rival. For the Giants, I pick Larry McLean as the white haired boy of the series and thus, two catchers have monopolized the center of the limelight during the five days of battling. McLean, pressed into service at the last moment when "Big Chief" Meyers split his thumb, handled the shoots of a herd of battery partners, who a few months ago were strangers to him, to a degree of perfection and like his rival in Quaker uniform, he wielded the wagon tongue that sent a majority of the Giants' limited supply of counters humming across the rubber.

The World's Series is over and for the third time in rapid succession the New York team of the National League has ben humiliated by American League opponents and retreated from an attack of a far superior foe. Those who shouted "Matty or Matteawan" Saturday morning are now safely incased within the walls of padding and will there remain until Matty gets an opportunity to retrieve matters in another series in years to come.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is Columbus Day a legal holiday in this State and will it be celebrated on Monday?—J. N.

Answer—Columbus Day is a legal holiday in New Jersey but it will not be celebrated here Monday as many people have been led to believe. New York is observing today as a legal holiday because the governor of that State has issued an edict to that effect.

Query—Did Mathewson and Plank ever pitch against each other before entering the big leagues?—F. A. N.

Answer—Yes, they appeared in an intercollegiate championship match on rival mounds. Matty twirled for Bucknell and beat Plank in a ten inning battle by a score of 3 to 0 when the latter was a member of the Gettysburg Institute. Something like the second world's series game, wasn't it?

PARSON'S BIRDS WON HOMING PIGEON RACE

After a hard race a close finish was the result of the last flight of the Plainfield homing pigeons on Saturday from Manassas, Va., a distance of 200 miles. The birds were liberated at 9 o'clock in the morning in weather that was cloudy and with a southeast wind. At home the weather was rainy and the wind east, making it a trying race for the young birds. The birds of Robert S. Parsons, of this city, won the contest, his entries making 811.85 yards per minute. The birds of the others finished in the following order:

John Fischer, Westfield, 811.69; John Robertson, Plainfield, 810.97; Fred C. Brunner, Westfield, 793.03; Felix Rydzinski, Roselle Park, 723.-23. John Fischer's birds were the winner of the series of flights, their average being 913.111 for the 100-150-200 miles.

"NO EXCUSES," SAYS McGRAW.

"No use making any excuses," said John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, after the game at the Polo Grounds. "We were beaten, and beaten fairly, by a team that I consider the strongest we have ever faced. They carried us off our feet with their batting and they overlooked no opportunities in the field.

"Of course, Meyers was out, but who could complain of McLean's work? It is true that we missed Snodgrass and that Merkle was far from being at his best. But we would have had a tough fight anyway. Breaks? Oh, I don't know. A few of our errors were very costly, but the others had a few, too. I am sorry that the boys could not have given Matty a few runs to work on today."

NEW YORK GIANTS NO MATCH FOR AMERICAN LEAGUE BALL CLUB

One of the quickest and shortest programs of world's series baseball ever staged between American and National League ball clubs was ended in New York, Saturday afternoon and the many pessimists who have been so ready to run down the integrity of present-day ball managers and declaim the National pastime as a degenerate sport rapidly growing into a business, were treated to a sudden shock and their dope was spilled in a big lump for the fact that the Philadelphia club lost a possible $45,000 by ending the series Saturday is proof enough of the fact that this series was "on the square."

The big series was wound up in a blaze of glory, two of the greatest pitchers baseball has even known facing each other in the final battle, Connie Mack sending Eddie Plank in to face the world renowned Christy Mathewson, McGraw's choice for the last contest of the year. In talking with Ty Cobb, the world's greatest all-around baseball player and sporting writer for the New York American, yesterday afternoon, I was informed that the appearance of Plank on the mound Saturday afternoon was his last in the major eagues and the big fellow, who is rapidly approaching his fortieth year, took the first train for a cozy little farm in Gettysburg, Pa., where he will wield a hoe and pitch hay in the future instead of the bat and ball. Plank claims that he has had all the glory that any one individual could get out of the National pastime and that he is not in need of the coin forthcoming from the great game.

Plank's loss to Connie Mack will be a severe one and if he is unable to induce the veteran to return to the pitcher's box the Philadelphia twirling department will be minus one of its main cogs. Several times in the past Plank has expressed his desire to retire from a public career but in each instance McGillicuddy has exercised the great hold he has on his charges and induced the great heaver to return to the Quaker fold.

This is the third world's championship belt that Connie Mack has won and he has without a doubt, the greatest baseball machine of any team in either league, the club having all the assets of a great nine, including youth, playing ability, sportsmanship and the nack of playing as a unit. No one man should be handed the credit for bringing the title to the greatest of ball nines, for every man on the team starred at one or another and at all times did everything in his power to gain every advantage that made itself visible. In viewing the statistics of the big series I notice that one man was in the limelight as much as the other and to single out any one individual as a hero and place him on a pedestal above his teammates would be doing the others an injustice.

Schang, Bush and Eddie Murphy have, of course, been brilliant spots at times when brilliancy was noticeable and therefore have got the publicinity that only stars of the diamond receive when they do something superhuman. Playing their first year of big league baseball and appearing for the first time in a world's series, they of course have done something unusually startling and should be given all the laurels that are in store for them. The fact that all of the members of the world's champions are now enjoying the prime of youth, seems to point to many more championships for the wiley leader of the Phillies and the 1913 series is only a take-off for the sprint that is yet to come, in my estimation.

McGraw's Giants looked to Connie Mack and his Athletics like the New York Americans have looked to the Philadelphians in the American League race all season. Still the Giants are the champions of the National League and must be given all the honors that are coming for the great battles they have waged and won during the year of championship baseball in the National organization. McGraw has a ball club that is fast in the field and are all right in their particular class, but when they clash with the American winners their noticeable weakness with the willow asserts itself strongly.

Since the Giants won the National League championship and since they played the final game at the Polo Grounds with the Philadelphia Nationals two weeks ago, they have slackened the pace they had been traveling at all season and their ball playing in the big series was not up to the par established in the season's race for the league pennant. Of course, the strain of a series of this nature is great on any heard of ball players, and this fact might have had a great deal to do with the ultimate outcome. A baseball team playing in a world's series tilt are not as a rule capable of putting up their best baseball for the circumstances surrounding such a series are such that tend to take away rather than add to the playing of the men involved.

The Giants have presented a crippled lineup in this series but this is only another of the breaks of baseball that every aggregation must be able to overcome in winning superior honors. You can't win ball games without runs and you can't get runs if you can't hit. Thus, the whole cause for the New York club's defeat lies in the fact that they couldn't hit the ball. I think that Matty pitched good enough ball Saturday to win any baseball game, for when a pitcher can hold a club of the Athletics' calibre to six hits and not a single earned run, he is doing some good stage work. If McGraw had a few more Mathewsons he might be able to win a world's series tilt but if a blackhander or any miscreant ever succeeds in getting rid of "Big Six," the Giants club will be like a ship without a rudder and without him the New Yorkers will be fighting the St. Louis club for the cellar championship.

I think the best team won the world's series with cleaner hitting and better pitching.

Kitchen Towels.

There are almost as many different opinions regarding kitchen towels as there are good housekeepers in the world. Some women use nothing but linen toweling for glass and china, and some think cotton is just as good. Some use one sort of toweling for glass, another for china and a third for pots and pans, and some use the same sort for all three. Some swear by roller towels for hand towels, and some think little towels are the only sort to have for that purpose. But whatever the differences of opinion may be, they only go to show that there are a good many "right ways" of making kitchen towels.

Don't Waste Energy.

There is no necessity for hemming kitchen towels by hand. They do their work just as well if they are hemmed by machine. And there is no necessity for marking them by hand. You can buy tape with you name woven in it for a very little money. Or else you can mark the towels with your name written in indelible ink. If you use indelible ink, it pays to get a special marking tablet—a little sheet of tin three inches across, with a little hoop to slip over the material which is stretched across the tin sheet. If you have no little tin sheet, stretch the material in embroidery hoops and slip some smooth object under the part to be written on.

The simplest sort of hand-embroidered lettering can be done in outlining and cross stitch, but unless a woman has few outside interests this marking is a waste of time.

For and Against the Roller.

The argument against the roller towel is that part of it is soiled before the rest is, and therefore a partly soiled towel must hang for several days until the cleaner parts have been used. The argument in its favor is chiefly one of laundering. A roller towel takes less time to iron than half a dozen small towels—and at the steam laundries costs only as much as one small towel.

Washing.

Towels used in the kitchen should always be rinsed in moderately cool water and then washed in hot, soapy water. Then they should be rinsed and then dried in the open air. If time is at a premium they need not be ironed. Probably this laxity would shock many careful housewives, but a clean towel, dried in the open air, is quite as useful for drying dishes as one that is ironed smooth.

One clever woman always saves the coarse sacks that sugar and salt come in—the big ones. She rips the side seams and hems the ends and uses them for towels for pots and pans.

A doll's clothes-line, which comes with half a dozen tiny clothes-pins and two small pulleys, is a convenience for drying kitchen towels. It can be fastened from the kitchen porch to a nearby tree, and extra clothes-pins can be bought for a small price. The pulley, rope and six pins are sold for ten cents.

LUNCHEON SETS.

Novelties in Summer Linens For the Bungalow.

Several attractive novelties in summer linens for the country house are being shown now. Our old friend, the willow pattern, which has become as standard a thing in china as bread and butter are in food, has been adopted as an embroidery design for linen.

Bungalow willow sets, as these luncheon outfits are called, are in white linen with the traditional Chinese design embroidered in two shades of blue. The price is $16.50 for a set consisting of a twenty-seven inch centerpiece and three dozen doilies—one dozen in each of the three customary sizes. Small napkins to match at $5 a dozen.

Willow china can be used with this corresponding linen with striking effect. Too striking, in fact, for anything except country house entertaining. Even there it will seem to many women to be "too much of a muchness" and they will prefer to use a plainer china with the willow linen.

Austrian linens are another novelty. They come in white, a pale grayish blue and a dull creamy yellow. The color is not solid, however, as many white threads are woven in with the tinted ones. The allover designs are very simple geometrical ones, scarcely perceptible at a distance. The fabric itself is rather heavy but much closer and firmer than some of the German linens used for summer luncheons and teas. The Austrian sets are a little more expensive than those in the willow pattern.

White Irish linen, embroidered in Japan in a deep border of small white knots with an occasional small floral spray in shaded blue silk, is the material for other sets, which cost $25 apiece.

Very inexpensive sets, but at the same time very attractive ones, are in heavy natural color grass linen with scalloped edges embroidered in blue. These will be extremely serviceable and will make a novel and picturesque effect. And their price, $4.50 a set (including centerpiece and three sets of doilies), will appeal to the woman who cannot afford to buy expensive table linens for her simple country house. For the summer home nothing is more convenient for informal entertaining than the cozy little tea wagon seen in the illustration. It may be wheeled out on the lawn, and as it is made from wicker the transit is a comparatively easy one for the person who pushes the cart.

Worth Knowing.

A few minced dates added to fudge as it comes from the stove will make a novel and dainty confection.

In cooking peas and beans the water should be allowed to boil away to almost nothing. When the seasoning is put in this makes a delicious juice.

If the clothes boiler leaks while in use the hole may be temporarily stopped up by putting a handful of corn meal into the water. It will fill the hole.

Stale macaroons, which can be bought cheap at the baker's, make the most delicious addition to pudding and custards if pulverized and sprinkled over the top.

BAKED FRUIT CHARLOTTES.

Apple Charlotte.
Coffee.

THE report that a certain eminent gentleman who lives in the White House is particularly fond of charlotte russe or any form of charlotte has naturally popularized these desserts.

With fresh fruit available, the housewife has an opportunity to originate many new charlottes to tempt the palates of her household. The following suggestions for concocting standard ones may be useful.

Toothsome Apple Desserts.

Apple Charlotte With Raisins.—Take a pudding dish and put a tablespoonful of melted butter in the dish. Then put in a layer of buttered toast, a layer of sliced apples, sprinkled with sugar and nutmeg and then a layer of raisins. Repeat this until the dish is full. Place buttered toast on top. Beat one or two eggs, add two cupfuls of milk and pour over all. Bake until the apples are all cooked. Serve with cream and sugar.

Charlotte de Pomme.—Take eight tart apples, pare and quarter them. Then put into a kettle with a cupful of water and two cupfuls of sugar. Let them cook until they are clear. Line a buttered baking dish with halves of lady fingers or slices of sponge cake. Pour the apples in, cover with a layer of sponge cake and decorate with currant jelly. Set in a slow oven for an hour. This may be served with sugar and cream if desired.

A Fruit Substitute.

Rhubarb Charlotte.—Take a baking dish, butter it, cover the bottom with breadcrumbs to the depth of about an inch. Then peel some rhubarb and cut it into thin, small pieces. Place a layer of these over the breadcrumbs. Sprinkle with sugar and add more breadcrumbs. Dot each layer of crumbs with bits of butter, then put in another layer of rhubarb and so continue adding layers of crumbs and rhubarb until the dish is full. The last layer should be of crumbs. Place in the oven and bake. While not really a fruit, rhubarb is usually so classed and so is mentioned here.

Other fruit charlottes may be made by following these suggestions.

They Are Fairy Shoemakers

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Foolish Farmer and the Three Wishes.

THERE is no doubt daddy was right. Jack and Evelyn were hard on their shoes. Most active boys and girls are.

"I wish I could meet the leprechaun some fine morning and get his help in keeping you in shoes," daddy complained.

"What is a leprechaun?" Jack and Evelyn asked eagerly.

"Well," replied daddy, "I used to know a delightful old man who could tell the most charming stories about Ireland, the land of his birth.

"And one of his jolliest stories was about the leprechauns. He said they were fairy shoemakers—made all the little shoes that the fairy men and fairy ladies wore.

"The leprechauns were kept pretty busy too. The fairies danced so much they soon wore out their shoes, and then the lady fairies, too, were very particular to have only the latest fashions in shoes.

"Sometimes when the leprechauns were especially busy they would have to sit up until late in the morning to finish their work.

"Once upon a time, so the story says, a stingy farmer caught a leprechaun this way. He would not let the leprechaun go until the fairy had promised him that he might have three wishes.

"Then the farmer hurried home and told his wife. She was as mean and grasping as he, and the two sat down to think how they could get the most possible for themselves out of the three wishes.

"The wife had put the big black pot on the fire and filled it with water for cooking the potatoes for their dinner. They talked so long that the wife began to be quite hungry.

"'Oh, dear,' she exclaimed unthinkingly; 'I wish there was black pudding cooking in the pot!' And with that a black pudding, which was a kind of pudding made of meat, came flying in through the window and popped into the pot.

"'There,' cried the angry farmer; 'there's a wish wasted on a meal when we might have got so much more for it. I wish the pudding was on the end of your nose, wife!'

"And the hot pudding popped out of the pot and in a second was hanging from the end of the poor woman's nose.

"The couple pulled and twisted and tried every knife in the house, but they couldn't get the pudding off her nose.

"So they agreed to use the last one of the three wishes, and the pudding flew out of the window. Instead of being the richest people in the country, as they had hoped to be, they had nothing at all to show for the farmer's meeting with the leprechaun."

TAFFETAS COME AND TAFFETAS GO, BUT THEY ALWAYS LINGER NEAR

Afternoon dresses are becoming more elaborate each day. The skirts are draped, and many of the bodices show a two-toned effect brought about by an underblouse of figured net or lace and the overblouse either of chiffon or the material of the skirt. One of the most popular materials for these early autumn afternoon dresses is taffetas, a soft, supple quality that lends itself easily and gracefully to drapery. The printed taffetas are especially effective. One extremely smart dress of which 7728 is almost an exact counterpart was in a dull, dark blue taffeta with a queer conventionalized design in a very soft rose color. The underblouse was of patterned net. The drapery in front was caught with an odd looking ornament of rose colored enamel.

7726 is another draped model that would be excellent for satin, crepe de china or Canton crepe. Canton crepe is one of the newer crepes and a most graceful clinging stuff.

Inexpensive Trimmings You Can Make.

Exclusive dressmakers are using hand-embroidered bands this season to give the individuality so characteristic of the well-made gown. Here are three attractive border trimmings one can easily work at very little expense.

The futurist border 14641, is 2½ inches wide, and if developed in the bright futurist colors, gives a smart touch to a somber costume.

The berry design, 14644 is 2 inches wide and is effectively developed in crude shades of red, green, purple and brown in silk or crewel wools.

Simple indeed is the pretty cross-stitch border number 14391, which is 2 inches wide. This is appropriate for embroidering children's dresses or aprons and may be developed in pink, blue and green or on a single color.

Three yards of any one of these patterns will be supplied to readers for ten cents each.

PLAIDS

A Pleasing Change from Suits of Solid Color

THE Scotchman may glory in fashion's revival of his tartan or feel jealous because manufacturers have invented other plaids than those of his own clan to satisfy the demands of style, but plaids we must have. There are scarcely enough to go around. Their vogue, of course, started in Paris. American garment makers rejoiced to carry it on here, and designers have produced many exceptionally attractive models both of all plaid fabrics or the combination of plain material with the other. They come as one of the most welcome suggestions for variety in planning a winter wardrobe. Whether one chooses a dark blue and green worsted plaid, a stunning silk tartan of blue green and dark red or a small pattern in brown, green and amethyst smooth finished woolens there is a snap-and-dash in the effect of this sort of suit or dress on a winter day.

This newest fashion also is economical for any one who is trying to save on some one clothing necessity in order to have more for another. It suggests a way of transforming a suit of last season. So often the coat of a tailored suit will outwear its skirt. In that case buy a dark worsted or ratine plaid material and make a skirt like the one described. Face the collar and cuffs to freshen them or make a plaid waistcoat. You then have practically the duplicate of a four-piece suit being featured in some big city shops.

Four-piece Suits A Practical Idea

The combination includes a dark blue, green or brown cheviot coat, one skirt to match it; another of plaid, and a waistcoat of plaid. The variety of changes thus made possible will appeal to most every one.

One-piece dresses of plaid silk or woolen goods have attracted especial notice at fashionable tea rooms or for morning shopping tours, according as they are very dressy or less elaborate. Satin meteor, soft taffeta or crepe de chine is the plain material seen oftenest with tartan silks, oddly made with drapery or a folded sash and sleeves different from the body part of the blouse.

For a schoolgirl or a slender young matron the latest Paris importations offer no design more practical or pleasing than the dress shown on the middle of this page. (Pattern No. 7842 waist—7855 skirt.) It, too, is a dark plaid fine serge with a line of yellow, which is matched in a silk piping on the lower edge of the bias trimming band around the three-piece skirt. The narrow vest is also of light silk, and there are detachable collar and cuffs of white hemstitched handkerchief linen. A novel feature appears in the cut of the back of this blouse with an extension which forms the girdle. Loops of red silk cord and white bone buttons with black rims are the smart finishing touches of this little dress which can be duplicated for $8.

The hat, which helps to set it off, is of black velvet with a merle breast and long cross tabs of velvet diagonally placed across the back.

Daytime Gowns of Silk Favored For Winter

One hardly knows how the fashion has come about, but it is certain that afternoon frocks of silks, crepe de chine and brocades will be exceedingly popular all the season. They will be worn under heavy coats and fur garments when colder days come. Their variety of attractive ways of making the simpler silk gowns is almost as great as the materials to be selected. Two interesting models from the style viewpoint are shown today as especially good for copying in almost any soft material one may have or buy. That on the left in the upper corner illustration is a black and magenta figured foulard trimmed with black satin bands. A new idea is the yoke above a three-piece skirt, which is bordered with black ribbon to give the latest full effect just below the hip. It is a hint of the lamp shade drapery, but modified enough to make it becoming and of good taste for the conservative dresser. The sooner you can get a gown of this type the more you will be envied, for it is wonderfully good-looking and up to the minute. The guimpe is made of tucked tan color net, and there is an inset of tan ratine with hand embroidered stiff woolen flowers in the front of the blouse.

A rich old gold is the color of an inexpensive broche crepe de chine, a favored fabric that drapes well and has the flowered design that is so new. The blouse (No. 7851) crosses over at the lower front, where there is a colored applique ornament like that on the skirt front. There is an odd arrangement of drapery in two side panels of the skirt (No. 7945) to give the peg-top outline. A soft sash of plain satin charmeuse of a darker shade is tied at the side and finished with tassels. Instead of tassels, balls of soft silk can be used for sash ends. Frills of plaited net are worn in the ends of the Directoire sleeves, and also in the low cut neck, frilled in with a net vestee.

Each pattern is 15 cents.

AS a smartly gowned young woman stepped on a Fifth avenue bus in the American metropolis a few days ago she disclosed a gay plaid stocking, which matched the smart dress of plaid and plain silk she was wearing. This is one of many details of attire carefully carried out by the up-to-date girl. Her low shoes were black patent leather, and her hat, a jaunty affair of black velvet with a patent leather band and bow.

The shops are offering a deal of fancy hosiery, which includes as a feature black or white stockings with an anklet embroidered around one stocking only, to be worn on the left leg. Gold, silver and even jeweled anklets are a fad of the moment for extremists.

Fibre silk stockings are being worn by many women who like the dainty appearance of silk hosiery and yet who do not want to pay the high prices for good thread and shun silk hosiery. They come in black, white and colors, with the upper half of lisle, which makes them doubly durable. The price is 50 cents per pair.

PLAIN SERGE with PLAID

The TARTAN AS IT Is WORN In 1915

Practical Hints For the Housewife

ONE of many new uses for green peppers is to cook them as follows: Wash, halve and remove the seeds. Put them through a meat chopper or cut them up in small pieces with a knife. Put a piece of butter to melt in a frying pan, and add the peppers, with their juice, a cupful of stock and sliced onions. Simmer until tender. They are a delicious relish with meat.

Fish Cutlets

Make a paste of one pint of flaked cold cooked fish with a thick cream sauce, adding salt and a "pinch" of cayenne pepper. Put the paste smoothly in the bottom of a dish to get cold and firm. Mold it into cutlet form, dip in bread or cracker crumbs, then in egg and again in crumbs, and fry in hot fat until well browned. Serve very hot.

Apple Shortcake

Half a cupful butter, half a cupful lard, one cupful sguar, two eggs, two cupfuls flour, one cupful stewed apples, one level teaspoonful soda dissolved in the apples, one teaspoonful baking powder, one cupful seeded raisins, one teaspoonful each cinnamon and cloves. Bake in a moderate oven. The shortcake may be baked in individual portions like dumplings and served with cream.

INSTEAD of sewing or pinning ribbon bows on lingerie the clever French needlewoman has made a buttonhole loop of thread through which the ornamental ribbon is run and tied. It can be quickly removed when the garment goes to the laundry and as quickly replaced without a needle and thread.

A thin piece of whalebone or a corset steel can be slipped into a hem or placket facing to prevent catching stitches through on the outside when sewing on hooks and eyes. Similarly one will find the corset steel useful to run under insertion when wanting to cut out the fabric beneath lace.

If a large hole is to be mended in stockings or ribbed underwear a quicker and neater piece of work will be accomplished by first sewing a piece of paper on the wrong side of the article, then cutting out a square, round or oblong hole, into which fit the same shaped piece of an old stocking and, lastly, darning it into place.

Patterns for designs shown on this page can be obtained from any agency for Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

Smart Adjuncts of Tailored Suits

Except for outer garments there is little regard paid to the thickness of fabrics for winter clothing nowadays. Filmy nets and laces used extravagantly in the summer for blouses, guimpes, vests, etc., are equally modish today. Whether as an adjunct of a waist or as a separate article it is still the purpose of dainty net frills and coatees to give a becoming feminine touch that French women will not do without. They frequently add a touch of fur or border a lace frill with it.

Three models of new accessories are shown from a fascinating stock in a representative New York shop. There is dainty hand embroidery on the guimpe, with a finish of valenciennes lace around the collarless neck and down the middle front. Such "trifles" as these are so expensive that many women prefer to make their own, even though it takes considerable time to do the handiwork. The actual guimpe is simple to make. The guimpe illustrated can be reproduced with the aid of pattern No. 8007. Fifteen cents.

The vest is of striped black and white silk with a white lace ruffle, and the waistcoat is one of the newest models with a finished back. The latter may be worn over a net guimpe.

VEST, WAISTCOAT and GUIMPE

(From James McCreery & Co., N. Y.)

EMBROIDERED initials and monograms on personal or household linens are marks of good taste or its opposite, according as the letters and sizes are suited to the piece on which they appear. Even busy American women find some spare time occasionally to embroider napkins and tablecloths, or when not they will pay for having the work done.

Script or square block letters are good styles to chose for table linen, to be worked with padded solid stitch, as the design of a three letter monogram shows. There is a right and wrong way of placing the decoration. For a monogram on a square or oblong tablecloth crease one corner diagonally toward the center and on the crease place the letters as far from the corner of the table top as desired. Some prefer putting the monogram five inches from either hem, in which case it will not show on the table top. For a round cloth the monogram may be stamped in the center or so that its upper edge will be two inches below the table.

To mark napkins fold four times and place the letters diagonally in the middle of the outside quarter. If of extra size fold three times and mark in the middle.

Pillowcases should be stamped in the center of one side, two inches from the hem or scallop. Towels may be marked one inch from the hem in the middle. Sheets should be marked so that the letters will be right side up when the end of the sheet is turned over.

Embroidery pattern No. 14258 will supply 375 transfers of one initial in a great variety of types and sizes. 15c.

ENROLLMENT 130 AT NIGHT SCHOOL

SEVEN INSTRUCTORS

Mrs. Wardner Continues as Principal—Eight Nationalities Represented on Pupils' Roster—Sessions Four Nights Each Week.

A cosmopolitan student body numbering approximately 130 pupils greeted the instructors at the Night School conducted under the direction of the Board of Education at the opening session last night and eight different nationalities were represented on the roster. This feature of local educational work was inaugurated a year ago and proved a decided success in Plainfield, especially among the foreign populace, who are the chief beneficiaries in the scheme to provide instruction in the English courses of study.

The enthusiasm at the opening of the present term has increased twofold as the result of the good that was obtained from the feature last year and many of those who took advantage of the free tuition in the initial year returned last night to enroll in the more advanced course. A number of new pupils have been registered also and seven classes will be provided to tutor the individuals who entered for the course as outlined by those in charge. Mrs. Sarah Wardner, who is again principal of the school, has a competent corps of teachers to assist her, and a rudimentary education is offered to any resident of the city who desires to increase his fundamental knowledge.

The grades are so classified as to provide courses for the illiterate person, to the ones who have some practical although not any thorough understanding in the educational branches. The students are grouped according to their advancement and as fast as they complete one course promotions are made until they reach the seventh grade, which is equivalent to the sixth year of work in our public school system.

Instructors are provided in mathematics, English, history, geography and civics, these being deemed the most essential branches. The teaching corps includes Mrs. Wardner as principal, with the following assistants: Miss Reba White, Miss Alice Trembath, Miss Skilling, Julius Newmark, Miss Koones and Miss Mabel Trembath. The sessions are held in the Stillman School four nights a week from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, viz.: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Application for registration in the classes may be made in person to the principal on any one of these four nights. The following nationalities are now represented: American, Hebrew, Swedish, Hungarian, Greek Italian, Polish and Russian.

INVITED TO TAKE THE LAMP; MISCREANT RETURNED WHEEL

After an absence of nearly a week, a valuable Pierce bicycle that was "borrowed" from the front porch of the house located at 423 Central avenue, Wednesday evening was returned as mysteriously as it disappeared sometime during last night to its accustomed place. Thinking the wheel had been stolen by bicycle thieves who have been operating with considerable success in this vicinity during the past few months, the owner notified the local police who instituted a search for the missing vehicle, but their efforts were futile.

Yesterday the following notice was published in these columns:

"WHY NOT THE LAMP?"

"If the person who 'borrowed' the Pierce wheel from the front porch of the house located at 423 Central avenue sometime during Wednesday evening will apply to the sporting editor of this paper, he can secure the lamp which he evidently overlooked when taking the wheel. The bicycle, fully equipped, is valued at seventy-five dollars and the absence of the lamp will decrease the value to some extent."

The "borrower," who either had no further use for the wheel or became suddenly conscience-smitten, returned the lost article to the exact spot from which it was taken sometime between the hours of 12 last night and 7 this morning, when it was discovered. We take this means of extending our appreciation to the considerate reader who responded with promptness, evidently thinking that the wheel with the lamp would be of more benefit to us than the wheel without the lamp to him.

JUST A FEW WORDS ABOUT A GREAT WORK

What's Being Done to Wipe Out Tuberculosis in This Community.

Information prepared by Dr. Krans for the Anti-Tuberculosis League illustrates the situation with regard to infection in the community to a degree which is at once alarming and reassuring. It is clearly shown that unless controlled, supervised and carefuly confined the ravages of the disease are shocking. A case is cited and shown by diagram where, through neglect, in a family of sixteen, comprising three generations, the infection of a single original case spread to nine other members of the family, resulting in three deaths.

Appalling as is the exhibit the benefit of skilled treatment and nursing, such as the league affords, is shown by the fact that four of the cases in this family have been "arrested."

The hopeful side of the fight is shown in a family of seven where for four years there has been a case which has been carefuly guarded and no infection has resulted.

The charts showing the state of the disease by families are most important and vitally interesting.

The work of the league is a charity in so far as these individual sufferers only are concerned. It is to an even greater extent a work of self preservation. As we have the best of reasons for realizing, no family is safe from infection. Recently we have seen stricken members of families far removed from every predisposing circumstance. Some are dead and some are dying.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League work is a work of insurance against the plague. Give to it and give to it handsomely. Help it to stamp out tuberculosis. You will save lives, you will prolong lives which cannot be saved, you will extend comfort to the helpless sick; you will, more than all, diminish the chance of the disease entering your own household.

The league is in need of money to carry on the work of its nursing bureau and its open air school for children.

Won't the people help it? Checks should be sent to James P. Murray, treasurer, 737 Watchung avenue.

REV. AND MRS. WARD PLEASE AUDIENCE AT A RECITAL

Rev. and Mrs. Warner E. L. Ward, of this city, were among those who appeared at a delightful recital at Trinity church, Newburg, N. Y., on Tuesday evening, when Miss Blanche E. Lyon, of Cornwall, gave a charming interpretation of Louisa Alcott's story, "Little Women." Mr. and Mrs. Ward gave a number of musical selections. Mr. Ward's numbers included the "Intricitus," and "The Rosary," while Mrs. Ward's selection from "LaTraviata" won her much commendation and she was encored.

The Newburg Telegram in speaking of the affair said among other things: "That Mrs. Ward's beautiful voice and winning personality, as well as her husband's highly creditable solo work, should receive only passing mention, has been the subject of considerable comment, although their cause demands neither bolstering or blarney. Mrs. Ward, who was Miss Jessie Wylie, never loses her charm before a Newburg audience, or for that matter anywhere else. Orange county is loaded down with 'elocutionists' and 'recitationists' but the names of singers who have the gift of pleasing and holding can be counted on the fingers or one's hand."

Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Jr., of Hillside and Prospect avenues, and Mrs. J. M. Charles, of Belvidere avenue, have issued novel invitations for a country costume dance to be given at the Plainfield Country Club, on Friday night, October 24.

500 MINERS MEET DEATH IN EXPLOSION

(By Telegraph to the Daily Press.)

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 14.—Five hundred miners are believed to have met death in the terrific explosion in the Universial Colliery. Many of the rescued, who number 327, were so badly burned that they will die. Mine officials said that extra workmen may have brought the number of men at work in the mine at the time of the explosion up to 900.

The explosion occurred shortly after 8 o'clock, very soon after the day shift had gone on duty. The detonation was so violent it shook the country for miles around as if from an earthquake. The Lewis Merthys Consolidated Colliery Co., owners of the mine, called for volunteers. Hundreds of miners dashed forward to join in the relief work. Families of the miners could scarcely be restrained from throwing themselves into the mouth of the pit.

The disaster is probably the worst in the history of Wales.

W. C. HUBBARD PRES'T OF S. S. SUPTS. ASS'N

Popular Dutch Arms Band Gives Concert at Annual Meeting of Organization.

The Plainfield Sunday-school Superintendents' Association held its first fall meeting and dinner at Warren chapel, last night, at which there was election of officers an address by Mrs. Ralph Armstrong and a discussion of plans for the coming year. William C. Hubbard, who was president last year and who was re-elected, gave an interesting review of the past twelve months.

There were about thirty-five members and invited guests at the dinner, after which these officers were chosen for the coming year: President, William C. Hubbard; vice president, Frederick E. Smith; secretary, Miss Florence G. Hawkins; treasurer, Harry Bouton.

Mrs. Ralph Armstrong, formerly of the First Baptist church, and who was connected with the State Sunday-school Association, gave an interesting illustration of "story telling" as a means to successful teaching. The review of the past year showed the wisdom of the organization and what had been accomplished.

During the evening members of the Dutch Arms Concert Band, of Trinity Reformed church, entertained with popular selections. There was also a discussion of plans and methods, making the meeting one of profit and pleasure as well.

MUNICIPAL BAND A GREAT SUCCESS

First Public Appearance of New Orchestra Greeted With a Full House.

ASSISTED BY SOLOIST

Miss Ruth Sadler's Selections Added Greatly to the Program Presented by Recreation Committee's Talent —Those who took part.

Assisted by Miss Ruth D. Sadler, soprano soloist, the Municipal Orchestra gave its first public concert and recital in the rooms of the First Presbyterian church, last night, the large audience being treated to an excellent program of vocal and instrumental music by local talent exclusively. Miss Sadler rendered several selections in an unusually clear voice and her numbers were loudly applauded.

The orchestra, consisting of piano, violin, viola, 'cello, bass, flute, oboe, clarinet, cornet, trombone, bassoon, horn, drum and tympany players was easily the centre of attraction and the work being done with the local instrumentalists by Martin A. Korff as conductor, under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, has become a successful as well as entertaining and enjoyable innovation. Young men who knew little if anything of playing the various instruments when they joined the orchestra have been instructed as a unit by Mr. Korff and the organization is now an established feature in the Recreation Committee's work.

The concert rooms were elaborately decorated for the occasion with plants and cut flowers, through the courtesy of Mrs. L. L. Denton, and the affair was a great success in every way.

The program: "March of the Priests," from the Opera "Athalia;" "The Jolly Robbers," overture, Franz von Suppe; "The Hermit," a meditation, R. Grunenwald; soprano solo, "O, Thou Wondrous Youth," Miss Ruth D. Sadler; Miss Helen B. Sadler, piano; B. A. Paroubek, violin obligato; Military Symphony, Adagio, Allegretto, Minuetto, Joseph Haydn; "Berceuse," strings, clarinets, flutes and piano, Jillinsky; "The Whip," March, A. Holzman; selections from "Il Trovatore," Guiseppi Verdi; "Sleepy Hollow," a dream in the mountains J. A. Allen; vocal solo, by special request, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Misses Sadler and the orchestra; "Military Symphony," finale, Allegro Vivace, Haydn, National March, Daughters of the American Revolution, Bodewalt Lampe; Star Spangled Banner.

Those in the orchestra are: Piano, Miss Evelyn Berg, violins, E. Banks, H. Brandt, I. W. Binninger, J. R. Connors, G. W. Comes, A. Dawe, R. F. Hand, M. Henry, Rev. C. E. Herring, A. Hoos, H. OPENING RECEPTION OF COLUMBUS CLUB

A Delightful Affair Largely Attended Marks Columbus Day.

The opening reception for members of the fair sex was held last night in the new hall of the Columbus Club and proved an unusual pleasant event. The affair also took on the aspect of a general celebration by the Knights of Columbus in observance of Columbus Day. Appropriate decorations draped the sidewalls of the hall and the musicians who rendered the dance music sat on the stage which bore a profuse distribution of palms and ferns. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock.

The arrangement committee was composed of T. F. Carty, chairman; A. A. Cannon, D. B. Doyle, Andrew E. Kenney, Joseph F. O'Keefe, and John J. McCaffrey.

Among the guests was Rev. Father J. H. Harvey, of Cold Springs, Pa., who made a hurried stop yesterday in Plainfield, while en route to Meriden, Conn., to attend the wedding of his brother, Dr. Frank Harvey, of that city.

NOTED ARCHITECT ON 'HOUSE PLANNING'

Evarts Tracy Gives Instructive Talk at Monday Afternoon Club Session.

The household economic department of the Monday Afternoon Club held its first meeting at the Plainfield Public Library, yesterday afternoon, when Evarts Tracy, the architect, gave an interesting and instructive talk on the subject of "House Planning." There were about forty women, all members of the department, present, and after the address opportunity was given for general discussion.

Mr. Tracy touched upon the building in general, grounds, ventilation, decorations, colors, lighting and heating, bringing out the most important features in each one. He covered the subject in such a complete and entertaining manner that the women were quite enthusiastic in the general discussion that followed.

The Monday Afternoon Club this year is divided into four departments. The club meets on the first Monday in the month and by the new arrangement the other departments will meet on the second, third and fourth Mondays. Next Monday the literary department will meet at the Public Library and the art department at the Hartridge Auditorium and on the fourth Monday the civic department will meet at the Hartridge Auditorium.

MULFORD DARLING DECLARED INSANE

Prisoner Accused of Embezzlement is Taken to State Asylum.

Declared insane by Dr. A. H. Dundon, after an examination, Mulford Darling, of Duer street, who surrendered Saturday night to the North Plainfield police who have sought him since last May on a warrant charging him with embezzlement, was taken shortly after noon today to the State hospital in Trenton. The application requesting his admittance into the institution was signed by his mother.

Darling, previous to running away last spring with a circus which appeared in this city, volunteered to sell some tickets for a play to be given in the Park Club by the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association. Benjamin A. Phelps, at that time principal of the borough institution, swore out the warrant, that Darling sold $28.75 worth of tickets and kept the money. Darling came back to Plainfield Saturday night and walking into police headquarters, asked if he was wanted. He was placed under arrest, but acted so queerly that Chief Weiss sent for Dr. Dundon, who examined him as to his mental condition yesterday afternoon.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC AS A NATIONAL PERIL

Dr. Mason, Prohibition Candidate for Governor, Makes Open Air Speech.

Dr. James Gilbert Mason, candidate for Governor on the Prohibition ticket, addressed an open-air meeting in front of the local postoffice this morning, outlining the platform of the party he represents in the Gubernatorial campaign and making a plea for votes among the local citizens. He said in part:

"The present system for licensing saloons and other places where intoxicants are disposed of to the public in general is inadequate and does not repay the taxpayer. As an illustration of the civic good wought by Prohibition contrast existing conditions in Kansas with those in our own State. In the western town the jails are empty, the asylums closed and the State's prisoners are unused. The taxes in this town have been materially reduced since the introduction of Prohibition government. In New Jersey we have over-crowded jails, reform schools and asylums and during a recent administration the governor was forced to grant numerous pardons in order to make way for the influx of new prisoners.

"Taxes are steadily increasing here and there is a noticeable waste of wealth. We are at the present time in danger of direct taxes and a recently issued report gives statistics to prove that we are wasting $1,000,000 a year on sinecure offices. All of these conditions can be traced indirectly to the liquor traffic. There has been an increasing interest shown in Prohibition during the last campaign and we are looking forward to an unusually large vote at the general election next month. People have begun to rally to this cause and I am at present working for the unification of all temperance bodies in order to make a universal fight."

CLERIC ATTACK CAUSES SURPRISE

Playground Commissioner Says Rev. Mr. Broek's Strictures Not Justified.

STATEMENT INCORRECT

J. Hervey Doane Explains Purpose of Sunday Afternoon Concerts at Parker Field and Invites Minister to Attend.

To say that surprise was expressed when members of the Playground Commission read the statement of Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, published exclusively in yesterday's issue of the Plainfield Daily Press regarding the opening of Parker Field on Sunday afternoons, is expressing it mildly. Objection was taken to the whole tenor of the statement and it claimed that it is permeated with erroneous and misleading assertions in an effort to build up a conclusion that there is a tendency to make Sunday a wide open one in Plainfield.

"We all regret very much the tenor of Rev. Mr. Broek's article," said J. Hervey Doane, chairman, of the Parker Field Committee of the Plainfield Playgrounds Commission today. "It is unjustified and I think will do Plainfield a whole lot of harm in other places where Plainfield is held up as a model community. Some of the things the clergyman hands out as facts are not true and I think he ought to have made an investigation for himself before rushing into print.

"In the first place," continued Mr. Doane, "the concerts at Parker Field on Sunday afternoons are not advertised as sacred concerts. We do have some sacred numbers and also some superb numbers of secular music, including grand opera. I know for a fact that a member of this commission showed a specimen program to several of the most prominent religious workers of the city, and they stated that they found nothing objectionable in them. We have had several clergymen in our audiences, but I doubt very much if Mr. Broek has ever been present to see for himself what is done.

"As to his reference that the selling of refreshments was allowed, that is absolutely false as any one of the thousands at the concerts knows. If he had consulted the civil authorities, including the mayor and police chief, he would have learned for himself that attempts were made to get a permit to sell soft drinks and ice cream on Parker Field on hot Sunday afternoons and they met with an emphatic refusal and also notice that should any one try to violate the Blue Laws in this way arrests would follow. Mr. Broek, in justice to himself, the commission, and the community might have found this out for himself before causing such an erroneous statement to be published.

"Now as to his insinuation that 500 evangelists would count for naught as an attraction under alleged present conditions there, let me say that none of our finest christian ministers, no less a man than the Rev. Dr. R. F. Y. Pierce, the distinguished pastor of the Second Avenue Baptist church of New York, made an address there one Sunday afternoon and he had a splendid audience, in fact, as large a one as we ever had. Dr. Pierce was big enough to grasp what the purpose of these Sunday afternoon gatherings is as most of our citizens, I take it, do.

"The whole idea of opening Parker Field on Sunday afternoon, with entertainments under the direction of the civil authorities, is not apparent to Rev. Mr. Broek and I want to explain it for his benefit. It has been found by experience that in the absence of any wholesome entertainment or way to spend their leisure hours on Sunday afternoons, many of our youths and I may say many of our grownups too, are led into places of temptation. They seek entertainment they should not on the Sabbath day and in some instances on week days. To cite extreme cases, hundreds of youths and men too, take trains for Newark, New York and elsewhere where conditions are what might be termed "wide open" on Sundays. There they attend baseball games or entertainments that would actually do them real harm. Now, we aimed to provide a clean, wholesome and uplifting form of recreation for Sunday afternoons. Our very purpose, you see, was to help to prevent a desecration of the Sabbath day. At the same time this allowed us to provide a pleasant and enjoyable afternoon for hundreds of Plainfield men and women who must toil through the week days and have little or no opportunity or means to spend a few enjoyable hours during the week days. Don't you think the Master would have us do this for his children? Don't you think that the people who attend these refined entertainments go away feeling better that they are living and are more

PLAN FOR RELIEF OF SHIPWRECKED

New York Will Provide For Volturno Refugees.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE

Red Cross Committee and Mayor Kline to Have Charge of Work—Appeal For Aid Issued—Large Fund Needed to Care For All.

New York, Oct. 14.—At a meeting of the Red Cross emergency relief committee in the United Charities building, this city, arrangements for the relief of the survivors of the Volturno were completed.

The immigration officials, the various immigrant aid societies, Mayor Kline and the Red Cross committee decided to centralize the relief work so that the refugees arriving on the different ships may be cared for and dispatched to their destinations with the least possible confusion and delay.

Through his secretary, James Mathews, Mayor Kline issued the following appeal for money contributions to accomplish that end:

"Another urgent appeal is made to the sympathy of our citizens by reason of the terrible disaster at sea. Reports received from various sources indicate that a substantial fund will be required for the relief of the destitute survivors of the burned Volturno who are now on their way to New York city. It is possible that some of those who are aboard vessels bound for other ports may eventually be brought to this city, and provision will also have to be made for their relief.

"Contributions may be sent to the office of the mayor in the city hall or to Jacob H. Schiff, treasurer of the New York Red Cross, 52 William street. It is hoped that the response to this appeal will be both prompt and generous.

"Arrangements have been made, as was done in the case of the Titanic and other calamities, for the disbursement of this fund through the Red Cross emergency relief committee."

Large Relief Fund Necessary.

Emphasizing this appeal, W. Frank Persons, director of the Red Cross committee, said that reports thus far indicated that the women and children saved were scantily clad and had lost their effects, and in some cases families were left without breadwinners. A number of widows and orphans therefore will have to be provided for and, even if only temporary relief is needed the number of refugees is so large that a correspondingly large relief fund will be necessary.

The few members of the crew who will be cared for by the Uranium line itself and the small number of cabin passengers make it evident, he said, that practically all of the survivors, or at least 450 persons, will need help, because practically all are immigrants and those now on their way back to Europe will probably come to New York eventually.

It was agreed that extreme care must be taken when the survivors arrive to gain accurate information about their names, relatives and destinations, because probably many families will be divided. To this end the commissioner of immigration through acting Commissioner Uhl, who was present yesterday, will expect any immigrant home to which the survivors may go to report to the Red Cross committee before sending them to their destinations so that families may be quickly reunited.

The office of the Red Cross committee in the United Charities building will be the headquarters of the relief work and information. E. O. Thomas, resident director of the Uranium Steamship company, has arranged to ascertain in advance the number of survivors on each rescue ship who may need hospital care and arrange for that before the ship docks. The ablebodied arrivals will be sent to their destinations at once with necessary funds.

Reports From Rescue Ships.

New York, Oct. 14.—Wireless reports from the vessels bound for New York and other ports with survivors of the Volturno disaster aboard give the names of 302 of the passengers and crew saved from the ill fated steamship. Of these 196 are expected to arrive in this port today aboard the Grosser Kurfuerst and the Kroonland.

The French liner La Touraine, bound for Havre, has furnished a list of the forty-two survivors which she has on board. On other steamers, all bound for European ports, are 230 survivors whose names are not yet known here.

Oil and the Wireless.

Liverpool, Oct. 14.—Captain Barr of the Carmania told the splendid story of the rescue of 526 of the Volturno's passengers and crew. He commanded the international fleet which answered the S O S call and so maneuvered twelve steamships that collisions were avoided and the Volturno's survivors taken safely off despite the great storm.

The passengers of the Carmania say that there were two heroes whose courage and intelligence stand out in the story of the disaster—Captain Inch who subdued a mutiny and kept hundreds from virtual suicide in small boats, and Captain Barr, whose resourcefulness smoothed the difficult problems of the rescue work.

Oil takes its place with wireless as a means of great life saving. Had not the tank steamship Narragansett pumped vast quantities of oil on the raging sea the small boats of the fleet would not have been able to work under the Volturno's stern and take the survivors from life lines.

More thrilling stories of the sea have seldom been heard than those told by passengers of the Carmania who were eyewitnesses of the burning of the Volturno, of the panic, of the dreadful situation of the passengers and of the work of rescue.

Belief Chemicals Exploded.

New York, Oct. 14.—The manifest of the Volturno was received at the office of the line. It showed that three-fourths of the lost vessel's cargo was made up of a miscellaneous assortment of chemicals. Among the items are 123 cases of chloride of barium, 800 casks of gin, 300 cases of wine, a large quantity of barium peroxide and a great quantity of potatoes. It is believed that the explosion which killed many persons was due to the fire reaching the chemicals. The gin was stored under the deck aft, where several lives were lost.

TWO CONFESS TO BOMB OUTRAGES

Hackensack Prisoners Tell of New York Dynamitings.

EXPECT TO ARREST MANY.

Deputy Commissioner Dougherty of That City Considers Arrests In This State of Great Importance—Believes They Will Be Able to Clean Up the Black Hand Gang.

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 14.—Confessions, obtained in this city from two men under arrest for the recent bomb outrages in New York were regarded of such importance that a conference was held between Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty and representatives of the district attorney's office of that city looking to the making of a number of arrests there.

Full confessions are said to have been made by Alfred Lehman and John Rizzo to Detectives Fogarty and Di Martini from New York headquarters. The police there say they now have the names of all the persons charged with having had a hand in forty-eight explosions.

It was decided at a conference that the matter contained in the two confessions shall be presented to the grand jury speedily. It was thought that this procedure would enable the authorities of that place to round up the persons they want without alarming the alleged culprits.

Deputy Commissioner Dougherty thinks the arrests in this city are of such importance that they will result in the wiping out of the Black Hand gang responsible for the outrages.

"It means," he said, "that the police department is now in possession of what it has long sought—definite information regarding the perpetrators of these outrages."

Referring to the explosion, the deputy commissioner said: "I am not surprised at that, as I know members of the band who are still at large. Thirty-eight sticks of dynamite were recently stolen in Sullivan county. These were obtained by the band. Of the thirty-eight sticks thirty-five have been accounted for."

THE FIRST BANK.

Bankers' conventions are being held at this season of the year and the most recent one at Boston probably is the most notable for it marked the gathering of banking men and financiers from all parts of these United States whose deliberations as usual attracted international attention. It is strange but true that the public generally knows but little about this institution, without which present day methods in commerce and trade would be impossible. Its history to the average mortal is not known at all, however much they appreciate and patronize it and in turn receive its manifold benefits.

The first bank in America, says Mitchell Mannering in the October National Magazine, was located on State street, Boston, and it loaned money on real estate, personal property and imperishable merchandise, though it had ont the privilege of issuing money, then the prerogative of the Bay State Colony. After a few years Boston's first branch discontinued business, and was started in 1714, ten years after the first newspaper was printed in Boston. The new bank carried on business and issued $400,000 in scrip on the basis now sought by certain financial promoters and leaders. It was scrip and nothing by scrip, and consequently the bank was short-lived.

In 1742 a Land Bank was founded by several hundred subscribers who gathered in Boston as the bankers are meeting here today and who attempted to relieve the scarcity of specie by issuing scrip based on real estate holdings. A "Specie Bank" was also founded about the same time, but both institutions found it as impossible to compete with the "bills of credit" issued by nearly every colony as it would be today to rival the government in minting money. All this paper money rapidly depreciated in value, owing to the constant and heavy expenditure for military movements of offence and defence against the Canadian French and their Indian allies.

In 1782 during the Revolution, the Bank of North America of Philadelphia, received a charter from Congress, and its operations in the Bay State inspired the establishment of the Bank of Massachusetts in March, 1784, an institution which is still in operation as the First National Bank of Boston.

Judge Robert Carey, a gifted young man who has the happy faculty of always having an attentive audience, will speak for the Republican candidates at a mass meeting tomorrow night. He is clean and progressive as a fighter within the Republican party ranks and every voter should make it a point to hear him. Then when the Progressives and Democrats hold their meetings here go and listen to their speakers. That is the easiest way to get a political education, to learn the respective party viewpoints on the current political issues and to get into closer touch with ideals and sentiments. Don't vote blindly—vote understandingly. Get the facts for yourself and draw your own conclusions as to the best principles and the best candidates.

"Uncle Dave" Carney, the picturesque editor of the Review, has to be admired for his loyalty to "Jim" Smith. Friends and beneficiaries of the former Senator may desert him, but not so "D. J." who is ever ready to come to his defense and in a manner of speech proving his sincereity.

It will not be necessary for the Legislature to enact an anti-noise campaign law. What is most needed is some six cylinder rest disturbers to get some life in the political battles these days.

By the way, what has become of that committee formed to raise funds for a soldiers' monument? It was organized at a banquet given in honor of Chief Doane and that was some time ago.

REFERENDUM AS TO CIVIL SERVICE LATE

County Clerk Calvert Declines to Accept it on Co. Att'y Codington's Advice.

As told in yesterday's issue, at the fourth special meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders called yesterday to consider the petition to have the adoption of civil service submitted on referendum at the general election, a quroum was present. A resolution favoring the petition was passed, but when it was offered to County Clerk Calvert for filing, as the last step to get the question printed on the ballots, he declined to receive it on advice from County Attorney Codington.

The county attorney explained to the freeholders prior to the adoption of the resolution that any action taken would be invalid. He said there is not time enough before election to give the proposition the notice the law says it shall receive. This publicity must start not later than four weeks before the question will be submitted to the voters, and it is now only three weeks until election. "The resolution can be passed," he said, "but it will be worthless." Continuing, he told of preparing a resolution to be presented to the Board at the meeting called for October 3. Had the Board passed on it at that time, or even at the meeting called for Monday, October 6, it would have been in time, he said, but now it was entirely too late. The motion putting the resolution carried the provision that the clerk of the Board should file the peition with the county clerk.

FAITH AND WORKS DR. STRONG'S TEXT

First Baptist Pastor Makes Comparison Between Paul and James.

Rev. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached a stirring sermon on the theme of "Faith and Works," Sunday night. Dr. Strong said, "There is no disparity between the doctrine of justification by faith, so emphasized by the Apostle Paul in his epistles and the doctrine of faith and works set forth by the practical James. All truth is two-sided, and both sides are stated in the Bible.

"The Bible does not always attempt to reconcile the two sides, but leaves them for the reader, by diligent study, to work out in his own thinking and living. Man is only capable of comprehending something of the truth; only God knows truth in the absolute; so the human writers of the Holy Writ presented various phases of the great truth of God, and the more we ponder upon them, the more of the great sum total of truth will become ours. As a matter of fact, however, we find by a careful reading of the writings of Paul and of James, that instead of being arrayed against each other on this question of faith and works as some have supposed, they agree perfectly. Real true vital faith, such as Paul exhorts his hearers to have, is bound to prove itself by fitting works. There are counterfeits of faith, as of everything else worth while in the world. These counterfeits deceive no one, least of all God, and bear no fruit in the work of the kingdom. No one will ever gain entrance to eternal life by means of adherence to a creed, however admirable the creed.

"Many a so-called orthodox Baptist, having been duly admitted to the church by means of the ordnance so dear to us, has never experienced that saving faith which will make us conquerors through Christ. If he had experienced it, his life would show it by deeds of love to Christ, by unselfish devotion to His kingdom, by honesty and purity of heart and life, as become citizens of a heavenly country and kingdom."

PROBASCO BIBLE CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Probasco Bible Class of the First Baptist church at its monthly meeting, the first of the fall season, in the boys' rooms of the Y. M. C. A. last night, elected these officers for the coming year: President, Carlton Smith; vice president, Pierson Bailey; secretary, Fred Serrell; assistant secretary, Earl Pierson; treasurer, Howard Parry.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, after which he gave the fellows a fifteen-minute talk on team work in the class and the results to be expected during the coming year by such class spirit which year after year has held the young men to the steady growth which it has enjoyed.

The annual reports of the various committees were dispensed with to permit a social hour, during which Messrs. Maier, Trumpe and O'Donnelly entertained the class with vocal and instrumental selections. Refreshments were served by the committee.

E. C. STOKES WANTS YOUNG MEN AT FRONT

Newark, Oct. 14.—The Republican campaign in New Jersey is now in ful swing, Owing to the comparatively short time between now and election and to the consequent impossibility of covering the State with thoroughness in all its localities, Mr. Stokes has decided to confine his platform appearances exclusively to the larger cities and the county seats. He believes that the people of the State of New Jersey are sufficiently well acquainted with him through his record in office to enable them to decide intelligently whether or not they want him in the executive chair for another term.

"But I like to meet people of New Jersey," said Mr. Stokes, "because they are friends. At least I find them so, and I do not believe the hearty welcome they have extended to me thus far during my campaign and the big vote of confidence they gave me at the primaries were anything else than sincere.

"It is especially a pleasure to me to meet and greet the representative of the younger generation, for they are the pillars upon which the future greatness of our State shall rest. And it ought to be a satisfaction to us to note the interest this younger element is taking in the political questions of the day. Within our own party has originated a movement which is now bringing the young men to the front as campaign managers and workers, and the effect is evident. A new life, a new enthusiasm has animated the old party and our campaign is being conducted with a spirit and dash that are typical of the newer day.

"The young man stands for enterprise. The old man stands for caution. Caution of itself accomplishes nothing. Enterprise—the enterprise which is backed by the buoyant spirit of youth—can accomplish everything. In all our political activities we shall always have enough old men on the job. Let the young ones come to the front!"

During the present week the candidate will continue his campaign in the northern counties of the State. Last night he addressed a rally at Flemington. Today finds him in Morris county. Tomorrow he will deliver addresses at Glen Ridge, Bloomfield and Montclair. On Friday he will visit Warren county.

In the meantime an aggressive campaign is being conducted from the State headquarters in the Kinney building, Newark. Chairman Newton A. K. Bugbee, of the Republican State Committee, is "on the job" every day, supervising and directing in person the various activities of the campaign. Edward W. Gray, formerly secretary of the State committee, is in charge of the publicity department.

Mr. Bugbee gave out yesterday an interview in which he takes Acting Governor Fielder sharply to task for personalities indulged in in Mr. Fielder's speech at Trenton last Saturday night. In that speech he referred to Mr. Stokes as a "wabbler" and "trimmer." Mr. Bugbee declares that the Republicans have refrained from personalities, but intimates that, now that Mr. Fielder has started that style of a campaign, he Fielder, may hear some things about himself. The chairman also pays his respect to Everett Colby, Progressive candidate for Governor. The statement follows:

"The candidate who intemperately assails his opponent is using the best means to betray the weakness of his own cause. His personal attacks disclose, first, his lack of legitimate argument and, secondly, his consciousness of his opponent's strength.

"There are great issues at stake in this campaign, and these issues should be decided on a basis of principles and not of men. But evidently Mr. Fielder, the Democratic candidate, and Mr. Colby, the Third Party candidate, are so frightened at the multiplying evidences of Mr. Stokes' popularity that, either in common fear of Mr. Stokes or by reason of a mutual understanding, they are practically disregarding each other in their public utterances and daily indulging in undignified and intemperate personal attacks upon the Republican candidate.

"If both these gentlemen elect to continue this style of campaigning, I may not be able to resist the temptation to call upon them to defend certain things in their own records with which I had not previously intended to embarrass them. Were I inclined to meet them on their own ground I might ask the Democratic candidate to explain how he accomplished his rise in politics up to the time he became State Senator. I might ask him for the name of the notorious boss of Hudson county who made his political career possible and if Congressman Kinkead, his Wilson campaign manager, was not a political protege and business partner of that boss. And I might ask him why he made a right about face on the Fitzherbert charges in the State Senate. And I might ask him why he introduced in the legislative session of 1911 a Morris Canal bill with a joker that would have robbed the State of millions and put them into the pockets of a certain favored corporation."

UNEXPECTED HALT IN SULZER CASE

Adjournment Taken to Settle Certain Legal Points.

VERDICT TOMORROW MAYBE

Sulzer's Friends Say He Will Appeal to United States Supreme Court if Convicted—Desire Apparently For Governor to Testify.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14.—In the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer the court adjourned until 11:30 o'clock today. It was decided in executive session to reopen the argument of counsel to settle certain legal points in connection with the testimony of Henry Morgenthau and Duncan W. Peck.

This action was taken at the suggestion of Judge Nathan L. Miller, who as soon as court convened asked for an executive session to consider the question whether the testimony of these witnesses can be considered as bearing on the impeachment or as dealing with facts covered by the impeachment. No other points were considered and the action taken is expected to delay a verdict at least until tomorrow.

Plan Appeal to Federal Courts.

That a determined effort to carry the fight of William Sulzer to retain his hold on the governorship into the United States supreme court is to be made was the information obtained from his friends.

One of the governor's advisors made the statement that the lawyers for the defense have found a way in which an appeal can be taken to the highest court in the nation in the event of the verdict being adverse to him. According to the program arranged, a motion will be entered by the lawyers for the dissolution of the impeaching tribunal and a demand made that the court of appeals judges withdraw from the legislative body. The ground on which this motion and demand is to be made, it is said, will be that the impeachment court's trial of the case is a direct violation of the United States constitution, guaranteeing a republican form of government to each state.

Law of Alexander Hamilton.

The basis for the contention of the defense was obtained from Alexander Hamilton's interpretation of the republican form of government, in which he holds that joining the judiciary with the legislature is an act of tyranny. In the event that the motion and demand are disregarded it is contended that mandatory process then lies with the United States supreme court.

The judges of the court of impeachment are anxious to have Governor Sulzer come forward and make reply under oath to the charges against him. So desirous is the majority of the court to have the governor appear on the witness stand that it was learned that if he should express a willingness to testify at the eleventh hour the case would be reopened.

TWELFTH WEEK OF STRIKE.

Copper Miners Honor Comrade Killed In Fight With Deputy Sheriff.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 14.—Officials of the Western Federation of Miners in charge of the strike of 16,000 copper miners here made formal demand upon the civil authorities for the arrest of an automobile load of imported gunmen who shot up a parade of strikers near the Centennial mine. Military officials witnessed the shooting and took the names of the gunmen, but refused to make arrests. Wives and children of the striking miners were exposed to the fire of the gunmen, but none was injured.

More than 2,000 strikers participated in a big demonstration in connection with the funeral of Joseph Manerich. Manerich was shot to death last week in the fight in which Deputy Sheriff Pollack also was killed. This is the twelfth week of the strike and there is no prospect of an early settlement.

PANIC FOLLOWS BOMB.

Twenty-two Families Rush to Street as Dynamite Explodes.

New York, Oct. 14.—Despite the recent roundup of Italians suspected of being implicated in the bomb outrages throughout the city, the band kept up its work, and a bomb containing a heavier charge than those recently set off was exploded in front of the grocery store of Candelo Gatto, on the ground floor of the six story tenement at 6 Monroe street. Almost every pane of glass in the block was shattered and the grocery store and basement bakery, also owned by Gatto, were wrecked.

Odorless Gas Logs Give Cheerful Heat

The Mead Odorless Gas Log takes the place of a wood fire in an open grate.

It is radically different from most other gas logs.

It burns less gas and burns it without causing a smell.

It has a lower log in the form of a water vessel which keeps the air of a room from becoming too dry.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT-AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 19.

IN the days when WANT AD. advertising was practically new and undeveloped, the mention of the words "WANT AD." brought instantly to mind an impression that somebody was advertising for a job, or that somebody was advertising for domestic help.

A WANT AD. was looked upon as a bid for somebody to fill a job as cook, or maid, or butler, or office boy.

Since then the scope of WANT AD. advertising has extended, until today it includes almost everything under the sun—everything that is advertisable.

It is still possible for an office boy to connect up with a good job by referring to the WANT ADS. And it is also possible for the man who wants to buy or sell a business to find a seller or a purchaser through the Want Ads.

In between those two possibilities there is a big field—a field that includes all of the many wants that we humans are forever creating for ourselves.

Turn to the WANT AD. pages in today's paper. Note the number of classifications under which advertisements of various kinds are grouped.

It would take a lot of time and space to enumerate the many uses of WANT AD. advertising. And even if I could enumerate them all right here, you wouldn't benefit nearly so much as you would by taking a look at the WANT ADS. for yourself and seeing for yourself that what I have said about their scope is true.

ready to do their week's work? Don't you think that my colleagues on the Commission, and the civil authorities generally who are responsible for this innovation are good citizens and God-fearing men?

"The world is progressing, it is getting better and broader for men are reaching out to do what they can for their fellow men. The nation, the State and the municipality have awakened to the fact that their duties include something more than carrying on the formal and strict business of government as was the idea in ages past. They must do something more. That is why we have playgrounds, why we have public lecture courses for adults, why we have safe and sane Fourth of July celebrations with fireworks. These were considered no work for the government years ago, but as I say the world is getting bigger, and broader and better and we must supervise and provide recreation, entertainment and instruction for the populace. This, in a nutshell, is why we have those splendid free concerts on Sunday afternoons and I extend a cordial invitation to Rev. Mr. Broek to be present at them for I know he will go away with the thought that he has done the Commission and the city itself an unintentional injustice."

STEPS ON MATCH AND MAY DIE

Child Frightened by Slight Explosion Falls Upon Flame.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 14.—The exploding noise of a match which she stepped on in the kitchen of her home, 767 Woodland avenue, this city, so frightened Mary Olsen, four years old, that she fell upon the flaming stick. Her clothing caught fire and she was so seriously burned about the face and body that her recovery is not expected.

Mrs. Olson responded to the child's screams and was burned about the hands while beating out the flames. The child was taken to Cooper hospital.

Her father, Oscar Olson, a machinist, left for Panama to accept a position.

FIND BODY IN DELAWARE.

Camden Police Fail to Identify Man Discovered In Shipyard.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 14.—The body of an unidentified man was found in the slip of the Peter Hagan company, shipbuilders, Delaware river, at the foot of Twenty-sixth street, this city. The man appeared to be a laborer, but the body had been in the water so long that identification will be difficult.

According to the police no one is missing from this city who fits the description of the drowned person and they have communicated with the Philadelphia authorities. The body was taken to the Camden morgue.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

German Economy.

In many American household there are handed down principles of economy and good management derived from some far-away German ancestress who brought with her to this country an inheritance of thrift and good sense from her home across the ocean.

The thrift and economy of the German housewife depend a good deal on her industry. It is her duty and her joy to have a well-kept house. To her, time spent in keeping down expenses and keeping up the efficiency of her household is time well spent. The German housewife is a stay-at-home, too, and no matter how many servants she has she pervades her house from cellar to attic peak with a watchful, kindly eye.

Her Cooking.

In the matter of cooking her ideas of economy do not come from cooking schools or a knowledge of science. She uses the most economical food and cooks it in the most efficient manner, because she has been taught to do so. Her mother did the same thing, and so did her grandmother and her grandmother's mother and grandmother.

One of the greatest principles of economy in the German woman's cooking concerns the use of beans—the most nutritious of all the vegetables. She cooks string beans in a way to bring out the most nourishment. Instead of cutting them in cross sections she cuts them lengthwise or "whittles" them, which really make them taste a great deal better than the usual treatment. The reason for this is simple; for in cooking the seasoning is more evenly distributed. In point of economy, beans cut in this way take a considerably shorter time to cook.

The German farmer's wife every year makes a large quantity of salted beans, which form a favorite winter vegetable for her household, and one easily prepared and kept. Just before cooking the beans she soaks them over night, and they have a peculiar taste derived from the pickling process that appeals to the palate of the Germans.

Lentils—a sort of dried beans that are easy to get from the grocers—form a favorite winter article of food with the Germans—They make a delicious and nourishing lentil soup. Here is a recipe for a big quantity of it—enough for a boarding-house or a small army—but just about enough for a hungry family of German peasants.

Add a quart of lentils to a gallon of soup stock. Cook slowly until the lentils are soft, with a slice of onion. The soup should be begun five or six hours before the meal for which it is intended and allowed to cook slowly. Before taking from the fire add a few sliced sausages. Boil for five minutes and serve without straining.

Stewed lentils are another favorite German dish. Boil a quart of lentils until they are tender, strain them and pour over them a sauce made as follows: Mix two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of flour with a small chopped onion. Stir them in a saucepan over the fire until they are light brown. Add a cupful of cold water mixed with a tablespoonful of vinegar and boil, stirring all the time, until smooth. Serve the lentils, covered with this sauce, with small boiled sausages. The Germans would add to the top of this dish a sprinkling of breadcrumbs fried a delicious golden brown.

FADS FOR THE MOTORIST

For extra coverings sport coats coat sweaters, serge capes and tweed ulsters are in evidence Red is, as usual, a popular autumn color.

Limousine cases are prettier and more elaborate than ever this season, and the gold mounted fittings in frames to match the car include card and memorandum books, scent and smelling bottles, purse and clock mountings.

English hat boxes that hold one hat and enough extras for an over night trip look like small tire trunks. They are of automobile leather and are carried by a side handle or may be strapped inside the tires.

Draped wraps of dovetine in any of the soft reds, grays or browns have fur military collars and big fur buttons. In some cases there is a semi-hood at the back, finished with a long pointed end and drooping tassel.

Mannish tweed coats, with big leather or horn buttons, cut in the drop sleeve model, are very popular for rough wear

Brilliant game bird feathers adorn nearly all of the tweed, corduroy and felt hats this season. The shapes are modified Tyrolese, Mexican and the drooping mushroom.

The trousers suits of forestry serge or corduroy for sporting wear are most swagger. Long coats or short coats and buttoned skirts and high laced boots go with them.

Thin scarfs of chiffon and lace are now discarded for those of knitted silk or Angora.

Efforts have been made to make the suits used in flying fashionable for the woman who drives her own car. They are not booming, though without doubt they would be most convenient and comfortable.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FRUIT BUTTERS.

In households where there are little folks jams, jellies, marmalades and fruit butters seem indispensable. A judicious use of these will greatly reduce the weekly bill for dairy butter. Fruit butters may be prepared by the housewife at a cost less than they can be had in the shops. As a rule, a homemade butter is purer in quality and more palatable than one of factory origin.

This Keeps Well.

Cider Apple Butter.—Put ten gallons of apple cider in a copper kettle and boil it down to five gallons.

Add slowly three pecks of good cooking apples that have been peeled and quartered, stir continually and boil from four to five hours. Add five ounces of ground cinnamon and ten pounds of sugar. Cook to the desired thickness and put away in jars.

Peach Butter.—Take ripe peaches and boil until well cooked. Press through a colander. To every pound of pulp add three-fourths of a pound of sugar. Tie some spices in a small bag, drop it into the boiling fruit mixture and boil it until the fruit is well spiced, then remove. Let the butter cook until it is thoroughly done.

Plum Butter.—Wash the plums and put them into the preserving kettle. Boil them until they are well cooked; then take off the fire, let them cool and rub them through the colander. To improve the flavor, to every two quarts of plums add a medium sized muskmelon. Half a pound of sugar is required for each pound of fruit pulp. Boil gently for three hours. Then skim and stir frequently. Put it into glass jars and seal for winter use.

Tempting Butters.

Crabapple Butter.—Take half a bushel of crabapples. Cut each apple in half after taking off the blossom and stem end and removing any wormy or defective part. Put them on the fire in a preserving kettle, cover with cold water. Let the apples boil until they are soft. After allowing them to cool a little rub through a wire sieve. To three cupfuls of sifted pulp add a cupful of sugar. Boil for twenty minutes.

Grape Butter.—For this either ripe or green grapes may be used. Remove the skins from the grapes and simmer the pulp until tender; then put through a colander. Then put the pulp in the preserving kettle, add the skins and cook until tender. Then stir in the sugar, allowing half a pound for each pound of the fruit. Cook until thick and then seal for winter use.

Stumpie Cares Only For Dessert.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Alas, Stumpie Is a Candy Loving Dog!

JACK and Evelyn were fond of sweets. Sometimes their mother thought they wanted more than was good for them.

"I wish houses were all cake and candy like they are in some fairy stories," Evelyn said.

"They wouldn't let you eat them anyway," Jack replied gloomily.

"Oh, my, if you eat too much candy and cake you'll get fat, and you wouldn't like that!" daddy exclaimed.

"I know a little dog named Stumpie. His master is Walter, a funny little boy who is very fond of sweets. Stumpie is six years old, just Walter's age.

"Now, if you saw how round and fat Stumpie is you would wonder how he could chase anything. However, when a rat is around Stumpie can get over the ground pretty fast.

"The reason the little dog is so fat is because he eats too many sweets. He gets his meals with Walter, sitting on a high chair beside him. He behaves nicely at the table, eating out of his little tin plate.

"But Stumpie never eats much until the family reaches dessert. Then he is, oh, so hungry! Pudding and pies and cakes are alike welcome. Ice cream days are a joy to him.

"After the meal is over Stumpie jumps down and goes in to see the friend who lives next door. She always saves something nice for him.

"It is a sad and unhappy day for both Walter and Stumpie when there are not pennies to spend. They always go for sweets. Stumpie knows when he sees Walter get the pennies that it means a visit to the candy shop, and he never leaves him until the money is spent.

"When the candy is bought the little boy divides it into two equal portions, and Stumpie is given one of these. This is the rule. I am sorry to say, though, that sometimes Stumpie hurries and gobbles down his share and then stands in front of Walter, begging and whining until the kind hearted lad gives the dog a share of what he has.

"One day the doctor called at Walter's house. I forget whether it was the measles or whooping cough that the little boy had. Stumpie was stretched out on the rug in the room when the doctor came in. Stumpie got up and barked at the doctor.

"'Don't make a fuss,' the doctor said to the dog; 'I'm not going to give you medicine.'

"Then he looked hard at Stumpie. Said that naughty doctor, 'I know he can bark, but is that a dog or a pig?'

"And Walter was so offended at this insult to his pet that the doctor had quite a time making it up with him."

BLACK VELVET COLLARED AND SASHED IN ROMAN STRIPES

Many there are who are willing to sacrifice becomingness to modishness, but this is seldom necessary where Russian designs are concerned. The most pronounced of these has something about its long easy lines that makes it becoming to nearly every figure.

Now that the strictly tailored suits are seen so little these Russian or Peasant blouse costumes are very popular. Many of them show the long shoulder, others have the sleeve cut in one with the body of the coat. The folded wide girdle, sash or belt of leather are all used effectively.

Most appropriate to these designs are the new pile fabrics, velours de laine, duvetyn or velvet. Velvet in black or one of the dark shades, tete de negre brown, taupe or green would make up well.

The coat (7980) can be copied in size 36 with 3¾ yards of 42 inch material. The skirt (7981) requires for size 24 2¾ yards of 42 inch material.

No. 7980—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 7981—sizes 22 to 30.

Design for a Chair or Pillow.

An eaborate effect may be gained with very little work, if one is careful in the selecting of the designs. This Poppy design illustrated on a sofa pillow, is just such a design for this certainly looks complicated, but the most inexperienced embroiderer need not hesitate to attempt it. This design, if developed in long-and-short stitch, outline-stitch or outline and applique, is very simple to do. The more expert needlewomen may embroider it in the Kensington-stitch in the different shades of the natural colos, using filo silk.

If the design is to be carried out in applique, it should be transferred to the material which is to be used as an applique. Baste this to the foundation and secure with over-over stitches, then cut away the material not a part of the design. The veins may be worked in outline-stitch and the flowers in long-and-short stitch, with the centers in solid work.

This design is sixteen and one-half by twenty inches and is suitable for embroidering sofa pillows and chair backs.

Pattern number 14345 will be supplied to readers for fifteen cents.

Rev. Alfred Mace

(Son of Prizefighter Jem Mace)

At Park Ave. Baptist Church

"For the Grace of God that bringeth Salvation hath appeared to all men."

We are like a piece of machinery that is made to go, but unlike the machinery, we often fail to follow out the purpose for which we were fashioned. How do we go—have our feet followed Christ? Have our hearts beat for Him? Have our lips spoken His Name? Have you ever spent one straight hour for the Lord? Nobody in Plainfield, or anywhere else, loves his neighbor as himself; why then was this commandment ever given us? To prove our weakness. Have you measured yourself by the Law of Sinai All your church membership and all your morality will never meet the claim of God. The meaning of Grace is, everything for nothing. Get hold of this Grace of God and you're a changed man. Livingston, the great explorer, found the source of the Nile, but this discovery lay at the end of a tremendous journey. 'Tis for you, my friends, to take a wonderful journey—go first to Bethlehem, then to Calvary, and keep on until you reach the Bosom of God. Nobody wants the Grace of God until he feels the need of it; the moment we realize our lost condition, we appreciate the word Grace.

To illustrate this point the preacher told of a drowning man who had gone down for the third time, and had just thrown up his hands as a signal of distress, when a man who had been looking on for some time from the shore immediately jumped in to save him. Asked why he waited so long before attempting to rescue him, he replied that until the drowning man realized his perilous condition and would surrender himself entirely to his rescuer, it would have been useless for any one to try to save him, for in his great strength the drowning man would have dragged his rescuer down with him, and both would have been lost.

Again, a traveler is crossing the great Sahara Desert and finally reaches the point where he cannot take another step; he is completely famished and exhausted. He is given a cooling drink of water, and thus refreshed, he is enabled to continue his journed to the end. So it is that the Grace of God revives us, and gives us strength to continue the journey of life until we reach our Eternal Home. Grace brings us Salvation, Education and Expectation. Salvation includes forgiveness of sin, the Peace of God, and Eternal Life. But some one says, the Grace of God is too cheap; I don't want a thing that doesn't cost me anything—it can't be worth much. Yes, friends, it costs us nothing, but it cost Christ everything—suffering, grief and shame while on earth, and finally his death on the Cross. Has this Grace, therefore, no value to you?

But still another one says, I'd like to be a Christian, but I can't live up to it. That's the devil speaking; don't pay any heed to him. When we are saved, we are controlled by the Spirit of God. Our tongues are made to utter kind words and praise in place of harshness and criticism. A skinflint is made liberal. The Grace of God works a wonderful change in a life. If you are a professing Christian and your life hasn't been transformed by the Grace of God you're a fraud. The Grace of God will teach you to live soberly, which is selfward; Righteously, which is fellowmanward; Godly, which is Godward. My friends, have you a family altar in your home? Family prayer dates back to Pentecost. It is considered too old-fashioned by some people these days; but that is the voice of the devil—show him the back door, and open the front door for Christ to enter your home. You'd shake like an aspen leaf in a strong wind, if you knew Christ would be here tonight.

I remember well the day of my conversion; though forty years ago, the greenness of that hour I shall never forget; it's like a beautiful flower, that never fades. And now I'm looking for that Blessed Hope—the Coming of the Lord. Not for my last sickness, the doctor, death and the grave. I'm looking up to the sky, not down six feet in the ground. Christ Himself says, surely I come quickly. And we hear the response, Amen, even so Lord Jesus. I say reverently, He may be hear tonight. A woman lay dying, and all she could articulate was the single word "Bring." The doctor and nurse hastened to bring her water and medicine, but she was beyond the need of these things; finally, just before her spirit took its flight, those who stood by her bedside heard these words—"Bring forth the Royal Diadem and Crown Him Lord of all." There are three places where Christ is crowned. In the starry heights of glory and honor on His Father's Throne; He will soon be crowned King of Zion; in the meantime let us open our hearts, His citadel, and ask Him to live in us, and crown Him Lord of all in our lives. Is there something or somebody in the way? Wipe it out, dear friends, and accept Him tonight.

W. S. LUCKEY.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

The course was from Oakwood Heights to Governors Island, up the East river to the Harlem river, over the Harlem river to Spuyten Duyvil creek, over Spuyten Duyvil creek to the Hudson river, down the Hudson river to the bay, across the bay to Staten Island and the aerodrome. Luckey left the starting point at 3:33 1-8 and landed at 4:25, covering the distance, about sixty miles, in less than an hour.

COLD AND HELPLESS, LUCKEY WINS RACE

Circles Manhattan Island In Teeth of Gale.

New York, Oct. 14.—Five young men steered their aeroplanes into the teeth of a fifty mile gale and raced around Manhattan Island. They all started amid the hurrahs of 5,000 spectators at the Oakwood heights aviation field on Staten Island.

The first one to get back was William S. Luckey. His Curtiss biplane was wabbling and careening in a crazy fashion. The crowd held it's breath. The machine buzzed its way over the goal, going at terrific speed. It tilted, turned slowly and swung to earth, but the aviator didn't get out.

His face and hands were blue from the intense cold. Helpless and shivering as if he were suffering from South American ague, he sat in the cubby hole which is the driver's box until two men ran up and lifted him to the ground. Then he had to be supported to shelter.

Afterward Luckey said that it was the most harrowing experience of his life, and he has been teasing fate in an aeroplane for six years. He was in the air just 53 minutes 6 seconds, and during that time he flew some sixty miles.

DONLIN'S SECOND CONTRACT.

Chcago, Oct. 14—Mike Donlin, baseball player and thespian, is engaged to marry Mary Rita Ross, niece of Charles Ross, the well-known actor. The marriage is to take place some time next year. The announcement was confirmed last night by Mr. Ross, uncle of the bride-to-be. Neither Miss Ross nor Mr. Donlin, who arrived here last evening, would discuss their plans. "I will say, however, that Mike is a very dear friend," said Miss Ross, "but I hope he has not been talking ahead of time."

JOHNSON WON ALL BUT SEVEN STARTS

Leslie J. Bush Twice Defeated the Chalmers Car Winner This Season.

Walter Johnson, who gets a Chalmers car because a commission of newspapermen have declared his services to his team of greater value than those of any other player in the American League, was not of voting age when he pitched his first game in fast company. He was born in Humboldt, Kan., on November 6, 1887, and he made his debut in the American League on August 2, 1907, Detroit being the first team to get a chance to bat against the Idaho phenom. Johnson did not twist the Tigers' tail and neither did the Tigers claw him so that he had to seek medical aid. Johnson pitched eight innings against them, limiting the Jenningsites to two runs and six hits. His discoverer, Cliff Blankenship, batted for him in the eighth and Tom Hughes finished up the game, which was a Detroit victory, score 3 to 2. Of the men who took part in the game in which Johnson made his debut, only Johnson himself, Tom Hughes, Sam Crawford and Ty Cobb remain in fast company.

Though he lost his first game, Johnson had the satisfaction of knowing that his work had pleased Manager Joe Cantillon and Walter was immediately considered one of the regular Washington pitchers and took his turn in the box along with Tom Hughes, Cy Falkenberg, Charley Smith and Hank Gehring, since dead. Johnson, in the fall of 1907, was never once hammered hard by any of his opponents and most of the games he dropped were by low scores. Going up against the St. Louis Browns for the first time, he was returned a loser, 1 to 0, Barney Pelty pitching against him. The first time Johnson twirled against the Athletics he dropped his battle, 3 to 2, Eddie Plank opposing him.

Johnson's New York debut was accomplished on September 12, 1907. Then he blanked the Highlanders, which ever since has been one of his favorite occupations, 2 to 0. He was particularly active in using the brush on them in September, 1908, blanking them on Friday, September 4; Saturday, September 5, and Monday, September 7. In those three games the New York team acquired a dozen hits, making six in the first game, four in the second and two in the third. The way that Johnson came to pitch three games in a row for Washington that year was that of the four pitchers Manager Cantillon took with him to New York all save Johnson were stricken with ailments. Tom Hughes and Jesse Tannehill both found they had sore arms and Bert Keely was felled by tonsilitis. Johnson undoubtedly would have pitched all four games of that series had he not ben hit on the groin with a pitched ball while he was whitewashing the New Yorks for the third successive time.

As a kalsominer Johnson is in a class by himself. No major league pitcher ever has kept his adversaries away from the plate 44 times in his first seven seasons. This is Johnson's achievement from 1907 to 1913, inclusive, and in 1907 it must be taken into consideration that he was with the Senators only one-third of the campaign. The Chalmers trophy winner has pitched eleven shutout games this year, previously having thirty-three such events to his credit. Johnson has whitewashed New York eleven times; Cleveland six times; Philadelphia six times; St. Louis six times; Boston five times; Chicago five times, and Detroit five times.

Johnson has specialized in strikeouts as well as shutouts. His greatest year for whiffing men was in 1910, when he claimed 313 victims in about 42 full games. Last year, in 368 innings he struck out 303 men; this year, in 324 innings, he has fanned 227 athletes. Johnson's best achievement in strikeouts in a nine-inning game took place on Aug. 31, 1910, when he fanned fourteen of the St. Louis Browns. This year he retired sixteen of the Planters on strikes in eleven and two-thirds innings, the date he turned the trick being July 25. On July 12, 1910, Johnson made thirteen of the Browns hit nothing but the air in a game that was only eight innings long.

Johnson never has been able to pitch a no hit game in fast company, but he thrice has almost turned the trick. In the opening game of the campaign in 1910 he limited the Athletics to one safety, made by J. Franklin Baker, and that same season he confined the Browns to a single hit, poled by Arthur Truesdale. On June 10 this year Detroit only was able to obtain one hit off the man whom the Chalmers Trophy Commissioners have named as the player who did more for his team than anyone else.

Johnson has lost only seven games this year, the men who have vanquished him being Ray Collins, of Boston, twice (each time by the score of 1 to 0), Bill Steen and Vean Gregg, of Cleveland, and Joe Bush (twice) and Carroll Brown, of the Athletics.

The average number of runs obtained off Johnson this year per game is 1.4; average number of hits, 5.86.

LOCAL WOMAN QUALIFIES IN NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 14.—One of the strangest days in the history of American golf yesterday afternoon resulted in 112 strokes qualifying for the title in the Women's National championship tournament over the links of the Wilmington Country Club. Nobody would have dared to put the total at three figures. Under nomal conditions, yet with a gale blowing at forty miles an hour, twenty-eight strokes above the record served as a passport to the charmed circle.

Only one player, Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, ex-champion of Great Britain, who captured the gold medal, came within seven strokes of the local mark, which many Wilmingtonians expected to see equalled if not broken. The most dramatic incident of the day, however, was the failure of Mrs. Ronald Barlow, of Philadelphia, to qualify after ten years of noteworthy performances in the event. She fell on the very brink, being one of six to play off for the last three places, and should have saved herself by winning on the first hole. Nervous, however, at the predicament in which she found herself, she missed a four-foot putt and was carried to the fourth, when, still shaken, she met with the final upset.

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of this city, was among those who qualified. The local golfer returned a card of 112.

"MAC" SAYS

Have you noticed how hard it has been to pick out a Giant fan since the Athletics won the title? Everybody is rooting for the conquerors.

Doesn't it seem strange when you stop to think how many loyal supporters of McGraw's crew there were before the big contests and how rare they have suddenly become?

Old fashioned slugging has been resorted to in deciding modern champions.

Winter fanning and the English language will be enriched by more plentiful use of the verb "to Merkle."

Holy Cross will have that football practice we have heard so much about tonight. Wonder what the coach has to say?

In our estimation the whole trouble with the Holy Cross eleven Saturday afternoon was the fact that there were four captains in evidence on the gridiron, where there should have been but one.

With a centre and three members of the backfield handing out dope on the various plays, any quarterback, no matter how good and how experienced he may be, is bound to get rattled and that's what happened to Coyle.

As a field general Billy Coyle has it on to any quarterback playing the game in these parts and if the "wise guys" who think they know more than the rest of the team put together, will keep their information dark until it developes into a state where it will be worth something, the Holy Cross team will be able to put up a better showing than it did Saturday.

Another basketball team for Plainfield! This one looks like the real thing, too.

What has become of those girls' teams we heard so much about a short time ago. Women never were known to take the initiative anyway. After the male basketeers start the season there will be plenty of maidens playing the game on local courts.

Why the hesitation in selecting a captain for the girls' basketball team in the North Plainfield High School? It must be great to have so many eligibles that a leader cannot be selected.

Those shoulder pads that Coach Ralph Patch inflicted on his Plainfield High School warriors did not do a whole lot of good if the grumblings we have heard since that game Friday may be taken as a criterion. All of the players are complaining of some kind of a strain or bruise.

The first bruise of the season always causes more or less of a scare anyway.

SOMERVILLE EASY FOR RUTGERS PREP

New Brunswick Schoolboys Trounce Somerset County Youths 25 to 7.

Somerville High School football warriors were treated to a 25 to 7 drubbing by the Rutgers "Prep" pigskin chasers at New Brunswick Saturday afternoon, the Somerset county boys being no match for their speedy rivals who tore through the opposing line almost at will. This was the first game of the season for the victors and despite the late start they showed up unusually well against the Somerville eleven which has played several previous games.

The old style of football was used by both teams and several successful forward passes were used by both teams which netted the aggregations goodly gains in each instance.

WATCHUNG HUNTERS FOLLOW HOUNDS IN LIVELY CHASE

The Watchung hounds led a large field of riders over twenty miles of open country today. The meeting place was at Mt. Pleasant at 10:30. The hounds were cast in on the Suydam farm, where they quickly picked up the scent and was off at full cry, going in the direction of the Colonia Country Club, near Rahway, where the first check was made. Here the hounds were cast in again heading straight for Metuchen, then circling around to Oak Tree, where they were checked again on the Tappan estate.

When crossing the TenEyck farm, H. S. Hollis became a cropper, but was uninjured. The jumping on the Kelly estate was most difficult, but all the riders negotiated it without mishap. The run could be well seen from the nearby highways and a number of automobile parties took advantage of this and followed. Among those in the field were the following:

BRODZIAK FORMING A BASKETBALL TEAM

Fast Quintet May Represent Plainfield on the Courts This Year.

During the past week a movement has been pressed in this city to effect the organization of a representative basketball team for the city, and Burnett Brodziak, formerly director of the Scotch Plains Parish House athletics, is at the helm of the project. He has secured a number of fast players who formerly played with the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools, Y. M. C. A., Ajax and Scotch Plains and is scouting about this city and North Plainfield for a suitable court on which to stage his battles.

It is Mr. Brodziak's intention to stage a basketball game once a week followed by an informal dance and the proposition, if it becomes a reality, should prove exceedingly popular in local athletic and social circles. Mr. Brodziak is an experienced leader in athletic competition and with him at the helm the team would undoub edly be a success similar to the one fostered in Scotch Plains last season.

Two courts are now under consideration, Debele's Hall and Saengerbund Hall, and if he can secure one or the other of these places a schedule of games will be started at once. The team is a fast one and is well qualified to represent Plainfield on the basketball court.

GLENNEY BROTHERS WIN FOUR-BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The semi-final and final play for the four-ball golf championship for the Plainfield Country Club was the Columbus Day attraction at the club, and several good matches resulted. The semi-finals were played in the morning and the finals in the afternoon. In addition there was a four-ball 18 holes, medal play handicap match which attracted a large number of players. The course was thronged throughout the day with enthusiastic golfers, the weather being ideal for the play.

The championship play resulted as follows:

Class A—semi-final—H. R. Stockton and A. J. Watson won from F. O. Reinhart and E. A. Lyon, by default; Will T. Glenney and W. Lester Glenney defeated J. Whitney Baker and R. S. Rowland, 4 and 3; finals—Will T. Glenney and W. Lester Glenney defeated H. R. Stockton and A. J. Watson, 6 and 5.

Class B—semi-finals—W. M. Alling and G. A. Bomann defeated George S. Clay and Duncan W. Taylor, 2 and 1; R. H. Cox and O. H. Fleming defeated A. W. Klinecke and R. C. Blancke, Jr., 3 and 2; finals—W. M. Alling and George A. Bomann defeated R. H. Cox and O. H. Fleming, 6 and 4.

H. S. Brown, 89, 20-69; W. M. Alling, 93, 21-72; G. A. Bomann, 101, 27-74; W. F. Merrill, 103, 27-76; C. W. King, 98, 22-76; Will T. Glenney, 81, 4-77; S. D. Lounsbery, 86, 8-78; W. L. Righter, 98, 17-81; G. M. Holstein, 98, 16-28.

MISS NASH AND ROYLE T. PHILLIPS TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Miss Elizabeth Nash and Royle T. Phillips won the mixed doubles tennis championship of the Park Golf Club, yesterday, defeating Mrs. Arthur MacArsdale and Harry Eddy, 6-3 and 17-16 in the finals. The last set of the match was especially hard-fought and it was here that the winners showed their superior play in the game.

GIRLS' TEAM PRACTISES.

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team held its first practise of the season yesterday afternoon on the open air court in the rear of the Somerset School and the following reported for the initial drill: the Misses Elsie Debele, Marjorie Burtis, Lillian Spencer, Lucy Douglas and Marguerite Barkalew. No captain has yet been selected and the girls are also considering the selection of a coach.

HOLY CROSS PRACTISE.

Coach P. V. Martin, of the Holy Cross football team, has ordered a practise to be held tonight and every candidate who contemplates getting into the game at Cricket Field next Saturday afternoon will have to be on hand. A shake-up has been threatened and the officials of the eleven are ready to take stringent measures to secure a certain amount of practise work from each individual.

DEXTERS WON HANDILY.

The much heralded Dexter football team, of Perth Amboy, rivals of the Holy Cross eleven of this city, met and defeated the Fulton A.C., of Elizabeth, on the latter's court Sunday afternoon by a score of 33 to 0. The fast Dexters tore up the home team's line with apparent ease and the visitors had little trouble in scoring when they so wished.

CATCHER EDDIE HEYDON DEAD.

Indianapolis, Oct. 14—Eddie Heydon, former catcher for the local American Association baseball club, and later with the Washington American League club, died at his home here yesterday of curvature of the spine, which resulted from injuries received on the diamond.

CITY LEAGUE MEETING.

A final meeting of the City Baseball League will be held in the rooms of the West End A. C. tonight when the Daily Press trophy will be awarded to the Saurer baseball team, champions of the organization during the season just closed.

GAMES WANTED.

The Xavier Five, a fast traveling basketball team, of Harrison, would like to arrange games with Plainfield teams offering suitable inducements. Address H. Asch, 48 Harrison avenue, Harrison, N. J.

ANSON SAYS 'OLD TEAM' OUTCLASSED ATHLETICS.

Washington, Oct. 14—The champion Athletics would not have stood a chance with the team captained by "Poy" Anson, in Chicago, in the early 80's, according to the veteran ball-player, yesterday.

"The Athletics are a fine playing aggregation," conceded Anson, "but if I had my old Chicago team with the 'stonewall' infield, which won six pennants, infield, which won six penants, I could beat them by a good margin.

"Not hit Plank and Bender? My boy, they would wallop them all over the lot. These Athletics don't compare with Clarkson, Goldsmith, Larry Cochrane and Eddie Ferguson, of the old guard."

AVIATOR DISAPPEARS, LEAVING NO TRACE

Hempstead, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Albert J. Jewel, aviator, left Hempstead, N. Y., to fly to the Oakwood Heights aerodrome in Staten Island. He never reached Staten Island.

He has not been seen since he left Hempstead Plains. At a late hour last night all hope that Jewel was safe somewhere was given up. It is believed that he was blown out to sea and drowned.

J. R. Hall, manager of the aviation meet at Staten Island, in which Jewel was to have taken part, said: "I think that Jewel is drowned and his machine is gone. My only hope, and it is a mighty slim one, is that he has been picked up by a steamer without wireless."

Officials of the Moisant International Fliers, to which Jewel was attached, kept in touch by wireless with all ships near New York and with wireless stations as far as Nantucket. No trace of the missing aviator had been found. He had apparently been swallowed up in a cloud of mist as soon as he left Hempstead Plains in the early morning and was never seen again.

CLARENCE J. HAND WINS BOGEY HANDICAP COMPETITION

Clarence J. Hand won the bogey handicap, the Columbus Day event at the Park Golf Club, yesterday, and J. L. Watson, with a score of 112, 27-85, won the first three points for the President's cup. N. H. Morrison finished second with a score of 101, 9-92, and Oliver B. Hill with a score of 118, 23-95, was third.

Miss Grace TenEyck and H. H. Woodland won the approaching and putting competition with a score of 10. There were a large number of contestants in this competition as well as the others, but few posted their scores.

MONROE GOOD A REGULAR ON THE COLGATE ELEVEN

Monroe Good, a graduate of Plainfield High School, and a freshman at Colgate, played in the game against Hobart Saturday when Colgate beat Hobart 46 to 0.

He played the entire second half and kicked two field goals. This is quite an honor for the Plainfield boy as it is seldom a freshman has any chance with the varsity.

LOCAL BOYS WILL TACKLE CENTRAL HIGH CONQUERORS

The Plainfield High School football team will play Roselle High School tomorrow afternoon on Parker Field at 3:30 o'clock. Last Saturday Roselle High defeated the Central High, of Newark, by the score of 13 to 0. Central is one of the largest schools in the State so it was quite a feather in the caps of the Roselle boys. Roselle has always been a strong rival of Plainfield and the local boys are confident of lowering the Roselle team's colors.

THE CHALMERS MOTOR

The Chalmers Motor Company last week made what is undoubtedly the largest shipment of 1914 cars of the new season. Fifty Model 19's were shipped in one train load, consisting of twenty-two 50 foot automobile cars from the factory at Detroit to Lattner Bros., Chalmers dealers at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

A large number of the cars consigned to the Cedar Rapids dealers were sold before they arrived. Crop conditions in that section of the country are unusually good and dealers predict a record breaking Chalmers year. On the day following the Iowa shipment, forty Model 19's were shipped to Chicago and twenty-nine to Sioux City, Iowa.

The Model 19 is proving tremendously popular. While retaining all of the features which made the 1913 "Thirty-six" so popular, the new car has many material improvements in design. The lines are unusually graceful with the full flush sides, bell backed tonneau and molded oval fenders. The fenders are entirely new in design and in addition to their pleasing appearance they afford greater protection from the mud and dust.

The gasoline tank and tire irons have been suspended in the rear and the battery and tool boxes placed under the front seat. This leaves the running board absolutely clear and uncluttered.

Gasoline is fed to the carburetor by a positive pressure system, operated by an automatic pressure pump. The gasoline tank is equipped with a guage which indicates at all times the exact amount of gasoline in the 25 gallon tank.

The regular equipment includes Gray and Davis electric lighting system, with special dash light, self-starter, Continental demountable rims (one extra rim), Warner speedometer, new type tire carrier, power tire inflator, gasoline pressure system with mechanical pump, floor covers, robe and foot rails, horn, pump, jack, full set of tools and tire repair outfit. Chalmers special lamp equipment with combination oil and electric side and tail lamps. Chalmers silk mohair top and special rain-vision windshield.

The Model 19 comes in two body types, touring car and torpedo.

Our New "Six" Is Here

Fully Equipped f.o.b. Detroit

The Master Motor of Them All

What other makers are still striving for we give you in the New Chalmers "Six."

To the best features of the costliest cars we have added these crowning triumphs:

Silence at all speeds; silence that lasts.

Sustained power; even after years of use.

No vibration; comfort and long life.

Extreme flexibility, without intricate gearing.

These features mean far more than the luxury they bring. They mean minimum wear—no waste of power—lowest possible depreciation. A car that lacks them, may cost you less to buy—but it will cost you more to keep.

When once you know the years of extra service these features add, you'll wonder how we give them at the price, $2175.

Go ride in this car. Let it tell its own story in deeds. It can neither over-rate its virtues nor hide its defects. It must tell the truth—nothing else.

Silent At All Speeds

Let us see what the New Chalmers "Six" will do. Watch the speedometer, 30—40—50 miles an hour and not a murmur from cams nor valves.

The Chalmers engineers have discarded the noisy little wedge-like cams so widely used. They knock the valves open with a blow and close them with a snap. The big oval cams of this motor push open the valves and slide them shut with the smoothness of velvet.

What Silence Tells You

The silence of the Chalmers "Six" means more than the mere luxury of quiet.

It tells you that your motor is working with the perfection of a watch—without the slightest wear; that your car has not depreciated one iota; that it is as good as the day you bought it.

And this silence continues for years. 30,000 miles of hard road service, equal to three years of average use, left this motor as good as when it started.

$80,000 Extra Cost to Us—An Enormous Saving For You

This motor, like the trained athlete, grows better by action.

Chalmers valves of Tungsten steel cost $80,000 extra per year. But Tungsten steel is not affected by the cylinder heat. So there's no warping—no leaking—no power wasted as happens with the ordinary cast iron and nickel steel valves. Tungsten steel valves almost never need regrinding.

This means an enormous saving of power to you. It means no wear—no depreciation. Think of the years of extra service this master motor will give you.

Power—Supple as a Fencer's Wrist

The power of our New "Six" is so flexible that you can throttle it down on high to a creeping gait in the crowd; then away swift as a swallow, mounting quickly to twenty, thirty, forty miles and hour without stress or effort.

This wondrous flexibility is due to our big, roomy valves, they open 40% wider and shut tighter than common. This gives freer passage to the gases.

The wonderful flexibility of this motor is amazing. You'll find you can do nearly everything on "high." It does away with gear shifting almost entirely. With this "Six" any supplementary gear mechanism would be useless. The motor itself gives a suppleness of power unknown even in costlier cars.

A Non-Stallable Motor

This motor will never go dead in the crowded city traffic. The electric starter won't let it.

Six Passenger	$2275

Limousine	$3600

Even if the driver should cut off the gas accidentally, the electric starter, which is always on duty, keeps the motor running—won't let it stop.

It prevents stalling under sudden overload. This is the greatest feature of safety and convenience put on a car in the past five years.

An Electric Starter That Never Quits

The simplest and surest starter ever made. A little motor spins the engine to start it. Then it automatically reverses itself, becomes a generator, and stores up power in the battery for electric lighting and future starting purposes.

That Vibration Jinx

After a long ride you are often tired and you don't know why. It's the vibration jinx in the crank case. It means the moving parts are too heavy or a fraction out of balance.

Vibration is overcome in the Chalmers by forging connection rods stronger and yet 40% lighter than the average; by giving the motor an extra long stroke and so reducing the number of strokes; by balancing all moving parts on a delicate scale. Even the clutch and the timing gears are balanced with the rest of the motor.

The smoothness of the "Six" saves wear on the car as well as on the passengers. The interval between the explosions of any "Four" makes a gap in the power stream. It produces a vibration that hammers constantly at the life of the car. There's no escape from it. The explosions of the "Six" give an unbroken stream of power. It gives smoothness and economy that no "Four" can equal. It adds years to the life of the car.

The Beauty of the Car

As the Chalmers motor is made better the car is made handsomer.

The Chalmers company spent $75,000 in new equipment to give you its long oval fenders; not alone for the added beauty, but for their utility as well.

Bodies are big and bell-shaped. Plenty of room to stretch your legs in either seat. Doors are wider than usual, with concealed hinges. They fit so snugly that all mouldings are dispensed with.

Extra tires are carried in the rear, leaving the running boards clean as a quarter-deck. Everything about it tends to give the New Chalmers Six the flowing, scream-line effect of a graceful steam yacht.

Unsurpassed at Any Price

It is impossible to get more real value than we give you in the New Chalmers "Six." The wonder is that we can sell it at the price.

But this car is the product of a $7,000,000 factory where economy of production has been perfected as never before; where parts makers' profits have been eliminated; where enormous output reduces cost to a minimum.

In the New "Six," you get features that mean your car will run year after year as smoothly and silently as the day you bought it; features that keep operating costs down to a minimum.

To buy a car that lacks these features—even though the first cost be less—is short-sighted. To pay more is an extravagance.

Let the Car Tell Its Story in Deeds

We want you to take a ride in the New Chalmers "Six"—a ride that will make you dissatisfied with any other car. This ride isn't just a ride. It is the Chalmers Standard Road Test—a part of our regular sales plan. It is used by all Chalmers dealers to show what the Chalmers will do under all conditions of service; how it meets emergencies—overcomes obstacles. It will prove to you in deeds what we have told you in words. Let us take you on such a ride.

NEW PETIT JURY NOW IN SERVICE

First Panel Drawn Under New Law Hears Civil Suits in County Court.

GRAND JURY IS BUSY

Another Report is Expected From Grand Inquest This Week and Criminal Trials Will Then Be Begun in Union County.

The first petit jury panel drawn in Union county under the new jury reform act began serving for the trial of civil suits in the Supreme Court before Judge Vail yesterday. The jurors will continue to serve for the remainder of this month and will then be replaced by a new panel to be drawn, according to the provisions of the same act, on Tuesday, October 28. That panel will begin service on November 3.

It is not likely that any of the jurors on the presene panel will sit in the trial of other civil actions, as Prosecutor Stein has not yet announced when he will be ready to move criminal trials. The Grand Jury has been in session just a week yesterday, and aside from the three indictments returned last week the jurors have not been heard from. Those three indictments were returned for purposes of expediting extradition proceedings and to prevent the forfeiting of a bail bond in one instance, as the prosecutor's office was led to believe was being contemplated.

The Grand Jury is expected to make a report during the present week, and with the indictments then handed down, criminal actions will soon be underway. Prosecutor Stein is anxious to push consideration of the 400 charges to be presented to the Grand Inquest in order to get the large mass of business cleared from the calendar before the January term will open.

At present four murder trials are scheduled for the term, and as they have to be heard by Justice Bergen in the Court of Oyer and Terminer on days when he can preside, it is the purpose of Prosecutor Stein to have matters so arranged that no days the justice can give will be lost through the press of other business.

The retrial of Mattea Papalillo, of this city, charged with the murder of Thomas Deers, colored, will be the first one disposed of. This indictment was tried during the May term and resulted in a disagreement. Since then, the material witnesses and defendant have been confined in the county jail. The cost of keeping the witnesses has run into quite an item of expense on the county in addition to the cost of the trial itself.

The petit panel to be drawn October 28, therefore, will be the one from which at least one and possibly more of the murder juries will be selected. In addition to the murder trials, which set a new record for this county for a single term, there are many trials of importance to be considered by the jury to be drawn. Among them are manslaughter, burglary, robbery, embezzlement, atrocious assault and battery charges and many of a minor nature, aside from the disorderly house complaints as a result of the vice crusade raids, and the possibility of hearing the "poison pen" case in the event of a true bill being returned against Mrs. Nelson L. Pollard, of Elizabeth, accused of being the author of the missives.

FIELDER CHANGES DATE FOR INVASION OF UNION

Elizabeth, Oct. 15.—In the interests of his Gubernatorial candidacy, Acting Governor James F. Fielder will make a tour of Union county Saturday, November 1, instead of Tuesday, October 28, as previously announced. General Dennis F. Collins, member of the State Committee from Union county, will have charge of the itinerary. Arrangements for the tour of the county will be under the auspices of the campaign committee. It has been announced unofficially that the Governor will visit all of the places included in his tour in this county shortly before the primaries last month.

MYSTERIOUS BLAZE BURNED LARGE BARN

An early morning fire, supposed to have been started by an incendiary, destroyed a large barn on the farm owned by Dr. Charles E. Nash in North Plainfield township this morning, and did damage estimated at about $5,000. Dr. Nash and his fourteen-year-old son were in the kitchen of their home at 6:30 o'clock this morning, when they detected the odor of smoke and saw flames issuing from the large barn about 400 feet from the house.

Flames were crackling between the rafters and the entire interior portion of the frame building was ablaze. They got four horses and two cows out and also dragged out a runabout. Neighbors swarmed to the scene of the fire in hundreds and William Titus and George Schmidt, with the aid of an automobile, managed to get the North Plainfield townships' chemical engine up the steep grade leading to the Nash home but all efforts to check the fire were futile. A number of vehicles, farming implements and about twenty tons of hay were destroyed. Bark was scorched off fruit trees and the cross-arms of the telegraph poles were burned so that they will all have to be replaced. The farm is four miles from this city.

Dr. Nash places his total loss in the neighborhood of $5,000. He carried some insurance.

HAMMOND SPEAKS AT A G. O. P. RALLY

Republican Assemblymanic candidate Ogden Hammond, of Somerset county, speaking last night at a meeting of the North Plainfield Republican Club, called Acting Governor Fielder a "rubber stamp executive," who had to "run" to Washington, D. C., and get the approval of President Woodrow Wilson before he acted on important State matters. Continuing Mr. Hammond denounced the present administration and said the new tariff laws were destroying business and that the Republicans would slowly, but surely, regain their lost power in the country.

Charles P. Sebrng, of the borough, who is the Republican candidate for sheriff, spoke of his long service in the ranks of the Republican fold, and predicted a victory for his party in Somerset county.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., president of the club, was chairman and announced that at the session next Tuesday night, plans for a large political meeting would be made. E. E. Smith, member of the county committee, will attend a meeting of that body in Somerville on Saturday, and will arrange for the appearance of an eminent speaker.

It is likely that either Senators Borah, Hadley or Cummings will be asked to come to the borough and an effort will be made to secure Judge Carey, of Jersey City, and Mr. Stokes for the same night. The mass meeting will be held in Saengerbund Hall, and a band will furnish music.

Henry L. DeMott, in a lengthy speech said he favored an old time political meeting with a brass band and plenty of red fire.

She also leaves one brother, Wm. Schaub, of Newark, and five sisters, Mrs. Francis Decker and Mrs. Gottleib Roller, of this place; Mrs. Lena Nuss, of Bound Brook; Mrs. Mary Lababie, of Newark, and Mrs. Jacob Roller, of Raritan.

The funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the Fourth Reformed church, the Rev. H. J. Wahl officiating. Friends of the family are invited. Interment will be in the new cemetery at Somerville.

F. T. Woodhull and family, who have been spending the summer at Lake Hopatcong, have returned to their home at 989 Madison avenue.

LIBRARY BOARD MEMBER REPLIES

If Churches Give Out Books on Sundays Why Not the Public Library?

QUERIES CLERGYMAN

Another communication was received today for publication bearing on the controversy started by Rev John Y. Brock, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who, in a formal statement published in this newspaper exclusively, objected to the opening of Parker Field for band concerts and the opening of the Public Library for the distribution of books on Sunday afternoons. J. Hervey Doane, one of the playground commissioners, in a reply yesterday declared that some of the clergyman's statements were untrue and that the purpose of the concerts was to provide a healthy entertainment under proper supervision in order that people be not led to other places out of the city where they would desecrate the Sabbath.

Grove Hinman, a member of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library, defends the action of that body in the following communication:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

As a member of the Library Board, I fail to see wherein is the difference in giving out books on Sundays at the Public Library and at the various Sunday-school libraries throughout the city. If all the Sunday-schools think it not only right but a duty to distribute books from their libraries, why should not the city of Plainfield, the whole people, distribute volumes from their library impelled by a similar sense of duty to the public?

METHODIST WOMEN SUPPER HOSTESSES

Ladies' Aid Society Also Provides An Entertainment at Vincent Chapel.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church inaugurated the active season at the church last night, by giving one of its suppers for which it is noted, followed by a short informal entertainment in Vincent chapel. The women who had charge of the supper included those whose initials run from "R to Z," Mrs. George M. Rittenhouse being chairman of the committee.

Among the other women who assisted were Mrs. Frank Rowley, Mrs. Oscar Rose, Mrs. Judd Stuart, Mrs. W. W. Warnock, Miss Minnie Sharp, Miss Gertrude Sharp, Mrs. William Thomas, while a number of the younger women acted as waitresses.

After the supper, which was an excellent one, all adjourned to the chapel where a quartet comprising Mrs. Theodore Mantz, Mrs. H. R. Moyer, Mrs. Guy Bender and Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell sang several selections and Mrs. Herbert E. Parker gave two recitations. Miss Jubilee Rowley was at the piano. The rest of the evening was spent in a social way. A pleasant surprise was the visit of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea, of Jersey City, but formerly of this city. They were given a cordial greeting by those present. Dr. McCrea was formerly pastor of the local church.

ALUMNI DANCE.

The weekly meeting of the Stillman Alumni Association was held last night at the Franklin School, where nearly 100 members and their friends enjoyed a program of dancing and other entertainment. William Sandford in a short address urged that all grammar school graduates of the Stillman School, regardless of age, attend the weekly meetings on Tuesday nights. He said that a varied program of entertainment will be given at each meeting and that dancing could be enjoyed on all occasions.

DODGE'S TRIAL POSTPONED.

William Dodge, who several days ago figured in a fistic argument with "Buck" Anderson and Neise Anderson, two linemen employed by the Public Service Corporation, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning and released in his own recognizance for trial on Wednesday morning October 29. The delay is caused by the fact that "Buck" Anderson is still confined to his home with injuries as the result of the conflict.

CANNOT INSTALL REV. MR. BARKER

Reformed Classis in Session Here Declines to Permit Him to Adminster Sacrament.

AFTER A LONG DEBATE

But It is Insisted That He Continue His Work at Christ Church When He Asks to Be Relieved of the Duties.

The greter part of the morning session of the Classis of Newark, which is in session at Trinity Reformed church today, was devoted to a discussion of the affairs of Christ church, Newark, where it has been impossible for the congregation to settle upon Rev. Percival Barker as a regular pastor, owing to the fact that he is under suspension by a Presbyterian church of Kansas City, and the Classis refuses to recognize and install him as pastor of the church. The reason for his suspension is not known here.

Rev. F. B. Pullian, of the Reformed church, East Orange, reported this morning that as the representative of the Classis he had been unable to fulfill that body's wishes in supervising the sacramental services of Christ church, especially in administering the ordnance of baptism, as the members of the church objected. He made a request that he be relieved of his duties, but the Classis expressed the wish that he continue and in addition the Classis passed a resolution offered by Rev. Charles B. Condict, of Newark, the stated clerk, authorizing the stated clerk to forward to the consistory of Christ church a resolution previously passed setting forth the position of the Classis in the matter and instructing it that Mr. Barker cannot administer the sacramental services.

This action was taken after a long discussion during which it was stated by a member of Christ church that he did not believe that the consistory of the church thoroughly understood the wishes of the Classis in the matter. Rev. O. M. Trousdale, of the First Reformed church, Newark, was inclined to take a serious view of the whole matter, explaining that in his opinion it presented a grave situation, and he declared that unless some definite action was taken by the Classis sustaining the rules, he would lay the whole matter before the Synod of New Brunswick for consideration.

It was stated that the Synod of Kansas is now in session and that it was expected some action would be taken regarding Mr. Barker, to which body he has made an appeal. If nothing results at this time the case will have to go before the General Assembly for consideration.

According to the members of Christ church present this morning, the consistory of that church wants to carry out the wishes of the Classis. There seemed to be an opinion that Mr. Barker has been doing a good work and increasing the membership and that he had been acting as a Christian gentleman

The treasurer reported and recommended that in view of the fact that there is now about $324.45 on hand, that the assessment per member be reduced from ten to eight cents. This recommendation was adopted. Trinity Reformed church, Newark, asked for assistance to the extent of $1,000 for its building fund, setting forth that it had raised $1,600 toward needed improvements. The matter was referred to the committee on benevolences.

After the opening of the morning session, Rev. George Hulst, of Montclair, was elected president, succeeding Rev. Royal A. Stout, who left the Classis; Rev. Charles B. Condict, of Newark, is the stated clerk and Rev. C. E. Waldron, of Brookdale, was chosen temporary clerk.

At noon the women of Trinity Reformed church, comprising chiefly the members of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, served dinner to the visiting members of the Classis. The afternoon session was begun at 2 o'clock and this will be taken up with reports, etc. The reports received this morning from the Linden and Netherwood Reformed churches were encouraging. The latter church hopes to have a regular pastor in the near future.

ENDEAVORS 'BOO' AT PUBLIC DANCE

Local C. E. Union Resolution Deplores a Policy of Education Board.

REV. BROEK SPONSOR

"Not Edifying or Instructive"—Instruction Body's Action in Introducing Free Lectures is Approved.

The Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union, meeting last night at the First Presbyterian church in Dunellen, deplored the action of the Plainfield Board of Education in allowing dances to be held in the school auditoriums and urged in a resolution, which was adopted, that this form of amusement be discontinued. In the same resolution the C. E. Union commended the Board in opening the schools to the public for free lectures and entertainments. The resolution was fathered by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, who has recently strongly opposed Sunday afternoon concerts at Parker Field.

The resolution in part says: "We deplore the fact that our school buildings are being turned into public dance halls and we respectfully urge the Plainfield Board of Education to discontinue this form of amusement, which is neither edifying nor instructive." People interested in the dancing classes held in the local schools, when informed of the resolution adopted by the C. E. Union, said that body was evidently laboring under a misapprehension and stoutly defended the action of the Board of Education in allowing the use of the school auditoriums for the enjoyment of the lovers of terpsichore.

Rev. Elliot Field, of Philadelphia, made the principal address of the meeting, Arnold Finkle presiding. The attendance banner was won by the Dunellen society, only one of its 37 members being absent. The Evona Chapel society was awarded second honors and the Netherwood Reformed church society was third.

YOUTH DISAPPEARS; MOTHER IS WORRIED

Given $15 by his mother to pay a grocer's bill, William Lindsay, 15 years old, son of Mrs. Edith Lindsey, of 1336 West Front street, has disappeared with the money and is being sought by the police. This is the youth's second attempt to abscond with some of his mother's money. The last time he was caught while waiting the arrival of a train at the North avenue station, which he evidently proposed to board for distant parts.

Mrs. Lindsey is almost heartbroken at her son's action and says she does not care about the money, but mourns the loss of her offspring. The runaway is described as being five feet tall, having brown hair, one blue eye and a glass optic. His lower set of teeth is braced by a dentist's apparatus. When last seen he was wearing a Norfolk suit of blue serge material.

Miss Rae French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barzilla French, of Union Village, and Edward Lewis, of Scotch Plains were married in the Union Village M. E. church, this afternoon, by Rev. W. H. Evans, the pastor. Miss Sadie Bach, of Brooklyn, was the bridesmaid, and Augustus Lewis, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The church was attractively decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and other fall flowers. There were guests from Plainfield, Newark, Brooklyn, Scotch Plains and Gillette.

A reception followed in the Tri-County Club hall at Union Village, which was attended by about one hundred guests. The couple left late in the afternoon for a trip through New York State and will reside at Scotch Plains upon their return. The bride received a large number of gifts. The bridegroom is employed by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer, and previous to coming here held a position with the Standard Oil Company in New York city.

The Piscataway Township Taxpayers' Association met at Friendship Hall, New Market, last night, when the much talked of tax question was threshed out. During the past two years the taxes have increased about $600.

DID 'SLIT' SKIRT CAUSE DISMISSAL

Miss Florence Kirk Claims That is Why She Loses Place as Teacher.

PRINCIPAL SAYS NOT

S. D. Townsend Asserts 'Plains Board of Education Decided it—Want More Efficient Teacher—Will She Sue?

Miss Florence Kirk, of New York, who has been a teacher in Public School No. 1, at Scotch Plains, since the beginning of the present term, has resigned her position because, according to her story, the officials have insisted that she refrain from wearing a slit, slashed, or hobble skirt. The resignation will go into effect on Friday, Oct. 31.

The trouble is alleged to have started when S. Dana Townsend, supervising principal, received a communication signed, "A Mother," deploring the fact that Miss Kirk wore a slit skirt to the school each day. A copy of the letter was also sent to the school teacher, who said to a Daily Press reporter today that the missive not only attacked her style of dress, but reflected on her mannerisms on the street. Miss Kirk plainly showed her anger at the sender of the letters. She said she had notified the postoffice authorities at Washington, D. C., and efforts are being made to locate the person who sent the missives. Asked if she would start suit if the writer's name was learned, Miss Kirk replied, "Well I should just guess I would."

Mr. Townsend, when called on the 'phone, asserted that Miss Kirk was being discharged because her work was not satisfactory, but did not deny that there had been comments made over the clothes worn by the teacher.

DISPUTE OVER FUND FOR A COUNTY ROAD

Work Held up at Bernardsville and Freeholders Are Powerless.

Somerville, Oct. 15.—Ogden H. Hammond appeared before the Board of Freeholders at its meeting yesterday and spoke with reference to the improvements desired at Bernardsville. Some months ago the Township Committee of Bernards commenced the widening of Main street through Bernardsville on the understanding that the freeholders would give $1,500 toward the work and the State would also donate $5,000 out of the automobile fund.

Since then nothing has been done in the matter, and the members informed Mr. Hammond that the Board would live up to its agreement, but the State Commissioner of Roads has held the matter up by stating that the $5,000 was to come out of the county's apportionment of $19,000 from the automobile fund of the State. This does not meet with favor from the members of the Board, and Mr. Hammond was told, that while the Board sympathized with Bernardsville, they were powerless in the matter, and no action was taken.

County Collector Allen was authorized to borrow $50,000 in anticipation of taxes. His report gave the total expenses to date as $133,840.15, only $4,774.63 of which had been spent for new roads in the county.

FRENCH LINER IN WITH TEN WAIFS

Efforts Being Made to Locate Relatives of Babies.

SOME LIKELY PARENTLESS

Passengers on La Touraine Offer to Adopt Them All—Captain Inch Reports—Threats to Burn Volturno Denied by Officials of Line.

Havre, France, Oct. 15.—Carrying ten little babies and thirty-two adults rescued from the Volturno, which burned at sea last Thursday, the steamer La Touraine of the French line arrived here. The condition of these infant waifs of the disaster is pitiable, for it is certain that the parents of some of them are dead. The mothers of others are on the sea bound for New York in the Kroonland or Grosser Kurfuerst. Some have been located by wireless and know their babies are safe.

The Uranium line will take care of all until the living parents are located. Those who lost their parents in the disaster will be sent to relatives or placed in good homes. Already the entire outfit of rescued little ones could have been adopted over and over again by passengers on La Touraine or sympathetic folk here who learned of their plight.

How Babies Were Rescued.

The way these babies came to be rescued alone was natural. La Touraine's boats were among the first to reach the Volturno. Mothers on the burning ship, true to the maternal instinct, sought to save the lives of their offspring rather than their own, and handed down their little ones, either neglecting to follow themselves or being pushed aside by the more selfish.

The first lifeboat that reached La Touraine carried seven of the little babies, some crying lustily, others too frightened and cold to make a sound. One little boy, stark naked and wrapped in a blanket, was sound asleep.

Denies Threat to Burn Ship.

London, Oct. 15.—Denials that any official of the Uranium line laid the loss of the Volturno, with 136 passengers, to a bomb set in the rate war were made by all responsible representatives of the line. The incredible report was attributed to Captain Tinsley, agent of the line, who declared in Rotterdam, "I never said a word to anybody relative to a letter having been received by the company threatening to burn the ship."

Other Uranium line officials made haste to deny the report, which was to the effect that just before the Volturno steamed on her fatal trip Captain Tinsley received a letter in which was the threat, "If you don't listen to our demands one of your boats will be burned."

Crew Were Brutal.

"The crew of the Volturno, most of whom were Dutch, behaved in a cowardly manner and were brutal to the passengers," is the verdict of most of the thirty survivors of the Volturno who arrived at Gravesend on board the Minneapolis

All the survivors are men—Russians, Hungarians and Poles—who know no English and can tell their stories only through interpreters. They are to proceed to their destination on board the Olympic today.

Captain Inch Reports.

New York, Oct. 15.—Captain Francis Inch, the young commander of the Volturno, whose courage and resolution were praised by the survivors who landed in France and England from four steamships, radiographed from the Kroonland his story of the disaster to the Uranium line office here.

He told his story with the conciseness and brevity that mark official reports, but the condensed account of the burning of the liner, of the desperate fighting of fire, of the coming of the international fleet and of the final rescue work, given by the man best able to present it, is enthralling.

Captain Inch makes no mention of panic or mutiny. He gave the order for the lowering of boats, four of which were lost with their passengers. Part of the crew were trapped in the forecastle by the fire and burned to death almost at the outset. He says there was no panic or disorder when the survivors were taken from the ruined ship. He was the last to abandon the Volturno, and he made sure before he left that there wasn't a soul left on board. If Captain Inch's eyes were injured by fire or smoke or if he was hurt otherwise he says nothing about it in his modest report.

Concerning the rescue work, Captain Inch said:

"All steamers laying around ship sent boats. Now we were enabled to load three boats with passengers at once.

"The passengers left very orderly, and there was no panic, women breaking down and crying when help was alongside, and soon all were off the ship by 8 a. m. About 400 passengers.

"Searched ship myself and found no one else on board, so decided to abandon, as No. 3 hatch was well alight by now, so with remainder of crew embarked on Kroonland.

"Nothing has been heard of two missing boats at all, passing vessels having been asked to keep lookout for them."

SANITARIUM BLAZE CREMATES INMATES

Two Dead and Twelve Others Barely Escape.

Baltimore, Oct. 15.—Two women were burned to death, a third was so severely injured that she had to be taken to a hospital and three other persons received serious burns when the Edgewood sanitarium at Govans, a suburb, was destroyed by fire. Twelve other patients were rescued with difficulty by attendants of the institution and neighbors who came to their assistance.

The dead are Mrs. Strauss, said to be the widow of the senior member of the firm of Strauss & Eiseman, manufacturers, and Miss Ida Yearley.

The woman most seriously injured is Mrs. Heberly, who was burned about the arms and legs. She is now at St Luke's hospital.

With all the patients quietly sleeping in the three story frame structure the flames ate rapidly through the building before they were discovered. The attendants made many thrilling rescues.

Just how the fire started could not be learned, but by the time the firemen arrived the building was enveloped in flames on all sides. The firemen turned their attention to pouring water on neighboring property and to giving help to the suffering patients, most of whom were only thinly clad.

REBELS MOVE ON MONTEREY.

Americans Flee From Town as Forces Concentrate For Attack.

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 15.—An exodus of Americans and other noncombatants from Monterey, capital of Nuevo Leon and the largest city in northern Mexico, has begun with the news that the Constitutionalists are concentrating their forces for an attack upon the city. The Constitutionalists are believed to be planning to make Monterey their headquarters if its capture can be effected.

Americans form an important part of the population. The federal forces, commanded by General Joaquin Maas, are preparing to move southward to attack Torreon and recapture it from the Constitutionalists, according to dispatches received here.

Here's Where We Launch Another Great Sale of Ostrich Plumes

The ostrich plume sale held by us about four weeks ago was a marvel. We sold more plumes at that time than in any previous sale. But all good things must have an end. Sorry indeed were we at that time that we could not get more of them. We immediately, however, planned an encore sale, which we launch tomorrow. They are the same, identical, high-quality, superbly lustrous plumes as those in the last sale.

They come from the world's best maker, specializing black, which means so much, as you can readily appreciate all specialists; in addition to the black we persuaded this maker to make up for us a limited quantity of white, always fashionable.

The savings are big and surely a big inducement to buy liberally, for there never can be a more beautiful hat adornment than ostrich plumes—and right now fashion favors them strongly. The buying of ostrich plumes really represents a good investment, as they last for years and are always in style.

BENJAMIN ALTMAN.

The first thought that comes when reading the will of the late Benjamin Altman is that he was a rare good man. The second one is of contrast between his testamentary document and those of other multi-millionaires.

Here was a man who won his way by sheer force of character and sound business judgment and sagacity. He built up one of the largest retail dry goods houses in the world. And when he died he left it as a monument for he provided that the hundreds of employes should share in its profits, in addition to giving many of them rich rewards for their past services.

But that is only a trifle when measuring up the greatness of this man in the disposition of his vast estate. He had accumulated between $25,000,000 and $35,000,000, and save for $725,000 in bequests to relatives, he gave his all to charity. Hospitals and institutions of art are the principal objects of his generosity. His magnificent collections of paintings, porcelains, tapestries, rugs, enamels and other objects of art, valued at $10,000,000, are bequeathed to the Metropolitan Museum of Art for the free enjoyment of the people, a fund of $150,000 being added for its maintenance. The National Academy of Design receives a big sum for the promotion of American art and the Educational Alliance is also a considerable legatee. These are but some of his fine deeds as perpetuated in his will. He was a really great man.

And what a contrast to others, who have been the fortunate, or unfortunate possessors of great wealth. For instance Havemeyer and Morgan furnish fairly good opposites. The best contrast, however, is supplied in the case of John Jacob Astor. His predatory wealth, estimated at over $86,000,000, was bequeathed to his son, that it might continue to be handed down from generation to generation, only a paltry $10,000 being left to charity. Astor's memory will perish with the present generation and even with it kind words will be few. Benjamin Altman's name will be handed down to posterity to the end of the world and mankind will ever call him blessed.

The Government has decided to hold the Pankhurst woman at Ellis Island immigration station for a special inquiry. America always extends a hearty welcome to British subjects but a line is drawn when an incendiary wants to come here with the avowed purpose of exhibiting herself for the purpose of raising money to destroy property and jeopardize human lives in the land of her birth.

Should the Democratic administration at Washington bring about Government ownership of the telegraph, it won't cost so much in keeping the wires busy between the Executive Mansion at Washington and the State House at Trenton.

Roger Murray—"Roger Murray is the Republican machine boss of Plainfield"—undoubtedly has given his permission for the holding of a Republican mass meeting tonight. So all well and good.

FOUR DROWNED AS GALE SHATTERS BARGE

Crew Missing After Hard Fight For Life.

Highland Light, Mass., Oct. 15.—Four men are believed to have lost their lives when the coal laden barge Sumner R. Mead was driven ashore near the Cahoons Hollow life saving station, eight miles south of here. A battered dory belonging to the barge was thrown up on the beach, but no trace of the Mead's crew could be found.

The barges Sumner R. Mead and Oakland, in tow of the tug Paoli, Perth Amboy for Boston, passed up along the Cape Cod shore. A northeast gale, with wind velocity of forty miles an hour, was encountered off here at midnight, and the towline parted.

The Oakland managed to anchor in time to avoid being blown upon the beach, but the Mead was carried before the gale and driven ashore. Her plight was not discovered until dawn, when the life saving patrol sighted her as she was breaking up under the terrific pounding of the surf.

The life savers shot a line across the stranded craft, but there was no sign of life aboard. A little later a badly battered dory came ashore. It is believed that the captain, engineer and two seamen on the barge attempted to land in the small boat during the night and perished in the surf.

SOMERVILLE SOLONS HAVE BUSY SESSION

Strict Traffic Rules Adopted—Fire Prevention Regulations Amended.

The Borough of Somerville has adopted stringent traffic rules for the use of its streets by automobiles, wagons and other vehicles, these being passed at the monthly meeting of the Borough Council, Monday night. The ordinance limits all vehicles from stopping with ten feet from any fire hydrant. Automobiles alone were also prohibited from turning in the opposite direction between Doughty avenue and Bridge street. This was changed to allow all vehicles to change directions at junction of all streets, except at Maple and at Division street. The penalty for the first violation of any provision of the ordinance was placed at $1, with increasing penalty at each subsequent violation, at the discretion of the magistrate. The ordinance was ordered published, and the police committee was also given power to have markers erected on the streets in order to direct the traffic on the streets.

The ordinances regulating the construction of buildings within the fire limits of the borough, and also for the control of combustable and inflammable material were also amended, and the chief of the fire department was also included with the standing committee of the Borough Council in the matter of the control of such material.

L. M. Codington, president of the Board of Education, called the attention of the members of the Council to the provisions of the law regulating the appointment of custodian of school funds and the payment of said officer's salary. Under the present law the salary is to be paid by the Board of Education and not by the Borough Council. It was decided, on motion, that the provisions of the law be complied with.

Considerable discussion ensued over the payment of bills for work on streets, which are paid weekly by Collector Brokaw from a special account kept by him for that purpose. Councilman Snyder wished also to include in the payments from this special fund the regular monthly salaries of the police force on the first of each month, instead of compelling the members to wait until after the regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council, the police often having to wait until the middle of the succeeding month before receiving their money. Some of the members of the Council were of the opinion that this could not be done, and Councilman Snyder then declared the borough had no right to pay the laborers each week for work done on the streets. The matter was referred to the borough attorney to suggest a way in which this matter could be done as desired.

Complaint was received from the local Board of Health of the existence of a sewer, formerly known as the Doughty sewer, and it was suggested by the Board of Health that this sewer be connected with the regular borough sewer, and the matter was referred to the sewer committee. A request was also received from the State Board of Health for information as to when the borough intended to install a sewage disposal plant and cease polluting the Raritan River. The borough had been notified some time ago to remove its sewer outlet from the Raritan River by September 1 of the present year, but the members of the Borough Council are inclined to take the stand that the State Legislature granted the town privilege, under a special act, to empty its sewage in the Raritan River, and that the State Board of Health cannot compel the borough to cease this without providing some other means for disposing of the sewage. No action was taken with the communication.

An invitation was received from Chief Anson V. Norton for the members of the Council to inspect the fire department at the time of the annual inspection tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon. This was accepted.

Borough Collector Brokaw reported a balance on hand of about $1,500, and it was voted to borrow $1,000 in anticipation of taxes to meet the current month's bills, which amounted to about $2,500.

STRANGE MALADY IN UNION COUNTY JAIL

Half Dozen Inmates Afflicted With Disease—To Make Investigation.

Official investigation of sanitation in the Union county jail may be made as the result of the breaking out of a strange disease among the prisoners. It was said at the jail yesterday that about a half dozen of the inmates had been afflicted by the malady. One is now in the General Hospital and another showing symptoms of the disease is still in the jail. The malady manifests itself in a peculiar swelling which affects the limbs of the victim. In severe cases the whole body is affected.

Dr. Horace R. Livengood, the jail physician, said yesterday morning that he had made efforts to ascertain the cause of the disease. "I have examined the food served to the prisoners, the sanitary conditions, and the prisoners themselves, but so far I have been unable to find out the source of the malady," he said. "There may be an investigation. If there is, it will not be made by any private physicians, but rather by the Union County Medical Society. There is no cause for uneasiness. The trouble is not general."

It was said at the jail that specialists had been called in to diagnose the malady and trace its origin. Blood tests were made with some of the prisoners. So far as is known the sanitary conditions in the county institution are perfect. The jail is dry and the prisoners are allowed greater freedom than is usually granted in penal institutions.

It is reported that the death of one prisoner was due indirectly to the disease, but this was denied at the jail yesterday morning. It was admitted that a negro inmate of the jail had the disease in such an acute form that his heart was affected, but he did not die.

If any more prisoners develop symptoms of the mysterious ailment, it is probable that the attention of the jail committee of the Board of Freeholders will be directed to it and a careful probe may result.

ACCUSED OF STEALING DIAMOND.

New Brunswick, Oct. 15.—The police yesterday accused Mary Sabo, eighteen years old, of the robbery of a $100 diamond ring, owned by Mrs. Mae Weston. While the latter was at work in the kitchen the girl, it is charged, walked into the house and picked up the ring, which was in a dish on the sideboard. The theft of a ring and other jewelry owned by Mr. Kessler, who has a boarding-house on Church street, has also been traced to the girl, according to the police. She is in jail with four charges against her.

ENGINE HITS AUTO VAN IN METUCHEN, THREE ARE HURT

Metuchen, Oct. 15.—An automobile moving van, laden with the furniture of a family moving from Philadelphia to New York, was struck and demolished yesterday by a Lehigh Valley Railroad passenger engine at the Middlesex avenue grade crossing. Three men in the van were buried beneath the wreckage.

David Middleburg, of Sixtieth and Arch streets Philadelphia, was picked up unconscious and hurried to Wells Hospital, New Brunswick, in an automobile, after being attended by Dr. Herman Gross. Sydney Drew, of the same address, and Henry Moyer, of 6403 Moyer street, Philadelphia, were bruised and cut and suffered internal injuries.

The van, which was owned by Middleburg, left Philadelphia at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

LAWYERS DISPUTE AS TRIAL DRIFTS

Little Progress Made In Impeachment Matter.

LEGAL POINTS CONSIDERED

Controversy Arises Over Question of Admissibility of Testimony Under Fourth Article—Vote Will Come Some Time Today on This Proposition.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15.—After listening to argument by John B. Stanchfield of the prosecution that the court has the right to amend article 4 to include the testimony of Henry Morgenthau and Duncan W. Peck and to insistence by D-Cady Herrick and Louis Marshall of the defense that no such right exists the court went into conference, and the Sulzer trail halted with the court in secret session.

Some time today will come the vote as to whether or not article 4 can and should be amended. Regarding that vote there can be only speculation. Members of the court would not allow themselves to be questioned.

Herrick Ridicules Prosecution.

Judge Herrick in his argument opposing Stanchfield's motion ridiculed the idea advanced by the prosecution that it was permissible to amend an article of impeachment.

"This court," said Judge Herrick, "is under obligations to observe the law It must not permit a man to be charged with one offense and convicted on another. Shall a man indicted for larceny be convicted of forgery? This is the same proposition. This is a criminal trial, and criminal law governs it. The punishment for this offense is, short of death, the most severe that can be imposed. It deprives a man convicted of his citizenship and right to hold office. If there is any doubt about the status of the testimony this respondent must be given the benefit of that doubt."

It was decided not to include Allan Ryan in the list of persons named, as the governor did not try to keep him off the witness stand and his case has no direct bearing on the charges contained in article four. His evidence was technically considered to be corroborative, but not direct.

The controversy arises over the question of the admissibility of the testimony under the fourth article of impeachment. The witnesses were not mentioned in the articles of impeachment and the lawyers for Sulzer contended that the testimony must be excluded.

They insisted that it was unlawful and improper to make any change in the "indictment" at this stage of the proceedings and that article four must stand as it is.

May Cause Delay.

If it is decided to send back the article to the assembly the impeachment court will be forced to adjourn to some future date. According to prosecution plans, this adjournment will be only until next week, but this is predicated on the assumption that a large majority of assembly members can be dragged into Albany at once for a special meeting.

There is grave doubt about this, as many of the members are in the midst of political campaigns for re-election and they will receive neither pay nor expenses for the trip to the capitol. A number of senators want an adjournment until after election, but this will be opposed by the judges of appeals, who are urging speedy procedure.

GREAT RUSH OF HOMESEEKERS

Expected About 100,000 Will Try For Nebraska Land.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 15.—What promises to be the biggest rush of seekers after free lands since Oklahoma was opened for settlement started in Nebraska when offices for registration were opened at North Platte, Broken Bow and Valentine, Neb., for homesteads in the North Platte forest reserve on the Niobrara military reservations, which together contain 400,000 acres.

More than 12,000 people have registered. Probably 75,000 to 100,000 people will register for the farms.

Women beat the men to the polls at both Broken Bow and Valentine. At Valentine, Miss Hazel Graham was the first to register after standing at the head of the line for twelve hours. At Broken Bow the first to register was Mrs. Allie B. Weimer of Lincoln, a prominent suffragist.

BLOCKED THE RECALL.

Oklahoma City's Mayor Refuses to Call Election on Petition.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 15.—Petitions of 2,000 signatures were filed with the city clerk for the recall of the city commissioners and the charter form of government.

Only 1,400 signatures are needed to put the recall to a vote. Mayor Grant has refused to call the election, and the matter will have to go through the courts.

Snow In Massachusetts.

Taunton, Mass., Oct. 15.—Commencing with a slight flurry, Taunton enjoyed a real midwinter snowstorm. The snow appeared in a blinding squall and for hours fell heavily.

"There is no truer truth obtainable
By man than comes of music"
—Browning

Pageant of red and yellow and bronzed green—the gorgeous deckings of the Autumn wood. And with the coming of the twilight, the blue-black palette of night tints each glowing color to the neutral of oblivion.

But in music is made immortal the beauty, the courage, the very spirit of the dying summer.

So, if the mood of the Autumn season be upon you, come, sit at the Pianola and play.

Softly, firmly strike the majestic chords of the opening theme. Chaminade's "Autumn!" And well titled it is! For in the full, rich harmony of this first appealing melody are the glorious tints, the pomp, the gay-sad sentiment of this, the season of the year's maturity.

Every sense keenly alert to comprehend each beautiful phrase, trace the red Metrostyle line—an accurate record revealing to you the subtle turns of the composer's own interpretation. The music rises in speed and pitch, as the wind before the oncoming storm—massive chords and rushing arpeggios whirl, with the violence of the chilling tempest hurling hither and yon the rustling leaves . . . . . .

But soon there comes again that wonderful opening theme in smoothly shifting variations. An indefinable mood of sadness drifts through the gentle melody. And now—the closing arpeggios—fleeting SOFTLY, SOFTLY, softly . . . . .

The Pianola

"The World's Greatest Musical Instrument"

The absorbing interest and pleasure of playing the Pianola lies in—

The satisfaction of executing skillfully and beautifully the most difficult music—
The subtle fascination of perfect expression control—
And above all, the sense of ability to convey the mood of the composition, be it grave, gay, sombre or sparkling—to weave it into the music as you play.

The exclusive expression devices of the Pianola—such as the Metrostyle, the Themodist and the Graduated Accompaniment Levers—make possible this wonderful control. They are protected by numerous patents, some of which are basic.

These devices are not to be had in any instrument except the Pianola. They have never been successfully imitated and they are essential in securing a correct and pleasing musical interpretation.

If you would know the delight, the satisfaction of making real music with your own hands and brain—know the Pianola.

Player-pianos, so called, are not Pianolas. There is but one Pianola. It is made exclusively by the Aeolian Company, and is obtainable in the following models only:

The Steinway Pianola The Wheelock Pianola
The Weber " The Stuyvesant "
The Steck " The Stroud "

TWO SPEED AXLES ARE SURELY COMING

It is surprising that two-speed axles giving direct drive on the two higher speeds have not come into more general use before this, because they were on a prominent American machine six years ago but were dropped from that date until a year ago when another maker fitted them. The two-speed axle is more needed today than ever before, first because cars are being made heavier and motors smaller, and second because fuel consumption is being given more consideration than ever before.

There is need for greater fuel economy, as many cars are entirely too extravagant on fuel. The reduction in motor dimensions tends to reduce the fuel consumed, but the added weights place a handicap on it. The two-speed axle used in conjunction with a three or four-speed gearbox will give all the speed variations that present road conditions demand.

The two-speed axle is most necessary in level, as well as in hilly countries, and it is particularly necessary where there is much driving in cities and also in the open country. Hosts of cars are driven 90 per cent. of the time in the city, others 90 per cent. of the time in the open, and both have the same gear ratio. With city driving at 15 miles per hour and country driving around 25 or 30 miles per hour it is certain that in both cases the motor cannot be operating within its range of maximum efficiency. If its efficiency range suits the city field when it does not suit the country situation so well and vice versa. The two-speed axle meets these requirements and gives each owner direct drive. Not only will the motor have a longer life, but the wear and strain on all of the other parts of the car will be correspondingly reduced.

For hilly countries there is ample necessity for two direct drive as afforded by the two-speed axle. In many states there is entirely too much second-speed work on hills which is made necessary by the bad approaches and the frequent rough bridge where the ascent begins. Some drivers will rush the rough approach and the rough bridge at the expense of tires and the car in general, many prefer to practically slow down and make the hill on second or perhaps low.

The value of the two-speed axle becomes more apparent also because of the more general use of high-speed smaller-sized motors. With these motors it is essential to keep the speed well up on the hills as, if in drops, low gear will have to be brought into use. The two-speed axle wil offer double opportunity in such work.

In level country touring the two-speed axle will give relatively high touring speeds with a small motor without continuous high racing.

In these days of innovations and quick transitions it is questionable if the two-speed axle, now that it has been announced by the Cadillac company, will not be taken up with avidity; true it will not come with a landslide like the self-starter, but in the form of a sure and certain movement. The introduction of worm-drive by a few concerns and its more general use abroad wil conflict somewhat, as a two-speed construction would be impossible with worm-drive. The gradual growth of the movement will be watched with interest.

S. S. GETS 1,000 PENNIES.

New Brunswick, Oct. 15.—There were over 1,000 pennies received in the collection in the Rally Day exercises at St. James' Methodist Sunday-school. The money was brought in by the scholars in little wooden barrels, containing the contribution of each scholar. The total collection amounted to $28.65. An address was made by Arthur M. Harris, of Plainfield, who spoke of other rally days, and gave out puzzle post cards containing Scriptural references.

NAMES JOHN J. BERRY ON TENEMENT-HOUSE BOARD

Trenton, Oct. 15.—To succeed the late Michael M. Le Brun as a member of the Board of Tenement-house Supervision, Governor Fielder yesterday announced the appointment of John J. Berry, of Newark. Mr. Berry is named ad interim, and will hold office until a full term appointment is made after the convening of the Legislature.

William G. Bumstead, of Jersey City, was reappointed as a member of the board of trustees of the Teachers' Retirement Fund.

TO END FIREMEN'S DISPUTE BY AMENDMENT TO THE LAW

New Providence, Oct. 15.—To settle the dispute in the fire department concerning compulsory drills, the Borough Council, on the recommendation of the law committee, has decided to pass an amendment to the present ordinance governing the department, providing for six drills a year, each member to receive notice two days in advance. Members will be penalized for failure to attend drills.

The report was presented by Councilman Dennis, chairman of the committee. He said the present law does not require fire drills and the power of the chief to penalize non-attendance is imperfectly covered.

An application for a charter was received from twenty-five citizens, who have organized themselves as Hose Company No. 2. Their application was referred to the fire committee for a report next month. The Council accepted the resignation of Percival G. Brower as a member of Hose Company No. 1 and confirmed the election of Nicholas H. A. Krayer to the vacancy.

The fire committee reported that the borough counsel advised that the Council could pass an ordinance requiring adequate fire escapes on public buildings, but said there was no law which gave the Council power to compel fire escapes to be put on a church.

The Council took steps to procure a taxing map as required by a law passed at the last session of the Legislature.

BROKEN HANDRAIL CAUSES FALL FROM SCENIC RAILWAY

Long Branch, Oct. 15.—While in the employ of W. Howard Piper, in helping to take down the scenic railway, which will be removed from Ocean Park to Keansburg, Perry Herbert, a plumber, fell twelve feet Monday, sustaining a fracture of both wrists.

Herbert was removing timbers and lowering them over the side of the structure. A broken handrail had been overlooked, and as Herbert grasped it for support he fell backward. Besides the fracture of his wrists, he was severely bruised on the shoulders and hips.

Raymond Piper, a son of the proprietor, was killed the Sunday before Labor Day while operating a car on the railway. Young Piper's death had much to do with the elder Piper's decision to remove from Long Branch.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 19.

IN the days when WANT AD. advertising was practically new and undeveloped, the mention of the words "WANT AD." brought instantly to mind an impression that somebody was advertising for a job, or that somebody was advertising for domestic help.

A WANT AD. was looked upon as a bid for somebody to fill a job as cook, or maid, or butler, or office boy.

Since then the scope of WANT AD. advertising has extended, until today it includes almost everything under the sun—everything that is advertisable.

It is still possible for an office boy to connect up with a good job by referring to the WANT ADS. And it is also possible for the man who wants to buy or sell a business to find a seller or a purchaser through the Want Ads.

In between those two possibilities there is a big field—a field that includes all of the many wants that we humans are forever creating for ourselves.

Turn to the WANT AD. pages in today's paper. Note the number of classifications under which advertisements of various kinds are grouped.

It would take a lot of time and space to enumerate the many uses of WANT AD. advertising. And even if I could enumerate them all right here, you wouldn't benefit nearly so much as you would by taking a look at the WANT ADS. for yourself and seeing for yourself that what I have said about their scope is true.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Habits for Health.

The woman who rises on her toes for five minutes a day to reduce her waist—if she is unfashionable enough to desire a slim waist—and then munches chocolate creams or macaroons every afternoon will doubtless, before long, have to acknowledge that she is gaining weight. For it is a habit that counts in the long run—not the daily exercise that is indulged in for five or ten minutes.

For Good Lungs.

You may practice all the deep breathing you have time to and still, if you do not hold yourself erect when you walk or sit still or go about your work, your chest will be come contracted. If you would have a deep chest and a pair of lungs that take in deep draughts of air, practice deep breathing from morning till night. Stand with your figure erect—don't, by the way, practice acquiring the slouching figure now in vogue. Fill your lungs as you walk. If you are dusting, bend your knees, not your waist, to bring yourself level with chair rungs and mop boards. If you are sweeping, keep your back straight, and your lungs, therefore, straight and full, instead of bending over the broom. If you are sitting at a typewriter or a sewing machine sit with the lower part of your back and your shoulders touching the back of the chair, and with your waist arching away from it. And hold your chest out.

Wrinkles.

Don't massage your face for five minutes every night and expect that treatment, alone, to eradicate and prevent wrinkles. It is helpful, but it is not all-powerful. Practice not wrinkling your face. Don't scowl. Don't make grimaces. Don't squint. Wear a veil or glasses if your eyes are too weak to stand the glare of strong sunlight without squinting. This daily habit of keeping your face smooth will do more than all the massage in the world to prevent wrinkles. Massage, of course, is useful, but it should not be depended on to do all the work.

It is really just as absurb to practice deep breathing exercises in the morning and then sit all day with a contracted chest or to undergo daily massage and then scowl and growl and wrinkle the fact for sixteen of the twenty-four hours, as it is to eat fried sausages and hot pancakes for breakfast when you know they disagree with you and then eat a soda mint tablet afterward. Corrective measures are all very well when they are followed out by a sane manner of life; alone they are of little use.

Remember that habit is more important than the spasmodic practice of beauty or health exercises.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, speaking recently in the Senate against woman suffrage said, "But the vital and important thing for us to consider is the effect on women themselves. We had better endure the evils of corruption in politics and debauchery in our government rather than bring about a condition which will mar the beauty and dim the lustre of the glorious womanhood with which we have been familiar and to which we have become accustomed all our lives."

With this direful prophecy as to the workings of suffrage ringing in our ears it is interesting to see to what extent the State of South Carolina strives to preserve the beauty and lustre of its womanhood, and it is rather startling to learn that the age of consent in that State is fourteen years; that there is no white slave law there; that the father during his lifetime is the sole guardian of infant children. According to the last U. S. census only half the children of South Carolina between the ages of six and twenty years attend school. Children over twelve years of age may work ten hours a day in the factories and mines of South Carolina, and fathers are allowed to draw the earnings of their minor children; therefore every mill town in the State has a number of white loafers spending their days in idleness, hunting or fishing, supported by the earnings of women and children. Only 54 women out of 17,066 investigated earned as much as $11 a week. It would indeed be sad to enfranchise South Carolina women and give them an opportunity to secure legal protection for themselves and their children.

Senator Tillman also expressed the hope that the backward spirit (he called it "conservativism") of the South would prove a barrier against which the waves of suffrage would break in vain. If he was a little better informed as to the wonderful progress of the movement in the southern States of Georgia, Alabama, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee and even South Carolina itself, during the past year he would not be so confident. However, he is not the only one who cannot read the signs of the times correctly. In the face of the complete enfranchisement of the women of Arizona, Kansas, Oregon and Alaska and the partial enfranchisement of the women of Illinois during the past year, Mrs. Dodge, the chief exponent of anti news and views writes to the New York Times, October 13th, "Even had I the will, I certainly have not the power to stay the ever-growing, ever-strengthening wave of public opinion against it, a wave which I hope and believe will meet and finally overwhelm the opposing one of woman suffrage." As "Joe" Weber used to say, "It is to laugh!"

In view of the contention of Mrs. Grace Duffield Goodwin that the women voters of the western States, especially those of California, are not doing anything to abate the liquor traffic, the following quotation from Collier's Weekly of October 11 is interesting:

"In California, says the Home Alliance of Woodland, there are now 108 'dry' supervisorial districts and 45 'dry' incorporated cities. More than 300 towns have voted 'dry' since January 1st, 1912. Within the last two years 818 saloons have been closed by ballot in 80 supervisorial districts in this jurisdiction. Two years ago in California there were 200 'dry' towns; there are now 682 'dry' towns and more than one-half the territory of that State is free from saloons."

For the first time in the history of New Jersey all the political parties have woman suffrage planks in their platforms this year. The Progressives, Prohibitionists and Socialists come out squarely for the principles of complete suffrage for all men and women and the Republicans and Democrats advocate submitting the question to the voters of the State.

Some Cookery Suggestions

HALLOWEEN DINNERS.

THE hostess who has entertaining to do will gain by waiting to make it a Halloween festivity. There are so many effective touches in decorations that may be utilized. As a centerpiece for a luncheon or dinner table have a large pumpkin with a face cut on each side, the inside lighted by candles. Around the pumpkin arrange yellow ears of corn, radiating outward, and between them have little mounds of fruit and nuts.

The Pie of the Season.

Pumpkin Nut Pie.—Take one cupful cooked and sifted pumpkin, half a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful each of ground ginger and cinnamon, a scant half teaspoonful of salt, two well beaten eggs and one cupful of milk. Bake in pastry. When done cover with whipped cream and decorate with salted peanuts.

Halloween Salad.—Make a fruit salad of three oranges, three bananas, one-half pound white grapes, one-half pound English walnuts and a few candied cherries. Pour mayonnaise over all and serve in orange cups. To make the orange cups cut small round pieces off the tops of large oranges, scoop out the pulp, cut three small holes in the side of the orange, as in making the features of a jack o' lantern. Put two raisins in for the eyes and a candied cherry for the mouth. Fill with the fruit salad. Serve on lettuce leaves.

A Fortune Telling Cake.

Halloween Cake.—Beat together until light three-quarters of a cupful of butter and one and one-quarter cupfuls of sugar. Add two cupfuls of flour, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of baking powder sifted with flour, the stiffly beaten whites of six eggs, the juice and rind of one-half lemon, one-half cupful of blanched almonds and one-half cupful of candied citron. Drop in a silver heart, a thimble, a ring and a dime, bake and when cold ice.

Stuffed With Nuts.

Roast Duck and Chestnuts.—Take two young ducks. They must be plucked, singed and dressed, the feet scalded, skinned and twisted round on the back of the bird. The head, neck and pinions must be cut off, the latter at the first joint, and all skewered firmly to give the breast a nice, plump appearance.

For stuffing roast and peel a dozen large chestnuts. Boil them for about twenty minutes in some strong veal gravy. Drain and when cool put them into a mortar. Blanch and mince them with the liver of the fowl, a teaspoonful of grated ham, a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper, a teaspoonful of chopped onions, a pinch of grated lemon rind, a dash of cayenne, three tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs, a piece of butter the size of a walnut and the yolks of two eggs. Moisten the dry ingredients with the butter and eggs and stuff the fowl and then roast it.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

When Polly Pepper Bought A Chicken.

"I'm Polly Pepper," she said.

BOTH Jack and Evelyn, of course, are quite used to running errands. When daddy said that he would tell them how Polly had done her first errand for her mother they smiled and settled down to listen.

"It was one afternoon when one of Polly's aunties was coming for tea," daddy began.

"Polly's mother said, 'I would like to have a nice chicken to fry, but I'm afraid if I order it over the phone Mr. Price won't send it around in time. Mr. Price is the butcher. He sells chickens.

"Then Polly's mother looked at the little girl. 'I wonder,' she remarked thoughtfully, 'if I could send you for that chicken?'

"'Oh, yes, indeed, mother; just try me!' Polly cried.

"So Polly's mother said: 'Very well, Polly; I will let you go. I am so busy myself, and there is no one else to send.'

"She was so anxious to start that she did not hear everything her mother said. Just as the little girl started, however, her mother called after her:

"'Be sure to ask Mr. Price how much the chicken costs. I will pay him when I come in.'

"When she reached Mr. Price's store Polly opened the door quickly, so that its bell would jingle very loudly. All the people who were in the shop turned to look at her.

"'Hello!' called Mr. Price. 'Hello; whom have we here?'

"'I'm Polly Pepper,' she explained, 'and my mother sent me to buy a chicken.'

"'Oh, indeed!' said Mr. Price. 'I shall do my best for you. Will you kindly wait until I serve these customers who came in before you, ma'am?'

"So Mr. Price cut a beefsteak for one lady, gave an old gentleman a pound of chops and wrapped up a roast for another.

"Then he turned to Polly and said: 'It's your turn now. Did your mother say what kind of a chicken she wanted?'

"'Why,' replied Polly, 'she wants a frying chicken.'

"So Mr. Price went to the icebox and took out a nice plump fowl. As he trimmed off the head and feet and cleaned it Polly remembered she had been told to ask the price. So she said, 'How much do chickens cost, Mr. Price?'

"'They are 50 cents apiece,' he answered.

"Polly looked surprised. 'But mother doesn't want a piece,' she explained. 'She wants a whole chicken.'

"Mr. Price put down the chicken and joined in the laughter, for every one in the store laughed, and Polly was so ashamed she took the chicken and walked out of the store without another word."

DRAPERIES ON EVENING WRAPS PICTURESQUE AND VAGUE

Almost shapeless as are many of the afternoon and evening mantles their effect is extremely smart and becoming when worn by the woman who knows how to wear them. The most supple of the new fabrics are used for these wraps—duvetyns, velours de laine, satin brocades and lames being among the most effective. Trimmings are of stenciling, applique and fur. One of the most stunning effects is brought about by appliqueing a black or colored velvet figure to a plain satin or velour. When these designs,—conventionalized fuchsias, roses, etc.—are applied on a fabric like camels' hair cloth, in one of the new reds or yellows, the effect is splendid. On smooth silks and satins they stand out bolder, but are quite as smart. Trimmings of this sort offer unlimited ways of displaying individuality.

Fur, of course, is perfectly suited to this style of garment, and furs this season are being dyed in every imaginable color. It is difficult to imagine an evening coat of the most delicate pink with a mole or squirrel skin collar in the same soft shade, but similar effects will be seen on every side a little later.

7977 made up in duvetyn or matelasse in some favored shade, trimmed with moleskin, dyed or natural and finished with a quaint Oriental looking ornament of enamel or beads would make an attractive wrap for afternoon or evening. Three and one-half yards of 42 inch material is required to copy 7977 in size 36.

No. 7977—sizes 32, 36 and 40.

Seven Simple Designs for Stenciling Candle Shades.

Candle sticks, though seldom used now except as ornaments, are so decorative and attractive on the dinner table if the lights are shaded artistically. Attractive little shades may be made at small expense and with very little trouble.

The candle shades illustrated here, should be stenciled. There are seven designs in the pattern, all different.

These should be stamped on stencil board and cut out with a very sharp knife, allowing three-eights of an inch on one end of the candle shade for a lap. The stencil, for the circular shade, should be placed over black bristol board or mounting paper and the outline of the spaces traced with a hard lead pencil. The design should then be cut the same as the stencil pattern. In this way, as many shades as one likes can be made from the one design. Line each shade with Japanese paper or China silk and paint it in the desired colors through the stencil pattern. The square shades should be made like the circular ones, except that the stencil design must be traced four times, one for each side of the shade. These are traced so that they are in one piece when cut out. After they have been lined and painted, they should be folded to form a square and glued.

Pattern number 14159 will be supplied to readers for fifteen cents.

TWO RESIGN FROM SCHOOL BOARD OF HIGHLAND PARK

New Brunswick, Oct. 15.—The resignation of Richard Parker, who has been a member for nine years, has been accepted by the Highland Park Board of Education. John S. Turner was elected in his place. Another member, A. F. W. Mueller, also resigned, but action on his resignation was laid over until the next meeting.

There was a lengthy discussion of the new school site, ending in the Board voting to hold a special election to rescind the acceptance of the site in Livingston Manor owned by Watson Whittlesey.

It was also decided to have a school in the section of the borough known as the racktrack. A teacher will be engaged for the new school.

PRINCETON'S NEW TELESCOPE.

Princeton, Oct. 15.—The university observatory of instruction has come into possession of a five-inch photographic telescope. It has been installed in a small room built especially for it at the back of the old observatory on Prospect avenue, with a movable roof. It is to be used for photographing asteroids, comets and other variable stars, and will aid in continuing the work started by Professor Dugan at the University of Heidelburg, where he discovered several asteroids, two of which were given the names Princetonia and Nassauvia. It is also possible with this apparatus to take a photograph of the moon with one second of exposure.

ASBURY PARK TAX RATE $27.05.

Asbury Park, Oct. 15.—Asbury Park's tax rate for 1913 has been definitely fixed at $27.05 per $1,000 of valuation. The county tax board agreed to the rate, which is an increase of $2 over last year, after City Assessors Arthur H. Hope and John Hubbard reported that an increase of $364,000 in the assessment in the hotel district was all the section could stand.

SUSTAINS REMOVAL OF TEACHER

Trenton, Oct. 15.—The action of the Board of Education of South Amboy in dismissing Russell M. Fitch from his position as supervising principal of the schools of that city was sustained yesterday by Assistant Commissioner J. B. Betts, of the department of public instruction. Mr. Betts found no irregularity in the proceedings, and held that the testimony substantiated the finding of the local board that Mr. Fitch has shown inefficiency in his position. The latter held that he was not removed for causes specified under the teachers' tenure of service act.

5,000 SEE COW HIT BY TROLLEY CARS

Newark's Busiest Corner Blocked by Her Adventure.

FIREMEN AND COPS OUT.

In Chase Animal Plunges Through Glass Showcase and Is Held a Prisoner—Firemen Saw Door Casings Away and Police Fight Crowd—Now In Livery Stable.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 15.—Somebody's cow is in a livery stable here eating at the expense of the city after completing one of the most thrilling nights for a cow that Newark has seen. Police estimates place the number of those who watched the animal's cavortings at Broad and Market streets at 5,000. In addition, the services of the reserves, the traffic squad and one hook and ladder company were necessary before the streets at that busy intersection could be cleared for traffic.

Pursued by a score of boys, the cow wabbled into the maze of traffic and was promptly struck by an automobile.

Continuing down Broad street to Market street, where trolley cars cross every few seconds, the cow aroused the four crossing policemen into an effort to catch her. This excited the passing crowds, who halted. After being in collision with half a dozen trolley cars she was hit head-on by an automobile and knocked over on her side.

Turning back to the brighter lights of Broad and Market streets, known as the Four Corners, the cow attacked the policemen who had restrained her before. In the chase she plunged through the glass showcase in the doorway of a clothing store at 775 Broad street, and after passing her head and shoulders through the door her hips became wedged and she stuck fast.

Fire Chief Moore, who was in the crowd, called out Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, and Police Captain Ryan called out the police reserves from two stations to keep back the crowd that now jammed Broad and Market streets. No trolley cars were able to get through.

While the firemen sawed the door casings away the police fought the crowd back. When released the cow fell over on her side on a velvet rug inside the store and refused to rise. Her feet were tied and she was dragged out to the street while the crowd cheered.

URGES CAR FARES INCREASED

American Electric Railway Association Delegates Hear Warning.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 15.—George H. Harries of Louisville, president of the American Electric Railway association, in opening the thirty-second annual convention of that organization and its allied bodies here, spoke on the expense of operating a modern car line.

"Unless fares are increased," he said, "there will be a succession of more or less destructive experiences—now here, now there—resulting on the one hand from the broadening of city borders and the consequent extension of lines, forcible multiplication of transfer points, compulsory wage increases, conscienceless taxation, arbitrary and unreasonable service requirements and growing cost of construction and maintenance, and, on the other hand, the fixed or rather the diminishing fare."

HELD FAST IN MORTAR.

Injured Man Could Not Free Himself and Is Dug Out.

Pleasantdale, N. J., Oct. 15.—Angelo Martucci, a mason's helper, was sent to the dairy on Eagle Rock avenue to pull down some scaffolding and while twenty feet above the ground he fell into a trough of mortar, sustaining sprains of both ankles. Unable to move and suffering great pain, he lay in the bed of mortar, which was slowly hardening about him. He screamed and shouted, but his calls were unheard.

Mark Paletto of Orange, his employer, believing Martucci had taken French leave, went to the dairy to pull down the scaffolding which Martucci had been instructed to remove. He found Martucci in a semiconscious condition, fast in the mortar. With a pick and shovel the man was set free and taken to his home.

"MOUNTAIN COBBLER" DIES.

In Thirty-four Years Woodruff Had Walked 63,648 Miles.

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 15.—John W. Woodruff, who in thirty-four years had walked 63,648 miles between his home on the top of the First mountain and the shoe store in the Brick Church station part of East Orange, where he was employed as a cobbler, died at his home here. He was seventy-nine years and had lived in the Orange mountains all his life. He frequently walked from his home to Newark, a distance of seven miles.

A few weeks ago Woodruff said that in his lifetime he estimated that he had walked between his various places of employment and his home more than 117,000 miles. Woodruff was known to many as the "Mountain Cobbler."

"BRAD" STREIT.

Streit is Princeton's very latest star. He is shown here at kicking practice. It is in bucking the line, however, that he excels, and his line smashing has been the feature of the Tigers' playing in the opening games of the present season.

BASEBALL NOTES

A son of Jack Dunn, the Baltimore manager, is captain of the Baltimore City College football eleven.

Jack Kelley, the former International leaguer, will pilot the Scranton team of the New York State League next season.

Baseball critics declare that Jim Thorpe may make a fast and rangy fielder, but he has a lot to learn about hitting.

Though Brooklyn finished down in the second division, Jake Daubert earned the right to be classed among the greatest players in the game.

Clark Griffith says that with Johnson, Boehling and Groom pitching, his team could beat the best of them in a world' series of seven games.

At the "Tyler Day" celebration in Boston recently "Lefty" Tyler, of the Braves, received a silver loving cup, a purse of $100, a pair of diamond sleeve buttons and a chest of silver.

J. C. McGill and Jack Hendricks, the new Indianapolis moguls, also own the Denver team, which outfit has just landed the Western League pennant for the third season in succession.

A large sign on the Majestic building, Milwaukee, in which Mrs. Havenor has her office, reads: "This is the office of the only woman in the world who owns a pennant winning ball team."

Golf, it is said, caused the cracking of the Red Sox this season. Speaker, Lewis, Hooper and Wood are devotees of the game described by the late Dan Daly as "hitting the ball and then trying to find it."

"MAC" SAYS

A WINTER DIRGE.

The north wind doth blow
And we shall have snow,
And what will the rooter do then, poor thing
He'll hike to the park
And sit there 'till dark
And shiver again and again, poor thing.

Unless he is one of these happy-go-lucky jinks who are able to transfer their affections to basketball, the greatest of all winter sports.

At that several dozen diamond fanatics have demonstrated their greediness by organizing a world tour in order to keep any other sport out of the spotlight.

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the championship Plainfield team in the Central New Jersey League, has issued an edict forbidding any of his Pets to participate in the round-the-world tour. The ball players have sent him a vote of "thinks."

A couple of local stars are signed to play ball with Ty Cobb's All Stars again next Sunday. If the present cold snap holds out the game will have to be played indoors.

Why should ball players worry about the cold? Don't they wear gloves?

Two of Plainfield's fastest basketball quintets will open their seasons on the same night this year. The Y. M. C. A. Ajax and Hope Chapel play opening contests one week from next Saturday.

Dorflinger, it has been avered, is considering bringing McGraw's All-American outfit to Plainfield for an exhibition game when they get back from their round-the-world tour. Plainfield would be a better place to start it off, the players would have an opportunity to get acquainted with several different languages by mingling with the local populace.

We neglected to state that Dorflinger is in no way affiliated with the National Commission.

Some one has risen to remark that big money is corrupting ball players. This is one corruption from which the Central League players are immune.

A city series to determine the worst team in major league baseball might be interesting to the general public, but why rub it in to the citizens of St. Louis? The team representing that city has been advertised in various papers throughout the country this morning as a bunch of "boobs."

But that's not all that comes from St. Louis.

One baseball manager avers that his rival is a prevaricator and the second magnate says the same thing of his "friend." There is a general suspicion that they both know what they are talking about. Can you guess who it is?

In the case of Ernie Dorflinger baseball is just one pennant after another, similar to the predicament in which Connie Mack finds himself. Ernie has won two flags during the last three years but we are still waiting to get a glimpse at that second one.

Now is the time to prepare for the opening of the basketball season—have you got your favorite "howl" out from its winter quarters yet?

FOOTBALL NOTES

Coach "Hurray Up" Yost, of the Michigan football squad, has cut his varsity material to 29 men.

Penn State, which is to play Harvard on October 25, beat Pennsylvania 14 to 0 last fall and 22 to 6 in 1911.

The University of Virginia, with a veteran team, expects to beat Vanderbilt this fall for the championship of the South.

Reifsnider, a younger brother of the former Navy star, is playing with Georgia, where he is doing the punting and drop-kicking.

As usual, the teams of the middle West are making much more of plays involving the forward pass than the big elevens in the East.

Al Sharpe has sent two of his Cornell varsity men, Phillipi, a halfback, and McIlvaine, a fullback, down to the second team.

Walter Eckersall, the old Chicago University football star, has been selected for the third time as referee of the Penn-Michigan game this fall.

"Germany" Schultz, the old Michigan star, is assisting coach "Hurry Up" Yost at Ann Arbor.

Harry Kersburg, the former Harvard guard, has developed a strong and well-drilled team at Holy Cross this year.

Some Harvard enthusiasts are talking 2 to 1 odds that the Crimson will beat both Yale and Princeton this year.

John Cates, the old Yale end and track captain, is helping the coaches develop the John Hopkins University squad at Baltimore.

Princeton began playing football in 1869, Yale in 1872, Harvard in 1874, Pennsylvania in 1876, Dartmouth in 1882 and Cornell in 1887.

Dartmouth has shown a lot of improvement of late. The Hanover eleven is lighter than for some years, but will make up for this in speed.

Washington and Jefferson has one of the heaviest teams in its history this year. The W. and J. eleven has a game with Yale Oct. 25, and expects to make a good showing against the Elis.

The University of Pennsylvania football eleven suffered a loss when it was announced that Harry Wilson, veteran tackle of last year's eleven, would not come out for the team this season.

The record score of the college teams for the season to date is that made by Beloit against DeKalb Normal at Beloit, Wis. The home eleven scored 116 points, making 16 touchdowns, 14 goals from toucadowns and two goals from placement.

U. S. S. WASHINGTON WILL PLAY LOCALS

Manager Doyle, of Holy Cross, Has Signed a Heavy Attraction for Saturday.

Owing to the fact that the U. S. S. Hancock is now cruising in southern waters, Manager "Doc" Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, was unable to sign up the eleven representing the "steam canoe" for next Saturday afternoon, as anticipated up to last night, but he has been able to book an attraction that will be equally as strong and will hold just as much interest for the local followers of the pigskin game. Doyle has substituted the gridiron warriors representing the U. S. S. Washington and the Senators are coming here with their best lineup to tackle the local wrestlers on Cricket Field.

Because of the excellent fight put up by the Hancock sailors here last season, they being by far the toughest proposition the boroughites had to handle, Manager Doyle tried his hardest to book a return engagement but the fact that the ship is at present down South will make this impossible. Doyle received a long letter from the pilot of the eleven that played here under the steamship's smoke last fall and the manager of the rival aggregation promised to bring his men to Plainfield sometime during the latter part of the season if they land back in little old New York before the 1913 season draws to a close.

The Washington sailors are said to be a formidable rival for the Hancock boys and their heavy line and crushing backfield will give the Plainfielders something to keep their minds occupied during the afternoon next Saturday.

WITH THE BOXERS

Jimmy Clabby and Frank Logan have been signed to box in San Francisco Dec. 25.

Joe Jeanette has been offered $3,500 to meet Georges Carpentier in Paris next month.

Champion Willie Ritchie has agreed to box Leach Cross in New York the latter part of this month.

Singing a song in the ring, after putting K. O. on an opponent, is the latest fad of boxers in New York.

Tom O'Rourke believes that his protege, George Ashe, is entitled to meet either Jack Dillon, Leo Houck or Frank Klaus.

Joe Woodman, manager of Sam Langford, wants a Boston man for referee in case Langford should meet Gunboat Smith in Boston.

Jimmy Walsh, who lost the decision in a bout with Champion Johnny Kilbane recently, has challenged the champion to another match.

MOTORING SPARKS

On October 1 the Federation of American Motorcyclists put into effect a plan by which a part of the money paid for membership fees will revert to the State from which it came, to be used for the upbuilding of the State organization. The directors of the feceration have voted that 25 per cent. of all fees for memberships and renewals shall be set aside for the State from which the fees come. This will be held in the national treasury and can be drawn on by the State commissioner to carry on the work of the local organization.

The value of the motorcycle in cases of emergency was again demonstrated recently at Kerman, Cal. O. Synoground received word that his mother was dying at Los Angeles. It was just about thirty-five minutes until train time and the station was seventeen miles away, at Fresno. There would not be another train for twelve hours. The young man was at a loss as to how to make the train when his friend Bozeman appeared on a motorcycle. Synoground explained his difficulty and the rider told him to jump on. In less than twenty minutes after the start they had covered the seventeen miles to the station.

Another item has been added to the long list of the uses made of the motorcycle in police work—this time the two-wheeler being used to capture violators of the law on the water. Up on Lake Minnetonka, Minn., operators of motorboats have had no fear of being arrested for violating the laws governing the use of lights, as the officers had no boat swift enough to overtake them. But Deputy Sheriff Archie Buck has found a way to overtake these offenders without the use of a water craft. When that officer sees a boat running without proper light, he follows along the lake road on his motorcycle until the boat makes a landing. Then he makes the arrest.

After riding his motorcycle from Plant City, Fla., to San Francisco, C. W. Delong found that $5 would cover the cost of all repairs necessary after the long ride.

Indianapolis, Ind., motorcyclists will make a three-day run to Mammoth Cave, October 18-19-20.

Among the pretty sport coats there is one in old blue camel's hair with white kid collar, cuffs and buttons. It has a shell pink crepe lining. A blue straw hat with a pink rose crown and shaded veil is to be worn with the coat.

This is the season of the pocket picnic sets, and they are shown in all styles for one, two or four persons. One has two oblong drinking glasses, one of which holds a napkin and pepper shaker while the other contains a napkin and salt shaker. In the middle two folding forks, knives and spoons are fitted into straps.

There is a very handy little electric lamp in a case with its cords and attachments which will heat milk or water much quicker than the alcohol heaters. It has handles that fold around it to pick it up with, but there is no extra saucepan with it.

For youngsters traveling in "rompers" the ideal extra coat is of toweling in the Turkish weave. They are lined with white wash silk, and have the wash silk collars and cuffs, while the belts are of the toweling.

There are many dusters to choose from. A particularly swager one is of tan linen, inset sleeve model, with overhanging shoulder, which has a brown suede collar and cuffs edged with white kid. A half belt at the back with gilt buckle and buttons to match add to its appearance.

Liberty veils are the latest. They are shaded and in plain colors, and are quite heavy enough to use as scarfs. The harem veils are novel, having the open mesh to cover the eyes and the solid border to shade the lower part of the face. Shaded chiffon veils are still popular, while the washable marquisette veils are excellent for hard wear.

"First aid" cases come in all shapes, with simple and elaborate fittings. One that may be carried in the breast pocket contains many useful remedies.

Gloves with wrist straps are very much worn. Women find that their hands keep in better condition traveling in the doeskin, washable gloves than in the silk ones that allow the dust to sift through.

Linen or silk pillow slips are made for use over the leather extra pillows used in the car.

Flat, folding toilet cases of leather have rings at the ends by which they may be hung up while in use.

A small suit case luncheon box for two holds a sandwich case, two flat flasks, salt and pepper shakers, paper napkins and drinking cups. It is light and inexpensive.

The suit case trunk, holding three willow suit cases, is very convenient. Each case is fitted very lightly and simply.

The round fitted toilet bags in gray canvas are newcomers. The fittings are similar to those of the leather ones, but come in lighter wares.

FEMININE BASKETEERS.

Twelve girl athletes responded to the initial call for basketball material sounded in the North Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon and the result was exceedingly graifying to those who have charge of the preliminary work of rounding the team into shape. A number of drills were conducted and a short practise game was indulged in. Those who reported were the Misses Bertha Keller, Marjorie Burtis, Emilie Playdell, Helen Ryno, Helen Meanie, Nora Meanie, Lillian Spencer, Elsie Debele, Margaret Hogan, Marguerite Barkelew, Elsie Wycoff, Edna Green and Lucy Douglas. The Misses Douglas, Debele and Burtis are veterans of last year's team.

HOPE CHAPEL AND Y. M. C. A. AJAX WILL OPEN COURT SEASON THE SAME NIGHT

A peculiar and interesting coincidence has made itself prominent following the opening announcements of two local basketball managers, George E. Leighs, of Hope chapel, and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax leader, both having booked their opening games for the same nights. These two aggregations have long been close rivals on the basketball court and an annual series is played between the two teams for which some suitable trophy is always offered. Two years ago the Hope chapel outfit won the cup and last year it fell to the lot of the Ajax to take the championship. Matters are now tied up between the two rivals and the fight this year will probably be keener than ever before.

Negotiations are now under way for the arranging of a series for 1913-14 and it is planned to start the inter-club games earlier than usual this fall. Heretofore the Hopes-Ajax series has always been left until late in the spring when interest was waning in basketball and last year the final game between the two rivals was played after all other local teams had ceased operations.

Neither manager has definitely decided what aggregation will oppose his team a week from next Saturday night in the opening game but both are in communication with several fast outfits and the initial clashes will be unusually interesting ones. Each club has a loyal band of cohorts who watch with interest their favorites' work on the court and the coming season promises to be a banner one in court competition.

Manager Leighs, of Hopel chapel, is in hopes of booking the Crescent A. C., of Bound Brook, for the inaugural game of 1913, while the Y. M. C. A. manager will probably line his forces up against the Chi Alpha Chi Fraternity team of the Orange Y. M. C. A. The Orange organization has been formed in that association similar to basis on which the Ajax was founded and are reputed to be exceedingly fast and slightly heavier than the local quintet. Last year the Orange five played such teams as the Summit Y. M. C. A.'s first team; Madison Y. M. C. A. first team; Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. second team, and numerous other aggregations of like strength in this State and New York.

The next practice of the Ajax quintet will be held next Saturday night in the association "gym" and as this will probably be the final one before the opening of the season, every member is expected to be out in uniform. Of last year's men the following will again play with the team: Brynairski, Buckle, Glover and McNamee, while Peacock and Hetfield, will devote a portion of their interests to the Y. M. C. A. five, although they will play with the Plainfield High School team this season. One and possibly two new men will have to be selected before the season opens and Captain Brynairski will probably fill the open places on the team at the final practice Saturday night.

LOCAL GOLFER WON SENSATIONAL MATCH

Mrs. H. R. Stockton Defeated Miss Harley in National Tourney.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 15.—There were some surprising results in the first round of match play in the women's golf championship of the United States here yesterday. As on the first day, a strong wind was blowing, but it was not so strong as in the qualifying round, nor was it so cold. The British contingent came out strong, Miss Dodd, Miss Ravenscroft, Miss Harrison, Miss Harvey and Miss Pooley winning their matches by a comfortable margin.

The feature of the day's play was the defeat of Miss Margaret Curtis the title-holder, at the hands of Miss Catherine Painter, of Chicago, and an ex-Western champion. The match was a closely-contested one and Miss Painter only just succeeded in winning on the eighteenth hole.

Another surprise was the result of the match between Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of Plainfield, and Miss Katharine Harley, of Fall River. This contest had beed looked upon as a practical certainty for Miss Harley, but Mrs. Stockton won after a keen match 2 up. Mrs. Stockton early established a useful lead by winning the second and third holes only to lose it on the next two, when Miss Harley got two fives to two sixes. Each took sixes on the next hole, but on the short seventh Mrs. Stockton got a four to Miss Harley's five, while on the eighth Miss Harley found all kinds of trouble and took nine strokes to her opponent's par five. On the ninth, however, Miss Harley played perfectly and was down in four to six and Mrs. Stockton was one up at the turn. Coming in the tenth was halved and then Miss Harley squared the match again with a five to six and halved the next hole. On the thirteenth she took the lead for the first time in the match with a par four to five; but her lead was short-lived, as Mrs. Stockton squared the match on the fourteenth with a five to six, and took the lead again on the next hole with another five to six. The sixteenth also she won by the same margin and was two up and two to go. Miss Harley had one more chance when her opponent took a seven on the next hole, but on the eighteenth Mrs. Stockton was down in four to five and the match was hers.

HOLY CROSS PRACTICE.

As the result of the recent agitation in Holy Cross football circles during which stringent measures were proposed to be inflicted on those warriors who neglected practice, a majority of the squad reported for the weekly drill last night and Coach P. V. Martin spent the evening ironing out the rough spots that made themselves apparent in Saturday's game.

LOCAL PINNERS TO BOWL.

The opening games in the Elks' Bowling League schedule for the Plainfield quintet will be rolled on the Jersey City alleys tomorrow night with the pin-smashers of that place. Captain Blatz has been getting his men into condition with several preliminary drills and the locals are ready to open the season with all the necessary pomp.

ORANGE PIN-KNIGHTS LOST THREE GAMES TO N. Y. ELKS

Orange bowlers rolled their first match in the Elks' League last night on Barry's Llewellyn alleys and lost three games in a row to the New York Elks' team. The three games were fairly close and interesting and the scoring creditable. New York started with 805 and won by thirty-six pins. In the second game the visitors were there for 881, winning by thirty-nine pins. In the final encounter the New Yorkers only scored 815, but the Orange quintet dropped back to 753. Pringle was high, with 202. The scores:

FIRST COURT PRACTISE.

Captain Ashley Burner, of the North Plainfield High School basketball team has issued the first call for candidates and the first drill of the season was held on the Saengerbund Hall court this afternoon. All of the veterans left from the squad of last year are back in the fold ready to play and a number of new men, who formerly played on class teams, have signified their intention of trying for the first squad. Captain Burner will have charge of the squad until a coach is selected.

ELKS' GAME POSTPONED.

The Elks' League match scheduled to be rolled on the Elizabeth alleys last night between the lodge representatives of that place and the pin-knights of Rahway was indefinitely postponed.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

By defeating Stewart Faber of Leal's, Philip VanDeventer, a junior, once more won the interscholastic tennis title for P. H. S.

Curtis Dall won a singles tennis match from a Westfield opponent on the Plainfield Country Club courts Monday afternoon, making a clean sweep.

A tournament is being arranged for Plainfield and Westfield High School tennis players, which will be started on the courts of the Westfield Golf Club tomorrow afternoon.

Basketball is beginning to arouse considerable interest in P. H. S. athletic circles and the High School candidates are anxiously awaiting the call for practice. Manager John Cottrell is booking a schedule of games with other scholastic fives in this city and other parts of the State.

Field hockey, a game that was introduced into feminine athletic circles at P. H. S. last year, has not assumed its place in the school activities as yet and the girls left from last year's team are trying to arouse sufficient interest in the sport to warrant the formation of a team.

Irving Schenck, a member of last year's graduating class, who returned to school to pass off the conditions necessary before he could receive his diploma, took his examinations the latter part of last week and was successful. He will go into business for the remainder of the present year and will enter Cornell next fall.

Payton Schenck, who was injured in a football scrimmage two weeks ago is now well on the road to complete recovery although he still has his broken collarbones incased in a cast.

WORDS FROM HOME.

Statements That May Be Investigated —Testimony of Plainfield Citizens

When a Plainfield citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Plainfield resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told that they were good for such trouble and by the time I had finished two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

What promises to be one of the theatrical season's most important events is the offering at the Plainfield theatre for one performance tomorrow night in the presentation by Charles Frohman of John Mason in "Indian Summer," an American play in four acts by Augustus Thomas. In previous associations of Mr. Mason and Mr. Thomas in "The Witching Hour" and "As a Man Thinks," two of the greatest successes of recent years were scored and in bringing them together again Mr. Frohman is said to have selected a medium that promises to give Mr. Mason the best play and part he has ever had. The story is a strong exposition of the self-sacrifice of a virile American and its manipulation is said to be in Mr. Thomas' strongest dramatic vein. Add to this the fact that the stamp of Charles Frohman on the stage is like that of "sterling" on silverware and it means that the goods basically are good, remaining only for the pattern to please the buyer. In "Indian Summer" Mr. Thomas tells of an American artist, in the zenith of his fame as a painter, who takes upon himself to shield the church through a prominent clergyman, really guilty, the scandal of an illegitimate boy born to a woman known as Jane Boutell. Frank Whitney gives up his fame as a painter and lives for twenty years in France, where he deteriorates to the commonplace. He returns to America and rents a studio at Southampton, Long Island. The play opens at the end of a summer Whitney has spent there, during which he has regained his enthusiasm and ambition in painting the portrait of Katherine Harvey, who is the daughter of the minister he had shielded. Her association has imbued him with his old spirit and he has painted besides the portrait, three marines that have been accepted by critics as masterpieces and he is again on the pedestal of fame.

MEXICAN RELATIONS ARE VERY STRAINED

President Wilson Sends Sharp Note to Huerta.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Relations between the United States and Mexico have been desperately strained in the last forty-eight hours. There is greater anxiety in the administration than at any time since the arrival of John Lind in Mexico. It is now feared that a positive rupture will be unavoidable.

President Wilson followed up his sharp note which practically demanded the lives of the imprisoned deputies be safeguarded by Huerta with a second note. It was much more severe in its terms and notified the Mexican government that any new administration set up as a result of the elections on Oct. 26 will not be recognized by the United States government.

From Mexico City it was learned that the Huerta cabinet has pronounced yesterday's note as "intemperate" and is sending a reply immediately. Information received in Washington from sources, which, though unofficial, have heretofore been reliable, indicated that the Huerta cabinet has decided on a most defiant reply to the American note.

It is asserted that this Mexican note will include the threat that if the American battleships now in Mexican waters are not removed by Oct. 27, the day on which will expire the six months' permission granted by the Mexican congress for their presence in Mexican waters, President Huerta may find himself obliged to adopt drastic measures.

It is believed here that President Wilson's new note either will goad Huerta to some desperate act or else it will go far toward undermining his position.

GORGAS STARTS FOR AFRICA.

Panama, Oct. 15.—Colonel William C. Gorgas, chief sanitary officer of the canal zone; Major Surgeon Robert E. Noble, medical corps, U. S. A., and Dr S. T. Darling, bacteriologist at Ancon left here for New York en route to Johannesburg, South Africa.

They will investigate the sanitary conditions among the 200,000 employees of the Consolidated mines at Witwatersrand at the request of the Johannesburg chamber of mines.

Henry G. Davis Not Ill.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 15.—Henry Gassaway Davis, former United States senator, denied in person that he is seriously ill. He was busy preparing for a visit to Washington and for his ninetieth birthday anniversary on Nov. 18.

Weather Forecast.

Fair in west, cloudy in east portion today; tomorrow fair and somewhat warmer; brisk and high northeast winds, diminishing.

WANT MORE FOR HOME MISSIONS

IN NEED OF $50,000

Salary of Stated Clerk Raised—Reports of Committees and Changes In Rules Occupy Time of Closing Session.

Appeals for larger contributions in support of domestic missions, the adoption of amendments to the rules and order, together with reports of various committees, comprised the chief business of the afternoon session of the Classis of Newark in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of the local church, who is chairman of the committee on domestic missions, deplored the fact that so little was given last year toward church extension in view of the fact that there is a rapid growth along this line. He said that during the past five years two or more new churches have been established in each Classis in the State, and he declared that $50,000 a year is needed.

There was a strong appeal in behalf of a new church at Mt. Lakes, near Boonton. The congregation asks for $5,000 with which to erect an edifice, but with the present resources this is impossible. Attention was called to the united missionary campaign which is to be inaugurated this winter.

Rev. Albertus T. Broek, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, Newark, gave a brief, but interesting report of the work of the board of education committee of which he is chairman, adding that more young men than ever are being prepared for the ministry and in consequence more support is required from the churches. He emphasized the importance of giving young men the proper educational start in Christian work.

The changes in the rules and order as suggested by a committee of which Rev. F. P. Pullan, of East Orange, was the chairman, were of minor importance. They provide that the meetings of Classis shall be held in the different churches in rotation unless circumstances prevent; that the president shall be relieved of the duty of supervision of churches, and for a slightly increased membership in some committees and the doing away with others.

Rev. Dr. Denis Wortman, representing the disabled ministerial and widows' funds, who has just returned from a trip through New York State, urged more united support on the part of the churches for these funds, explaining that the demands are growing constantly.

Upon motion of Rev. J. Y. Broek the salary of the state clerk, Rev. Charles B. Condict, of Newark, was increased from $75 to $100 a year. It was announced that the spring meeting of Classis would be held the third Wednesday in April at the Montclair Heights Reformed church, and that the next fall meeting would be held at the German Reformed church, North Plainfield.

The needs of the Linden church were presented by various members. This church is now without a pastor and the Classis adopted a motion agreeing to co-operate with the members of the church in securing a pastor. It is expected that a young man now in the New Brunswick Seminary will receive the call.

LA RUE INTRODUCED ANTI-DANCE PROTEST

Rev. Mr. Broek Not Its Sponser, But Moved Resolution's Adoption.

"Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

"You were evidently misled in the statement in your issue yesterday that I fathered the resolution deploring the action of our Board of Education in the opening of our public schools for public dances. The resolution was presented by Mr. Clarence B. LaRue. I did not mention it or suggest it, or take any part whatever in framing the resolution, and I knew absolutely nothing about it before the time it was presented to the meeting.

"The resolution evidently originated with the Endeavorers themselves, and they should have the credit for the stand they have taken.

"JOHN Y. BROEK."

Oct. 16, 1913.

(The resolution in question was introduced by Clarence B. LaRue. Rev. Mr. Broek moved that it be unanimously adopted.—Editor.)

SALVATIONISTS WED AT LOCAL BARRACKS

Captain Maggie Gallagher and Adolph Harry Frese, both of the Salvation Army, were married at an army ceremony at the local barracks of the army on East Second street, last night, by Major Charles Welte, of New York, in the presence of an audience that filled the large hall. The captain has been connected with the army for the past sixteen years, up to the present time being storekeeper in the local industrial branch, while Mr. Frese is in charge of the industrial work at Manchester, N. H.

The hall was appropriately decorated for the affair, an arch of roses and other flowers being arranged about the platform. As the wedding march was played the bridal party entered the hall and took seats on the platform. The young daughters of Adjutant and Mrs. Wall were flower girls. Others in the party included Captain and Mrs. Samuel Hewitt, of Newark, formerly of this city. Major George Cassler, of New York, was in charge of the exercises. The program opened with a pleasing vocal solo by Captain Elizabeth Hicks.

One part of the program which preceded the ceremony was the brief addresses by Miss Mary Maier and Thomas Maier, who were introduced as representing the single people and Mrs. Wall and Adjutant Jackson, who represented the married people. Each one told of the advantages of the single and married life and some of the remarks were extremely humorous.

Adjutant Larkin, of New York, also spoke for the single men. All of the speakers congratulated the bride and groom, and they were commended for the zeal and earnestness in the work of the Salvation Army. An interesting feature was when Mrs. Wall, wife of Adjutant Wall, in charge of the local barracks, appeared with her two daughters, as evidence of the success of married life. She was given much applause. After the ceremony, both the bride and groom addressed the audience and they were greeted with rounds of applause.

During the ceremony Adjutant Larkin and Thomas Maier were flagbearers. Mrs. Cassler read the 23d Psalm. At the conclusion of the ceremony, when the vows were taken, the groom kissed the bride and then congratulations were extended. The gathering then resolved into an evangelistic service and several present expressed conversion.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher left last night for Manchester, N. H., where they will live in the future.

MISS ANNA RYAN BRIDE OF G. ELSTON LOWRIE

Miss Anna Loretta Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ryan, of First street, Dunellen, and G. Elston Lowrie, also of Dunellen, were married last night at St. John's church. The rector, Rev. Father Dunphy, performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the immediate family and a number of friends.

Miss Hunt, of Brooklyn, acted as bridesmaid, and Richard Ryan, a brother of the bride, was best man. Following the nuptials, the couple left on a honeymoon trip of several weeks' duration. Upon their return they will reside in Dunellen.

Mr. Lowrie was formerly a pupil of the local High School. He has known Miss Ryan since childhood.

GARBAGE AND ASHES TO BE THE THEME

Franklin W. Fort to Address Trade Board on Subject Tuesday Night.

Municipal collection of garbage and ashes will be the topic discussed at the meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade to be held on Tues- In view of the almost general demand from the residents of the city and borough for a systematic and sanitary collection, under government control, of garbage and ashes, it is expected that a large attendance will be present at the meeting.

About 1,000 notices have been sent to members of the Boards of Health of neighboring communities, as well as the officials, and the city and borough authorities are especially urged to be present. Franklin W. Fort, of East Orange, who has been the attorney for a number of years for the contractors who have done the work at different times in Newark and East Orange, will tell something about the experience of the people in those cities with the municipal collection, and Michael Loprete, one of the contractors, has consented to answer any questions that may be put to him as to the practical work of collecting the refuse.

During the evening the Dutch Arms Band of Trinity Reformed church will play popular music and they will also play on the street preceding the meeting. The meeting will be open to women as well as men, as it is considered that all are vitally interested in the topic.

WHAT PENNY LUNCH DOES REALLY MEAN

Mrs. Smith Tells the What, Why and How of Mother's Ass'n Scheme.

Mrs. A. C. Penn recently read the following following paper on "The Penny Lunch," at a meeting of the Bryant-Whittier-Stillman School Parent-Teacher Association:

It is my purpose to tell in a simple way, about the school lunches, the Plainfield Association of Mothers is starting in our public schools. What the lunches are to be; how they are to be run and what we expect to gain from them; and so to obtain your much needed co-operation.

First: What they are—The lunches each day are to consist of one main dish, known as the "first nourishment," and which each child must buy before he will be allowed to purchase anything else. This is supposed to embody all the essentials that go to make up scientifically a "perfect" food, and so furnish to the child, though he buy nothing else, all the nutriment of a full meal; it will nearly always be a soup of some sort.

Then, there will be what is known as the "second nourishment," consisting of various kinds of sandwiches and escalloped, and baked dishes.

WAR CORRESPONDENT TO SPEAK AT A BANQUET

Benjamin C. Marsh, who served last year as a special war correspondent for several newspapers during the Balkan-Turkish war, and who was subsequently called to London during the peace conferences there, will be the guest of honor and speaker at a dinner to be given by the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Tuesday night, October 28, at 7 o'clock. TEACHER'S VERSION OF SCHOOL TROUBLE

Miss Kirk Gives Out Letter Which She Claims Cost Her Position.

Stating that she is highly indignant at the treatment accorded her since coming to Scotch Plains, Miss Florence L. Kirk, who has resigned as a teacher in Public School No. 1, because, according to her assertions published exclusively in yesterday's Daily Press, the townspeople objected to her fashionable style of dress, gave a reporter for this paper her version of the trouble. The pretty brunette, who is short in stature, and says she is 25 years of age but appears much younger, strongly denied that she has ever dressed in a fashion that could cause criticism. Although it has been circulated about the little village that she wore a "slit skirt," Miss Kirk said the only dress she has that is slashed at all, is made with a slit of but three inches from the lowest extremity of the garment.

Miss Kirk has been unable to locate the sender of a letter signed, "A Mother," which bore a date mark of Sept. 27. The missive was sealed, and only bore a one cent stamp and was mailed at and delivered from the Plains postoffice. It read: "Miss Kirk: You are not a fit teacher for this school. You go out with a Wop and your actions on the street are dreadful. Your style of dress is ridiculous and can see through all your dresses. I, as a mother, will have to report you to the trustees. You ought to be ashamed of yourself. You are as low as you make them."

Miss Kirk referred the matter to the postoffice authorities at Washington, D. C., who agreed with her that the contents were objectionable, but reported that all efforts made by the department to find out the sender, had been futile.

It is admitted by Miss Kirk that Principal S. Dana Townsend had spoken to her about her style of dress the second week of the school term. According to the teacher, her superior said that a Fanwood resident had commented unfavorably regarding her wearing apparel. Following the receipt of the anonymous letter, Miss Kirk said she went to Mr. Townsend and asked him to investigate its origin. She said Mr. Townsend declined to do so, and stated that he too had received a similar letter.

According to Miss Kirk, Mr. Townsend told her that her teaching in arithmetic had been unsatisfactory and that he would have to release her from duty on Oct. 31. She charged him with prejudice because of the public protests of her wearing apparel, but Mr. Townsend asserts that the letter writing had nothing to do with her dismissal. Thomas J. Nicholl, a member of the Board of Education, she says, refused to discuss the situation with her. Mr. Nicholl was equally reticent to a reporter and declined to state whether the Board had ever considered Miss Kirk's case.

A graduate of the New York Normal School, Miss Kirk taught school for a like period in her home town, Port Jervis, Orange county, N. Y. She lived there with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kirk.

HE SUES MOTOR TRUCK CONCERN FOR $10,000

Officials of the International Motor Truck Company, whose plant is located in this city, have been served with papers in a damage suit for $10,000 brought against the concern by Neaf Apgar, of Clinton avenue, in behalf of his son, Hazlewood Apgar, a minor. The case will be heard in the Union County Court, the defendants having twenty days from the time of service in which to file an answer. Mr. Apgar is represented by a Newark firm of lawyers.

The suit is the outcome of an accident at the motor truck plant on West Front street last winter, when young Apgar, who is an electrician, was gouged in the eye by a chisel he was using. The instrument was deflected by the turning of a shaft. The victim was confined to the hospital for several weeks and narrowly escaped being blinded for life, as the sight of the optic has been badly injured and his other eye having been shot out in a hunting accident years ago. Neaf Apgar, who instituted the suit, is the well known trap shooting expert.

SUNDAY NOT SABBATH SAYS MR. STILLMAN

Lawyer Offers Clergyman $1,000 for Contrary Proof in the Bible.

The following self-explanatory letter was received today for publication:

I would like to make another reply to your article representing the Rev. John Y. Broek's position on the Sunday question. He founds his faith and belief on the Bible, but I will give him one thousand dollars for one command or even intimation that he can find in the Holy Book, that Sunday should be observed as the Sabbath. Outside of a few Jews, Adventists and Baptists, the Sabbath as instituted by God and Jesus Christ is totally ignored by the entire world, including the Rev. Dr. Broek; and if we read the Scriptures and believe what they say, a terrible punishment is coming to the world for this disregard; for in the most emphatic terms, God made this day a part of Himself and the supreme test of obedience between Himself and His people and all the prophets in the old and the apostles in the new testament foretold the terrible punishment that is to come to the world in God's own time for this disobedience. Dr. Broek is not on Biblical ground when he supplants Sunday for God's Sabbath, but is smiply using a Roman Catholic Church rest day as established and confirmed by the Roman Catholic Church. I cite the highest Roman Catholic authority to prove this:

(1) A full catechism of the Catholic Religion by John Cardinal McCloskey, page 395: A. That Protestants have no Scripture for the measure of their day of rest, that they abolished the observance of Saturday without warrant of Scripture and substituted Sunday in its place without Scriptural authority.

(2) In the Catholic Mirror of December 23, 1893, appeared an article entitled, "The Christian Sabbath (Sunday)." "This is the genuine offspring of the Holy Spirit and the Catholic Church its spouse. The claims therein of Protestantism are groundless, self-contradictory and suicidal. We hereby give notice to all Protestants that whatever support is given Sunday, acting alone or in union with Protestants is given to it as a Catholic institution, and that Sunday keeping is openly unprotestant and that no Protestant can be consistent who does not keep the Sabbath as the Bible commands."

In 1890 the Catholic Church published a book in Baltimore on the "Sabbath Question Scripturally Considered" and Cardinal Gibbons' book, "Our Christian Heritage," treats the Sabbath question with great ability and shrewdness.

Also the address of Archbishop Ireland on the Sunday Rest Congress of 1893.

From these you will gather that the Catholic Church claims that the Church created the Bible and it alone can interpret it, that they the Church did not do away with the Sabbath but substituted for it a church day, viz.: The Sunday, and that all Protestants in observing this Sunday are simply keeping a Catholic command and to this extent are good Catholics.

The world must either get back to the true Sabbath of the Bible or become wholly Catholic.

FIRE ENGINES' TEST PLANNED FOR OCT. 22

That Will Be Probable Date for Examination of Various Types of Machine.

The Councilmanic fire and building committee met last night, chiefly for the purpose of trying to arrange a date for a test of the automobile fire engines of competitive bidders, as decided at the last meeting of the Common Council. Three companies have been invited to submit their engines to the test as provided by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the American LaFrance, Nott and Saurer. The last two named companies have notified the committee that they will be ready for a test at an hour's notice.

A representative of the American LaFrance company was at last night's meeting and was informed that if convenient to the underwriters the committee would like to hold a test on Wednesday, October 22. The representative said that he thought that date would be agreeable. The test is to be of four-cylinder engines and the place will be announced later.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

George J. Luhr, Division Superintendent of Trolleys, the Host.

George J. Luhr, of West Front street, division superintendent of the Main Line of the Public Service Corporation, celebrated his birthday anniversary yesterday, and according to his annual custom he gave a pig roast at his home, last night, entertaining a number of his personal friends. The pig, a fine Jersey porker, was roasted to the queen's taste by Henry Windham and served in the latest style with all the fixin's.

The table was elaborately decorated for the occasion with flowers, and in the centre was a large birthday cake bearing fourty-four lighted candles, representing the age of the host. No one questioned the number of candles as being right.

During the evening there was a fine vocal and instrumental program. The Elks' Quartet sang a number of popular songs, and "Prof." George Scott entertained with piano selections in his own inimitable style, receiving many encores. A committee from the Trolleymen's Social Club presented Mr. Luhr with a handsome bouquet of flowers. He also received numerous other gifts.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jacobus, of Newark; Police Chief O'Neil, of Westfield; John J. Gettings, of Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Dalley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yorke, George O. Stevens, Elmer D. Cutting, Fire Chief Andrew D. Jennings, Tax Collector William R. Townsend, City Judge William G. DeMeza, Police Captain Christian Frederickson, Detective-Sergeant J. J. Flynn, John Todd, Edward Bennett, William Smith, Marcus Hoyt, Joseph Harrigan, Fred Firstbrook, Jerry James, John Van Buskirk, Albert Estelle and George Andrews.

HERE IS A BOOKLET YOU SHOULD POSSESS

The Underwood-Simmons Tariff Bill which last week became a law, and the income tax which will become effective on March 1 next are measures which directly or indirectly affect everyone in the community and no one can afford to be ignorant in regard to them. Realizing this fact, The Plainfield Trust Company has had the text of both bills printed in book form and offers these books to anyone who will call for them at its office on Park avenue.

In addition to the text of the tariff bill, there is an interesting comparison of the old and new tariff and a table of dates showing when the different portions of the bill will become effective. As the income tax law is binding on all those having an income of over $3,000 a year, and since there is a penalty for its evasion, familiarity with its provisions is of the utmost importance and The Plainfield Trust Company has made it easy for all who wish to secure this information in compact form to do so.

GOV. SULZER IS IMPEACHED

High Court Finds New York's Governor Guilty on Three of Eight Counts.

WILL BE REMOVED

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—After the adjournment of the Court of Impeachment for luncheon this afternoon, it was learned from an authentic source that the court had found Governor Sulzer guilty on three counts but decided not to sustain the other five charges and had tentatively decided to remove Gov. Sulzer from office, but not to disqualify him from holding other positions of trust.

The Impeachment Court took a recess at 1.15, until 3 o'clock, having been in secret session since 10.15 a. m. All the eight articles were considered and voted on and when the court reconvenes it is to be an open session. Then it is expected that the final vote on impeachment will be taken.

The court excluded all but members of the court this morning. Before the conference started Judge Cullen stated that the vote on the impeachment articles would be taken in open session.

CHARMING FUNCTION AT COUNTRY CLUB

One of the delightful social functions of the fall season was the dance given at the Plainfield Country Club last night by Mrs. E. T. Willson, of Evergreen avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George C. R. Grandy, who were recently married at Washington, Conn. Mr. Grandy is a son of Mrs. Willson, while Mrs. Grandy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. McCutcheon, formerly of this city.

The clubhouse was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and bride roses in honor of the recently married couple. A feature was the music furnished by Van Eps Brothers. The program was a popular one and the dancing was continued until a late hour. Supper was served by John Eke, superintendent of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Grandy will leave November 1 for a tour around the world, which will be their honeymoon. They will be away about one year. Mrs. Grandy is a sister of Mrs. Lewis A. Williams, Jr., and Mrs. C. Loomis Dana, Jr., both of this city.

DEMOCRATS' PLANS.

The City Democratic Committee at its meeting, last night, discussed plans for securing a complete registration of party voters before the November election and an approved system will be adopted for accomplishing this work. There was also some discussion regarding mass meetings to be held before election, but as the county committee is arranging for these meetings nothing was done last night toward fixing dates or securing speakers.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Misses Amelia and Margaret Brizzie, members of the sophomore and freshman classes, respectively, are detained at their home on Fairview avenue, because of the illness of their sister, Dorothy. She was taken sick with diphtheria on Tuesday evening and the home is now under quarantine.

One of the members of the High School has given a Princeton pennant and has asked Principal Earley that his name be withheld. The flag has been placed over the door of the study hall.

Miss Anna Robley, of Asbury Park, visited her sister, Miss Mary Robley, instructor of German and French in the High School, yesterday afternoon. She is a member of the junior class in the Asbury Park High School.

Miss Ray's classes in elocution meet twice a week, the boys on Tuesday and the girls on Wednesday afternoons.

Following the custom that was introduced last year by Mr. Mertz, Miss Ray will hold conferences of all members of the English classes. Each conference will last about ten minutes.

Tomorrow morning at the chapel exercises, Mary Martin, '14, will recite a humorous selection entitled, "How to Care For Babies." This is the first of the recitations that will be given by the pupils during the year.

H. Newton Spencer, who graduated from the High School last year, has returned to take a post-graduate course. His return to school is most cordially welcomed by the members of the baseball team as "Newt" was the mainstay of the team in the box last year. He is also a good basketball player and will no doubt be with the teams on the court this year.

The High School has been placed on the mailing lists of the American Association for International Conciliation, New York Tax Reform Association and the New Jersey Agricultural Experimental Station.

A WIRELESS STORY.

Call From the Pacific That Was Heard in the Gulf of Mexico.

It was "eight bells" on a ship lying at anchor down in the gulf of Mexico. The men had retired for the night to their bunks and hammocks, and the wireless operator, alone in his watchfulness, was "listening in" at the head phones.

Suddenly, out of the pitchy darkness of the sea, a message that curdled the blood in his veins leaped down the antenna and hummed its fearful contents, "S. O. S.—S. O. S.—S. O. S." And a few minutes later, in response to the customary reply, "What is your position?" the answer flashed back, "125 degrees 27 minutes 37 seconds west, 47 degrees 33 minutes 10 seconds north.

That meant that out on the Pacific ocean 140 miles west of Seattle, Wash. —2,850 miles away—a vessel was calling for help.

The call of the Pacific! The operator hardly believed it. With tremulous fingers he repeated the call to the station nearest to the vessel in distress. But already the wireless watchers along the western coast had caught the message, and relief was on its way. Clear across the entire North American continent, over land and sea and mountain ranges, the ship's cry had been heard.—World's Work.

BARREN PALESTINE.

Its Forests Are Gone and the Jordan Is Now a Feeble Stream.

One of the most remarkable illustrations in all history of the ill effects of the disappearance of forests may be observed in Palestine. In the days when Joshua conquered the promised land Palestine was a wonderfully fertile country, a land flowing with milk and honey. The Lebanon mountains were heavily wooded, and a large population was supported in comfort.

The general devastation of the forests brought about, however, a gradual deterioration of the country. The hills of Galilee, which had long served as pasture lands for large herds of cattle and sheep, are now sterile. The Jordan has become an insignificant stream, and several smaller rivers are now completely dried up throughout the greater part of the year. Some few valleys in which fertile earth washed down from the hills has been deposited have retained their old fertility. The land today supports only one-sixth the population of the time of Solomon.—Christian Herald.

Table Manners In the Old Days.

Modern table manners compare favorably with those of the past. Mrs. Hannah Woolley, author of "The Gentlewoman's Companion," the standard seventeenth century book on etiquette, found it necessary thus to warn her readers: "Gentlewomen, discover not by any ravenous gesture your angry appetite nor fix your eyes too greedily on the meat before you, as if you would devour more that way than your throat would swallow. * * * In carving avoid clapping your fingers in your mouth and licking them after you have burned them. Close your lips when you eat and do not smack like a pig. Fill not your mouth so full that your cheeks shall swell like a pair of Scotch bagpipes.' It is very uncomely to drink so large a draft that your breath is almost gone and you are forced to blow strongly to recover yourself."

Historic Hyde Park.

Hyde park has seen not only magnificient reviews, from Stuart times onward, but has witnessed also military musters with a more warlike intent. Here during the commonwealth were encamped the Roundhead armies of Essex and Lambert, and here Cromwell reviewed his Ironsides. The defenses which were at that time raised in the park have left their mark on Mayfair's street nomenclature, for Mount street, Grosvenor square, commemorates Oliver's mount, as it was called, part of the line of fortifications drawn around London by order of the parliament in 1643. Even the women, Butler tells us in "Hudibras," helped in the defensive work, and—

—London Standard.

Extraordinary Seed.

A farmer who mainly out of curiosity had grown a crop of flax had a tablecloth made out of it. Some time later he remarked to a lady visitor at dinner, "I grew this tablecloth myself." "Did you really?" she said, apparently much astonished. "How did you manage it?" It was plain from her tone that she had no idea how tablecloths came into existence, so the farmer lowered his voice mysteriously as he replied, "If you'll promise not to tell any one I'll tell you." The lady promised. "Well," proceeded the farmer still in the same mysterious tone, "I planted a napkin!"

Side Light on History.

Socrates was about to quaff the hemlock.

"This," he said, "is the cup that neither cheers nor inebriates."

Making a sort of wry face, just the same, he hastened to bring the incident to a close.—Chicago Tribune.

DON'T BURN LEAVES AFTER THE NOON HOUR

The Councilmanic police board at its meeting, last night, decided that from now on the city ordinance regarding the carrying of lighted lamps on bicycles at night and the one regarding the burning of leaves shall be strictly enforced, and the police will be called upon to see that the ordinances are enforced. The burning of leaves is permitted up to 12 o'clock noon, while the ordinance provides that bicycle lamps must be lighted one hour after sundown and one hour before sunrise.

The board also discussed other matters pertaining to the department, but when one of the members was questioned today he said that they were not for publication at this time.

AUTO'S CRASH INJURIES MAN AND TWO COWS

MORAL BETTERMENT.

Quite an interesting discussion has been carried on in our news columns this week pertaining to the wisdom and the righteousness in opening Parker Field on Sunday afternoons for concerts and the opening of the Public Library for the free distribution of books. The controversy was started when the Rev. John Y. Broek in a statement deplored both these innovations holding that, in effect, they constituted a desecration of the Lord's Day and meant that Plainfield would have a "liberal" Sunday if they were not discontinued.

As a Christian man and citizen we believe that everybody has the very highest regard for the clergyman in question and we share that estimate of him. But we believe we hold to the view of most of the good people of Plainfield when we take issue with him in this matter. The Daily Press has long advocated the free distribution of books at the Public Library on Sunday afternoons and yet hopes that the board will also deem it meet and proper to throw open the art gallery during the same hours. We can see no harm, but on the contrary prophesy a whole lot of good by this change. The people who toil throughout the week crave some sort of entertainment or recreation on Sunday afternoons after they have performed their church duties. All of us cannot afford automobiles and neither are we fortunate enough to be able to play golf. But we can and would enjoy and be benefitted if permitted to walk over to Parker Field and there listen to a program of high class music played by a good band particularly when the entertainment is under the direct supervision of our municipal authorities and costs us nothing.

There are others of us who prefer to read good books, either for entertainment or instruction, and we cannot see that we commit any sin in thus spending a few quiet hours. The books are our books, they are paid for with our tax money, and why should we not be allowed to go to their keeping place to get them?

As to another matter, and one which does not concern Sunday observance but is objected to on the ground that the pastime is neither "uplifting nor instructive," we fail to understand why there should be any protest to the action of the Board of Education in throwing open the public schools auditoria for public dancing. This paper applauds the action of that body in doing so. There are hundreds of young women and young men in this community who have no way in which to spend their evenings and surely they have a right to enjoy them. Would the Christian Endeavor Society have them tempted to go into dance halls where the moral atmosphere is anything but healthy and where the proprietors have but one aim and that is to reap in the coin? Young people will dance and there is no wrong in it, no more than there is in playing golf, tennis or baseball, all of which can be classed as "neither uplifting nor instructive." The Board of Education has provided a means whereby a natural and proper inclination may find its normal satisfaction. We laud it for its action.

There are bigger things in this, as in any community, that should command the attention of those who are working for moral betterment.

It is said that Roger Murray—"Roger Murray is the machine Republican boss of Plainfield"—never winked an eye lid when Judge Carey proclaimed at the G. O. P. mass meeting last night that he had voted for Theodore Roosevelt and was proud of it, adding that Roosevelt was the choice of the Republican party at the Presidential primaries. As for bosses, he had no use for them, he declared. Isn't it up to Mr. Murray to read Judge Carey out of the Republican party?

Judge Carey had less than 100 people in his audience last night at the Republican "mass" meeting, but according to what was said by some of the wise ones when they got their heads together after the meeting no regrets were expressed over the slim attendance.

Gardner Colby, Progressive candidate for Governor, addressed the meeting—News item.

Such is fame.

TO ARREST AN AUTOIST WANTED ON FOUR OFFENSES

When the North Plainfield police apprehend a man who says he is F. W. Eib, of 207 Neilson street, New Brunswick, he will be charged with four separate offenses, three of them being violations of the motor vehicle laws. Eib was arrested late last night by Roundsman Keller, while driving a car north, on Somerset street, minus lights of any description; the driver had no chauffeur's license, and the machine also failed to show any license tag fastened on its front. Eib was brought to headquarters and told to appear this morning before Recorder Gano. When the court was opened, however, the autoist was not to be found.

It is thought that the machine being driven by Eib belonged to Freeholder A. J. Gebhardt, of Highland Park. The latter will be communicated with and it is expected that in this way Eib will be located.

MINES' CATASTROPHE 2ND WORSE RECORDED

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 16.—One rundred men worked in relays today in an attempt to reach the extreme lower workings of the Universal Colliery, although practically no hope was held out that the 368 miners still entombed were still alive. Fifty-seven bodies were in the morgue which indicated that the total death list would be 425, the second largest in the history of industrial tragedies. A number of corpses were brought to the surface after midnight.

Y. M. H. A'S ACTIVITIES.

The Y. M. H. A. held its first social event of the fall season last night when the members enjoyed a smoker given at the club rooms in Grove street. Many stories were told and Harry Richards and Benjamin Berse rendered vocal selections. The evening was concluded with the serving of refreshments. Plans were discussed for activities in sportdom during the winter. It was decided to put a basketball team on the courts, and Hyman Abrams was appointed a committee of one to making arrangements for the initial practice and "call" for candidates.

HAND CUT IN HILL.

Harry Levinowitz, aged 35 years, who has been employed at McCullough's mill on Stiner place, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital this morning, with a badly lacterated hand, the result of catching it in a circular saw. The hand was cut to such an extent that the victim will probably lose one or more fingers. He was taken to the operating room, where the injured hand was dressed. The physicians thought it doubtful whether all of the fingers could be saved.

JOINS ALIMONY CLUB.

Abraham Jefferson Walker, colored, of West Second street, who was held in $300 bonds to pay his wife $4 each week toward her support, said he would go to jail rather than conform with the court's order when arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza on a charge of non-support. He is still being held at the local police headquarters.

REPUBLICANS HEAR CAMPAIGN TALKS

An audience of less than one hundred voters attended the Republican mass meeting held in Columbus Hall, last night, to listen to speeches delivered by Judge Robert Carey, of Jersey City, and candidates for county and local offices. John J. Carroll, the Republican city chairman, introduced Leighton Calkins as the presiding officer of the evening.

Judge Robert Carey, of Jersey City, was the speaker of the evening and he said in part: "During the next three years the Republican party will become re-enlivened and the former hold the party had on the interests of this State will be renewed under the administration of Edward C. Stokes, who I look upon as our next Governor. James Fielder is a thoroughly honest and clean man but is in a bad job. He has absolutely no chance of being elected on the Democratic ticket and the candidate himself knows this to be true. Woodrow Wilson is but an 'accident' in the Democratic party, Grover Cleveland being the other. Wilson came from New York by way of Princeton and by fooling Jim Smith and his bunch went to the White Hhouse. Everett Colby can be designated as 'midground,' and if he secures 50,000 votes from the voters of New Jersey, the Democrats will go into power."

Henry D. Evans, of Westfield, gave a brief talk and then William G. DeMeza, city judgeship candidate, said in part:

"During the three years of my incumbency as city judge I have tried to serve the public in a conscientious and fearless manner and I challenge anyone in this audience to offer a single instance that will disprove this assertion. I have dealt severely in cases of flagrant violations of the law, doing so with a view to making sure that the offender will not repeat the same offense knowingly. I have tried to abolish the illegal selling of liquor through imposing severe penalties on the offenders." Judge DeMeza made a plea for the support of the Republican voters and cited numerous incidents illustrating the way in which he has enforced the law and punished offenders.

STATE JR. O. U. A. M. PLANS CONVENTION

Annual Session at Atlantic City Next Week to Be a Big One.

From the activity now being displayed on the part of the officers and committees of the State Council of New Jersey, Jr. O. U. A. M., and considering the number of special trains already engaged from all parts of the State to carry the visitors to Atlantic City, the indications are that the annual session of that body which meets October 22 and 23, in the seaside resort, will be the most important session ever held by the order.

It has been the custom of the State Council to hold its sessions in Trenton, but owing to the large growth of the order in recent years, the members have found it difficult to secure proper hotel accommodations in Trenton.

A large parade has been arranged and numerous bands of music employed to participate. The Uniform Rank, which has become a very strong auxiliary, will be on hand from various parts of the State and will help to make the parade a success.

The Juniors of this State have had a remarkable growth. In 1888 their membership was about 5,000 and now they enjoy the proud distinction of being the strongest organization in the State, having a membership of 61,000. They were frequently called "a boys'" organization, but their accomplishments have brought them rapidly to the front, and the State is richer by far for having such an organization within its borders. The public school system is one of the institutions they are particularly interested in, and numerous bills have been introduced in the Legislature through their efforts to improve that system, among them the Walters flag bill, making it compulsory for the Boards of Education to float the American flag over each schoolhouse during school hours.

The free text book bill, making the Boards of Education furnish all books, and the Perkins bill, passed in 1906, a measure which has brought financial aid to the school fund, were also pushed by the order.

In their declaration of principles is found the following: "We guarantee to every man the liberty of worshipping God according to the dictates of his own conscience, and would give every assistance to protest all in the exercise of that liberty."

The sick and funeral fund is in excellent condition, and is well managed. The Legislature recently passed a mother's pension bill, but this order established an orphan fund years ago, and today is aiding over 150 children, checks being sent out monthly to each case from the office in Trenton.

The reports of the officers show the order in excellent condition they having gained over 2,000 members during the past year and having increased in finances $107,000.

Union county last year gained 152 members over the previous report, and increased its finances about $10,000.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. CHRISTOPHER WILSON

The funeral of Mrs. Christopher Wilson was held at 10 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas E. Currin, Jr., on Mountain avenue, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Henry Lockwood, pastor of the Reformed church, of East Millstone, of which Mrs. Wilson was a lifelong member, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. The latter offered a prayer and Mr. Lockwood read the Scripture and made a short address. There were many floral tributes. The burial was at Blawenburg.

WHAT PENNY LUNCH MEANS

that if the child has another penny he can buy. There will also be cocoa, a dessert, consisting of stewed fruits and simple puddings, and also the penny table, at which crackers, small plain, home-made cakes, and pure wholesome candy will always be for sale.

Everything is to cost a penny a portion (four portions to a quart being the exact amount served of the nourishments), and for three pennies a good, well rounded meal can be purchased.

Second: As to the running of these lunches. They are, as I have said, and you know, being started by the Plainfield Association of Mothers, and are under the immediate direction of a luncheon committee. This committee has investigated and studied school lunches as run in various cities, and are trying to adapt them to a town of this size, believing there is, relatively, as great a need for them. The Board of Education has been so interested as to furnish the stationary equipment of our kitchen. The paid supervisor we have obtained, who is to do the cooking, and her assistant are women of intelligence and ability, personally interested in this subject, and thoroughly efficient to carry out all our plans.

As to the actual serving of the lunches; this will have to work itself out as to ease and quickness of service, but our present plan is somewhat as follows: The children as they come downstairs will form in line and passing the kitchen will be given a tray, on which is the bowl containing the "first nourishment." Should they want anything else, they will then go to one of the long tables in the room, where they can eat comfortably. When the child has finished his lunch, he will leave his tray (which will be collected later by one of the helpers), on the table, and immediately pass upstairs to the playground. The lunches also are open to the teachers, and will be served to them in their rooms if they so desire.

Each day during the preparation and serving of the lunches, there will be a member of the committee and two volunteer supervisors to oversee the cook and her helper, and to wait on the penny table, take the money, and guide and help the children with their trays. Opportunity will also be given to three or four needy children to earn their lunches by helping at this time.

In regard to the cost of running these lunches. The food is expected to pay for itself. What we unavoidably make on such food as ice cream, crackers, and candy goes to make up the deficit in the cost of the main food, which of course cannot be made to pay for itself at a penny a portion. A strict account is kept of the cost of each article of food served, and of what is bought, and all accounts and reports must balance. In New York, Philadelphia, and other cities where the school lunches are no longer an experiment the food more than pays for itself, and the balance goes (as it will in our own case), to help toward the other expenses; these being cost of equipment, salaries of the paid supervisor and her assistant, and other necessary expenses.

Third: Why is the Mother's Association starting these lunches, and what do we expect to gain through this movement?

Through various sources, and by careful investigation, it has been brought home to us, that there are many children (about 10%) in our public schools here, who do not get one good, nourishing meal a day. For various reasons often their mothers are away from home all day. Breakfast is nearly always a hurried meal, and very often consists only of weak coffee or tea, and dry bread—sometimes nothing at all. At noon these children, perhaps, get a little cold, left-over food, or are given a penny or two to spend at the store; and what do they buy? Some pickles, candy pop-corn, or fancy cakes; nothing of pure, wholesome food whatever; yet these same children are expected to keep up a certain standard in their lessons. How can they do this when their little bodies, and hence their brains, are weak and dull from need of the right kind of food, pure and intelligently prepared?

This, then, is what we mothers, in providing these lunches are trying to accomplish: That by supplying to the children a good warm, well-cooked meal at noon, to so feed and build up their little bodies that they can go to their work in school with all the strength and childish vigor that is theirs by rights; that they can complete on an equal footing, with the strongest children in the school, and so grow to be normal, healthy boys and girls.

Mothers, we need your help and co-operation, and this you can give us by encouraging your little ones to take advantage of these lunches; and not to spend their pennies at these unspeakably filthy carts, with their dirty and impure candies and cakes, which come to the schools at recess time.

This is a noble work, and wherever it has been tried has more than fulfilled the expectations of those who have started it. Teachers and parents in these places are astonished at the change in the children, and all have only praise for the work.

Let me read you a few passages from a report sent to us on "School Lunches in Elementary Schools."

"School lunches help to reduce the amount of truancy caused by the long, uncontrolled noon recess. A light, well-planned meal in the middle of the day has an immediate effect on the children's power of attention, and their resistance to fatigue. That this makes the remainder of the session far more efficient, is the universal testimony of teachers wherever the lunches have been tried.

"The elementary school lunch is established in 41 cities of the United States, 200 English cities, 150 German cities, 55 Italian cities and 1,200 French communities. Some of the results are as follows: 'Nourishing food increases the mental efficiency of the children.'

"Lunches prepared and served under school supervision, make for the formation of good habits of diet.

"The establishment of the school lunch leads to increased interest in school activities among parents. Mothers seek to adapt the school menu in their household needs, come into close contact with the school dietitian, and the resultant friendship makes for co-operation between the school and the community.

"Although a large proportion of our school children, 10% by conservative estimate, are suffering from malnutrition, the relief of this condition is not the primary aim of those who are advocating school meals. It is their conviction that if the school is to assume responsibility, it must be because of purely educational considerations. School feeding finds its justification in the fact that we cannot separate bodily and mental welfare; a well-nourished mind is impossible in a poorly nourished body; and physical health is essential to the full mental and moral development of our children."

May we all work together for our children here in Plainfield, and prove that the school lunches are practical and needed, even in a town of our size and what a great amount of good for these little ones can be gained from them.

HOW A MOTOR "TALKS."

The Sympathy That May Come Between the Animate and Inanimate.

"One day my chauffeur was taken ill, and I drove myself in, left the car standing in a side street during the day, and drove home at night," said a suburbanite. "Then, for the first time, I began to sense the feeling of mutuality or mutual sympathy, if such an expression may be permitted between animate and inanimate things, between the machine and myself. Several trips by myself confirmed the sensation; then I bought another car for the family and now drive myself regularly in this one.

"I have often thought of the stories told by locomotive engineers in which their great engines are endowed with almost mental faculties. There are enough of them to fill a book, but I never considered them seriously until I began with this car. Sometimes the engine sings; sometimes it purs. I know its 'sing' and its 'purr.' If anything is the matter with it it tells it in a language entirely intelligible to me. It responds to my lightest touch in all its functions, but once," and here his voice became grave, "it refused to run into an unlighted ditch where I was trying to steer it. I looked for half an hour for the trouble with the steering apparatus, but could find nothing wrong."—Suburban Life.

INSTINCT IN PLANTS.

Actions That Seem to Indicate Some Sort of Nervous System.

Plants sometimes appear to possess reasoning power. Charles Darwin instanced the case of the rootlet, which, piercing its way through the soil and detecting a stone or lump of hard clay in its path, will go round it without touching it. "How does the rootlet or plant know that the stone is there?" he asks. "Certainly it cannot see it and as it does not touch it cannot feel it. The avoidance therefore seems to be in the nature of perception of some kind which is a mental operation."

The species of mimosa known as the sensitive plant will contract its leaves even at the sound of a footstesp, and when such a plant is being transplanted it crumples up during the process in such a way that it really appears to be suffering from fear. Afterward it recovers and resumes its ordinary mode of life.

MEXICO PUZZLES HIGH OFFICIALS

Washington Wonders What Will Happen Next.

SITUATION NOT SO TENSE.

Huerta's Cabinet Fails to Forward "Sharp Retort" That Was Said Would Be Answer to President Wilson's Recent Communications.

Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson's communications to President Huerta have not been replied to. No answer from the Mexican government to either note has been received at Washington.

It was intimated that this government is no longer expecting a reply. It was hinted that the reason lies in the fact that steps were taken by Mr. O'Shaughnessy to head off a response.

It is known that the Mexican cabinet busied itself with a reply to the first note from Washington regarding the safety of the deputies, which was pronounced in Mexico City as of intemperate language. Advance information was received here that this reply was to be a very sharp retort to the United States.

Enter Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

With a visit to the Mexican foreign office by Charge O'Shaughnessy, however, the preparation of the reply suddenly ceased. What passed is not being made public here, but it has been plainly indicated that this government no longer expects Huerta to make any response to either of the notes sent to him from Washington.

Much significance is attached to the meeting of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City on the call of the Spanish minister. Secretary Bryan refused to say whether or not Nelson O'Shaughnessy would attend the meeting.

It would occasion no surprise here if he were not present, for since the adoption of the Wilson policy of non-recognition the diplomatic corps have met on more than one occasion without requesting the presence of the American representatives.

If Mr. O'Shaughnessy did attend the meeting it is assumed that he set forth to the representatives of other governments the action taken by President Wilson since Huerta's seizure of the powers of a dictator. All the members of the diplomatic corps are in accord with President Wilson so far as their attitude in regard to the imprisoned deputies is concerned, the Spanish minister as dean of the corps having made representations to Huerta on their behalf.

Situation a Puzzle.

The greatest perplexity is admitted by high officials as to what is going to happen next in Mexico. It is admitted that the United States has not suggested to Huerta anything that it is desired that he do nor offered him any loophole by which he can escape from the situation. The president's action has been limited to a demand for safeguarding the imprisoned deputies and announcement of disapproval of what Huerta has done and repudiation of the results of the forthcoming elections in advance of the polling.

It is not even known whether Huerta intends to go ahead with the elections or not. One official said that he might just as well hold them as planned, as they would be worth just as much now as later. If the elections should be held there would follow a real test of the support given the policy of the United States abroad, as other governments would then have to decide whether recognition would be accorded to the new government or not.

TWENTY-NINE FOUND ALIVE.

Rescuing Parties Get In Touch With Buried Miners.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 16.—Rescuing parties searching for the 400 miners entombed in the Universal colliery, where a terrific explosion occurred while 931 men were in the pit, got into touch with a party of twenty-nine men shut in by a fall of coal in one of the galleries.

They signaled that another group of fifteen of their comrades was closed in further along the gallery, but that they feared they were dead.

Altogether about 500 of the 931 men were rescued and the later discovery gave rise to hopes that the fatalities would be less than was at first supposed.

J. R. HALL.

Unconscious After Long Fall In His Aeroplane.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Mr. Hall and Anthony Janus fell several hundred feet when their air craft turned turtle. Soft ground probably saved both men from serious if not fatal injury. They were about to set out in search of the missing aviator, Albert J. Jewel, when the accident happened. Mr. Hall is shown in the center, and two mechanicians are trying to induce his return to consciousness.

TWO AIRMEN FALL SEEKING LOST JEWEL

Both Injured, but Probably Not Seriously.

New York, Oct. 16.—Two aviators, preparing to start on a final search for the missing airman, Albert J. Jewel, had a narrow escape from death when their engine failed and they fell more than 300 feet into a marsh south of the aviation field at Oakwood Heights. Only the softness of the ground on which they landed prevented serious injury. The men were Anthony Jannus, who finished fourth in Monday's race, and J. R. Hall, manager of the meet.

Mrs. Jewel had begged Hall to fly from the field to Hempstead Plains over the ground which her husband should have covered and watch the swamps around Jamaica bay for signs of Jewel's machine. Jannus agreed to accompany him, and the two set out.

Before starting for Long Island they decided to test the aeroplane with a few maneuvers and flew off south toward Great Kills. They were up 500 or 600 feet when those on the ground saw that the machine was working badly. The aviators tried to descend, but were only part way down when the aeroplane turned turtle, burst into flames and fell to the ground like a stone, while Hall and Jannus tried desperately to loosen the straps which fastened them in.

When the spectators reached the spot they found that the two men had succeeded in cutting themselves loose. Both were hurt. Hall was injured on the knees and both were suffering from shock. They were taken to the S. R. Smith infirmary at New Brighton.

TO TRANSPORT HARRY KEMP.

England Will Deport Him as Undesirable Alien.

New York, Oct. 16.—News of Harry Kemp, the "tramp poet" and stowaway, was brought here by the officers of the Oceanic, of the White Star line, who said that when the "hobo bard" completes his twenty-one day sentence on the Southampton stone pile he will have to peel potatoes all the way back to the United States.

The English authorities will deport Kemp as an undesirable alien, and the White Star line will have to bring him back. J. A. Shepherd, the purser, will have plenty of potatoes for peeling. Kemp tried to earn his passage by peddling poetry on deck without a license.

Telephone lines were put out of commission, and reports are meager. Stoves and dishes were rocked out of place, windows broken and some houses jarred out of plumb.

Four Dead In Head-on Crash.

PRAISE FOR AUTO LAWS.

Trenton, Oct. 16.—Convinced that the examination conducted by the State motor vehicle department for drivers' licenses is to be commended and that if similar requirements obtained in other States the percentage of accidents would be very much less, Wilson H. Tucker, of a mercantile house in New York, has written a letter to Commissioner Lippincott, complimenting him upon this provision of the law. In part Mr. Tucker said: "A few weeks ago I had the opportunity of watching the examination for driving licenses at the city hall in Newark, and I was so seriously impressed with the idea that I take this opportunity of writing you. I have driven automobiles for a number of years and have on many occasions met drivers who should not have handled the wheel, and I am thoroughly convinced that if this examination was required by other States the percentage of accidents would be very much less, the recent article in one of the leading automobile magazines to the contrary, notwithstanding."

MISS AGNES W. BROOKS WEDS PAUL C. BEARDSLEE

Westfield, Oct. 16.—Miss Agnes Wilma Brooks, daughter of Mrs. Leonard Appleby, and Paul Clifton Beardslee, of Somerville, were married last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Appleby, Boulevard and Academy place. Rev. W. S. Cranmer, of Somerville, performed the ceremony. Mr. Appleby, stepfather of the bride-elect, gave her away. The best man was Russell Beardslee, a brother of the bridegroom. Miss Bessie Francis, of Orange, was bridesmaid. The ushers were Paul Brooks, brother of the bride; F. Edward Brunner and Taylor J. Brokaw, of Somerville.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe meteor, trimmed with shadow lace. She carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of pink Canton crepe, trimmed with shadow lace, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Miss Brooks' mother wore a gown of lavender charmeuse. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Anna B. Whitney, of Brockport, N. Y., wore black moire trimmed with dull jet. The mother of the bridegroom wore black lace over a gown of old gold satin.

MISS JULIA M. ERRICKSON BRIDE OF ANCIL DAVIDSON, JR.

New Brunswick, Oct. 16.—Miss Julia Mae Errickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Errickson, of Dayton, was married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents to Ancil Davidson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ancil M. Davidson of Cranbury. The ceremony was performed under a bell of white roses and an arch of autumn leaves by Rev. Dr. Charles Everett, of Belmar, an uncle of Miss Errickson. The bride-elect was given in marriage by her father.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Elizabeth Davidson, of Cranbury, a sister of the bridegroom, and the best man was Russell Mershon, of Prospect Plains. Miss Elizabeth Robinson, of Bound Brook, and Miss Nellie R. Shinn, of Jamesburg, were the bridesmaids, and the ribbon girls were Misses Eleanor Petty and Marion Errickson, of Dayton; Margaret Applegate, of Cranbury, and Grace Mershon, of Prospect Plains.

The ushers were Allison Errickson, of Dayton, a brother of the bride-elect, and Asa Davison, of Cranbury, brother of the prospective bridegroom. Mrs. Wesley Everett Errickson, sister-in-law of Miss Errickson, played the wedding march.

A dinner followed the ceremony, after which the couple left on a wedding tour. On their return they will live near Cranbury, where Mr. Davison is engaged in farming.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 20.

YES—I know. You've heard a lot about this thing called Advertising. You've heard about the wonders it has worked for others. You are wondering what it can do for you.

Well, it can and will do for your business just what it has done for the other fellow's business.

It isn't a force mysterious. It isn't any "Open Sesame" affair. It is founded and grounded on just (as my good friend, Mr. John E. Kennedy, says) "hoss-sense."

Advertising is telling the people—the great buying public—where you are and what you have for sale. It is keeping on telling them—and still keeping on.

The best way to do a thing is to begin it. The best way to begin it is to begin it right.

Perhaps the Classified, or WANT AD. columns are just the place for you to make a beginning. Many present-day newspaper display advertisers started with the judicious and persistent use of the Classified.

Good advertising is a force for upbuilding that no business, large or small, can afford to ignore.

Think it over.

Some New Dishes.

There are some interesting new dishes—in the stores, not in the cook books, for these are dishes to eat from and cook with and not dishes to cook and eat.

There is, for one thing, a full line of green glazed stoneware on sale. This is better than the various shades of brown ware, for scorch and burn marks are not so apparent on the green as on the brown surface. This ware gives good service and is not very expensive. Small ramekins, thin and fluted, and suitable to put on the table as well as in the oven, cost twenty-two cents apiece.

There have been many patent mayonnaise beaters on the market and some of them have been successful and some have not. There is a new one, the bowl of which is made of glass, that possesses a distinct advantage over the others. For the cook can watch through the sides of the glass bowl progress of the dressing she is making.

Another convenience for the maker of salads is a small wire stand which holds an oil bottle at the proper slant so that the oil will drip slowly. This costs twenty-five cents. For use with it there is a cork perforated by a tiny spout through which the oil comes slowly.

A new egg boiler is this: A wire basket in which the eggs are put and thrust into boiling water, and on the handle of the basket a small hour glass filled with sand—enough to flow through the glass for soft, medium or hard boiled eggs. When you put the eggs in the water you turn the hour glass over and when the sand has reached its proper level you take them out. An improvement, this, on the old egg glass that sometimes was mislaid while the eggs were undergoing the cooking process.

There is a white-painted sheet of metal, perforated with a dozen holes, that sells for twenty-five cents. Each hole is big enough to accommodate one egg in a standing position. This keeps them from rolling about or jiffing against each other and so breaking, and makes them easy to pick up.

There is a new vegetable drainer on the market which looks something like a squat coffee pot at first glance. There is a cover for it which is perforated, and spout protected by a fine strainer. The vegetable, put on the pot, is freed from water both through the spout and through the perforated cover.

Then there is a tea pot which assures harmless tea to everyone who uses it. It is made of stoneware or crockery and is on sale for fifty cents. Halfway across the pot, a few inches from the top, is a permanent strainer. The tea is put in this, and the lid, which is just a sliding door in the front half of the top of the pot, is drawn done. Then the pot is tipped backward to rest on two little legs in its back and the tea is left to brew. When the tea is strong enough the pot is turned upright and the tea leaves are left high above the tea—so steeping cannot continue.

Another convenience is a circular shredder or chopper for vegetables. Little knives, or sharpened strips of steel, are fastened on a cylinder, which is pushed around and around by means of a handle and so chops any sort of vegetable with very little wrist or arm action.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FOR WINTER USE.

THE thrifty housewife is putting the finishing touches to her preserving cupboard or adding the last dainties to the swinging shelves in the cellar where she keeps her fruits.

Some vegetables taste better put up than when fresh. Others are only available in winter by canning them. Some suggestions for putting up late foodstuffs are given here.

Pickled Nuts.

Pickled Walnuts.—Make a brine with one gallon of water and three pounds of salt. Prick young walnuts and place them in the brine. Leave them in this for nine days, changing the brine every three days. After the ninth day place them on a tray in the sun to dry, when they will turn black. Place them in jars when quite dry. To each hundred walnuts allow a gallon of vinegar, one ounce each of cloves, allspice and black pepper and a half ounce each of mace and nutmeg. Put the spices in the vinegar and scald in a porcelain kettle. Strain the vinegar and pour it boiling hot over the walnuts in the kettle. Add a tablespoonful of grated horseradish and a cupful of mustard seed. Cover and stand in a cool place.

These Are Useful.

Plain Pickles.—Take a pint of coarse salt and one gallon of strong vinegar. Dissolve the salt in vinegar. Pick, wash and dry the cucumbers, pack in fruit jars. Pour vinegar and salt solution over. Seal up.

Canning Tomatoes.—Take tomatoes that are just ripe and plunge them in boiling water to remove the skins, then slice them in an agate kettle. Set on the back of the stove till the juice comes out. Scald in the juice till thoroughly done, then seal in airtight jars while hot. Fill the jars to overflowing.

Fruit For Winter.

Dried Pears.—When winter pears or the variety that can be packed away to ripen later in the year are unavailable dried pears may be substituted. They should be cut in slices and run on a string to dry or placed on shallow trays to dry in the oven or in the sun. The dried pears are nice stewed.

Anna Thompson.

A Head With No Body to Rest On.

HALLOWEEN was at hand, and Jack and Evelyn were merrily making their plans.

Daddy had promised to bring nuts from the city, and mother had agreed to make fudge and taffy.

Grandpa and Jack had gone out into the country to buy a big pumpkin for a jack-o'-lantern. No Halloween is complete, you know without a jack-o'-lantern.

"I'll never forget the first jack-o'-lantern I saw," daddy laughed.

"I had gone into a field and got a big cabbage stalk to use in hammering on the neighbors' doors.

"It got dark early that Halloween evening. In fact, it was rather dark and cloudy all day. I didn't tell any one at home that I had that cabbage stalk and meant to go out and knock on doors. I was afraid if I did mother would not allow it.

"The first door I knocked at was lots of fun. The folks came hurrying out, but I was around the corner before they had the door open. Then I tried another door. It also was good fun.

"Down the street lived some jolly boys I knew. I could not understand why I did not see them out knocking at doors. They had been talking about it for a month until they had all the rest of the boys anxious to join them.

"I felt quite sure the boys were knocking at other people's doors. I thought it would be a good joke to go to their house and knock at their door while they were out.

"Very softly I crept to the door, gave it a whack with the cabbage stalk and then turned to run. Right in front of me, so close that its fiery eyes almost stared into mine, was a horrible head that moved about with no body on which to rest.

"I had heard many scary stories about the Halloween spooks and witches, and I thought here was one, sure enough. I think I screamed, and as I did so, splash! came a shower of water over me. I yelled and ran like mad. When I reached home and burst into the house, dripping wet and frightened almost to death, mother put me into a hot bath and then tucked me to bed. I didn't care for any more Halloween after that.

"I learned about it later. The boys who lived in that house had been upstairs at the window watching for boys to knock at their door. They had let the jack-o'-lantern down by tying it to one end of a fish line. Then when I stood still they emptied a pail of water over me. Everybody who knocked at their door that evening was served that way, and there were a good many boys, thanks to the previous interest, they had worked up in such tricks."

TRY A PRESS WANT AD

MOTHER-OF-PEARL.

Diffraction Grating Causes Its Beautiful Iridescence.

The apparent color of mother-of-pearl was for a long time somewhat of a puzzle to scientists. Later it was found that the surface of mother-of-pearl consisted of fine striations or ridges, with, of course, little hollows between. This explained everything, for it was then to the scientists nothing more or less than an ordinary diffraction grating. To prove it still further an impression of the surface was taken in black wax, and the wax itself exhibited the beautiful display of color shown in the original mother-of-pearl surface. The color is not due to pigment, but to the cancellation in part of the light falling on the surface.

To understand this better it will be well to explain a diffraction grating. It consists of a piece of plate glass upon which are engraved many parallel lines. Rowland has been able to scratch lines on a glass so that there are 20,000 to the inch and the distances from one to the other do not vary by one-millionth of that distance in the 20,000.

As white light, or sunlight, consists of every color known and as light travels in waves, at certain places if light is coming from several different directions very close to one another some of these waves will meet in what are known as opposite phases and will blot one another out, and the only remaining color will be the white.

It can be easily seen what is meant by opposing phases from a consideration of waves on the seashore. If the top of a big wave meets a trough of another they cancel, and no wave at all is the result. The same takes place in light phenomena. Light consists of an ether wave, similar to wireless waves, only much shorter, and if its wave is destroyed none of that light can be seen by the eye.

Colors of silk are due in the main to the same thing as mother-of-pearl, especially shot silk. It, as with the pearl, can be perfectly reproduced.—New York Tribune.

EGGS FRIED ON ICE.

By the Use of a Peculiar but Simple Principle of Electricity.

Frying eggs on ice is entirely feasible, as was demonstrated at a recent electrical exhibition given by the University of Illinois. The eggs were placed in an ordinary frying pan, and the frying pan was placed on a pile of cracked ice on a kitchen table. Eggs were fried nicely, though it took longer than when a stove is used. No wires were in sight. The frying pan had no electrical connections and could be taken up and replaced at will.

Under the table was the secret, an electromagnet. Even with the secret divulged, the trick was wonderful enough, for between the frying pan and the magnet was a pile of ice and the board table top, neither of which was affected excepting by the heat sent down from the frying pan.

A peculiar but simple principle of electricity was used. An electromagnet, as is generally known, is a horseshoe shaped bar of iron, with coils of wire wound round each arm of the horseshoe.

When a current of electricity is sent through the coils of wire the horseshoe becomes a magnet and will attract and firmly grip any bit of iron placed near the ends of the arms or poles. This applies to a direct current of electricity. If, however, an alternating current of electricity is sent through the coils any iron near the magnet poles is heated by what are called "eddy currents."

In the egg frying trick the magnet was placed under the table, and an alternating current was sent through the coils.—Saturday Evening Post.

Advice to a Husband.

Don't kick because you have to button your wife's waist. Be glad your wife has a waist and doubly glad you have a wife to button a waist for. Some men's wives have no waists to button. Some men's wives' waists have no buttons on to button. Some men's wives' waists which have buttons on to button don't care a button whether they are buttoned or not. Some men don't have any wives with buttons on to button.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Caustic John Bright.

Many stories were told about John Bright's caustic repartees in private life. This story, says the British Weekly, is true:

"I should like to come back to this world in fifty years to see what changes have happened in England," said a gentleman to Mr. Bright.

"My good sir," replied Mr. Bright, "if you don't mend your ways you may be glad of any excuse to come back."

Quite Soothing.

"I suppose, young man, that you realize the cost of supporting two persons?" asked the stern father.

"I am sure that you will find that my income is quite sufficient for my own needs. You will not have an extra burden if I marry your daughter."—Buffalo Express.

Lacerated Feelings.

"Doesn't it humiliate you to have to go through life this way?" asked the sympathetic woman as she purchased a photograph.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the bearded lady. "If it wasn't for the wife and kids I'd throw up the job today."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

If thou addest little to little and doest so often soon it will become a great heap.—Hesiod.

WITH NOTHING TO MAR THEIR CHARMING SIMPLICITY

Nothing is quite as dear to the heart of woman as the dainty negligee into which she slips with such a feeling of luxury in the seclusion of her own room. She may revel in its supple fabric, its soft colorings and the grace of its frills and flounces with never a misgiving as to its suitability, for it is the one garment that may be as plain or as fussy as the fancy desires without losing its charm.

Printed silks or cotton crepes with quaint, impossible flowers or old fashioned looking designs sprinkled here and there are admirably suited to negligees, and the plain crepes and mulls are dainty, too, offering possibilities for frills and flounces galore.

7057 is a pretty empire model, depending upon graceful lines and the oddly patterned material for effect, rather than more elaborate trimmings. The lace butterfly across the front is one of those attractive trifles, quickly and easily made, that do so much to make a garment distinctive.

To make this model in size 36 it requires 4¾ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 7941 is a design that, made up in a softly tinted albatross or eiderdown trimmed with tiny frills of net or ribbon and sashed in a vivid Futurist silk, would bring joy to the boarding school girl. It would also be pretty in a silk or crepe.

Three and three-quarter yards of 36 inch material is needed to copy 7941 in size 10.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and inclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. Address Pattern Department

Designs for Embroidering Chemises.

Practical as well as decorative designs are illustrated on these chemises. They may be embroidered on garments of nainsook, lawn, batiste, handkerchief linen or China silk and should be developed in solid work and eyelets in mercerized cotton No. 25 or 30, according to the weight of the material, or in filo silk or a silk fabric.

Pattern number 14534 may also be adapted to a front-closing or slip-over corset cover or nightgown. The design of flowers and feather-stitching, in pattern No. 14535, does not include a scalloped edge for finishing the neck and sleeves, but beading and narrow lace may be used in place of it. The second design, in this pattern, includes the scallops for the neck and sleeves and also the yoke section which may be stamped on the garment or made separately.

An initial or monogram may be embroidered, as illustrated, on the scalloped design of pattern 14535.

Patterns 14534 and 14535 will be supplied to readers for fifteen cents.

TO THE RESCUE.

NOT MONEY ENOUGH TO MEET DEMANDS

Funds For Volturno Relief Work Insufficient.

New York, Oct. 16.—Contributions to the Volturno relief fund are coming in too slowly to meet the needs of the sufferers of the wreck.

At the office of Jacob Schiff, treasurer of the Red Cross emergency relief committee, the total amount to date was $1,493.

Mr. Schiff, besides his contribution of $500, advanced $5,000 for immediate use, which is to be refunded from money received from other sources.

W. Frank Persons, director of the Red Cross emergency committee, who is in charge of the relief work, said that at least $25,000 more was needed for temporary and permanent help.

"This disaster has not had the dramatic features of the Titanic disaster," said Mr. Persons. "The Volturno was not as big a ship as the Titanic. It had no rich or influential men aboard. It was a ship loaded with the poor coming here to make a home in the new country. Their needs are many. Relief is necessary, both temporary and the continual help of widows and orphans.

"Because the disaster hasn't appealed to the public imagination as did the Titanic the money is coming in too slowly. The men who were brought here yesterday on the Grosser Kurfuerst are poorly supplied with clothing. Many of them will have to be cared for a considerable length of time. And these men, you must remember, were the last to be taken from the Volturno. They stood for twenty-six hours on a burning ship."

Weather Forecast.

Probably fair today and tomorrow; moderate west winds.

IT'S OLD STUFF, BUT THEY'RE STILL PULLING IT

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

QUARTERBACKS! STUDY GAME, LEARN STRATEGY.

You quarterbacks, are you running the team with your head, or just trying any old thing with the hope that it will go? Study the play. Think things over. After each game is over think of the work and try to see just where you were wrong. Would you have been better off on that second play if you had called for a kick instead of trying to run? Think of these things and you'll better your generalship. Many a weaker team has won a game because the other side had no general to direct. First learn the way to run the game, then study the other team. Learn its weaknesses and play them hard. But first of all get a general idea of the best method of play. Suppose the wind is blowing down the field. Say you're rushing the way the wind is blowing. Remember these things and you'll not go far wrong. When you are inside the twenty-yard line, kick. Don't be tempted to rush the ball—kick, no matter what the down may be. The wind will help you out. When you're between your twenty and forty yard line try one rush with a wide end run or another play that is planned for plenty of yardage. If it fails to go kick on second down. Don't wait till your very last chance to do it. Again, you're between your forty and fifty yard line. If you have first down try a play of the long gaining type. Try again if it doesn't work. If then you fail boot the ball. Remember that wind will help you out. If you have first down past the centre of the field, with forty-five yards between you and the goal, use line plays or wider ones. Kick again when the third down's called. If you're between your opponents' forty and twenty yard lines, try all you've got until fourth down. Then make a try for a goal from the field. If you are inside the eleven's twenty-yard line try three rushes or forward passes. If you're on fourth down try for a goal or spring a play that would not be expected. Don't try to plug the line in desperation. You've only one chance to make a gain. Try the kick, or take a chance. That is the time for your brain-storm plays. Follow this out in a general way and see if it isn't good advice.

DELAYED SCORING WON FOR ROSELLE

Plainfield High Kept Visitors at Bay Until the Final Minutes of Play.

DAVIES FREE KICK WON

Score 3 to 0—Conquerors of Central High Treated to a Severe Jolt On Parker Field Yesterday Afternoon.

After successfully warding off the attack of the speedy Roselle High School football representatives, conquerors of the formidable Central High eleven of Newark, for three and one half quarters by strong defensive play, the Plainfield High School warriors were treated to an unkindly jar in the final five minutes of play on Parker Field yesterday afternoon and the visitors by a sudden injection of strategy managed to send the pigskin over the crossbars from placement, for three points and victory. Thus, the Queen City delegation had its colors lowered for the first time this season after putting up a stubborn fight against mountain like odds for the greater part of the combat.

When the speedy Roselle backfield once got possession of the oval they tore up the local line with apparently no exertion and so weak was the red and blue defense that the Plainfield backfield was invariably stopped before it got started and offensive work was practically out of the question.

The wonderful aggressiveness of the visiting quartet of ball rushers was thwarted only by the Plainfielders' ability to keep the ball in the center of the field by long punts which were resorted to in nearly every instance when the red and blue color bearers got their hands on the illusive oval. By this means the Roselle players were kept from scoring but the locals were also contented to keep within a reasonable distance from the last chalk mark and the best anticipate was a scoreless tie. At no time did the Roselle line appear in danger but in several instances the forwards on the Plainfield High contingent weakened to such an extent that the Roselle boys were able to spurt for a short distance only to be brought to a sudden and abrupt halt through a fumble of piece of gridiron luck.

Every inch of ground was battled for by both elevens and while defeated the P. H. S. warriors have been able to find glory in defeat, for an acknowledged stronger and heavier regiment was given a scare that was anything but pleasant to the visitors. The Roselle line resembled a stone wall and the best the home rushers could do was to advance the ball a yard or so through one of the guards. Several times it looked like a touchdown for Roselle but the home eleven took a sudden brace and finally kicked the ball out of danger. The only scoring of the game came in the final few minutes of play when Gavett kicked the ball from his own five-yard line. The boot was high and Davies signalled for a free catch but Morris Mann, the local right end, was unacquainted with the play, and contrary to the rules, tackled the man who held his arm aloft. P. H. S. suffered a penalty of fifteen yards as a result and with the ball on the twenty-five yard line Davies lifted it squarely between the bars for three points and victory. The lineup and summary:

FEMININE RIVALS AFTER BORO FIVE

Opponents of N. P. H. S. Quintet Will Present Practically the Same Lineup.

Miss Ella Nelson, captain of the strong Battin High School girls' basketball team, is negotiating for a series of games with the North Plainfield High School feminine quintet, which produced two interesting struggles on the court with the Elizabetheans last year and is holding open a pair of dates which she hopes to fill with the borough maidens, who are the closest rivals of the Battin quintet. Miss Nelson issued her first call for practice on the hilltop yesterday and expects to have a five on the court this year equal, if not superior to the speedy one of last season, which played two games with N. P. H. S. The first game was played in Elizabeth and was won by the Battin quintet with a spurt in the last few minutes of play by a score of 13 to 9. The second struggle went to the boroughites with a count of 12 to 8 in Saengerbund Hall.

Among the other teams to be played by Battin are Westfield, Springfield, Millburn, Barringer and Vail Deane. Of the players who appeared against N. P. H. S. last fall, the following remain, Miss Ella Nelson, Miss Josephine Green, the phenomenal little forward who claimed a State title last year when she rang up twenty-eight points in one contest; Miss Otto, who was a "sub" last year; Miss Heilich and Miss Jacobs. There are a number of new players trying for the team and despite the fact that an entire squad of veterans remain, there will probably be several shifts.

LARGE BASKETBALL SQUAD AT N. P. H. S.

Eighteen Basketeers Reported at First Call for Practise.

Eighteen basketball players responded to the first call for practice held in Saengerbund Hall, yesterday afternoon. Captain Burner was much pleased with the new material and a fine second team will be developed to play against the varsity.

The first team will consist of three regular players and two substitutes of last year's team and the tryouts will be for the substitute positions. Among the probable candidates for the sub positions are Ronald Conroy, Warren Townley, Edson Day, Elmer French and Charles Beckman. Other good beginners have responded who will develop into good material in future years.

Much spirit and ginger was shown especially by the first team and at the end of a twelve minute game the score was 54 to 25 in their favor. Before the practice started part of the squad took a short run in order to get into shape as quickly as possible. Those who reported for the first workout are Ashley Burner, John Dawe, Ronald Conroy, Martin McDonough, Lester Chandler, Edson Day, Roy Love, Charles Beckman, Duclos Van Mater, Elmer French, Hyman Abrams, Warren Townley, Addison Newkirk, Wesley Hughes, Thomas Ball, Appleton Van Mater, Roy Force and Frank Dunning.

EDDIE LOOS HOLES OUT IN ONE ON 195-YARD DRIVE.

One of the most remarkable golf strokes reported in the Metropolitan district during the season was made on the course at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday, when Eddie Loos negotiated the thirteenth hole in 1. This hole is known as the "first on the hills" and is a straight uphill drive of 195 yards from tee to green.

The veterans of these links say this is the first time this hole was ever made in 1. Quite a number of people were present when Loos made the drive.

MRS. STOCKTON OUT OF NATIONAL MATCH

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 16.—Not one surprise developed yesterday in the second round of match play at the women's national golf championship tournament over the Wilmington links. In the first bracket it had been considered a toss-up between Miss Marion Hollins, of New York, and Miss Florence Harvey, Canada. The former won on the home hole by 1 up.

The only other match on which the slightest question had been raised was that between Miss Fannie Ossgood, Boston, and Miss Myra Helmer, Chicago, which the Western champion lost, 2 down and 1 to go.

Of the eight candidates remaining three are from England, one from New York and the other four equally divided between Philadelphia and Boston. Following the elimination of both Pittsburgers Tuesday, the two remaining Canadians passed out yesterday, as did all four of the Chicagoans.

The dominating feature of the day was the steadiness shown by the English women and the strength, in particular, of Miss Muriel Dodd, who is becoming a greater favorite for the title every minute.

Miss Harriot Curtis, in beating Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of Plainfield, 3 up and 1 to go, thrice swayed from being 1 down to square on the first eight holes, gaining her first lead at the ninth. A 6 on the first and an 8 at the third upset her stroke showing. Turning home the match was squared for the fourth and last time at the tenth. Mrs. Stockton thereafter won only the fourteenth hole, but halved two.

HUNTMANS FIND GOING HEAVY CHASING HOUNDS

The riding members of the Watchung Hunt Club met the hounds at the kennels at 3.30 o'clock yesterday and enjoyed a run of about eight miles through Samptown and finishing at Lincoln, where the check was made. The going was unusually heavy, the horses sinking in the soft ground almost up to their knees in some places. There was a strong wind blowing and this made riding difficult.

Among those who finished the chase were Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H., Harry A. Bourne, R. H. Towner, J. J. O'Donohue, F. D. French, Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue and Huntsman Harrison.

76 SILVER TROPHIES FOR POULTRY SHOW

Parade to Be Feature of Exhibition Scheduled for November.

The New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, at its meeting in Coward's Hall, last night, in planning for the annual poultry exhibit to be held at the city market, November 17-22, decided to hold a parade of all the exhibitors on the opening night of the show, to be led by the Dutch Arms Concert Band, of Trinity Reformed church. The exhibitors will parade through the principal business streets of the city.

It was announced that twenty-five more silver cups and a number of specials have been added to the prize list, making a total of seventy-six silver cups and a large number of specials.

In connection with the meeting, the members enjoyed an excellent talk by William H. Card, of Manchester, Conn., on "Birds In the Show Room," in which he gave a great many valuable suggestions to exhibitors. Mr. Card is secretary of the Rhode Island Red Club of America and is thoroughly informed on the subject of poultry.

The coming show, the slogan for which is "Great Quality Show," promises to be one of the best in this section of the country and already promises of a large number of entries have been received. They will include some of the best birds in the country.

HILLTOP LEAGUE FORMED.

The Interhaven A. C., composed of about twenty members, is heading an agitation to organize a Mountain Baseball League to start operations next spring. The Interhavens are the acknowledged champions of the hill district and the following teams have been mentioned as likely entrants: Berkeley Heights, Watchung A. C., Martinsville and Interhavens. The league season will start June 1. The following officers were elected to serve during the issuing year: President, C. I. Smalley; secretary and treasurer, I. W. Smalley, Interhaven baseball manager, R. W. Taylor, captain, B. Melcolm Marsh.

HARTER IN LAST GAME.

The final baseball game of the 1913 season will be played in Newark next Sunday morning when the Worthington nine clashes with the Ironsides on Park View Oval. Joe Harter, the Plainfield team's centerfielder, will play that position for the former nine.

First Actress In London.

It was a warm reception that was given to the first French players to appear in London in 1629. Their visit was an utter failure. It was notable, however, for the important innovation which was the chief cause of their unpopularity.

The luckless troupe introduced actresses for the first time on the English stage—"thereby giving just offence to all vertuous and well-disposed persons in this town," wrote Thomas Brande, reflecting the spirit of the playgoer of that time, who was used to seeing boys take the female characters.

These "French women, or monsters rather," were "hissed, booted and pippin pelted from the stage." The first move against this prejudice was not long delayed, however. Five years later another French company came to London with women players, under royal patronage, and were received "with good approbation" at the Cockpit in Whitehall.—London Graphic.

—There's not a dull, nor an unimportant ad in today's paper. There's not one that may safely be overlooked by any great number of the paper's readers.

ARMED STUDENTS GUARD SECRET FOOTBALL WORK.

East Lansing, Oct. 16.—Two companies of student cadets with rifles aslant their shoulders yesterday afternoon patrolled the environs of Michigan Agricultural college's athletic field, while the "Aggie" football squad engaged in secret practice for the game with the University of Michigan next Saturday. Cadet sentinels were posted at every avenue of approach to the football field to turn back scouts from Ann Arbor, should any such endeavor to spy upon the farmers.

INDICT CANDIDATE FOR BUYING VOTES

Warrant Out For Joseph B. Hoff of Lakewood.

RUNNING FOR FREEHOLDER

Alleged He Paid Money to Social and Political Club Members For Votes In His and T. A. Mathis' Behalf—Was Indicted Two Years Ago For Ballot Box Stuffing.

Lakewood, N. J., Oct. 16.—Joseph B. Hoff of this place, former chairman of the Ocean county Republican committee, candidate for freeholder and the recognized Republican machine boss of the county, was indicted by the grand jury on charges of buying votes at the primary election held last month.

Hoff was a candidate for the nomination for freeholder at the election, and it is alleged that he offered and paid a sum of money to the members of the South Side Social and Political club, a colored organization of this place, for votes in his behalf and in the behalf of Thomas A. Mathis, former senator from Ocean county and a senatorial candidate at the coming election.

The Progressive county organization learned of the irregularities at the primary and employed detectives on the case, with the result that much evidence was collected. Prosecutor Newman submitted the case to the grand jury, with the result that an indictment of three counts was found against Hoff. A warrant is out for his arrest, and he will be taken in custody.

Warrants are also out for the wholesale arrest of the club members, to be arraigned on the charge of selling their votes at the primary. Two years ago Hoff was indicted for ballot box stuffing in behalf of Mathis, who was then running for the senate in Lakewood township.

"DEAD" HUSBAND IN COURT.

Turns Up to Help His Successor to Get an Annulment.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 16.—There was a small sensation in the court of chancery here when Ephraim Franklin Lambert of Phillipsburg walked into the room, took the stand, and denied his wife's sworn testimony that he was dead and buried. It did not take Vice Chancellor Backes long to annul the woman's marriage to John Calvin Hamlin, also of Phillipsburg. Hamlin had instituted proceedings for the annulment when he learned that Lambert was alive.

In her answer to Hamlin's suit the woman said Lambert had been in his grave for years. She had married him in 1888, but left him six months later and married a man named McNeil, by whom she had ten children. McNeil died and in 1899 she married Hamlin.

Lambert not only proved that he was far from dead, but also asserted that he has been living within a few doors of his wife's present home.

CONVICT SULZER ON TEST BALLOT

Said That Vote Goes Against Him 39 to 18.

TEST CAME ON ARTICLE 1

Court Proceedings Not Revealed, but Seemingly Accurate Information Indicates That Formal Public Vote Will Fully Bear Out Report of the Secret Ballot.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Governor William Sulzer was found guilty of having made a false statement of campaign contributions, the charge set forth in article 1 of the impeachment against him, according to hardly questionable information that comes from the impeachment court, whose final deliberations are secret.

No member of the court will confirm the result, and the governor's friends still insist that the vote was not upon guilt or innocence, but only upon the validity of article 1. There is strong reason to believe, however, that the article is finally disposed of and the governor condemned. The seven other articles will be taken up today.

The vote reported was 39 to 18. The two-thirds required for conviction is 38. A change of one vote would have saved the governor.

Reported Vote of Judges.

Four court of appeals judges are said to have voted not guilty—Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen, Democrat; Willard Bartlett, Democratic nominee for chief judge; William E. Werner, Republican nominee for chief judge, and Emery A. Chase, Republican.

The five said to have been for conviction are William H. Cuddeback, John W. Hogan and Frederic Collin, Democrats, and F. H. Hiscock and Nathan L. Miller, Republicans.

Senator George H. Whitney of Mechanicsville, Republican and friend of former Senator Edgar T. Brackett of counsel for the prosecution, is in the list as having stood for acquittal. Senator Walter R. Herrick, Democrat, a half brother of Daddy Herrick, captain of the defense, is also said to have voted "not guilty."

There was no separate ballot as to the validity of impeachment articles 1 2 and 6. Early in the trial Judge Herrick moved that these articles, all relating to campaign contributions, be struck out on the theory that conduct that took place before Mr. Sulzer became governor was not a ground for impeachment. Division was reserved until the end of the trial.

Most persons supposed that the court would vote on this just before deciding as to guilt or innocence. But it did not.

It is understood that it was left to the members of the court before answering the roll call in voting for conviction or acquittal to determine this problem for themselves. Therefore it is supposed that some of the eighteen who said "Not guilty" did so because they thought that campaign contributions should not have been mentioned in the impeachment articles at all.

This roll call, while informal, is regarded as decisive, and if so it spells disaster to William Sulzer. It came as a surprise even to the Tammany foes of Mr. Sulzer, who all along had declared that the high court surely would sustain the impeachment found by the assembly. The roll call was completed just before the high court adjourned and had to do with the question whether Mr. Sulzer should be accounted guilty of the charge made in article 1 of the impeachment, wherein he is accused of violating the corrupt practices act by filing a false statement of campaign receipts and expenditures with the secretary of state.

No vote was recorded, but every member of the high court had his say as his name was called by the clerk. According to a well authenticated report, this roll call indicates what will be the vote on the official roll call which will be taken in public probably some time today.

URGED TO BAR JAPANESE.

Congressman Opposes Their Colonization in Florida.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Representative Clark of Florida addressed a letter to Governor Tramell of that state urging him to call the legislature in extraordinary session to enact a law to prohibit the Japanese from becoming land owners in the state of Florida.

Mr. Clark urges this course in view of the movement to colonize Japanese in Florida.

In his letter Mr. Clark said the negro problem is difficult enough without permitting another to develop through settlement in the state of Japanese.

EATON JURY VIEWS HOME AT ASSINIPPI

Instructed to Note Relations of Different Rooms.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 16.—The opening court proceedings in the Eaton murder case lasted but half an hour. The indictment charging Mrs. Eaton with administering white arsenic to the admiral, an eight page pamphlet, was read, the accused listening to it without evidences of emotion, after which the jury was taken to Assinippi to view the Eaton home, court being adjourned. The jurors were requested by District Attorney Barker to notice particularly the relations of the bedrooms upstairs, the position of their doors, the relation of the dining room, the front hall and front door. About fifteen minutes were spent by the jurors in the Eaton home, after which they returned to this town.

Miss Dorothy Ainsworth, youngest daughter of Mrs. Eaton, is staying at the same hotel where the prosecuting attorneys are housed, and today a deputy sheriff would allow no one to speak with her. Mrs. June Keyes, the other daughter, is living at another hotel where the lawyers for the defense have taken rooms.

GIANT LINER UNSATISFACTORY

Imperator Too Slow and Uses Too Much Coal.

Hamburg, Oct. 16.—The Hamburg-American line admitted, in spite of earlier denials, that the boilers of the Imperator have proved unsatisfactory and that complete rebuilding is necessary in order to reduce the excessive coal consumption and to increase the speed of the vessel.

The builders, by their contract, were required to compensate the company for the compulsory retirement of the steamship from service and will have to pay approximately $1,500 for every day she is laid off.

POISONED HER CHILDREN.

Woman Confesses She Murdered Four of Them.

Waco, Tex., Oct. 16.—Mrs. Ellen Etheridge, second wife of J. D. Etheridge, a farmer, of Bosque county, confessed she murdered two of her stepchildren last June and two on Oct. 2 by administering poison, according to a statement given out by H. S. Dillard, prosecuting attorney of Bosque.

Jealousy because her husband showered all his affections upon his eight children was assigned by the woman as the reason for her act.

Mrs. Etheridge was married to her present husband last spring.

Kills Detective; Shoots Self.

Joplin, Mo., Oct. 16.—After a running fight with police in the center of the business district here, in which he shot and slightly wounded Joseph Reubart, a detective, Charles Barham reloaded his pistol and shot and killed himself.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

MARKET, HALSEY & WASHINGTON STS.

YOUR NEW STORE

Its Past--- Its Present--- Its Future---

One year ago today the NEWEST of the World's great stores opened wide its doors to admit the admiring thousands who had watched the giant structure rear its white walls skyward.

A year has passed over our heads, but that year has been a momentous one. The work of building and planning and the pomp of opening were but incidents—path stones of progress, as it were. Our great task lay in giving to the public of Newark and vicinity stocks and store service and SATISFACTION commensurate with the palatial structure which now houses us.

Have we succeeded?

We shall leave that to YOU and to the tens of thousands of NEW CUSTOMERS who have made this store THEIRS during the twelvemonth just passed. There can be but one verdict.

Why has this store succeeded? Why has it DOUBLED ITS BUSINESS during the past year? Why does it occupy such a high position in the estimation of New Jersey people?

Not because it is one of the COUNTRY'S LARGEST STORES. Not because it is one of the WORLD'S FINEST STORES. Not because it is well located. The success of the Greater Store lies in the fact that in principle it is one of the most liberal establishments in existence; that its service is perfect; that its stocks are complete and that its PRICES ARE RIGHT. Without these, the glistening white walls and rich mahogany fixtures would be ghastly mockeries. It is the principle and the great idea BACK of Bamberger's rather than the store itself.

THE BAMBERGER STORE STANDS UPON ITS OWN FOOTING. IT HAS NO CONNECTIONS OR ASSOCIATIONS WITH ANY OTHER STORE OR GROUP OF STORES.

The Bamberger store is owned and controlled by its founders. It has no connection with any other store, syndicate or association. What it chooses to do it does WITHOUT OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE or suggestion. Its policies are its own. This policy of independence has been a wonderful factor in the past and it will continue to be in the future. This store is unhampered by outside interests and untrammeled by tradition. Its course, as Benjamin Franklin said, is as clear as "the way to market." The only tradition that Bamberger's has to cope with is the tradition of honest and liberal business dealing. That tradition is the BULWARK of its success. That tradition will ever be adhered to.

We thank you for your hearty good will and patronage. We thank you for the way in which you have supported this great enterprise during its first year.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET BEST YET

ELECT CRANE AS HEAD

Rev. Dr. Eaton Talks on "The Privilege Teachers Have in Leading Boys and Girls to the Higher Life"—401 Delegates.

The annual convention of the Union County Sunday-school Association held at Summit, yesterday, was the most successful in the history of the organization. There were 401 registered delegates, the largest number ever attending such a gathering and the program was considered the strongest ever presented. Rev. Evarts C. Conover, of the Temple Baptist church, this city, the retiring president, occupied the chair during the day.

The morning and afternoon sessions were devoted to business, the reception of reports from all departments, conferences, committee meetings, all of which showed great progress in the work of the schools throughout the county. The report of A. Lennox Crane, of Springfield, corresponding secretary and treasurer, showed that there are sixteen districts in the county, with 128 schools, nineteen of which have not reported. Eight are union schools. Forty-five have the beginners' departments, fifty-one have primary, forty-seven junior, eighteen senior and twenty-four registered adult classes. There are 2,515 officers and teachers, and 18,425 members, making a total of 20,940. The home department, cradle roll, etc., bring the total up to 26,584. The average attendance is 11,583. During the year 752 pupils have joined churches and 3,300 are church members.

The receipts during the year amounted to about $681.68 and the disbursements were $599.94, including $400 to the State association, leaving a present balance of $82.66.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, A. M. Crane, of Roselle Park; vice-presidents, Rev. J. Y. Broek, of this city, and Rev. Minot C. Morgan, of Summit, (there were no other changes in the other vice-presidents); recording secretary, Howard Broach, of Fanwood; corresponding secretary and treasurer, A. Lennox Crane, of Springfield.

The feature of last night's session was the address of Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, who lives at Waichung. His subject was "The Privilege Teachers Have in Leading Boys and Girls to the Higher Life." He emphasized the importance of the teacher in the school, and the necessity of having the right kind of consecrated teachers.

FRANKLIN COUNCIL OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Jr. O. U. A. M. Lodge Celebrates its Twenty-sixth Anniversary.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., celebrated its twenty-sixth anniversary, last night, there being an attendance of about two hundred members and visiting men of the order. The greater part of the evening was taken up in initiating twenty candidates into the mysteries of the third degree. This work was done in an impressive manner by the uniform degree team of the council.

State Council Conductor R. F. P. von Minden made an address, speaking especially on the principles of the order and telling of the progress being made in increasing the membership. He spoke of the State Council convention to be held at Atlantic City at which time it is expected that there will be at least 10,000 members in line in the parade. The degree team from Franklin Council plans to attend and have a partin the initiatory work.

After the meeting, last night, the good and welfare committee of Franklin Council, served refreshments. The council started with a membership of forty-one and today it has reached 450 and is steadily growing.

INVASION OF STATE BY HIRAM JOHNSON

T. R.'s Running Mate Will Speak in Plainfield on Thursday Night, Oct. 29.

Governor Hiram T. Johnson, of California, who was Theodore Roosevelt's running mate at the presidential election last year, will pass three days in New Jersey, campaigning in the interests of Everett Colby, Progressive gubernatorial candidate. He and Mr. Colby will be the speakers at a big Progressive rally to be held in Elizabeth on Monday night, October 27, when all the other Progressive candidates will also be heard. The place of the meeting will be announced within the next few days.

State Committeeman Knapp yesterday announced several Progressive meetings that have been arranged in various places of the county in behalf of the Colby candidacy. On the night of Tuesday, October 28, there will be a rally in the Rahway Auditorium, at which Henry Allen a prominent Kansas editor who has done much for the Progressive cause in that State, will be the principal speaker. Other Progressives prominent locally will also make addresses.

On the following night, October 29, there will be a meeting in Summit, at which Bainbridge Colby, of New York, who was prominently associated last year with the Roosevelt candidacy and who was one of the speakers at the Progressive dollar dinner given in Turn Hall, Elizabeth, will deliver the principal address.

On Thursday, October 29, or two days before the county tour of Governor Fielder, Mr. Colby will make a whirlwind campaign of Union county. He will be accompanied by Mr. Allen, State Committeeman Knapp and the various local candidates of the Progressive party. Speeches will be made in practically every municipality of the county, and at night they will attend rallies in Plainfield, Westfield and Roselle Park.

INSPECT 'SKEETER IN UNION COUNTY

State Officials Accompanied by County Commission on Tour Visit Plainfield.

Accompanied by the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission and the health officers of the municipalities in the county, the State officers yesterday made an inspection of the work done during the year. Among those who made the tour were: Dr. Thomas J. Headley, State etymologist; Joseph S. Obecny, State inspector; Louis J. Richards, health officer of Elizabeth and secretary of the commission; Dr. James S. Green, Frederick W. Sell, of Rahway; Dr. W. H. Lawrence, of Summit; Dr. Frank C. Ard, of Plainfield, a member of the commission; John W. Dobbins, chief inspector of Essex county, and Dr. Ralph H. Hunt, of Essex county. W. C. Hope, treasurer of the comission, was unable to attend.

The first stop was made at Cranford, where the swamps along Springfield avenue were drained. The second stop was at Garwood, and the third at Westfield, where the township lake property was drained at a cost of $300, one-third of which was paid by the commission. In Summit there were inspected a pool at Russell place that had been drained and also one along Woodlawn avenue. Five pools were drained at Passaic avenue.

In Plainfield the commission found that Green brook has been drained, it costing the city $700. Drainage also has been made in the pools that existed along Randolph road and Woodland avenue. In Fanwood township and borough several swamps have been drained.

In Rahway there has been considerable cleaning of ditches and brooks near the William R. Walrath plant in East Milton avenue, near Montgomery street. At Trembley, where sods were used to fill in some of the breeding places, conditions are splendid. The Standard Oil Company has assisted the committee in exterminating the pest at this point. Five ponds along the west side of Edgar street, Linden, have been filled.

In Elizabeth the swamps along the Summer street bridge have been drained.

During the season there have been 200,000 house-to-house inspections, which consist of inspecting tin cans, tubs and barrels. Four men now are employed. At the beginning of the season there were twenty-one men employed. The winter work will consist in filling in the low places and to keep the ditches open.

HERMANN FILES HIS DECLINATION

REASONS ANNOUNCED

Considers His Opponents, Clay, Rep., and Ivins, Dem., Both Good Men—Progressives to Support Claybrook and Lapsley.

After a thorough discussion of the situation by the Progressive city committee, at the meeting held on Wednesday night, Henry W. Herrman has filed his declination as a candidate for the Common Council in the Second ward. In view of the fact that George S. Clay, the Republican candidate, who is president of the city's governing body, and DeWitt C. Ivins, the Democratic nominee, are both men who, it is considered, would serve the city well and faithfully, and because there are no other Progressive candidates for ward councilmen, it was decided that it would be best not to make a contest in this one ward. A. M. Morrell, the only Progressive candidate for councilman-at-large who was regularly nominated by petition, will have the full Progressive vote and support, and it is the belief that the Progressive strength in the city will be thrown to the support of the candidacy of Howard Lapsley and Richard A. Claybrook for councilmen-at-large, both now running on the Democratic ticket, and both are considered excellent men for the office.

Mr. Herrman has felt for some time that his position as the lone ward candidate, running against two men of such high character as Mr. Clay and Mr. Ivins was an embarrassing one, as the whole effort of the Progressive party is to secure fit candidates for office who are progressive in local affairs. He waited, however, to consult other members of the party before announcing his final determination, and after expressing his views on the situation to the city committee on Wednesday night the members of that body agreed that it would be best for him to withdraw.

Former Mayor Moy took the declination to Elizabeth yesterday and filed it with County Clerk Calvert as required by law.

In view of the presence of so distinguished a speaker, the Brotherhood has extended an invitation to men's associations of the local churches to be present.

The Dutch Arms Concert Band of Trinity Reformed church as well as the Dutch Arms has been invited and it will furnish a pleasing program of music.

EXPATRIATE SOLD METUCHEN FARM

Prof. Herron, Who Took Miss Rand as "Companion", Got $175,000.

WILL LIVE IN ITALY

Socialistic Writer Feels He's Not Appreciated in America and so He and "Wife" Will Become Italians.

One of the largest real estate deals recently made in this vicinity was consummated at Metuchen yesterday when Walter Williams, of Plainfield road, purchased from Professor George Herron the latter's 235 acre farm in Metuchen for $175,000. Herron attracted country-wide attention several years ago when he became the husband of Miss Carrie Rand by a "new and simple ceremony," whereby they took each other as "companions," and shortly afterwards settled down in Metuchen on the farm which he had bought.

Herron is a socialist writer and suddenly deciding that his work would be better appreciated by Italians than by Americans, has gone to Italy never to return to the land of the Stars and Stripes. Shortly after his "marriage," the writer went into seclusion on the big farm near here and was seldom seen by his fellow citizens. He spent much of his time as an author, writing socialistic novels and has had several published. The professor and his "bride" will live at Florence.

Mr. Williams purchased the big tract of land from the writer but will continue to reside in his present home on Plainfield road, using the new land as a truck farm.

NON-SUIT IN ACTION AGAINST A MAYOR

Attempt of Ontario Man to Recover for Stock Purchased of Harwood Fisk Fails.

Dr. George Bingham, of Hamilton, Ontario, was non-suited by Judge Vail in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth yesterday in the action brought against Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park, to recover $1,000 paid for stock in the Gem Dredging Company, a Brazilian diamond and gold mining proposition, promoted by the executive. This is the second order of the kind entered by the court in suits brought by persons who alleged that they had been induced to invest by Mr. Fish on fraudulent representations. Both cases will be appealed.

In ordering the dismissal of the complaints, Judge Vail said that in neither case had it been shown that wilful misrepresentation had been practiced or that the investors had been damaged. They still have the stock and whether or not the land where the mines were to have been operated would fail in the rich yield claimed, had not been substantiated.

The first suit dismissed was the one brought by Emilie Lams, of Roselle. He invested $2,250. Immediately after the non-suit had been entered, the action instituted by Dr. Bingham was moved. That was Wednesday afternoon. The physician had come all the way from Canada to this city to testify and was the first witness called. The case was resumed yesterday morning by the reading of depositions made by a number of residents of Hamilton, among them being Dr. Frank E. W. Bates and Sheldon Bingham, a son of the plaintiff.

The court held that the testimony of the plaintiff did not lay a foundation for the charges.

The suit brought by Oliver Conlen as sergeant-at-arms of the District Court against Samuel Lemmerman and Hyman Ross was tried yesterday afternoon. The action grew out of a levy made by Mr. Conlen to satisfy a judgment obtained in the District Court against Lemmerman. After the goods had been attached, Ross claimed that they were his and prevented the sale to satisfy the judgment. The action is to establish ownership and also to vacate the order restraining the sale.

The suit was started during the May term, but owing to a technicality which made only Lemmerman party to the defense, it was dismissed in order to be properly brought and include Ross.

JAMES DAVIS RETURNS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, formerly of Plainfield, but who have been living in El Paso, Texas, for some time, have returned to this city and they will occupy S. H. Whitney's home on Madison avenue for the winter. Before going to Texas Mr. Davis was in the employ of the Plainfield Cab Company.

EFFINGHAM PINTO ROBBERS' VICTIM

ASSAILANTS ESCAPE

Pinto and Fellow Thespians Give Battle to Highwaymen—Victim the Son of W. A. Pinto, of This City.

Effingham Pinto, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Pinto, of West Eighth street, who appeared in "The Climax," and other successful theatrical productions, with Homer Walters, who are appearing in stock in Cleveland, were held up by highwaymen in Cleveland early in the week, and as a result Mr. Pinto received a severe injury to his eye, the sight of which physicians are now trying to save. The following story is taken from a Cleveland newspaper of Wednesday:

"Under an electric light at Prospect avenue, Southeast and East Thirtieth street, at 12 a. m., yesterday, three men, the police say, attempted to rob Effingham Pinto, an actor, living at Fern Hall, 3250 Euclid avenue, and Homer Walters, of the Duchess theatre. After one of the robbers had pointed a revolver at Pinto, Walters knocked down another of the holdup men.

"Pinto and Walters battled with the men until a touring car occupied by two women and two men approached. Pinto and Walters broke away and jumped on the running board of the machine. The holdup men ran. The driver of the machine speeded up to catch them, but slowed down at the pleas of the women in the car. When the police were found, all trace of the holdup men was lost. One of Pinto's eyes was seriously hurt."

MISS BETZOLD WILL BE BRIDE OF R. B. GIDDIS

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Mary Louisa Betzold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam E. Betzold, of Mt. Bethel, and Rufus B. Giddis, of Martinsville. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Wednesday evening, October 29, at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Giddis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Giddis, of Martinsville, and both he and Miss Betzold are well-known in this city, where they have many relatives and acquaintances. The couple is active in church and social circles in their respective homes. A large number of Plainfielders have received invitations to the wedding.

COLORED VOTERS FORM CAMPAIGN ORGANIZATION

John J. Carroll, chairman of the City Republican Executive Committee, met with colored voters in the rooms of the Colored Civic Club at 324 Plainfield avenue, last night, and organized a Plainfield Republican Club. Mr. Carroll addressed the voters and plans were discussed for making a complete canvas of the colored voters of the city. Another meeting will be held at the same place on Monday night when local candidates will be present and officers will be elected.

UNION GRAND JURY HAS TOTAL OF 19 INDICTMENTS

Elizabeth, Oct. 17.—Nineteen indictments were handed down by the Grand Jury yesterday, making a total of twenty-three true bills presented this term. It is understood that three of the homicide cases have been considered. The trial of criminal cases will begin Monday.

GAMBLING CHARGE FAILS.

Bert Rogers, colored, formerly city dog catcher, and now conducting a pool room in Liberty street, was declared not guilty when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of allowing gambling in his establishment. He was arrested by Patrolman Saunders, on information, the police say, furnished by Harry Lewis. William Oliver, who manages the pool parlor, was also arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, but this charge was also dismissed. Rogers claimed that the charge against him was "trumped up" by Lewis because he refused to loan him money.

William Sulzer,

William Sulzer was born on Liberty street, in Elizabeth, N. J., on March 18, 1863, the second son in a family of seven children. His mother, Lydia, was of Scotch-Irish and Dutch ancestry. His father, Thomas, was born in Germany. While a student at Heidelberg in 1848 he joined the patriotic forces fighting for constitutional government. He was captured and imprisoned and after escaping to Switzerland came to America in 1851.

Young Sulzer was graduated from a grammar school in 1877. He studied at the Columbia College Law school and in the office of the firm of Parrish & Pendleton in New York city. His parents were Presbyterians and intended him for the ministry.

When he was twenty-one he was admitted to the bar and immediately began practice. He was elected to the assembly in 1889 and was re-elected for five terms, in 1894 acting as leader of the Democratic minority. In the same year he was elected to the Fifty-fourth congress and successively won re-election. He was elected governor in 1912.

CONVENTION WORK OF STATE'S W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Bodine Give Accounts of Proceedings.

Reports from the State convention, together with a pleasing musical program, made the parlor meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the home of Mrs. A. C. Hunting on West Front street, yesterday afternoon, an enjoyable affair. There were about twenty members of the union present. Mrs. John B. Cottrell sang as a solo, "The Bird With the Broken Wing," and Mrs. L. A. Udell and Miss Clyde Burnett rendered a duet.

Mrs. Peter H. Bennett gave a condensed and comprehensive report of the State convention which was held recently at Millville, which brought much encouragement to the women in their work. Mrs. T. C. Bodine augmented Mrs. Bennett's report with a few side-lights on the convention and also read the "war cry" song of the Union, "A Saloonless Nation in 1920," which was originated by the State Christian Endeavor Union. Following the meeting refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

SULZER OUSTED; GLYNN GOVERNOR

Not Guilty on Last Three of Eight Articles of Impeachment High Court Holds.

THE VOTE 43 TO 12

(By Telegraph to the Daily Press.)

Albany, Oct. 17.—William Sulzer is no longer Governor of New York State having been removed by the Impeachment Court by a vote of 43 to 12, shortly before noon today. He was found guilty on three out of eight counts, four of which were disposed of yesterday and the other four this morning. During the final vote on impeachment Chief Judge Cullen and Senator Wende were excused from voting. The impeachment of Sulzer on the first three counts was exclusively told to the local public in yesterday afternoon's issue of the Daily Press.

The court's first action today was to vote unanimously that Governor Sulzer was not guilty under article five, which charged that he prevented Witness Colwell from testifying before the Frawley Committee. On article six, which alleged larceny on the part of Sulzer, the unanimous vote also was not guilty. On articles seven and eight, charging the bartering of votes in the direct primary campaign and influencing stock market legislation, respectively, the unanimous verdict was not guilty.

The resolution for removing Governor Sulzer from office was then carried by a vote of 43 to 12, Justice Cullen and Senator Wende being excused from voting.

The following Senators voted against the removal of Governor Sulzer: Duhamel, Emerson, Heacock, McKnight, O'Keefe, Palmer, Peckham, Steeley, Stivers, Thomas, Wheeler and Whitney. The resolution to disqualify Sulzer from future office holding was defeated unanimously, Justice Cullen being excused from voting.

The court adjourned sine die exactly at noon.

Secretary Platt anounced that Mr. Sulzer would issue a declaration of war later.

The Legislature adjourned until next Wednesday night, when Governor Glynn will send a message detailing what legislation is necessary, including the direct tax and other financial measures. It is likely that some nominees to fill existing vacancies in State offices also will be sent to the Senate by Governor Glynn.

SAURER TEAM GETS DAILY PRESS CUP

Awarded to That Team at Closing Meeting of the City League Last Night.

The closing meeting of the City Baseball League was held in the rooms of the West End Athletic Club last night when the remaining business left over after the championship race was disposed of. Reports showed the the league had an unusually successful season for a first year organization and about eighteen dollars remains as a surplus in the treasury. This will be used as a basis for reorganization next year.

The Daily Press trophy, offered by this paper for the winner of the league pennant, was officially presented to the Saurer combination, winners of the title, last night, and will be placed in a trophy case in the company's offices. Although some of the athletes who have been playing baseball in the league suggested the formation of a basketball league on a similar basis no definite action was taken and the matter will probably be dropped.

HOPE CHAPEL PRACTICE.

Jack Martin, coach of the Hope chapel basketball team, has issued a call for practice tomorrow night when the team will be treated to a stiff drill and practice game prior to the opening of the court season two weeks from tomorrow night. All candidates are requested to be on deck at that time in full basketball regalia.

GIRLS' TEAM WANTS GAMES.

A number of former Ridgewood High School feminine athletes are organizing a girls basketball team to play rival teams in the State and have sent a communication to this paper as a means of getting in touch with other teams of like strength. They will play all of their games on the Ridgewood Y. M. C. A. court on Saturday nights and all teams desiring games should address Miss Hazel Cubberley, of 19 High Wood avenue Ridgewood, N. J.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

About thirty public school principals, members of the High School Principals' Round Table, visited the Plainfield High School yesterday morning, making a general inspection of the various class rooms.

Miss Alice Gifford, instructor in German, has been called away because of serious illness in her family and Miss Geraldine Moody is substituting for her. She will be away indefinitely.

A tennis tourney is being arranged among the student body and entries are now being received for the event.

The High School Chess Club which has been a successful factor in the school's activities for several years, is being reorganized and a tournament similar to the one held last year will be started in the near future. There are a number of good chess players in P. H. S. and it is probable that some games with outside scholastic teams will be arranged this year.

All of the material for the October number of the Oracle, the school paper, is due next Monday.

A movement is underway to organize a tennis team to represent the school against other teams of the State on the court and several of the best players in the school have signified their intention of joining such an aggregation. The games played against Westfield High School yesterday afternoon served as a preliminary practise.

Owing to the fact that the auditorium is not yet ready for use, the annual minstrel performance of the Boys' Athletic Association will probably have to be postponed until after the holidays.

Benjamin Evans, of the High School, has returned from New York State, where he has been spending a two weeks' vacation.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Principal Earley has posted in every classroom a red card on which is printed the laws and regulations concerning forest fires in the State of New Jersey. His idea is that all the pupils shall acquaint themselves thoroughly with this important subject and realize the seriousness of it and the penalties connected with it.

At a meeting of the decoration committee for the senior dance it was decided to decorate the hall with the class colors, brown and gold. Crepe paper and autumn leaves will be used for the decorations. Helen Woodruff is chairman of the committee.

Miss Ray, instructor of English, had a vote taken in the senior English class as to how to make the recitation periods more interesting. The majority of the class wanted current events introduced and Miss Ray decided to give it a trial. A part of one period a week will be given for the discussion of international topics.

At the chapel exercises this morning, Mary Martin, '14, recited a funny selection, entitled, "Taking Care of Baby."

—Among the many things advertised by the stores today there are certain to be some things which you want to buy today. And that fact makes the ads of as much interest to you as anything that will concern you in the day's routine.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

"The Fool and His Money"

There are stores that sell clothing to "catch" the transient trade.

They cater to the passer-by, who, seeing a suit in the window, notes its price, counts his coin, and rushes in to buy!

He tacitly acknowledges that his customer will never come back for more.

But Rothberg's Store is run on a different plan.

When we sell a man clothing, we expect to see him again and again—AND YET AGAIN!

We would rather close our doors for good and all than to have our store, which enjoys the reputation for square dealing, degenerate into a gilded fool-trap, or to play "second fiddle" in the Orchestra of Good Values in this town.

HUNTING AND FISHING

The few days of sharp weather sent a number of winter fishermen to the ocean piers in search of frost fish. They just took a chance, as none was about. The ling are arriving and the whiting will follow.

Private individuals are building a toll bridge from Somers Point to Ocean City across one of the best fishing waters in the State. The bridge is about one and a half miles long and we predict that it will be a great place for striped bass and sheepshead, as well as for weakfish and bluefish.

The smelt fishermen of Connecticut are getting ready for the annual run. While there is not much to get ready, still the fishermen talk about it for a month. We expect to take a few friends up to South Norwalk after them as soon as they dismiss the channel bass from their minds. There is quite a difference between the two kinds of fishing, but smelts are good eating.

The woodcock shooting along the Passaic River is very good. William Harrison and James McCormick killed eleven Monday just above Singac. They report finding some quail in that section, also.

Golden plover, yellow-leg snipe and other shore birds are very plentiful along the shore from Bayhead to Cape May. The plover are exceedingly thick close to Somers Point.

Large weakfish are being caught in Barnegat in the vicinity of the inlet. Boats from the Barnegat Hunting and Fishing Club are bringing quite a few three and four-pound fish.

There is no better time than the present for a few men to get together and purchase a game preserve of some kind right here in New Jersey. The time is fast approaching when there won't be an inch of space left open to the hunting public throughout the State. Everywhere one travels in the southern part of New Jersey the new sign, "No Hunting Permitted," is met with. It is a new feature down there, but it is a warning. A dozen men can purchase a preserve of say 100 acres for very little money, and incorporate as a club, and for years to come enjoy hunting on their own property.

THE BLUE OF THE SKY.

It Is Caused by the Oxygen in the Air, Says a Scientist.

Professor Spring of the University of Liege has a theory of his own regarding the blue of the sky.

Scientists have tried to explain the blue of the sky ever since the days of Leonardo da Vinci and Sir Isaac Newton. Some have held that it was due to the polarization of the solar light, while others have held that the blueness is due to the reflection, or, rather, the vibration, upon the minute drops of water which the atmosphere holds in suspension or upon the matter in the atmosphere, according to Tyndall.

Professor Spring has rejected all these theories, denying the "dust theory" altogether. He holds with Lord Rayleigh that instead of the dust increasing the blueness it diminishes it greatly. And according to Professor Spring, all of the appearances of blue tints in the atmosphere are explicable when we consider liquid oxygen. "Liquid air" is known to be decidedly blue in color, so the contention that blueness is due to the oxygen in the air seems to be substantiated.

If condensed and liquid air are blue in color it is most probable that the blueness of the sky is due to the oxygen in it.—New York World.

INGENUITY IN SUICIDE.

This Parisian Planned a Most Dramatic Taking Off.

Some years ago, when there was an epidemic of dramatic suicides in Paris, a man who had visited the French capital told of an extraordinary suicide he had heard of in that gay city.

"He was a Frenchman, who was nothing if not original," said the teller of the tale, "and even when he grew despondent he planned his death in a most original fashion. He locked the door of his room in the Rue Nitot and, removing the weights of the window cord, fastened them to the window itself. He added to the weight of the window by attaching six flatirons. On the sill he adjusted a large triangular bread knife, such as is used by chefs, and made ready a small balloon, capable of lifting fifty pounds.

"The ingenious Frenchman then put his head out of the window after attaching the balloon to his neck and by releasing the clamp that held the window cut his head off completely with the improvised guillotine. The decapitated body was discovered several days later, but it was not until the balloon and the head were found a week later in the field of a peasant, eighteen miles from Paris, that the method of suicide was really known."

Cornish Humor.

The magistrate at the Liskeard police court might well have excused the laughter which greeted the remark of a police witness only a short time ago who said with all seriousness: "He was drunk, your honor, and couldn't stand. I told him to go away, and as he wouldn't I locked him up."

The laugh in another court was against the solicitor who severely asked, "Were you present when you heard this?"

Mixed metaphors are not a peculiar nor indeed a common failing of the Cornishman, but a certain eloquent town councilor quite recently got entangled when in the course of a protracted debate on the momentous subject of the local dust bins he declared indignantly, "It is time we put our foot down with a loud voice."—English Illustrated Magazine.

Buried Upside Down.

If Major Labelliere of Dorking was buried on the top of Box hill, head downward, in 1800, he probably got the idea from Mr. Hall of Leith Hill place, who in 1767 built the tower on the neighboring Leith hill and was buried there six years later. The usual Leith hill story, as recorded by one writer, is that the tower "marks the spot where an eccentric farmer of the neighborhood was buried on horseback upside down, so that when the world was turned, as he believed it then soon would be, topsy-turvey, he might at last come up in the right position." The tradition might easily be transferred from one hill to its neighbor. There seems no doubt, however, that Mr. Hall was buried on the summit of Leith hill.—London Chronicle.

Chief Justice's "Hantecedents."

Lord Alverstone's gift of song has sent the tourist on his track. There is a story that one Sunday an American lady attended the morning service at St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, and asked the verger which of the choristers in the chancel was the lord chief justice. "Well, mum," replied that dignitary, "that is the vicar, and them's the curates, and I'm the verger. But as for the choir, as long as they does their duty we don't inquire info their hantecedents."—London Chronicle.

Hard Luck.

"So your baby won a prize in the baby show?"

"Yes," replied the proud but worried father. "And I guess we'll move out of the community. All the envious neighbors will resent it as long as he lives."—Washington Star.

LAND OF MIRAGES

Death Valley and Its Treacherous Lures of Beauty.

WORK OF A GOOD SAMARITAN.

Beck, the Prospector, Who Has Made the Desert Bloom With Guideposts Pointing the Way to Water and Saved Many Men From Death.

In the American Magazine is an article about Lew Westcott Beck, who is known as the "good Samaritan of Death valley." He and his dog, Rufus, have saved many prospectors from a horrible death by making the desert blossom with guideposts showing the way to water. The following is an extract from the article:

"Time was when Beck was a plain prospector in the Cripple Creek country. He was in on the diggings at Leadville, and he panned around in Montana awhile. Likewise he rushed into the Big Horn at the time of the mineral strike there, but he never struck a lead that made him rich.

"Eventually he drifted down through Nevada and into Death valley, chasing rainbows. Wild rumors about 'Death Valley' Scotty's big find in that section electrified the country, and scores of prospectors rushed into the desert, expecting to make their fortune in a few days. Beck was 'among those present.'

"There were several in Beck's party. They hiked many miles through the mirage land, finding nothing worth while and worrying constantly lest they exhaust their supply of water. For two days they sought water holes, and when out of water they went for hours with tongues swollen and lips parched from want of moisture. Then when death seemed inevitable they suddenly discovered a tiny stream trickling out of a canyon at the base of the Panamint mountains.

"When Beck returned to civilization he was a changed man. He had seen sands that were strewn with skulls, and that sight had put a big idea into his head.

"Came spring, and Beck made another trip through Death valley. At his side was a Newfoundland dog. The prospector carried a bundle of tin strips. They were signboards to guide the wanderers' steps aright.

"Each summer since then the prospector and his dog have made a journey to the land of the purple mist, piling up rocks and attaching signs to them, searching for lost travelers and incidentally keeping a lookout for a piece of precious metal. Once or twice Rufus has led his master to prospectors who, after long suffering from thirst, had fallen upon the burning sands to die.

"In signboarding the desert Beck has saved a number of thirst mad rainbow chasers and has also in remote districts stumbled upon the bleaching bones of dead men who may have found fortunes in the silver sulphuret district, but who did not live to tell the world about it. At one time he assisted at the burial of four men who died of thirst within two miles of a spring.

"The country that Beck traverses is the most arid section of the American continent—a dreary stretch of hundreds of miles of desert, dotted here and there with foothills, buttes, dry creek beds, chaparral, prickly pear and sagebrush. Springs are miles upon miles apart. Most of them are bitterly alkali, and some are poison.

"On an ordinary summer afternoon the thermometer runs up to about 134 degrees in the shade out in Death valley, and the most unpleasant thing about it is that there is a dearth of shade. When man ventures out upon this trackless expanse the shimmering heat dazes him, the scarcity of water crazes him, and the mirage—treacherous, lying thing of beauty that it is—looms ever before him, flashing upon the canvas of his mind's eye a verdant valley, gorgeously green with growing things, fresh with flowers, wet with water and waiting to welcome him.

"He can see grassy hill slopes just ahead, and the mirrored lake appears to lie just beyond some beckoning meadow. He follows on and on and afterward drains the last drop from his canteen. Then his throat becomes parched, his tongue cleaves to the roof of his mouth, and strange things pass before his eyes. The buzzards begin to soar over him, and the coyotes sit upon their hunkers and watch him chase rainbows until he pitches forward upon his face and closes his eyes upon a world that is too mysterious and merciless for him to linger in longer."

Song of a Little River.

There's no music like a little river's. It plays the same tune (and that's the favorite) over and over again, and yet it does not weary of it like men fiddlers. It takes the mind out of doors, and, though we should be grateful for good houses, there is, after all, no house like God's out of doors. And, lastly, sir, it quiets a man down like saying his prayers.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Rejected.

He—Be mine and you will make me the happiest man in the world. She—I'm very sorry, but unfortunately I want to be happy myself.—Boston Transcript.

Evil counsel is swift in its march.—Plutarch.

THE MINISTERS AWAKE.

It has remained for the Pittsbugh, Pa., synod of the Reformed church to go on record officially as favoring a minimum salary for its preachers. It fixes $900 per year and a parsonage as the lowest figure to be offered any man to preach the gospel. The establishment of $900 per year and a parsonage for its preachers means more than the mere question of material welfare of the ministers and their families. It means that, however much the preachers may argue against the agitations of organized labor over the wage problems, the causes for the propaganda are real and deadly.

The same body has joined in the labor agitation, and whether they like it or not, other churches will be forced to recognize it, too. They may use other words, and the words may not be so clear as those of the organization named, but the meaning will be the same, regardless of the language employed. The preachers are "up against" the minimum wake problem as hard as the day wage worker, but they have been slower to admit it.

As to the question of the minimum salary named it need not be discussed here. The main point is that the ministers have been forced to classify themselves as victims of the economic system, and to cry out against it. And, just like the wage workers, they have seen the futility of waiting upon the benevolence of the exploiting class to give the relief. They have seen that if they are to be set free from the depressing conditions that hem them in they must make the fight themselves. The slave always must free himself. The slave-owning class, even when convinced of the evils of the slave system, never set free their slaves.

Deciding to free themselves and not wait upon the class above, the preachers have made a distinct step in advance. They recognize the existence of conditions which they have denied, or ignored. When those conditions enter into their own homes they have less trouble to see them. In admitting themselves to be human wage working units the preachers have put themselves where they can see things in a better light.

HIRAM JOHNSON COMING.

When Theodore Roosevelt's running mate in the recent Presidential campaign, Governor Hiram Johnson, speaks for Everett Colby in this city on Thursday night, Oct. 30, it is safe to say he will have the largest audience of this or any recent campaign, excepting only those marking Woodrow Wilson's invasion of Plainfield. The Progressives know how to advertise their mass meetings as do the Democrats. They are actuated by a sense of sound business, knowing that the only way to attract the people is through the medium of newspaper advertising, but in a newspaper that enjoys the confidence of the people.

TOMORROW'S EDITORIAL.

One of America's noted architects, Evarts Tracy, will be the contributing editor for tomorrow's issue. His fame is international. In many parts of the country, from ocean to ocean, in the great cities and where vast private estates are to be found may be seen monuments of his conception. Big Federal buildings and costly country homes stand as testimony of the genius of this master architect.

Mr. Tracy has just returned from New Haven, where he had gone at the bidding of Professor William Howard Taft, of Yale, who desired to consult with him as to matters concerning the Lincoln Memorial, the former President being a member of the Federal Commission entrusted with this magnificent scheme. On his way home, Mr. Tracy wrote the contributed editorial to appear in tomorrow's issue. Suffice it to say you will profit by reading it.

ENGAGE NEW TEACHER FOR BOROUGH SCHOOLS

Miss Ruth B. Easton, former teacher in Public School No. 5, of Bellville, has been engaged as teacher of a first grade class in the Watchung School, North Plainfield. She is a graduate of the St. Paul Normal School, of New York.

The class Miss Easton will teach will open its first session Monday morning. Due to the large enrollment in the first grade at both the Somerset and Watchung Schools, the formation of another class was necessary. The grade will be divided into "class B" and "class A." Until a satisfactory schedule has been arranged and complete arrangements for the new class made, class B will hold sessions from 8 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock in the morning and 12:30 to 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Class A will meet from 10:30 to 12:30 and from 2:30 to 4:30. This schedule will be temporary only. When permanent arrangements are made the morning hours will be the same, but both afternoon sessions will be from 1:30 to 3:30. The kindergarten room in the Watchung School, which is unoccupied at present in the afternoon, will be utilized by the new class.

HURT IN ACCIDENT.

Harry Burman, aged 26 years, of 636 West Fourth street, while riding his bicycle at Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, became confused at the approach of a United States Express Company wagon, fell off the wheel and collided with the wagon. He received several burises and scratches. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was said that he apparently was not seriously injured.

TRUE HAPPINESS.

It Enables Man "to Draw Contentment From a Cup of Tears."

Wordsworth in one of his poems speaks of "a man too happy for mortality." We sometimes forget the spiritual significance of joy. The stoics believed that happiness was not essential to man and not to be expected. Happiness of a specific kind, based upon good fortunate to the individual, is indeed not always to be expected nor always to be desired. But the deeper happiness and joy that come from the sure triumph of the good and the true are essential to the individual well being and the progress of society.

There have been those who learned through a beautiful consecration "to draw contentment from a cup of tears" and who came, through life's higher discipline, to know that there is a deep and abiding joy in the midst of pain and disapointment, a joy built upon the knowledge of life's greatness and the ability of the soul to rise above the temporary thing.

Such a joy as this is needed to make a man capable of inheriting eternity here and hereafter, for it raises man above the merely mortal and invests him with energy to pursue the tasks that are without end and fills him with a desire to ally himself with the powers that build the beauty of a continuing world.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

SILENCED BY A LOOK.

Gladstone's Burning Eyes Rendered Blackie Speechless.

Gladstone had peculiar, eagle-like eyes. At a dinner at which he and Professor Blackie were present the two men were opposite, and when Gladstone gave in a forcible way his idea that Homer was no longer recited, but chanted, the professor cried out, "Mr. Gladstone, I don't believe a word of it!" Then he rose to argue the matter and said one sentence, but got no further. He had met Gladstone's gaze and seen his outer eyelids widened to their fullness in a steady glare, and his tongue stumbled, and he sank back into his chair in confusion. The writer concludes:

"Go to the zoo for it. Take your umbrella. Make your way to the place where eagles, vultures, falcons and such like creatures blink on their perches. Select a bird. Stare at him with insult and you will see the outer lids expand as Mr. Gladstone's did. Poke at him with your umbrella. The filmy vertical lids through which he looks at the sun and opens to paralyze his prey will part, and then you will see what Blackie saw and understand his feelings."

When Britain Fought For an Ear.

Perhaps the most extraordinary example of Britain going to war for "no reason at all" occurred in the reign of George II. One Robert Jenkins, an English merchant-captain, trading from Jamaica, arriving in England in 1738, reported that the sloop had been boarded by the Spanish coast guards and that, though no proof of smuggling had been found, he had been tortured and his ear torn off. All England flew into an uproar. "Jenkins' ear" divided parties and shook Walpole's ministry itself. The house of commons sent for Jenkins, and he was told to bring his ear with him. The incident grew into a crisis, though Walpole did his best to persuade people to keep their heads, but the popular indignation was so great that the next year the government was compelled to declare war against Spain.—Pearson's.

The Isle of Yachts.

Cowes had many ups and downs before it finally attained its destiny as the headquarters of yachting. Sir John Oglander, writing in Stuart times, says, "I knew when there was not above three or four houses at Cowes," but he had counted 300 ships at anchor there, "and I was and am persuaded that if our wars and troubles had not unfortunately happened it would have grown as famous as Newport." The wars complained of were the civil wars. Foreign war had been a fine thing for Cowes, since the warships bought the island's produce there. But the civil wars struck the gentry hard, and Sir John adds the coming of lawyers as another curse. The first attorney was expelled from the island by the governor as a public danger. "Now peace and law hath beggared us all," says Sir John.—London Chronicle.

Books by Weight.

Many years ago in San Francisco there was a bookseller who had an intimate knowledge of fiction prices, but who was all astray when it came to general literature or scientific works. A customer having selected a volume would ask the price and, without so much as bothering to look at the title, if he saw that it was not a novel, the seller would roughly weigh it on his hand and name the sum. Many a bargain was picked up in that way, but as the bookseller also bought on the same principle, he never lost anything to speak of.—San Francisco Chronicle.

DECISION IS RESERVED IN KAPELSOHN CASE

Emanuel Kapelsohn, the local contractor and real estate operator, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning charged with the alleged larceny of $1,500 worth of ranges, lumber, cement and other building material and furnishings from a house he built in Arlington avenue. The complainant was J. D. Loizeaux, of the lumber firm bearing that name. After hearing testimony, which was of a technical nature, Judge DeMeza reserved decision for one week.

Kapelsohn erected a row of houses in the Arlington avenue tract about a year ago, and Mr. Loizeaux loaned the mortgage money and later sold the mortgage to a Mrs. Manning. Kapelsohn failed to pay the interest on the mortgages, it is said, and the mortgagee foreclosed. Mr. Kapelsohn is said to have purchased the property at the public sale, but the ranges, Mr. Loizeaux claimed, were not included as a part of the property.

OFFICERS ARE SELECTED FOR DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, will preside at the Democratic mass meeting to be held at Saengerbund Hall, Monday night, at which time Governor James F. Fielder and the Somerset county candidates will speak. The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the borough Democratic organization.

The following persons have been invited to serve as vice presidents of the meeting: David T. Kenney, J. A. Haynes, Clarence Teel, Elston M. French, Richard H. McCullough, S. St. John McCutchen, William J. Conroy, S. S. Swackhamer, Andrew E. Kenney, Andrew Love, Sr., J. H. Howell, Charles W. Krausse, Dr. Frederick J. Hughes, John M. Lewin, Arthur A. Cannon, Samuel Townsend, Cormick McDonough, John Becker, Jacob Voehl, Sr., Morris Abrams, Augustus VanDeventer and Dr. D. C. Adams.

JEFFERSON DEMOCRATIC CLUB HAS GOOD TIME

More than 100 members attended the Jefferson Democratic Club meeting in its headquarters on West Third street last night, and although politics played an important part in the program, Patrick Driscoll made a decided hit as a monologist; Ceasar Grobe rendered several popular selections; Edward Strappe performed a number of Irish jigs and Barney Mc Gauley played the bag-pipe. Candidates for the City Judgeship, John P. Owens, gave a short talk in which he urged the audience to vote "a straight ticket from Fielder down." He outlined Acting Governor Fielder's record as a legislator.

Playground Commissioner R. A. Claybrook, who is running for Councilman-at-large, promised, if elected, to do every thing possible to see that the citizens of Plainfield got "100 cents for every dollar." He claimed that the city government could be carried on for less than it is at the present time and urged that a Democratic majority be elected to serve in the Common Council.

SULZER IMPEACHED

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Guilty of the offenses charged in three of the four articles voted upon in open session is the verdict found against Governor Sulzer by the impeachment court.

In secret session his removal was determined by a vote of 43 to 14, but it is understood he will not be disqualified from holding office again.

The vote in detail on articles 1 and 2 was identical with the informal ballot taken in secret session last evening and was as follows:

By Appellate Court Judges.

Guilty—Judges Collin, Cuddeback, Hogan, Hiscock and Miller—5.

By Senators.

Not Guilty—Senators Herrick, McKnight, O'Keefe, Peckham, Seeley, Wende, Wheeler, Democrats; Emerson, Heacock, Stivers, Thomas, Whitney, Republicans; Duhamel, Independence league; Palmer, Republican and Progressive—14; total not guilty, 18.

Of those who voted for the governor's on articles 1, 2 and 3 these men were for conviction on article 4: Judges Bartlett, Chase and Werner and Senators Emerson, Herrick and Palmer. Those who voted for conviction on article 1, but who were for acquittal on article 4 were:

Judges Hiscock and Miller of the court of appeals.

Those who voted for Governor Sulzer on all four articles were Chief Judge Cullen and Senators Duhamel, Heacock, McKnight, O'Keefe, Peckham, Seeley, Stivers, Thomas, Wende, Wheeler and Whitney.

The only Tammany senator who stood with the governor on any article was Walter R. Herrick, who voted "Not guilty" on articles 1, 2 and 3, but changed to guilty on article 4.

At the people's house the governor talked with ex-Governor A. K. Spriggs of Montana, Samuel Bell Thomas and Nathan B. Chadsey the advisability of going to New York at once if he is ousted and plunging into the municipal campaign. He says he will fight the candidacy of Edward E. McCall if he does this no matter whether the fusionists will accept him as a speaker or not.

He will according to this tentative plan advocate the election of John Purroy Mitchell and will spend his days and nights figuring how to beat the Tammany ticket from top to the bottom.

The governor and his friends also discussed how he will spend the rest of his life if he is removed. He thinks now that he will write magazine articles and lecture in all parts of the country, "to show the people the hideous form of the monsters graft and corruption."

If present plans are carried out Mr. Sulzer will try to have the verdict of the impeachment court reversed in the supreme court of the United States. He has made this threat before and his friends say he really means it now. He will base his application on section 12 of the code of criminal procedure, which provides that an officer is removable for official misconduct.

Members All Present.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 17.—When the impeachment court met in open session the calling of the roll showed no absentees. Fifty-seven men were in their places to pass on the guilt or innocence of William Sulzer. The crier, always clear of voice, seemed to stumble over his words in opening the court.

"The next proceeding," said presiding Judge Cullen, "is the final decision of the court on the articles presented against the respondent. Under the rules the clerk will read each article and every member shall express himself by a rising vote. The clerk will now read article 1."

Thereupon Patrick E. McCabe read off the first of the impeachment articles, which refers to the false statement alleged to have been made by Sulzer to the secretary of state of his campaign contributions and expenses.

As the article was read over the judges settled back. All of the counsel for Sulzer who had appeared through the trial were present except Austen G. Fox.

"Call the roll," said the presiding judge.

"Senator Argetsinger," said the clerk.

"How say you, is the respondent guilty or not guilty as charged in article?" said Judge Cullen.

"I am unable to divorce the acts of the governor committed before he took office from those committed since he became governor; therefore I vote guilty," said Senator Argetsinger, and thus the first vote was recorded against Sulzer.

Judge Cullen Votes "Not Guilty."

"Judge Bartlett," next called the presiding judge, "how say you?"

For the moment Judge Bartlett was the central figure. He was to be the first of the great jurists to express an opinion. There was something of a stir at the outset when he announced that he would vote "not guilty."

Senator Blauvelt, following Judge Bartlett, voted that the governor was guilty. He said that he disagreed with Judge Bartlett.

"Should Governor Sulzer escape punishment because his wrongful acts were committed only a few days before his induction into office it would be a disgrace to the state," he said.

"Senator Boylan," called the court.

CHARGES AND THE VOTE.

The eight articles of impeachment in the case of William Sulzer are in substance as follows:

Article 1.—That Governor Sulzer filed with the secretary of state a false statement of his receipts and other monetary transactions involved in his gubernatorial campaign. The vote on this was: Guilty, 39; not guilty, 18.

Article 2.—That he committed perjury in his statement to the secretary of state relative to receipts and expenditures. The vote on this was: Guilty, 39; not guilty, 18.

Article 3.—That he bribed witnesses to withhold testimony from the legislative committee which investigated his campaign expenditures and receipts. The vote on this was unanimous—not guilty.

Article 4.—That he suppressed evidence by means of threat to keep witnesses from testifying before the legislative investigating committee. The vote on this charge was: Guilty, 43; not guilty, 14.

Article 5.—That he prevented and dissuaded a particular witness, Frederick L. Colwell, from attending under subpoena the sessions of the investigating committee.

Article 6.—That he committed larceny in speculating in stocks with money and checks contributed for his campaign.

Article 7.—That he threatened to use his office and influence to affect the vote or political action of certain public officers.

Article 8.—That while governor he corruptly used his authority or influence to affect the current prices of securities on the New York stock exchange, in some of which securities he was at the time interested.

Senator John J. Boylan was the first lay member of the court to be called. He voted guilty. The corrupt practices act, he asserted, had been passed to cover such acts as had been charged to William Sulzer. He therefore voted "guilty." This made 2 to 1 against Sulzer so far.

"Senator Brown," then called the judge.

Elon R. Brown of Watertown, the Republican leader of the senate, massive of figure and strong of voice, stood up to read his opinion. He began by saying what a sorrow it was to him to have to pass upon such a case.

"Mr. President, I feel constrained to vote 'Guilty.'"

The vote was then 3 to 1 against Sulzer.

"Senator Bussey, how say you?" asked the presiding judge.

Senator Thomas H. Bussey of Wyoming then said that he voted "Guilty." He added that his views on the matter had already been given.

Senator Daniel J. Carroll of Brooklyn promptly said "Guilty" when his name was called.

Senator William B. Carswell of Brooklyn voted "Guilty."

Judge Emory Chase of Catskill was then called, the second of the court of appeals jurists to vote. He voted "Not guilty."

Judge Chase—"Not Guilty."

"I vote not guilty," said Judge Chase, "because I do not believe the respondent should be impeached for offenses committed before he took office. I have no doubt about the moral offenses charged, but I have a grave doubt whether it was intended in the revision of the constitution to grant the power to impeach except for mal and corrupt conduct while in office."

Senator Coates voted "guilty."

Judge Collin was then called. "I have no doubt that the respondent was guilty of a violation of the corrupt practices act," he said. "The people have a right to know what influences are to be brought to bear on a public officer after he has been elected. I have written an opinion which I will file later. I vote 'Guilty.'"

Judge Cuddeback also voted against Sulzer. This made the court of appeals judges stand 2 to 2. Judge Cuddeback said that he agreed with Judge Collin.

Judge Cullen Stands With Sulzer.

"Presiding Judge Cullen," then called the clerk, and there was a stir as the venerable head of the court began to give his opinion. He voted "Not guilty."

"I am sorry to say," began Judge Cullen, "that I have written rather an extended opinion in the case. I will read only part of it. Articles 1, 2, 3 and 6 are so intimately connected that they are treated together. First as to the facts. I regret to find that the defendant did take advantage of his nomination and candidacy to enrich himself. I find that he signed a false statement and that he verified it. At the same time I vote 'Not guilty.' No matter what my personal opinion of his legal rights in using the money he received for any purpose he saw fit."

NEW BRUNSWICK MAN FINED FIFTY DOLLARS

Frederick Eib, 25 years old, of New Brunswick, who set a new record in the borough by being caught by Roundsman Keller while violating three sections of the motor vehicle laws, was arraigned before Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., in the borough court this morning, and fined $50, which he paid.

Eib was driving through the borough streets Wednesday night in an automobile which failed to hold a light on its fore or rear sections; also a license tag was missing from the front of the machine, which constituted violation No. 2. When asked to produce his license Eib did not have any and to cap the climax he failed to appear in court yesterday morning, as ordered by Recorder Gano.

FIGHTING A FIRE IN IRKUTSK.

A Comedy of Flaming Torches and Empty Water Wagons.

They fight fires in a peculiar way in Siberia. First you find the fire. The city is plotted into districts, each with its engine house and watchtower. On the watchtower by day and night stands a guard who scans the housetops for a sign of smoke. When the fire has got enough headway for him to see the smoke he gives the alarm and the engines dash out. The spectator is amused, not so much at the dash as at the engines. They are primitive, and the use of them is more so.

We went to a fire one Sunday afternoon in Irkutsk, continues Mr. Richardson L. Wright in his book "Through Siberia." It was close to our hotel, so that we had an excellent view. First came a troika team that dragged a hook and ladder carriage. On the carriage clung the firemen, howling Cossacks with brass helmets jammed down over their ears, who carried in one hand—how the symbolism would have stirred the heart of Maeterlinck!—flaming torches. Behind the hook and ladder was the hosecart, and then came a hand engine of the type our grandfathers used to drag to fires. After that, for two blocks, trailed a queue of water filled hogsheads on wheels. The cavalcade passed us in a cloud of dust, accompanied by the yells of the torch bearing firemen. When the supply of water ran out the carts dashed down to the river and were replenished.

This crude high pressure service gave rise once to a rather humorous incident that the Irkutskians tell with great glee. During a fire several years ago a string of water wagons went down to the river, were filled and came rumbling back. When they reached the fire the water was gone. The enthusiastic captain of hogsheads had neglected to put back the plugs in the barrels and had spilled his supply for several blocks along the main street.

TWO GREAT STARS.

Sirius Is the Brightest of All, and Canopus Comes Next.

The results of that instrument of precision, the meridian photometer, are that Sirius is seven-tenths of a magnitude brighter than Canopus, which easily teaches that Sirius is brighter than any other star.

Canopus, next in brilliancy, is visible from all that portion of the world south of north latitude 37 degrees, since its declination is south 53 degrees and 53 is the complement of 37.

It therefore never rises above the south horizon of any point 37 degrees north. The latitude of this observatory is 34 degrees 17 minutes; hence Canopus rises very nearly 3 degrees above the watery wastes in the Pacific sea. Its low altitude makes it much fainter than higher Sirius, as the light must traverse layers of dust and water vapor near the earth's surface. Still it is magnificent, especially when standing over a calm ocean surface.

Canopus has no parallax that the highest power telemicrometers that can be made are able to measure. This is one of the most overwhelming facts within the entire range of human experience. This means that if one goes to Canopus with the most powerful telescope ever made, turns and looks back this way, the base line, the entire diameter of the orbit of the earth—185,764,000 miles—dwindles to a minute point too small to be measured by any microscope. Some idea may be had of the immensity of the universe by thinking of this fact during each spare minute. Better to so think than to waste the precious moments.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Uncle Sam's Antecedents.

A reader asks how the name Uncle Sam came to be adopted for the imaginary genius who directs the destinies of this nation. The answer is very simple. "Uncle Sam" is merely a popular expansion of the letters "U. S." Albert Matthews once wrote a forty-five page monograph to prove this, and he showed that the expression went back to the year 1813. James Fenimore Cooper in "The Prairie" in 1827 spoke of "the well known initials that have * * * gained for the government of the United States the good humored and quaint appellation of Uncle Sam."—New York Post.

Right to the Point.

Some months ago excavations were being made for new tracks on the line of a certain railway. At one point a nearby resident obtained permission to remove a quantity of turf to resod the premises, the section foreman being instructed to notify the excavating "gang" when the resident should have secured all he desired.

The foreman's report is as follows: "The man that wanted the earth has got it."—Exchange.

His Busy Day.

"You say you called this morning on my husband at his office? He's always so busy. Did you have any trouble in seeing him?"

"Yes, at first. He was sitting behind his desk, and I couldn't see him until he moved his feet."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hit Both Ways.

Tramp—Yes, lady, I loved a girl. She wouldn't hev me, and I became a wanderer. Woman—Poor chap! If she had married you all would have been well. Tramp—Oh, I dunno. Me friend out in de road dere is de feller wot got her!—Puck.

The funeral of Herbert Mitchell Lome was held at the late home on George street at 7 o'clock last night. Rev. Warner E. L. VIOLATED AUTO LAW.

Dudley Gordon was fined $10 by Mayor Clark in the borough court this morning, when arraigned on a charge of driving his automobile through the streets at night without having his lamps illuminated. He paid the fine. He was arrested by Roundsman Keller.

SOME POINTERS ON ECONOMICAL BUYING

A new feature in Y. W. C. A. work in this city was launched in the association parlors last night when Miss Anita Earl, an instructor in the Teachers' College, of Columbia University, delivered the first of the series of lectures arranged in connection with the Homemaker's Course. A large number of the members and their friends took advantage of this opportunity to secure valuable information.

Miss Earl described in a graphic way "inside" points of successful shopping and told her listeners how to detect different kinds of cloth and how to purchase articles of the best quality for the least sum. She illustrated various ways of detecting inferior materials in ready-made garments and how to provide an entire costume for a period of one year for less than $100. Moreover she described how, by experimental use, certain materials had been found to be preferable to others and, how to detect cotton in supposedly all-woolen materials and cotton in linen garments.

The same speaker will deliver the second of the course of lectures next Thursday evening taking as her subject this time "Fabrics." She will explain and illustrate how to detect poor materials in the stores and how, by using samples, to detect poor dyes in cloth and silk, and how to discover "fillings" in silks.

The lecture course will continue until Christmas, one being delivered every Thursday night by some person particularly qualified to deal with the subject to be handled. The course is arranged especially for those who are interested in making every cent count and those who have, or contemplate having, their own homes. The program of the lectures will be as follows: October 23, "Talk on Fabrics," by Miss Anita Earl; October 30, "An Artistic Home at a Small Cost With Wall Coverings, Curtains, Etc," by Miss Tenant, of the Hartridge School; November 6, "Furniture, Pictures, Ornaments, Lighting," by Miss Tenant, of the Hartridge School; November 13, "How to Divide the Income," by Dr. Benjamin R. Andrews, of the Teachers' College, Columbia University; November 20, "How to Conduct a Home on a Business Basis"; December 4, "Buying Food for the Home and Making the Most of a Limited Income," by Miss Florence Corbett, of the Teachers' College; December 11, "Business Girls' Luncheons," the relation of the food and working efficiency, by Miss Mary G. McCormick; December 18, "Health Hints for the Home Maker," by Miss Mary Reeser.

BELLIS IS DECLARED TO BE THE NOMINEE

Legal Proceedings Abandoned as Linbarger Withdrew From Contest.

Lewis A. Bellis, of Somerville, has been declared the legal nominee to the office of county clerk of Somerset county on the Democratic ticket in view of the fact that Walter C. Linbarger, of North Plainfield, his opponent has withdrawn from the contest. Immediately following the primaries it was discovered that the front name of Bellis was wrongly spelled on a hundred or more ballots in Bernards township, and if allowed it would give Linbarger the nomination.

There did not appear to be any doubt as to the intention of the voters to cast their ballots for Bellis and after much persuasion Linbarger declared himself on this point. He said that he would not make any fight, believing that Mr. Bellis was entitled to the nomination, but he held out until the last.

However, to be on the safe side Mr. Bellis engaged Reed & Hetfield of this city, and they obtained a rule from the courts to show cause why Mr. Bellis should not be declared the party nominee. The fact that Mr. Linbarger has withdrawn from the contest resulted in the abandonment of the legal proceedings and therefore Mr. Bellis will be the candidate at the November election.

CURRENCY BILL MUST HAVE SOME AMENDMENTS

Washington, Oct. 17.—President Wilson is willing to let the House take a recess for thirty days with the proviso that the Republicans of the Senate agree upon a date upon which the currency bill shall be voted in the Senate. The Republicans however refuse this proposition. They declare they must know what the currency bill is to provide after it is amended by the committee before they will agree to close the debate in the Senate. Republicans and Democrats alike are convinced that the pending measure must be materially amended before it can become a law.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 20.

YES—I know. You've heard a lot about this thing called Advertising. You've heard about the wonders it has worked for others. You are wondering what it can do for you.

Well, it can and will do for your business just what it has done for the other fellow's business.

It isn't a force mysterious. It isn't any "Open Sesame" affair. It is founded and grounded on just (as my good friend, Mr. John E. Kennedy, says) "hoss-sense."

Advertising is telling the people—the great buying public—where you are and what you have for sale. It is keeping on telling them—and still keeping on.

The best way to do a thing is to begin it. The best way to begin it is to begin it right.

Perhaps the Classified, or WANT AD. columns are just the place for you to make a beginning. Many present-day newspaper display advertisers started with the judicious and persistent use of the Classified.

Good advertising is a force for upbuilding that no business, large or small, can afford to ignore.

Think it over.

MUD SAVES AIRMAN WHEN HE FALLS FAR

Sank Into Marsh Leaving Only Heel Visible.

New York, Oct. 17.—An aeroplane in which Rodman Law and Walter Edwards were soaring sixty feet over a bit of marshy land on Staten Island ran into an adverse current of air, swerved, tilted and turned over. Both men were pitched headlong into space.

At the time E. H. Patterson, a mechanician was observing the flight from the Oakwood Heights aviation field, three-quarters of a mile away. He saw the machine poise for an instant in midair, quiver and then shoot downward; also he saw two black specks hurled free of the wreckage.

Patterson cranked up an automobile that was handy and started for the scene of the accident. It was a bad place to get to because of the swampy land, and it was several minutes before he stopped his car still a hundred yards away.

Across the level ground he could see the figure of Law bending over and vainly struggling with an invisible object. Besides, there was the distorted mass of what had once been an aeroplane.

Edwards had struck the marsh head first. His body had drilled its way into the spongy earth until only the heel of his right foot was to be seen. Law was pretty well banged up himself, but he had no broken bones. The two men got a fast grip on Edwards' ankle, and their united efforts managed to pull him out of the mud more dead than alive.

FAVORS BUSINESS PROBE.

Supports Redfield's Plan to Whip Up Grumbling Manufacturers.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Announcement was made that President Wilson has approved Secretary of Commerce Redfield's plans for investigation of manufacturers who may close factories or reduce wages on the excuse that such curtailment is forced by the new tariff laws. An appropriation for the work will be urged upon congress.

Approval was also given Redfield's plan for investigation of cost of production, wages and living conditions here and abroad. The plan contemplates recommending increases in tariff rates found too low because of foreign manufacturing conditions.

PRESIDENT'S NOMINATIONS.

Washington, Oct. 17.—President Wilson made the following nominations:

United States marshal, district of Rhode Island, John J. Richards.

The president also sent in the names of the native Philippine commissioners whose appointments have been announced.

Bacon Is Received.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 17.—Robert Bacon, former American ambassador to France, now on a South American tour, was received by the acting president of the republic, Duc de la Plaza.

SCOOP MAY BE POOR, BUT HE'S VERY PROUD

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

NAVY ELEVEN HERE TO SUBDUE LOCALS

Holy Cross Regiment Will Have Its Hands Full Tomorrow Afternoon.

MANY SHIFTS IN TEAM

Coyle Absent From Quarterback—Manning and Caufield in the Backfield With Ricketts Brothers Dividing up Games as Field Generals.

Football followers and gridiron warriors all hold out a certain amount of respect for athletes of the navy and particularly for those who sport moleskins, for one of Uncle Sam's elevens are always to be dreaded because of their versatility and aggressiveness. Seldom does a football team in New Jersey attempt to tackle a navy representative and still seldom does it happen that a Jersey delegation is able to subdue the deck trotters. In the Holy Cross eleven, however, Plainfield has an exception to each of these rules for the local boys last year met and defeated the steamship pigskin chasers who won the championship of the navy and tomorrow afternoon on Cricket Field they will clash with a team considered to be just as strong and slightly heavier, sporting the colors of a sister ship.

An array of talent representing the S. S. Washington will appear on North Plainfield's football rendezvous tomorrow afternoon and the boroughites will send in a team of stars that has been shaken and reshaken for this particular struggle and the Holy Cross club will have a galaxy of material tomorrow that is far superior to any that has represented a Queen City athletic faction in years. Coach P. V. Martin has put his men through some grueling practises since the reverse of last week and all of the rough spots that were brought to the surface in the Franklin struggle have been ironed out.

Many new faces appear in the gallery of stars sporting the red and white and most of the new ones are of the calibre that make football history. "Wild Man" Caufield, the former cog in the Holy Cross line, has been promoted to a backfield berth and will start the game in the halfback position with Jimmy Manning, the former Holy Cross and Dunellen club player, as a running mate. Frank Lee, of Scotch Plains fame, will probably divide honors with Manning, while Captain Wilson will play the fullback position. Jack and Tom Ricketts are slated to divide up honors at quarterback (but just as a little side tip from the sporting editor, look for the familiar face of Billy Coyle in the field general's role). Coyle has evidently been subjected to some kind of punishment for his name does not appear on the boroughites' lineup as presented by Manager Doyle, but it is the one safe bet that the little quarterback will be used nevertheless.

The lineups:

S. S. WASHINGTON.	HOLY CROSS.

Jersey City Bowlers Wake up in Second Game and Take Two From Visitors.

4 DOUBLE CENTURIES

Captain Frank Blatz and his herd of Antlered bowlers from the local lodge dropped two out of the three games rolled in the initial setto in Jersey City last night, winning the first game but losing the second and third in quick succession. Despite the fact that the Queen City pinners started the season with a rush and with the aid of Chauncey Stout's double century smash, raised their total up to 893 against the opposition's 878, they could not keep up the fast pace and their scores were low during the rest of the evening.

In the second match "Bill" Nash raised his total to 205, the high water mark for the Plainfielders, but this record was snowed under by Wasserman's 233, bowled in the final game of the evening. This high average was helped along by a 193 spot rolled by Corydon, who rang up 215 in the opening game, and made the victory possible for the home pinners.

While Stout and Nash were the only members of the visiting quintet to topple over 200 or more pins in a single game, Kiely rolled 194 and Johnny Campbell totaled one less than the czar of the bluecoats. As a whole, the match was a decidedly close and interesting one and Plainfield's initial victory of fifteen points put the home team on its mettle and the Jersey City five responded with a winning spurt in the final two clashes. The scores:

IT WAS BRUTAL, BUT IS NO MORE.

Boston, Oct. 17.—"American college football is altogether too brutal," said Prince Madikan Q. Cele, of Zululand, who has been studying this subject as the guest of the family of Robert T. P. Storer, captain of the Harvard Varsity football team. The prince expressed the intention of introducing "milder forms of the game into his country as well as basketball and baseball."

Prince Cele is in this country to raise money for the establishment of an industrial and trade school in Zululand and to take back a bride. Next week he will wed Miss Julia Smith, a student at the Hampton Institution in Virginia.

WILD FOWL SEASON CLOSED UNTIL NOV. 1

Game Wardens throughout New Jersey were busy yesterday morning warning gunners against the shooting of wild water fowl, which is prohibited by the new federal law recently approved by President Wilson.

According to the New Jersey, Delaware river and bay law the season for wild water fowl opened September 1, and many gunners have been out since then. The new law makes the open season from November 1 to February 1.

Warden Charles W. Folker, of Camden, and John Avis, of Woodbury, were especially active yesterday in making known the regulations of the new law to gunners.

BIG DINNER FOR CONNIE MACK'S CHAMPION TEAM

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—In compliance with a suggestion made by Mayor Blankenburg, the members of the world's champion Athletics will be tendered a dinner here on October 28 as the guests of the city.

The Mayor, who takes great interest in baseball, had Director of Public Safety Porter take the matter of the dinner up Wednesday with the club officials, who assured him that the players would be communicated with.

They told the director that there was little doubt that every one of the twenty-five players who took part in or was eligible to join in the world's series games would be present at the dinner.

CLASS TEAM LEADER.

Edson Day was elected captain of the North Plainfield High School junior class basketball team by the Boys' Athletic Association yesterday afternoon. Frank Fetnerstone was selected to manage the team and those who have signified their intention of trying for the aggregation are Edson Day, Lester Chandler, Elmer French, Frank Fetherstone, Wesley Hughes and Hoyt Tomkinson. If the first team men are allowed to participate in class games this year Duclos VanMater and Hyman Abrams will be added to this list.

N. P. H. S. FEMININE SQUAD HOLDS ITS FIRST PRACTISE

The first practise of the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team was held in Saengerbund Hall, yesterday afternoon, and a large squad of candidates are trying for the team. Two of the new players who have shown up particularly strong are Miss Lillian Spencer, the manager, and Miss Nora Meaney, who is playing her first season of basketball. Although both girls are new at the game they are accurate shots and a valuable addition to the teamwork and passing departments.

A practise game with two twelve-minute halves was played yesterday and between them Miss Spencer and Miss Meaney ran up a total of twenty-four points. The other players who played on the first team are Miss Lucy Douglas at centre, and Miss Elsie Debele and Miss Helen Meaney at guard.

WESTFIELD HIGH SCHOOL BEATEN BY P. H. S. TEAM

A tennis team representing the Plainfield High School defeated the Westfield High School racquet wielders on the Westfield Golf Club courts yesterday afternoon by a score of three sets to one. The red and blue representatives showed superior work in every department of the popular outdoor game and at no time was the ultimate outcome in doubt.

Philip Van Deventer, John B. Cottrell, Curtis Dall and Carter Goodrich represented Plainfield, while Fred Pearsall, George Trivett, Herbert Trivett and Ralph Taylor swung the Mt. Ararat colors. The one match Plainfield lost was dropped by Dall who lost out to Pearsall.

RECORD FOR JERSEY PLAYER.

Philadelphia Oct. 17.—Edward Ralph, of Hightstown, N. J., in a pocket billiard match with Morris Fink here Wednesday night, made what is claimed to be a new record for a consecutive run, when he pocketed seventy-three balls straight. The best run at pool on record is eighty-five, made by B. Allen in Boston in 1909, while the highest previous run under the new rules is said to have been fifty-nine, made by De Oro. Ralph won the game by the score of 150 to 31.

'PLAINS GIANT ROOTER MUST WEAR STRAW HAT ALL WINTER TO SATISFY WAGER.

An echo of the wold's series just closed was heard in Scotch Plains today, when one of the most peculiar bets ever made on a baseball game came to light.

George Hennessey, a barber, who has been an ardent supporter of the Giants in their fight for the pennant, wagered that the McGraw clan would wipe up the earth with the Athletics. So sure was he that the New Yorkers were the real champions that he wagered a friend that if the Giants did not win he would wear a straw hat for a whole year.

The wearing of the straw began today and in passing through the streets of the little village he attracted no little amount of attention from passersby and particularly the fun-loving schoolboy. He is a game sport, however, and says he will make good by continuing the wearing right through the winter, zero weather not excluded.

NEWARK TOOK PAIR FROM HOBOKEN FIVE

Fine Start Made in the Elks' League Race Last Night.

It was a fine start that the bowlers representing the Newark Elks made last night, when they rolled their first Elks' League match on the alleys of the Hoboken Elks. The Newarkers succeeded in capturing two games out of three. The Newarks had almost an entirely new lineup, Williams and Hinton, formerly of the Park Athletic Association, and Fred Clark and Dick Erler, both well-known local experts, being the newcomers. Billy Weingarth was the Newark anchor.

In the first game the Newark five with 877, won by fifty-nine pins. There was better pinning in the second encounter, and, though the visitors jumped up to 904, they were twenty-one pins to the bad, Steinbruck's 236 being a big help to the Hoboken quintet. In the final and deciding game there was an interesting argument and Newark came through a winner by ten pins with a total of 917. Weingarth rolled high for Newark with 235 in the first game. Williams had 204 in the second game. Here are all the scores.

Association Five and Borough High School Will Open Local Season November 1..

THE PROBABLE LINEUPS

Many New candidates Trying for Positions Open on Each of the Teams—Veteran Material May Be Displayed.

One of the best games that has ever been arranged by two managers to open a local basketball season is carded to be played on the Y. M. C. A. court two weeks from tomorrow night when the Y. M. C. A. Ajax and the North Plainfield High School fives start the 1913-14 court season on its way with an initial combat. Two such rivals as the association and scholastic fives are seldom found in amateur basketball circles and it is a safe conclusion that the game will be a battle royal. Negotiations were completed yesterday afternoon between Manager Duclos Van Mater, of the N. P. H. S. squad and the Ajax manager making possible this game on Saturday night, November 1.

Both the teams have had several practices to date and during the coming two weeks should be able to round into first class form. Each has a loyel band of supporters and as a side issue the athletic following ought to be able to make things interesting.

North Plainfield has Frank Dunning, Captain Ashley Burner, Duclos Van Mater and Roy Love left from last year's squad and but one position remains to be filled and there are a number of good candidates available for this berth. Of last year's Ajax Captain Brynairski, Glover, Buckle and McNamee are back in the game while such candidates as Harry Moulton and Donald Sminck are trying for the vacant places. Brynairski and Glover will probably play the guard positions while the center and forward berths are all a matter of keen contention and because of the strong new material it now looks as though some of the veterans would be displaced or in any instance, have to play sensational basketball in order to retain their hold on the forward positions.

M'GRAW NOT AFRAID OF OVERWORKING PLAYERS

New York, Oct. 17.—Answering the argument that he was making a mistake by taking some of his veteran players on the world tour, Manager McGraw said yesterday that instead of there being danger of the men going stale because of overwork, they would not have enough to do and would go direct to Marlin Springs, Texas, for spring training as soon as they returned here the middle of March.

There will be long stretches during which no games will be played, McGraw said. Wilber Robinson will take the Giant recruits and those who do not make the trip with McGraw, to Texas the latter part of February or the first of March. The full squad will be at work by the middle of the month.

WILL PLAY COLLEGE FIVE.

Manager Duclos VanMater, of the North Plainfield High School boys' basketball five, has booked a contest with the speedy College of the City of New York quintet to be played on the Saengerbund Hall court sometime during the early part of December. A number of practise games will probably be played before the season is officially opened.

BODIE AN ACTOR! HA! HA! PERIOD

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Ping Bodie, chubby White Sox outfielder, must go out in front and tickle vaudeville patrons every night for a month or lose $500 he posted as a forfeit when he signed his contract, a theatrical manager announced yesterday. Ping signed to take up his footlight activities at the close of the baseball season, but got stage fright when he saw his name placarded on neighborhood garbage cans and fences. The manager is trying to intercept his flight to California.

OLYMPIC CHAMPION VICTIM OF FEVER

Athletic Giant Held Many Records as a Shot Putter and All-around Star.

Ralph Rose, world's champion shot-putter, and one of the greatest athletes of his time, died in San Francisco yesterday afternoon. Rose was attacked by typhoid fever several days ago and yesterday morning began to sink, passing away shortly after noon.

Rose was a giant physically and possessed a wonderful constitution. It was at first believed that this would enable him to pull through the fever, but when the crisis came he rapidly succumbed.

Ralph Rose was born in Healdsburg, Cal., March 17, 1885. When Rose attended the University of Michigan a few years ago he gained the reputation of being one of the best all-around athletes in any American college.

In the 1908 Olympic games held in London he captured the shot-put easily. In the Olympic games at Stockholm he took second place in putting the sixteen-pound shot, Pat McDonald winning the event, and first place in the sixteen-pound shot-put (both hands), McDonald finishing second.

Rose was the holder of a number of world's records, including the twelve-pound shot-put, fifty-seven feet three and one-half inches; the sixteen-pound shot-put, fifty-one feet; the eighteen-pound shot-put, forty-five feet five and three-fourth inches, and the twenty-four-pound shot-put, thirty-nine feet one-fourth inches.

Rose was six feet five inches tall and weighed 360 pounds.

P. H. S. WLL PLAY STRONG DICKINSON HIGH ELEVEN

Plainfield High School football warriors will have a band to spur them on to victory in their scheduled game with Dickinson High School, of Jersey City, on Parker Field, tomorrow afternoon, the Dutch Arms Band having been secured for the occasion. The Jersey City school is noted for the speedy athletic teams it turns out and the local eleven will have its hands full in handling the stalwart pigskin chasers on the visiting side.

This is the first appearance of the Dickinson High team in Plainfield, although P. H. S. went to Jersey City last spring and played a game of baseball with the representatives of that institution.

PLAINFIELD VS. CRANFORD.

The Plainfield Country Club will send a team to Cranford tomorrow to play a match with the Cranford Golf Club. Earlier in the season the Cranfords played on the local course and were defeated. The only event scheduled at the country club tomorrow is a sweepstakes.

QUEER GREETINGS.

Tribes That Spit Upon or Weep Over Their Visitors.

Among the Masai and Ukerewe it is a mark of respect to greet an acquaintance or a stranger by spitting at him. Almost as strange is the custom ascribed to the Tibetans of sticking out the tongue by way of salutation. Rubbing noses is quite common; the Burmese and many tribes of Eskimos, Laplanders and Malays do so.

Stranger than any of these customs is the weeping salutation that has been observed among central South American Indians. This form of greeting occurs, too, in the Andaman islands, New Zealand and Polynesia. A Portuguese explorer describes the custom as he saw it used among a tribe of South American Indians:

"Whenever a guest enters a hut he is immediately honored and made welcome by being wept over. Without a word being spoken he is led to the hammock. As soon as he is seated the hostess and her daughters and any of their girl friends who happen to be in the house at the time come and sit about the guest, touch him lightly with their fingers and commence to weep loudly and to shed many tears. During this ceremony, in a sort of connected discourse, they recite everything that has happened to them recently and talk of the hardships of the road that the visitor has suffered and of anything and everything that can arouse compassion and tears. The guest, his hand before his face, pretends to weep and does not speak until the crying has gone on for some time. Then they all wipe away their tears and become as lively and merry as if they had never cried in all their lives."—Exchange.

ELEPHANTS IN A TEMPER.

When Enraged They Are Apt to Tear Their Victims to Pieces.

An elephant uses several original and effective methods of exterminating its victims. It may rush upon a man, seize him in its trunk, beat him to death on the ground and before leaving tear up the foliage for yards about.

There are many instances of elephants literally tearing their victims to pieces. The story is told of an English official in Uganda who on noticing a "safari" passing stepped to the door to inquire of the head man the whereabouts of his master. In response the black swung a human arm before the official and replied that a few days previous his master had been torn to pieces by an elephant and that he had brought back the arm in proof of his assertion.

Then again after knocking a man down an elephant will often continue on its course without stopping to learn how much damage it has done. A hunter who was within close proximity of a herd of elephants handed his rifle to the gun bearer and started to climb a tree to look about. At that moment an elephant charged from the tall grass and made for the gun bearer. As the man started to run he threw up his arms, and in some manner the elephant in reaching for him snatched the rifle from his hand and stopped to hammer it on the ground, while the black made good his escape.—J. Alden Loring in Outing.

Gunpowder.

The explosion of gunpowder is divided into three distinct stages, called the ignition, inflammation and combustion. The ignition is the setting on fire of the first grain, while the inflammation is the spreading of the flame over the surface of the powder from the point of ignition. Combustion is the burning up of each grain. The value of gunpowder is due to the fact that when subjected to sufficient heat it becomes a gas which expands with frightful rapidity. The so called explosion that takes place when a match is touched to gunpowder is merely a chemical change, during which there is a sudden evolution of gases from the original solid. It has been calculated that ordinary gunpowder on exploding expands about 9,000 times or fills a space this much larger as a gas than when in a solid form.

Mark Twain Liked Girls.

Mark Twain, although the creator of the most lovable boy in literature, Tom Sawyer, was really more interested in little girls, and it was through his interest and affection for my little daughter Helen that we came to know him so well and to share the last months of his life. He used to pretend that only girls were interesting, that boys ought not to exist until they were men. The fact was, he really was interested in any young creature. In one of the books he gave Helen he wrote, "It is better to be a young June beetle than an old bird of paradise."—Marion Schuyler Allen in Strand Magazine.

Catching Cold.

Wet feet or clothes "give us cold" because the evaporation absorbs the heat so rapidly from the surface of the body that its temperature is lowered beneath the normal, thereby straining the organs of the body and resulting in what we call a cold.

Water Safety.

In Massachusetts all streams of water unsuited for drinking must be marked so that the fact cannot be overlooked.

Red Water.

Apropos of the "red water" seen in and about salt lakes Mr. F. Whitteron writes that in all the samples examined by him (at Geelong, Victoria, Australia) the color was wholly due to a curious little organism, either oval or round, and equipped with two small flagella or lashlike extensions. When examined under a microscope the bodies of these minute specks of living matter are seen to be intensely pigmented with a red coloring matter. When the brine becomes saturated the oval form changes to a circular shape. When such a brine begins to crystallize the resulting salt has a reddish tinge, and Mr. Whitteron suggests that each organism may be the nucleus about which a crystal forms.—New York Post.

How It Impressed Her.

A young woman from the interior saw the Atlantic for the first time recently at Cape May. As she stood on the windy beach, gazing dreamily out over the vast blue expanse of tumbling water, her escort said to her:

"So this is the first time you've ever seen the sea, eh?"

"Yes, the very first time," she answered.

"And what do you think of it?" he asked.

"Ah," she said, with an ecstatic smile, "it smells just like oysters!"—Exchange.

Important Question.

"George dear," began a bride while on the way to the station for the honeymoon, "I want you to answer me just one question, and then I shall feel sure of you."

"What is it, darling?"

"If you knew that I loved you as much as you love me, would you love me as much as I love you?"—London Answers.

Wrong End First.

"Willie," said the infant's mother, agitated by the sudden appearance of a rich relative, "Willie, dear, kiss your Uncle John and then go and wash your face at once."—London Telegraph.

Shut Your Mouth.

"One should always breathe through the nose when asleep," says a physician. If you awake and find your mouth open, get up and shut it.—Exchange.

Fortune has often been blamed for her blindness, but fortune is not so blind as men are.—Samuel Smiles.

HOLY NAME SOCIETIES PRAISED BY POPE PIUS X.

Jersey City, Oct. 17.—Monsignor John A. Sheppard, vicar-general of the Newark diocese, yesterday received a copy of a cablegram, sent by Cardinal Merry Del Val, secretary to Pope Pius X., to Bishop J. J. O'Connor of the Newark diocese, referring to the Holy Name parade last Sunday. The cablegram is as follows:

"The Holy Father, on account of the filial loyalty displayed by the members of the Holy Name societies and made known to us by your lordship, returns his thanks and imparts most lovingly his apostolic blessing."

The cablegram of Bishop O'Connor to Rome was as follows:

"The members of the Holy Name societies, numbering about 65,000, are parading as a great act of faith in the divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in whom we wish to see all things restored. With all the humility of children of the Holy See they ask the paternal blessing of the Supreme Pontiff, our wishes that God may spare his holiness for many years to guide his church."

FIELDER CALLS MEETING TO DISCUSS COMMISSION RULE

Trenton, Oct. 17.—In compliance with the resolution passed at the special session of the Legislature, Governor Fielder has called a meeting of the city counsel or chief law officer of the municipalities in which commission government has become operative under the provisions of the Walsh act. The meeting for organization will be held next Thursday in the executive chambers of the State house.

The purpose of the commission is to consider the provisions of the Walsh act in its entirety. It will report to the Governor before the next session any changes or amendments which may be deemed wise to render the act more workable and applicable to the various classes of cities now operating under it, or which may adopt its provisions.

During the last session of the Legislature attempts to amend the Walsh act in some particulars resulted in a clash between municipalities which favored the modification or retention of certain provisions. This was particularly true of the amendments proposed by the Hudson county representatives in the interest of Jersey City. These met with a storm of protests from Atlantic City and one or two other municipalities which desired no change.

Governor Fielder has sent notices of the meeting to the following law officers: John Milton, Jersey City; Charles E. Bird, Trenton; Albert O. Miller, Passaic; William H. Parry, Nutley; Theodore W. Schmiff, Atlantic City; Joseph Thompson Longport; Harry Wooton, Margate City; Harold B. Wells, Bordentown; G. Dore Cogswell, Beverly; Albert A. Howell, Ocean City; Harrison H. Voorhees, Sea Isle City; Jonathan Hand, Wildwood; William A. Stevens, Long Branch; Clifford K. Read Ridgefield Park, J. W. De Yoe, Ridgewood and Hawthorne Borough; Louis H. Miller, Millville, and S. W. Hurd, Vineland.

Put the Cellar in Order.

The cellar is always an important place. The very fact that it must be used as the family storehouse for food makes it necessary to keep it clean and sanitary.

To begin with, it should be dry. If it is damp, there is little to do to make it dry if the dampness is a result of the construction of the house. Sometimes there is a spring under a house that keeps the cellar perpetually damp. The best thing to do then, unless concrete will make a waterproof floor or walls, is to get out of the house if possible.

Often thorough airing and sunning will keep a cellar dry. One window can be screened and left open all winter, night and day. Of course, cold air and sometimes damp air will come in through this window, and on stormy days it can be closed. But the coldness and even the dampness will be more than counteracted by the freshness that comes with them.

Keep Out Rubbish.

Keep the cellar free from rubbish. Rubbish, of course, collects dust and germs and is therefore formidable. Moreover, a rubbish-filled cellar is a likely place wherein disastrous fire may start and make headway. Keep old newspapers and magazines, if you must store them in the cellar, in neat array, and don't make the cellar a catchall for rubbish.

When you undertake the autumn cleaning of the cellar, have the work done thoroughly. Furnaces always mean dust, and for the next few months it will be difficult enough to keep the cellar clean, even if you begin the season with it in good condition. The floor, if it is cement, can be scrubbed with soap and water, and the walls, whatever they are, can be whitewashed. The ceilings can be dusted with a broom covered with a piece of flannel.

In the laundry, or the part of the cellar where the washing is done—if it is done in the cellar—there should be a rack in front of the tubs, or else a strip of linoleum or a rag rug—something that can be kept clean and dry.

Remember that mice have a way of making their way into cellars through the holes left in the concrete for drainage. The cold weather drives them in from the fields where, apparently, they have spent a happy and successful summer. So out bits of broken glass or lumps of quicklime in these holes. This treatment may be cruel to the mice, but mice are a pest, and should be destroyed. They will soon learn not to come in through holes in this way.

If you have no fruit closet, for canned food of all sorts, have shelves swung from the rafters in the cellar ceiling. They should be hung by wires, and should not be so high that they are difficult to reach. A net-covered tier of shelves, built against the concrete walls, can be used in the cellar, in a cool part of it, for the accommodation of food, and so the ice bill can be kept down. Butter, eggs, cooked food of all sorts, olive oil, and, in fact, everything but milk, oil, cream and meat can be kept fresh in this way. In some localities even meat and milk can be safely kept in some receptacle screened from the dust and yet ventilated, in the cellar.

VEGETABLE SANDWICHES.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Minced Ham.
Hashed and Browned Potatoes.
Mushroom Sandwiches.
Coffee Jelly.
Coffee.

VEGETABLE sandwiches make a pleasing addition to the luncheon menu. They are nice to serve with the afternoon cup of tea or in any capacity in which sandwiches are used. Sandwiches as hors d'oeuvres should be small.

The Bread to Use.

Bread which is twenty-four hours old is the best. The bread should be cut in slices about an eighth of an inch thick. The slices should then have the crust taken off and be cut into strips, triangles or stamped in fancy shapes with a cutter.

Watercress and Cheese Sandwiches.—Take club cheese; then chop fine an equal quantity of olives and watercress and add to the cheese with mayonnaise to make the right consistency for spreading. Mix well; then spread on thin slices of white or whole wheat bread.

Piquantly Seasoned.

Mushroom Sandwiches.—Cut mushrooms into small pieces and cook in butter until tender. Season with salt and paprika and add enough thick cream to make a suitable consistency for spreading. Add a little lemon juice and the least grating of nutmeg and apply on thin slices of bread.

Cucumber Sandwiches. — Slice one thin cucumber. Marinate in French dressing. Then place the slices of cucumber on buttered brown bread, sprinkle with chopped olives, place another slice of buttered bread on top and press together. Trim off the crusts and cut in triangles.

Some Odd Combinations.

Mixed Vegetable Sandwich. — Chop fine six lettuce leaves, a little celery, three boiled beets, half a cupful of boiled peas and mix with some French made mustard. Spread or heap between slices of bread.

Bean Salad.—Take a cupful of baked beans and rub them to a paste. Add to the beans a teaspoonful each of onion juice, chopped parsley and celery, together with an eighth of a teaspoonful of made mustard. Take thin slices of brown bread and spread the paste between them.

Celery Sandwiches.—Take thin slices of white bread, lay the tops of young celery between them after they have been carefully washed, then spread with mayonnaise dressing.

The Little Gray People Feasting.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the Halloween Fairies Feasted.

DADDY and the children were shelling nuts. Mother needed them the next day for the Halloween goodies.

"It takes an awful long time to crack them," complained Jack as he squeezed the nutcracker over a particularly hard walnut.

"Crack 'em with your teeth," daddy suggested, laughing.

"That's the way the squirrels do, you know," he reminded them.

"We're going to put some of the nice cracked nuts out on the birds' shelf in the yard so they can have Halloween, too," the children said.

"That's very kind of you," daddy smiled. "There seem to be a good many birds staying with us this fall. No doubt they will be grateful for the nuts.

"But after the feast is over and you have crawled into bed there will no doubt be another feast right here in the dining room."

"Tell us about it," Jack and Evelyn urged.

"Oh, well," began daddy; "it may begin with a 'Cree, cree!' from Mr. Cricket, who lives under the hearth. Perhaps he is telling Mrs. Cricket and the children to hurry up or they will be late for the dance.

"Then will come a 'pit-pat' of little feet tripping over the floor. Through the light that streams in through the windows you would see little gray clad forms coming up to the table to get what you have left from the feast.

"When the company is all together Mr. Cricket will take out his fiddle and play. Dancing? No; I doubt if there will be any of that. Every one will be so anxious to get his or her share of the good things.

"Some of them will go bobbing for apples; others will play with the candles. The sweets will be tasted and the kernels nibbled out of the nuts.

"If there is any cake about they will gobble it down with joy, for they are as fond of cake as children.

"The chafing dish in which the rabbit was made will be sniffed eagerly, and if a bit of the rabbit has been dropped on the floor it will be cleaned up. The little gray guests love cheese better than anything.

"After they have eaten their fill they will carry what they can to their homes and pile it up to eat when they get time. They know that there will not be a feast like that every night.

"When the dawn begins to get gray in the east and Dinah turns over in bed for a last nap the little creatures will begin to go home, tired out.

"When they hear Dinah coming downstairs, groaning at every step that her 'rheumatiz' is worse, as she always does, the last ones will scuttle home, for they know Dinah hates their whole race. Mice? Yes; didn't you know they were?"

DAUGHTER TESTIFIES IN THE EATON CASE

Says Mother Was Jealous of All Women.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 17.—Dorothy Ainsworth, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial for the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, U. S. N., retired, testified about the Eaton family life, her stepfather's last illness and his death.

After telling of the jealousy her mother showed toward all women and of her mother's frequently expressed dread of being poisoned by the admiral, Dorothy, hand in hand with Mrs. Eaton, left the courtroom when adjournment was taken. Dorothy was on the stand an hour and twenty minutes. Not having finished her direct testimony when the session closed, she will testify again.

The testimony of the girl showed that Mrs. Eaton displayed a jealous disposition whenever her husband exchanged words with any woman and that she was constantly talking about poison during the months preceding the admiral's death. The witness said she had never seen her stepfather flirt with any woman and that he always conducted himself as a gentleman should.

Regarding the talk about poison, Dorothy said her mother told her one morning that the admiral had injected some into her arm during the night and had showed some scratches to the girl as evidence. She informed the court with a laugh that the scratches looked "just like ordinary scratches."

A feature of the trial was an intimation from Assistant District Attorney Katzmann in opening for the prosecution that the jury could, if it so thought proper, bring in a verdict of not guilty because of insanity.

THE SMART SEPARATE COAT A FASHION DEMAND

Straight, simple, almost severe of line are many of the long, separate coats. Others are belted and trimmed to give the effect of a suit. With the increasing popularity of the one-piece dress a coat of this sort is almost a necessity. The soft velours and fur fabrics appeal as cold, crisp days approach, but the smooth stuffs and tweeds and serges are always appropriate.

One of the smartest and most practical of this style of coats seen this season was of brownish tweed, an almost invisible mixture, collared and cuffed in tobacco brown broadcloth. This is an excellent suggestion for 7982. This model would also be attractive in a bright blue velours de laine, with collar and cuffs of scarlet. In size 16 7982 requires 3¾ yards of 42 inch material with ¼ yard of contrasting stuff.

A dainty, graceful afternoon dress for the boarding school girl is shown in 8011. The skirt is a peg-top and the blouse opens over a natty little surplice vest. This may be developed most effectively in printed taffetas, bringing out some of the new color combinations—blues, greens and brick reds, with a plain color for the vest and cuffs.

Size 16 may be made with 4½ yards of 36 inch material.

Wreaths for Enclosing Initials.

Dainty little wreaths, such as are illustrated here, are very useful for enclosing initials or monograms on articles of underwear and also on fancy articles, such as one would make for Christmas gifts. These wreaths are appropriate for use on lingerie waists, underwear, infant's garments, stockings, handkerchiefs and neckwear. They may be developed in white or colors in solid work, eyelets and seed-stitch.

The largest wreath is suitable for enclosing a 1-inch initial or ½-inch monogram; the heart shaped one and the wreath with the bow-knot will enclose ½-inch leters on handkerchiefs.

Six transfers, of each wreath, are contained in pattern. Pattern No. 14085 will be supplied to Daily Press readers for ten cents.

For Teas and Matinees

FALL fashion displays are over. We know the general principles of styles that will prevail for a season, and it remains for us to choose our garments and millinery according to individual likes and the allowance of our pocketbooks. Nowadays the well gowned woman pays much attention to smart afternoon gowns for the street, the matinee or informal teas. This means that some will choose a single model to answer all three purposes, for, whether one lives in the city, the country or in a suburban town, engagements overlap so frequently that there is not time for a change of costumes.

Model gowns of French designers and the most pleasing adaptations of dressmakers in this country emphasize silk fabrics for the kind of costume mentioned. The two or three-piece suit is a general favorite for dressy uses, even though followers of the latest style edicts are wearing odd wraps extensively in the daytime.

A model for as beautiful a "best" suit as you will find is that shown in the middle of this page (coat 7720, skirt 7861). It is of light brown moire with dark green velvet collar, cuffs, sash and drop ornaments and green silk trimming cord. The lines are exceptionally good and will give a slender appearance to the wearer. You will notice that the cutaway effect of the coat, often uncoming in itself, is offset by the vest-like crossed front pieces. The graduated tuck in the two-piece skirt follows the curved outline of the bottom of the coat. Notice the original and Frenchy touch in the velvet covered discs depending from the bottom of the sash ends. It is made from lead weights covered with velvet and outlined with silk cord, a smart finish that adds no extra expense to the cost.

There is an advantage for the home seamstress who selects the same pattern to reproduce. There are no snags of mannish tailoring to be overcome, and, in fact, such a costume is often better made by a woman than a man tailor. Poplin, silk or woolen bengaline, faille or even velvet, if one wants it, would be equally attractive if made after the illustrated moire suit.

Cost of Costume 7720-7861

5½ yards of moire	$8.20
2½ yards of messaline	3.38
Trimmings	3.32
2 Home Journal patterns	.20
Total	$15.20

One bright and gay colored dress should have a place in this season's modish wardrobe. Smart dressers are appearing in them for restaurant luncheons and five o'clock tea, and they are a delight because so different from the plain, somber clothes worn in the last cold season. Plaid silks combined with plain are scarcely as new as the Roman stripes made up with soft satins or crepe de Chine. If you are going to buy and make a simple gown that may be worn with only a fur scarf until colder days come choose the pattern of the gown shown on the left of this page. It has a loose blouse with a slightly gathered peplum in the newest Russian style and a skirt that may be reproduced from two straight breadths of wide silk. The bell sleeve of three-quarter length is a feature of several French gowns, as well as the low cut armhole which you will notice.

This idea is a splendid one for making a last year's gown so stylish with the aid of a little striped silk that your friends will want to know where it came from.

On the back of this blouse there is a decorative buckle made of the blue silk covering a rectangle of canvas and embroidered with gold soutache braid and dull red beads. Such adjuncts as this are the little things which one who has some ingenuity can devise from bits of old trimmings, fancy buttons or beads that many are likely to keep somewhere in the sewing boxes. Each number of the patterns for the dresses described may be had for 15 cents.

New Shades of Old Colors Fashionable For Winter

Colors chosen for any garment this winter will determine its fashionable character quite as much as the cut and the fabric itself, for there are odd shades of staple browns, blues, greens, etc., borrowed from Oriental dress, as well as tints mixed on the designers' palette. Green and brown are the leading street colors. Seal or niggerhead, ochre, leather and cinnamon are the names by which the browns are known. Tango stands for a rich mahogany with a burnt orange tinge, and a medium blue similar to the old Copenhagen is called Hague blue.

OCHRE MOIRE TWO-PIECE COSTUME WITH SLIGHTLY DRAPED SKIRT

POIRET, the famous Paris dress designer, in one of his talks before a New York audience emphasized two principles of the "elegance" of dress which he said he was trying to teach. One of these was the search for greater simplicity; the other, the search for original detail of personality. He also said "choose your gowns with due consideration of stability, with the thought of where they are to be worn. Choose what is most to your beauty, in colors most suited to your complexion and appropriate for the occasion."

American women who are buying French gowns for this season have a choice of expensive and elegant simplicity, but styles of the moment in the effort to make everything fashionable will carry away our intention to stick to the simpler modes.

The attractive one-piece dress on the right of this page ((blouses 7911, skirt 7961) was selected because it shows how well this idea of simplicity can be carried out in practical ways, many are glad to know about, who make their own dresses. It is up to the minute in the little details of fashion, with a yoke in the full blouse and a per-top skirt having just a semblance of drapery, as easy to introduce as a straight finish to the overlapping front. The little fullness will prevent the ugly bagging at the knees which comes from wearing a very narrow skirt. The original model for the photograph is made of taupe wool crepon, with collar facing, yoke and skirt trimming of the same material in ecru. The large ivory-like buttons are a novelty that relieves a possible too plain appearance. Black braid passementerie about an inch in width that may be bought for 50 cents a yard is used as an effective trimming on the yoke. One could make a similar effect with a design fashioned from plain soutache braid or silk cord. Silk tassels might also be used as ornaments where the buttons appear and thus add one more very new style feature. Each number of the pattern from which this smart afternoon dress can be reproduced is 15 cents.

Unusual Salads of Cheese and Fish

A DELICIOUS light salad served with a course luncheon where new styles in food supplemented autumn fashions in gowns consisted of hard boiled eggs mixed with Roquefort cheese and French dressing. The white of the eggs was minced as fine as if put through a chopper, and the yolk was grated. A crisp lettuce leaf and a hard cracker completed the course.

When a less expensive salad than chicken or lobster is desirable for the home table or for a large company the following shrimp salad is worth trying. To one pint can of shrimps add one cupful each of chopped celery and chopped cabbage. Marinade and serve on lettuce with a boiled dressing.

Utility Devices Found In the Shops

THE housewife who would keep abreast of modern devices and novel utilities for the kitchen and for labor saving will be repaid for half an hour spent in a tour of discovery through the household department of a big department store. The writer noticed recently among many practical inventions a rubber tip which can be fastened on the rockers of a chair to prevent it from scratching or digging walls or baseboard; also a faucet cushion of rubber to slip over the end of the faucet, which is often the means of breaking dishes as they are put in or taken from the dishpan. Each can be bought for 6 cents.

Enameled tin egg holders with spaces for twelve eggs each will be found practical to keep eggs from breaking either in the refrigerator or the pantry. They are 25 cents apiece, but lasting and more sanitary than pasteboard makeshifts in which eggs sometimes come from market.

If one has had tea leaves, flakes of cereal or ground coffee spill as she emptied a portion from their holders she will appreciate a sanitary spout cap costing only 10 cents. It is a metal cover that may be screwed on any glass preserve jar. In the top is a swinging "shoot" that drops down as the jar on which it is placed is tipped or inverted. The contents may then be poured out without spilling, and the jar is closed when set again on its bottom.

Sanitary sink pails are a combination of garbage receptacle and sink strainer. The latter is a dome shape perforated lid hinged to a two quart pail. Turn the lid off from the top while washing dishes or cooking utensils. Turn the lid back, and the refuse is thrown into the pail, where it may remain until emptied into the garbage can.

Filmy Vests of Lace Tucks And Net a Winter Fashion

FRILLS of the kinds now so fashionable and so essential to modish attire can materially increase the high cost of living if we don't "watch out." They are the essentially feminine belongings that add a becoming finish to any gown or blouse with which they are appropriate. Winter has placed no barrier on these filmy plaitings and vests.

Three of the newest models of net vests are shown herewith. Tucked net affords one of the many pleasing varieties. The frills, in lieu of a collar, may be slightly stiffened with wire collar supporters radiating from the back of the neckband, about an inch apart at the base. Hand embroidered net for the vest proper makes one of the daintiest accessories. Women who are clever at embroidery will sometimes buy the plain made up pieces and add the decorative touches, for they bring up the prices in the shop neckwear.

Silver and gold laces are being used for Medici collars with many dressy gowns, always with a low cut front, either pointed or V shape.

Net guimpes with standing collars are about all the neck covering fashion will permit even for cold weather, and those who have adopted the style would be loath to return to thick and lined yokes in dresses. The separable guimpes which come ready made in a variety of fine laces and plain mesh nets are serviceable from the fact that they may be laundered easily. Guimpes with long sleeves have Directoire ruffles extending over the hands. They are being worn with sleeveless waistcoats of rich brocades, flowered ribbons, or embroidered ratine and duvetyn, the two articles forming the blouse adjunct of a two-piece costume.

Cross-Stitch Embroidery Dainty For Children's Belongings

LONG as cross stitch embroidery has been in vogue it still has many uses for decorating household linens and children's bibs, aprons, etc. For the little time which it takes, the effects produced are much liked. A border at the top of a hem in colored gingham frocks, which may also have simple cross stitch embroidered yokes, is a favorite way of introducing a little handwork.

The border of ducks and trees herewith reproduced is a favorite for the nursery and its furnishings. Bureau and table covers and even casement curtains may have this design or at least the trees and the narrow edge. The pattern, which comes for stamping (14521), is two and three-eighths inches wide and three yards long. It may be worked in two shades of blue or brown or in brown and green. Scrim or linen has its threads sufficiently separate to make the cross stitch work easy without exact counting. A section of the design may be used for a bib or across the bottom of a play frock. The price of this pattern is 10 cents.

Objection to colored embroidery on the score that it is difficult to launder without the colors running need not be raised if one knows the right way to wash it. Strong laundry soaps should not be used on any kind of white or colored embroidery. Make a suds of pure white soap and lukewarm water to which a little gasoline or benzine has been added. Rub gently to remove any spots. Rinse in clear water and press a little. Roll each piece in a heavy towel, taking care that the embroidery does not fold over on itself. After enough of the water has been taken up by the towel iron the embroidery on the wrong side, laying it upon several thicknesses of a blanket or a Turkish towel. Mix two parts of alcohol with one of water when washing articles embroidered with white silk. This will prevent them from turning yellow. Also iron all such embroidered pieces with a cloth between them and the hot iron. When washing colored embroideries use only lukewarm water.

HUERTA DISREGARDS REQUEST OF ENVOYS

Mexico City, Oct. 17.—General Huerta disregarded the action taken by foreign envoys here in their request for an enlarged garrison for the protection of the lives and property of foreign citizens by ordering 1,000 soldiers north. He did this within twelve hours after the representatives of the foreign nations had made their request.

The arrest of Enrique, a Catholic deputy, on a charge of plotting against the government, has made the local situation more tense.

SECOND JERSEY CAVALRY WILL CELEBRATE JUBILEE

PRINCETON THEPIANS HAVE PLAY WITH WESTERN LOCALE

Princeton, Oct. 17.—The Triangle Club, of Princeton, began its season Wednesday night, when the president, Henry P. Elliot, of Atlanta, Ga., outlined the sketch of the play which will be given this year.

A name for the play has not been decided upon as yet. It is the work of Robert Strain, Jr., of Silver City, N. M., and has its plot centering about a series of entanglements which come at a point called "Four Corners," where four States, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado, meet. The play calls for a large chorus.

The first trials for the cast and chorus will be held within two weeks. By the usual elimination process the candidates will be narrowed down to a list where there are not more than three men for any one character. President Elliot and Eugene B. Sanger, of New York, who has coached the Triangle productions for a number of years, will act as judges. The Casino has been engaged again for this year for the rehearsals, which will take place every night except Tuesday.

The first presentation of the play will be given in Princeton about the middle of December for members of the faculty alone, as customary. The performance for students alone will follow the next night, and soon after the club will start on its Christmas tour.

DISTRIBUTED 5,000 TROUT FROM THE STATE HATCHERY

Hackettstown, Oct. 17.—Fish and Game Warden Harry Cudney, of Warren county, by order of the State Fish and Game Commission, took from the new State fish hatchery here Wednesday 5,000 of the young trout raised during the past year and distributed them in the Musconetcong Creek near here. It was the first lot to be taken from the new hatchery and planted in State waters. The fish were five and six inches long. It is said that by the time the trout season opens next April these fish, under favorable conditions, will have grown to be eight to ten inches in length.

It is said that the commission will plant about 200,000 trout in State waters in the next few weeks to relieve the crowded condition at the hatchery, because of the delay in the construction of additional pools. At present two tons of food is required per week to feed the young fish at the local hatchery.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS DO NOT PROGRESS

President Has No Solution Ready to Present.

EXPECT POWERS' SUPPORT

But No Official Expressions Have Been Received to Indicate Attitude of Interested Nations—France May Send Warships to Mexican Waters.

Washington, Oct. 17.—No provision for relieving the present extremely strained condition in that country is contained in the administration policy toward the latest phase of the Mexican situation.

Beyond expressing his absolute disapproval and abhorrence of Huerta's action in imprisoning members of the congress and assuming the powers of a dictator, President Wilson has no program or solution ready for presentation. He has not offered to the Mexican government, officially or otherwise, any loophole or escape by which the situation can be made less objectionable to this government.

It is thought in many quarters that President Wilson will evolve eventually another plan of action for bringing about an adjustment of the situation. Statements made, however, upon the highest authority established clearly that nothing has been done or is contemplated further than the sharp notes of disapproval dispatched from Washington on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

There is some reason to believe that the sympathies and also the hopes of the administration now lie with the Constitutionallists or revolutionists controlling several of the northern and middle states. Statements made today in official quarters indicated that the administration would welcome some action by the revolutionists which would give a new turn to the present unsatisfactory situation.

Support of Powers Expected.

This is construed as meaning that the overthrow of the Huerta government by violence and the triumph of the rebel leaders would be regarded as a solution which the United States might be able to accept until its original plan of satisfactory elections may be carried out. It has already demonstrated that it will not accept elections held under existing circumstances in the City of Mexico through the domination of Huerta and the subjection of the congress.

The sympathy and moral support of foreign governments is hoped for by the administration, but thus far no official expressions have come to Washington either from the City of Mexico or other capitals indicating what will be the attitude of the other interested nations. These governments all have in their possession copies of the two notes sent to the City of Mexico by the administration this week.

From unofficial sources there came this afternoon two bits of information which are regarded as forecasting in some degree the probable course of the European governments. It was learned that a statement had been issued in the City of Mexico by the British legation to the effect that the British government regards the action of President Huerta with respect to congress and the executive power as purely a matter of Mexico's internal affairs and one with which the British government is not concerned.

Another report from France was to the effect that the French minister had asked the government to send a warship to Mexican waters immediately. This was regarded as of grave significance, as heretofore only the British and Germans, who regularly keep vessels in American waters, have sent cruisers to Mexico. This reported move by France was accepted as evidence of the seriousness with which the diplomatic corps in the City of Mexico view the present situation and as indicating the belief that there is a near possibility of the total collapse of the Huerta government. Germany is sending two ships, it is known. Neither government has yet notified the United States of its intention to send warships to Mexico.

Wealthy Pair Try Suicide.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—After celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary by seeing a performance of the much talked of play "Damaged Goods" a man believed to be William C. Ellis, a wealthy Cincinnati leather dealer, and his wife attempted to carry out a suicide pact in the Hotel Sherman. The woman's body, nearly decapitated, was found on the floor of their room. Ellis himself was found unconscious. He had slashed his throat with a penknife.

CONFESSES THEFT OF $500 MESH BAG

Through her counsel, Mrs. Catherine Randolph Fitzhugh, member of the Fitzhugh family of Virginia, pleaded guilty to two charges of larceny when arraigned before Justice Gavegan in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, New York, yesterday. She was arrested last March for the alleged theft of a $500 mesh bag from Miss Dorothy Fisk, of this city, and she plainly showed the effects of her long imprisonment in the Tombs.

After pleading guilty yesterday she was remanded to the Tombs until Monday for sentence. It was reported that sentence would be suspended and that Mrs. Fitzhugh's relatives would take her to a private sanitorium.

Mrs. Fitzhugh stole Miss Fisk's handbag while she was worshipping at St. Bartholomew's church, New York. Miss Irene Munsey, an actress, identified her as the woman who had stolen a gold bracelet from her while she was praying in the Church of the Transfiguration, New York city.

WOMEN ARE INVITED TO ATTEND MEETING

Their Interest in Garbage Disposal Scheme Agitation Desired.

Members of the Board of Trade are looking forward to a big gathering next Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, when the important topic of municipal collection of garbage and ashes will be thoroughly discussed, with the hope of bringing about this municipal improvement for Plainfield. Invitations have been sent broadcast to local people, both men and women, to attend the gathering, hear the speakers and ask questions about the way the problem is handled in other cities. It is especially desired that there shall be a large attendance of the women of Plainfield at the meeting, as the topic is one which interests them even more than it does the men.

Franklin W. Fort, a Newark attorney who has been counsel for the biggest contracting firm in North Jersey for many years, will tell how the problem is handled in East Orange and other places similar to Plainfield, and give some idea of the cost when the work is done under municipal supervision. He will be accompanied by Michael Loprete, who has had the contract for the work in Newark and East Orange at different times, and Mr. Loprete will be ready to answer any questions which may come up at the meeting.

During the evening the Dutch Arms band of Trinity Reformed church, a musical organization which has gained an enviable reputation during the few months it has been in existence, will play popular airs, and they will also play outside of the association rooms and at other points in town prior to the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in the subject.

It is expected that this will be carried into effect on Wednesday October 22.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF WESTERN LIFE

Former Cowboy Entertained Y. M. C. A. Members With Curios and Lecture.

Members of the local Y. M. C. A. boys' department and their friends were entertained in the association auditorium this morning by G. G. Clapham, an ex-cowboy, who gave a graphic account of real western outdoor life illustrating his talk with numerous curios he collected while in the west. Over 250 boys attended the rally meeting which was one of a series that has been arranged by C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary, and following the talk the juvenile audience was treated to a motion picture film appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. Clapham is now in the employ of the New York City Board of Education, where he is conducting a lecture tour of the public schools giving the same talk to the students as he delivered before the local Y. M. C. A. boys. The speaker appeared in typical cowboy costume and described each piece of Western equipment, telling its use and how it is worn. Among the novelties exhibited by the lecturer are a Colt revolver of the most approved type, snake-skin neckwear with the rattles attached, leather trousers, cowboy hats and neckbands and riding boots with the customary spurs.

Aside from describing the heavy dress of the Western frontier Mr. Clapham told of the cowboy's life and the various forms of entertainment enjoyed by the inhabitants of the West. He assigned the vice and crime so graphically told of in dime novels to a bad element which is very much in the minority among the cowboys. He brought out the sense of honor and duty each rough rider cherished in a vivid way and gave a routine of work characteristic of the inhabitants of that section.

JR. MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA WILL GIVE A CONCERT

The Junior Municipal Orchestra is preparing on Thursday nights for the public concert to be given Nov. 13 at the auditorium of the Washington School. Carl Evans, who has gained a reputation as a cornet soloist, will play special parts at the recital, accompanied by the orchestra in chorus selections. At the rehearsal next Thursday night in the Franklin School, several new members will enroll.

The Senior Orchestra will rehearse a new program Wednesday night, including the overture of "William Tell." Special invitation has been extended to the public to attend these meetings which entirely lack in the disagreeable monotony of ordinary rehearsals. New members are welcome at all times.

Under the direction of Miss Emma Ryno, acting supervisor, folk dancing will be taught at the Washington School Monday night to members of the Dunbar Club and any colored children that attend. The Dunbar Club at its meeting Friday night will witness a drill by the Boy Scouts, of Bethel chapel.

VIOLATED ORDINANCE.

Charged with allowing his cattle to run at large in violation of a city ordinance, James Caulfield, of Johnson avenue, was arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza, who suspended sentence.

KITCHELL TO QUIT AS CO. F'S CAPTAIN

Former Head of Co. K. Announces He Will Resign Elizabeth Command.

Announcement that Captain Harry Kitchell, formerly of Co. K, of this city, intends to resign as the head of Co. F, of Elizabeth, has given local military circles somewhat of a surprise, and there is considerable speculation as to his successor. With the resgnation of Captain Kitchell Co. F will become the fourth organization in the First Battalion, as it is a rule that when a company loses its commander it gives way to the one which ranked next to it. In that event Co. K, of this city, will be the first company, with Co. I second and Co. C third.

It is believed that Lieut. H. C. Robins will succeed Captain Kitchell. He is well trained in military affairs. He has been an officer of the company snce its organization. Captain Kitchell has been the head of Co. F since its organization. As an officer he was one of the best and he was a thorough drill master always keeping the men on the jump when they were being given instructions. Under him the company which was composed largely of raw material or "rookies" became one of the most efficient in the Second Regiment and while the personnel of the organization has changed considerably since it was mustered into service it has maintained the same high order which it created in its first months. The company was formed but a short time before the amory was dedicated. With but a few weeks in which to drill he had the men on the floor almost every night and when the time came for them to appear before the men at the head of the New Jersey militia when the armory opened they showed the results of careful instruction and evoked much favorable comment.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR LITTLE MISS FORCE

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Force, of 672 Essex street, gave a party to their daughter, Dorothy A. Force, Thursday afternoon, celebrating her third birthday anniversary. The house was attractively decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. The afternoon was spent playing games, including the "donkey party." Bella Smith received first prize and Edward Stillman second prize. The march was led by the hostess and Ernest McMahon, of Elizabeth. Refreshments were served. Little Dorothy received a number of gifts.

Among those present were May Moore and Edith Moore, of Warrenville; Ernest McMahon and mother, Agnes Baker, Sarah Baker, George Baker and mother, Bertram Fletcher, of Elizabeth; Minie Force, of Menlo Park; Edward and Charles Stillman and mother, Bella Smith, Frances and Edith Flynn and mother, Edwin and Frank Force, Jr., Mrs. H. SENATOR POINDEXTER HERE OCTOBER 30

Local Progressives Prepare for Mass Meeting for Everett Colby.

Tentative plans for the mass meeting to be held in this city, Thursday, October 30, when Senator Miles Poindexter, of Minnesota, is to be the speaker, were discussed at a meeting of the City Progressive Executive Committee, last night. G. W. V. Moy, Leslie R. Fort and John Dahl were appointed a committee on hall, and if it can be arranged the meeting will be held at The Plainfield Theatre. The members of the committee displayed much enthusiasm over the outlook and were much encouraged by the generous contributions received from supporters of the party in this city.

The rest of the evening was devoted to a general discussion of candidates and other details pertaining to the campaign. The committee will meet again on Friday night, October 24 at the party's headquarters in the Babcock building when all arrangements for the mass meeting will be completed.

The Sunday-school will meet at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the Epworth League at 7:15 o'clock in the evening, led by Mrs. F. J. Hubach. Mr. Hubach will preach at 8 o'clock in the evening on the theme, "Ability Plus or The Parable of the Talents."

The "personal workers' class" meets every Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Frederick R. Phillips. Mrs. W. H. Cook is the leader. Mr. Hubach is instructing over fifty singers every Friday night. They have become members of the Cantata Society. The cantata "Bethlehem" is being rehearsed and choruses, anthems, folk songs, glees and three-part songs for a ladies' chorus are also used. GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Isadore Korman, an employe at the Watchung Silk Company mill in Watchung avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct and when arraigned before Recorder Gano this morning, after spending the night in jail, was released on a suspended sentence. Korman was smoking in the factory in violation of a stringent rule of his employers. When told to stop he became abusive to the manager and refused to leave the premises after being discharged. Chief Marshal Weiss was summoned and placed the man under arrest.

RELIGIOUS WORK FOR SCHOOLBOYS

Y. M. C. A. Plans Extension of Bible Study Among Educational Institutions.

MANY ARE INTERESTED

Movement Launched at a Banquet Given Under the Direction of Boys' Secretary C. William Bingeman in the Association Parlors.

Thirty members of the Y. M. C. A. senior boys' department, all of whom are students in either the High School group including Plainfield or North Plainfield High Schools, or the Prep. School group, which takes in Leal's Preparatory School, were entertained in the association parlors last night at an opening banquet given under the direction of C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary. The purpose of the gathering was to perfect plans for the reorganization of the Bible study program for the coming fall and winter term and the speakers of the evening were men who will come in touch with the members of the class during the course of Bible talks that have been arranged by Mr. Bingeman. Each of the local scholastic institutions was represented by a group of students who are actively engaged in the different phases of endeavor in the various institutions and as a result of last night's preliminary gathering a number of new members will probably be enrolled in the class before it is officially opened.

A meeting of this nature was particularly appropriate at this time because of the fact that many of the charter members of the religious work group who were present last night will represent the local association as delegates to the annual convention of State Boys' Work, which will be held in Camden next Saturday and Sunday. Reports will be submitted to the conference officials at that time outlining the work in the various associations throughout the State and the members of the Plainfield group will be able to obtain many valuable suggestions pertinent to the organization of such a class as Mr. Bingeman has proposed. The Bible study work has been a prominent feature among the High School and Preparatory students during the last four years, in fact ever since the present incumbent took charge of the boys' work, and he has suggested plans for the coming term, which, if carried out as proposed, will without doubt establish a precedent for this department of association work among boys of the High School age.

Mr. Bingeman acted as toastmaster at the banquet and introduced four speakers all of whom are well known to the boys in the class and each of those responding to toasts told of the place the Bible and the Christian life held in the lives of college men and especially of collegiate athletes. It was a notable feature at last night's gathering that each of the thirty guests is actively engaged in scholastic athletic work of some kind and among the diners were football, baseball and basketball captains and those who have worked for the local schools in every department of athletic endeavor.

William D. Murray, president of the Y. M. C. A., told of the great influence the Bible has had on the lives of college men and the speaker illustrated his talk with a number of instances he has run across during his international work.

C. D. Wardlaw, coach of the Leal School athletic forces, and Ralph S. Patch, athletic instructor in the Plainfield High School, were both greeted with a hearty welcome by their "schoolboy charges," as was also Randolph S. Merrill, who had charge of the religious work at the Boys' State camp at Lake Wawayanda during the past summer and who will assist the local association in this field during the coming season.

The first meeting of the High School Bible Class for study will be held next Friday evening in the boys' parlors at 6:10 o'clock. William D. Murray will be the leader at the opening meeting and a light supper served by the boys will precede the study which will deal with "The Life and Works of Jesus, According to Mark." Mr. Murray has prepared a course of study that is being used in numerous high and preparatory schools throughout the country and will be introduced into the local class. The Leal School boys will meet with Randolph Merrill for a short time each Wednesday immediately after gymnasium drills.

—Boys playing in a field in Rockview avenue, it is said, started a fire among a pile of leaves causing the borough fire department to be called out to extinguish the small blaze. No damage was done.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

At last we are waking up to the question of sex education and hygiene. Plans are now being made to introduce this vital subject into the public schools, as was recommended by Dr. Eliot, of Harvard College, quite recently and the time is not far distant when young people who are approaching maturity will be given healthy instructions in the so-called mystery of sex. It is an actual fact that in nine out of every ten American homes, sex education is neglected. To ignore the question, to frown upon any discussion of the problem will no longer be possible. With the subject taken up in the public schools, parents will have to recognize its importance. Of course strong propaganda will be necessary to bring the great mass of people to a true realization of its importance, but on every side are evidences of this propaganda. One of the strongest sermons against the fallacy that ignorance is the strength of virtue is "The Blindness of Virtue," a new play from the pen of Cosmo Hamilton, an English writer. In an entertaining way Mr. Hamilton makes a plea for the education of young people in the mysteries of sex. He shows the dangers that result from the failure of a mother to speak to her daughter because of a prudish sense of delicacy. It is this prudish sense of delicacy that most people mistake for modesty and Hamilton attacks it fearlessly, yet without grossness. We are beginning to realize that parents have duties and obligates toward their children other than providing them with mere creature comforts. "The Blindness of Virtue" makes this plea more effectively than it has ever been made in contemporary literature or drama. "The Blindness of Virtue" will be seen in this city, at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday evening, October 23. The cast was personally selected and rehearsed by Cosmo Hamilton, the author, and includes Frank G. Bayly, who has been playing with Sir George Alexandra for several years; A. Hamilton Gibbs, who played in the long run of "Milestones;" Leo Carroll, a prominent player in "Rutherford and Son," at the Little Theatre, both in London and New York; Miss Marie Ault, who was also a prominent member of the cast of "Rutherford and Son," both in London and New York; Miss Marguerite Collier, Miss Susie Claughton, daughter of Canon Claughton, of Worcester Cathedral, England; Miss Marjorie Allen, and Miss Elizabeth Bland, from the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, His Majesty's and the St. James Theatres.

Many Plainfield Women Are Learning the Cause.

Women often suffer, not knowing the cause.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

"The Fool and His Money"

There are stores that sell clothing to "catch" the transient trade.

They cater to the passer-by, who, seeing a suit in the window, notes its price, counts his coin, and rushes in to buy!

He tacitly acknowledges that his customer will never come back for more.

But Rothberg's Store is run on a different plan.

When we sell a man clothing, we expect to see him again and again—AND YET AGAIN!

We would rather close our doors for good and all than to have our store, which enjoys the reputation for square dealing, degenerate into a gilded fool-trap, or to play "second fiddle" in the Orchestra of Good Values in this town.

ASK FOR DEMONSTRATION.

Elizabeth, Oct. 18.—In order to increase the productiveness of farms in this county, the Union County Board of Agriculture has passed a resolution asking Professor Alva Agee, of the State Experimental Station at New Brunswick, to send a demonstrator through the county. If the superintendent decided to send one, the Board of Freeholders is compelled by law to make an appropriation to defray the expense. Progress was reported in the plans for the agricultural exhibit to be held in connection with the poultry show in December. A special feature will be the domestic science department. Alexis J. Solman, of the Elizabeth Board of Trade, urged the farmers to support the project for a central market in Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, OCTOBER 18, 1913.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is Evarts Tracy, an architect of international fame.

ARCHITECTURE IN PLAINFIELD.

Every man to his metier, and therefore I shall stick to mine which is architecture.

My business takes me to nearly every part of the United States and I am naturally in a position to know what is being done in the way of building design in other sections.

The thing that troubles me in Plainfield is the class of residences erected for sale and rent by speculative builders here.

When I say class, I don't mean to decry their construction, they are built about as well as in most places, but their design is as a rule something awful.

I find in other cities of about the same size as Plainfield and many smaller ones in New Jersey, New York, Long Island, Connecticut, not to speak of others more remote, that the residences selling for from five to fifteen thousand dollars are very much better designed and planned than they are here.

Now it doesn't cost any more to consider the location of a house and the points of the compass, and to compactly arrange without any waste space its necessary rooms. In fact it often costs less.

It doesn't cost more to make a simple, dignified exterior than it does to put on foolish ornament and detail.

Some years ago the leading developers of suburban real estate discovered that if they employed the best architects for the residences they were building to sell that they received two dollars for every one dollar they paid as architects fee.

Right here I wish to say that I am not looking for a job, I haven't built this type of house for some years, and don't want any of them.

I have seen more than one case here in town, where of two houses, one well and carefully designed, sold almost immediately while the other of the usual type remained unsold for several years.

The interest and carrying charges must have been three times what the architect's fee were on the good house.

If the builders could dispose of these houses at a profit immediately, the subject would be entirely an academic one, but as it is, it's bad business.

Now the builders are not the only ones to blame.

The people who make the loans are doing bad business when they don't see the inevitable result.

If you go to an insurance company or any of the large loaning institutions in New York with a building proposition to finance the first question is, "who is your achitect?" If he is not satisfactory the interview generally ends right there.

I have had people come to this city looking for a home and go back disgusted because all of the new houses on the market were impossible from the standpoint of an educated and refined person.

I trust that before long we shall have the same intelligence shown here that is now being shown in other cities, many of which do not approach us in natural advantages.

EVARTS TRACY.

EDUCATIONAL PICTURES PROVE TO BE POPULAR

The first of the series of free educational motion picture entertainments for the men of Plainfield's factories, was given last night in the Y. M. C. A. hall, when men from all the shops of the city saw a film illustrating the value of modern safety devices. The latest Pathe weekly pictures were also shown.

The audience was so impressed by the value of pictures that it has been decided to give another exhibition on Friday night, Oct. 31, at which another picture of special interest to workingmen will be shown. It is proposed to use pictures demonstrating modern inventions and depicting industrial processes and illustrating the application of physicial and chemical laws at these free exhibitions.

Before the entertainment six members of the association's class in English for foreign speaking men, received diplomas earned at the summer examinations. The men who received certificates are Raymond Vidal, Ludwig Kohlweiss, Herman and Charles Horst, William Karge and Albert Pohl.

This class has been conducted for the past two years with A. W. Houck of the High School faculty as teacher.

PROCTOR'S NOVELTY SHOW

Many novelties are included in the big vaudeville show to be presented at Proctor's theatre the first part of the week beginning Monday. Tom Nawn and Co., the clever Irish comedian and his excellent company will offer the original farce, "The College Coach," a rip-roaring story of college life. John E. Cain and Blanche Newcomb will appear in a comedy skit, "Train Time," with special scenery. This will prove a big laugh. LeRoy, the man fish, who eats, drinks and smokes under water, is another big attraction. Ernest Dupille, the English comedian, just over the seas, presents a splendid monologue. Larabee and Bell will also appear in a pleasing comedy skit. The photoplays will cover the latest topics.

MISS RUTH HETFIELD NOW MRS. LUTHER BANKS

Miss Ruth Hetfield, of Stout avenue, Fanwood, was married last night at her home to Luther Banks, of Mt. Pleasant. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, former pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, officiated. Only the immediate members of the two families were present.

Following the wedding reception, the couple went to the Queen City Hotel, this city, where they were greeted by a large party of friends. This morning they left on a honeymoon trip and on their return will reside in the borough. The bride was clothed in a traveling suit of blue with hat to match. Mr. Banks was a graduate of the 1910 class of the local High School and had many friends in this city.

UNITED CIGAR COMPANY BUYS RIKER-HEGEMAN

Negotiations which have been in progress for a week for the purchase of the Riker-Hegeman-Jaynes drug stores by the United Cigars Store Company, have been completed, according to a statement by C. A. Whelan, vice president of the latter company. The total capital of the two organizations is said to be $50,000,000. The combination is expected to fight concerns that cut prices in lieu of coupons.

It is said that the United Cigars Company is not making the purchase, but that interests controlling that company, headed by George J. Whelan, its president, were the ones who were taking over the interest of the drug stores.

Seventy years old, but strong and healthy, Recorder David S. If the Government Were to Build PIANOS and direct the industry as the municipalities today direct the work of education, pianos would be standardized as school text books are standardized today; to accommodate the varying musical taste and the not-all-equally-full purses of the people.

Five of the pianos which we are quite sure would be chosen are sold in the Wanamaker Piano Salons; four of them being sold exclusively in these Salons, as far as New York is concerned.

CHICKERING (1823)
LINDEMAN (1836)
SCHOMACKER (1838)
EMERSON (1849)
and the celebrated KNABE (1837)

One piano-player—the ANGELUS—would suffice: it is so far superior to all other piano-players.

It is of great significance to people who may not know the relative merits of the several piano-players on the market, that the makers of these five of the greatest pianos in America have chosen the ANGELUS as the player best fitted to be associated with their time-proven instruments.

What the Government Would Do WANAMAKER'S is Doing

And the warranty of Wanamaker's—as unquestioned as the warranty of the Government—goes with each piano and player-piano it sells, that its equal in tone, construction and investment value, is not to be found in the world.

Our Educational Plan—recognizing the universal need of music—places these instruments within the reach of every home.

Used pianos will be accepted in part exchange.

Investigators are welcomed as cordially as intending purchasers.

Piano Salons—First Gallery, New Building.

The fabrics are suitable for women's suits, costumes, dresses, coats, separate skirts and children's frocks and coats.

TO ASSASSINATE DIAZ ON LANDING

Placards Posted In Havana Carry That Threat.

SECRET POLICE ARE BUSY

Ordered by Authorities to Prohibit All Communication Between Ship Diaz Is On and Shore Except by Persons Fully Authorized.

Havana, Oct. 18.—Threats to resist the landing here of General Felix Diaz and to assassinate him if he should come ashore are conveyed in placards purporting to be signed by various Mexicans in Havana. These placards are posted through the city.

A wireless dispatch from the steamship Corcovado, on board of which General Diaz is coming here, says that the vessel will arrive today.

The secret police have been ordered by the authorities to prohibit all communication between the ship and shore except by persons fully authorized. Should General Diaz land, the hotel at which he stays is to be protected by police and a strong detachment of rural guards.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 18.—Colonel Vidaurrazaga, secretary to the Mexican minister of war, arrived here from the City of Mexico to meet General Feliz Diaz, who is expected to reach Vera Cruz on board the steamship Corcovado next week. Local politicians appear to see in the coming of the secretary official sanction of the candidacy for the presidency of General Diaz.

Crisis Calls For Action.

Washington, Oct. 18.—International settlement of Mexican affairs by armed protectorate, if necessary, was urged in the house by Representative Sherwood, Democrat, of Ohio.

"A crisis is now, on that calls for immediate action on the part of the United States," said he. "One of three courses is open to us—to raise the embargo on arms and encourage the Mexicans in their natural desires to kill each other; to enter the country for armed intervention, or to co-operate with the other nations of the world in exercising a control that will allow the establishment of firm government."

General Huerta will assemble the foreign diplomatists in the City of Mexico today, according to latest state department advices, and make a statement on the present situation. No inkling of Huerta's purpose was contained in the dispatches. His statement will be received here with the keenest interest, though administration officials doubt that it will alter the situation.

Those closest to the administration policy believe dealings with Huerta are practically ended and that measures to compose the situation will next be exerted in other directions. Speculation on the possibility and extent of dealings with the constitutionalist heads has been revived.

TWO OF LINER'S CREW DROWN

Trying to Save One Life Another Is Lost.

New York, Oct. 18.—Two members of the crew of the Cunard line steamer Ivernia were drowned as the ship was entering port after a voyage from the Mediterranean.

While the Ivernia was midway between Fire island and the Ambrose channel lightship Fred Moise, a seaman, jumped overboard from the after port rail. The crew started to lower a boat. Before it touched the water one of the falls broke, and the stern of the boat dropped, throwing the crew into the water. Another lifeboat was launched, and all the men were picked up but one, whose name has not been ascertained. Moise meanwhile had disappeared.

GASES OVERCOME RESCUERS

Artificial Respiration Saves Lives of Men In Cardiff Colliery.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 18.—Artificial respiration saved the lives of several rescuers working in the Universal colliery in which 425 miners now are supposed to have died. The rescuers were overcome by mine gas.

Fifty-seven bodies have been recovered and hope has been abandoned for the 368 miners still unaccounted for.

Thaw Hearing Oct. 27.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 18.—William Travers Jerome was given until Oct. 27 by Governor Felker to investigate the escape of Harry Thaw from Matteawan and have the way cleared for extradition proceedings.

PRESIDENT NOT ILL.

Stories of Serious Stomach Trouble Flatly Denied.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Stories that the president's physical condition is serous and that he has had to have a stomach specialist to give him treatment were flatly denied at the White House.

It appears an old friend of the president was called in to consult Secretary Tumulty about a threatened attack of appendicitis from which Mrs. Tumulty was suffering.

Representative Tim Ansberry, back from Europe, the other day gave the president a blackthorn. The president walked about the office with it as he greeted visitors. A senator who saw it took it seriously.

"I'm sorry to see you are using a crutch," said the senator.

HINT AT LOST WILL IN EATON MYSTERY

Hope to Clinch Motive For Poisoning Admiral.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 18.—A hint at evidence not yet revealed was given by the state at the continuation of the trial for murder of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton. This had to do with a typewritten document alleged to have disappeared from the Eaton home after the death of the defendant's husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, who died, it is charged, from poison administered by his wife.

Dorothy Ainsworth, the younger of Mrs. Eaton's two daughters by an earlier marriage, was on the stand when her testimony was interrupted for a conference of District Attorney Barker and William A. Morse, attorney for the defense, with Judge Aiken. The conference ended, the prosecutor asked Dorothy what she knew of such a paper. The defense objected, whereupon the district attorney called upon Mrs Eaton's attorneys to produce the document in question. Mr. Morse replied that he had learned of its existence only that morning. The matter was not pressed, but Mr. Barker said he hoped to introduce the paper later.

Following the admiral's death a search was made for a will alleged to have been made by the admiral after the date borne by the will filed for probate, which left his property to the widow and his stepdaughters, but so far as known a second will was not found.

SUN YAT SEN ARRESTED?

Chinese Leader Reported Held For Misappropriating Rebel Funds.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 18.—Passengers on the steamship Empress of India, arriving here from Japan, report that Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been arrested in Japan and charged with appropriating to his own use $160,000 from the funds of the Chinese revolutionary party. He will be returned to China, it is reported.

Dr Sun Yat Sen fled from China to Formosa and has recently been hiding near Kobe in Japan.

CHINESE BANDITS KILL 300.

Mission Churches Burned, but Missionaries Are Safe In Fuchow.

Peking, Oct. 18.—Brigands under the leadership of General Twan Liang have killed 300 persons in the district of Fokien. Two mission churches, said to be American property, have been burned down.

American missionaries are safe in Fuchow and American Charge d'Affaires Williams has called for suppression of the bandits.

THREE KILLED BY GAS.

Chelsea, Mass., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Margaret Walker and her two children, a boy of nine and a girl of six months, were killed in their home by illuminating gas.

The mother was overcome while trying to carry her unconscious little ones to the open air.

Seven Drown; Mine Flooded.

Rockdale, Tex., Oct. 18.—Trapped by a cave-in when a nearby creek overflowed and flooded the mine, seven Mexican miners were drowned in the workings of the Vogel Lignite company, near here. Fifty men were in the mine but the others escaped.

Shoots Himself on Wife's Grave.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 18.—Standing on the grave of his wife in Webster, Levy Coburn, ninety, one of the best known residents of that town, fired a bullet into his head, inflicting a fatal wound.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICE FOR MRS. SARAH SOPER

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Soper, widow of Thomas P. Soper, aged 96 years, was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Clark, on Wallace place. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, conducted the service in the absence of Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church, who was unable to officiate. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Soper was a native of New York, and had lived in this city with her daughter for the past five years. During the past two years she had been afflicted with blindness and deafness and more recently became helpless. Beside a daughter, there survives one son, Gayle Soper, of Rahway.

MISS KIRK BIDS GOODBYE TO SCOTCH PLAINS VILLAGE

Miss Florence L. Kirk, who caused considerable comment in Scotch Plains during the past week when she openly accused certain members of the Board of Education and Principal Townsend of a prejudice against her mode of dress, prompting her dismissal, failed to report for duty in the Scotch Plains school yesterday. When inquiries were made it was learned that she had left a note stating that she was suffering with a severe headache and would return to school Monday morning. Dana S. Townsend, principal of the school, received the note but has engaged no successor. He will not fill the vacancy until her contract expires October 31.

Miss Bockman, of Westfield, took charge of Miss Kirk's classes in School No. 1 yesterday, but in speaking to a Daily Press reporter last night Mr. Townsend claimed that Miss Bockman was only temporarily engaged and that Miss Kirk would resume her duties Monday.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. MARY HOOKER HELD

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hooker, widow of the late Rev. Dr. Hooker, was held at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon at the late home, 921 Watchung avenue. She was a member of the Congregational church and it was expected that Rev. C. L. Goodrich, the pastor, would officiate, but owing to his absence from the city, Rev. Dr. Henry A. Stimson, of the Manhattan Congregational church, New York, a former pastor of Mrs. Hooker, will be in charge. The burial will be in Evergreen cemetery, New Haven, Conn., tomorrow.

Mrs. Hooker before her marriage lived in Connecticut, and afterward resided in various parts of the country. She removed from Arlington, this State, to Plainfield about seven years ago. She had lived at Arlington about five years, removing there from New York. She is survived by one son, Ralph Hooker, of Westervelt avenue.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT-AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 21.

BACK in 1760, Dr. Samuel Johnson said that the business or profession of advertising had progressed to a point where it was hard to conceive of any further improvement.

Dear old Dr. Johnson! Wonder what he would say if he were among us today and could note the development and growth of the little, but mighty, WANT AD.

Wonder what he would think if he could know that, within a few hours after being written, a little Classified advertisement, costing the advertiser, say, twenty or thirty cents, is carried into the homes of hundreds of people!

Wonder how he would view a system that enables the advertiser, at said expenditure of twenty or thirty cents, to command human and mechanical energy running up into the thousands —to carry his message out into the big, busy world and spread it broadcast!

This is a wonderful age in which we live. It is an Advertising Age. The Advertising Habit is becoming a part of the nation's moral, social and industrial life. And it is well that this is so. For Progress and Prosperity follow ever where the Spirit of Publicity leads the way.

Ask the man who has advertised.

Green Apple Cooking.

Green apples are plentifully at hand just now. Raw, perhaps, they are best left alone, unless they are the sort that are green when they are ripe. Raw greening apples, for instance, are healthful. But an apple that is green because it is unripe may be all right for cooking, but is all wrong for eating. If children are allowed to eat raw apples—and nothing is better for them, if the apples are ripe—be sure that they are clean. Wash them thoroughly, and dry them. Don't just hold them for a moment under running water and trust to luck that all the dangerous germs are washed off. For it is supposed that the germ of some of the troubles that green fruit causes is on the skin of the fruit.

Apple sauce is never so good as when it is made from tart, green apples. Try leaving the skins on and the seeds in and simply quartering the apples. When they are tender rub the pulp through a sieve and sweeten and flavor to taste. Apple sauce made in this way is delicious, easy to make and has a color gained from the skins—especially if the apples used are green apples touched with red.

If you have flavorless apples, stew them with a few slices of quince. The pungent taste of the quince is good with the apple.

Apple Jelly.

This is a good time of year to make apple jelly. Select firm, winter apples, with a tart flavor. Wash them and dry them carefully and cut in quarters. Cover them, in a big granite kettle, with water, using about half as much water, by measure, as you have apples. Cook slowly until the apples are tender. Put them in a cheesecloth bag and strain off the juice. Measure it and for every pint, add a pint of granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved and then put it over the fire. When it boils, draw it back and skim it. Boil and skim again and then a third time. have jelly glasses in a pan of hot water on the stove and pour the jelly, after the third skimming, into the hot glasses. Cover the jars with sheets of glass—old window or picture glass—in a sunny window until it is set.

Fried apples, served with broiled bacon, is a delicious dish for frosty autumn days. Broil the bacon brown, or else fry it. Slice tart apples about a quarter of an inch thick and fry them either in drippings or in the bacon fat. When the apple is well browned and tender, drain it on brown paper. Sprinkle it with a dash of grated nutmeg ,and send hot, with the hot, crisp bacon, to the table.

SOME LATE FRUIT JELLIES.

THE late fruits, such as peaches, quinces, plums, grapes, apples, etc., make admirable jellies. Fully ripe but not overripe fruit is required for this purpose. All fruit must be carefully picked, washed and drained. Acid fruits make the best jellies.

A Novel Jelly.

Uncooked Jelly.—This may be made with any fruit which will jell. Take equal parts of the fresh fruit and granulated sugar. Mash the fruit or put it through a fruit press or colander and stir with a wooden spoon until all the sugar is dissolved; then pour into glasses and let it stand uncovered for a week in a cool, dry place. When a thin, sugary crust appears on the top it may be covered with paraffin and put away in a cool place to keep. After standing for a few days it will be firm like other jelly.

With Plenty of Spice.

Spiced Apple Jelly.—To every half peck of sour apples allow a quart of vinegar, a pint of water, an ounce of cloves and an ounce and a half of stick cinnamon. Boil all together and drain through a jelly bag overnight. To each pint of juice allow a pound of sugar and boil until it jellies.

Quince Jelly.—This may be made from the parings of quinces, with a little of the whole fruit added. Seeds and the blossom and stem end of the fruit must be removed. Nearly cover the fruit with water, cook until soft and then strain overnight through a jelly bag. Take a half pint of sugar to a pint of juice. Let the juice boil from fifteen to twenty minutes. Heat some sugar in the oven, skim the juice and add to the sugar. Let it boil for a few minutes and then pour into glasses. A combination quince and apple jelly may be thus made by using one half apples and one half quinces.

Using Tart Fruits.

Plum Jelly.—Take plums that are just ripe. Place them on the fire in the preserving kettle with water enough to half cover them. Boil until soft and then put them into the jelly bag and drain overnight. In the morning measure the juice, add an equal quantity of sugar, boil and skim. When it is thick enough to jell, which may be tested by allowing it to drop slowly from a spoon, pour into jelly glasses, cover and put away to keep.

Hearing About the Leaves.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Leaf Who Wouldn't Give Up.

JACK and Evelyn climbed on daddy's lap. They were tired and happy, for that afternoon they had taken a drive with grandpa way out to the farm where every year grandpa ordered enough of those lovely big red apples to last till winter.

"And the trees in the woods when we drove back were such a pretty color," Evelyn said.

"Yes," agreed daddy; "they are putting on their traveling clothes. They are so glad that their summer's work is done and that soon they will be free to leave the tree and flutter off by themselves.

"Once there was a little maple leaf. He had fluttered and danced on his twig all summer.

"When autumn came he noticed that many of the leaves around him were turning from green to red.

"'Why don't you put on a red coat, too?' one of his companions asked him.

"'Green is good enough for me,' he replied.

"'But don't you see we are all dressed in red?' the leaf urged. 'These are our traveling suits, you know. You can't travel if you are not dressed right.'

"'Don't want to travel,' the leaf replied grouchily. 'This tree is good enough for me.'

"The other leaves knew that as soon as the old mother tree had grown the little buds that were to take their places and out of which the leaves of next year were to come they would be free to fly away. They could feel the little round buds forcing their way up and loosening the ends of their stems from the twigs.

"And one morning the wind came along and picked them up one after another and whirled them away through the air.

"But the green leaf that still clung to the tree began to feel lonely. All his friends and companions were gone, and the red and scarlet leafed trees all about the maple were sending their leaves down to join the army of leaf travelers.

"'You'd best change your mind before it is too late,' the mother maple said to him.

"But the little leaf pretended not to hear. One night Jack Frost came along. He was looking for late leaves, and he nipped and nipped the maple leaf. In the morning the leaf was shriveled and pale. All winter it swayed on the branch, for the frost had killed it. The other little leaves, after a delightful frolic, had gone cozily to sleep before the frost came and so did not feel it."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

The New York Times for October 13 puts the matter of Mrs. Blatch's touching appeal to Mrs. Dodge to cease aggravating the Suffrage party by opposition so well that I quote it for the benefit of the readers of this column.

An Appeal Resembling Arraignment.

Even the most devoted and devout of suffragists must have been moved to smiles by the logic of the letter by which the one way eminent Mrs. Blatch attempted to persuade the other way eminent Mrs. Dodge to cease antagonizing ballot extension. In effect Mrs. Blatch wrote to Mrs. Dodge, "We shall be angry if you oppose us, and the consequences of anger are very bad. Therefore, don't!"

That the premises of this syllogism—it is that, though the form cannot be called regular—are true is beyond question, but the "nexus" between those premises and the conclusion reached will probably escape Mrs. Dodge. A good many other people will also find it hard to see, while anywhere from one to a dozen different conclusions would follow with docility.

There is some excuse for suspecting that Mrs. Blatch, whose letter showed her to be, as everybody already knew no tyro disputation, was well aware that her appeal would not convert her adversary—excuse for almost suspecting that she had other objects in view when she schooled her pen to sauvity and her tone to supplication..

A "soft answer," if judiciously timed, can do a lot of irritating, and of indicting, too, and if this one turns away much wrath some of us might as well go out of the prophecy business for good.

Here is Mrs. Dodge's answer to the accusation of stirring up strife:

Mrs. Dodge Cites Examples, and Quotes Feminist Article.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mrs. Batch's letter in today's Times demands an immediate answer. I hasten to recall to her that bitterness was first injected into the suffrage situation when its advocates withdrew from friendly relations with old-time friends, retired from philanthropic work, withheld their much-needed contributions from charities, and accused their opponents of close alliance with the liquor interests and of "holding out their skirts to act as a screen for the proprietors of dens of vice, of gambling houses, and other evil men." I quote from an address made by Anna Shaw at the Congressional hearing in Washington on April 26 last. Mrs. Blatch forgets that the press has censured the suffragists for these public and untrue statements, and that no woman can forgive them. The interview to which Mrs. Blatch alludes may have been open to criticism as a matter of policy, but it was inspired by various signed articles, a fair specimen of which I will give. The following article by Jennie Ashley appeared in The Progressive Woman, April, 1913:

"* * * It is right that we should investigate and reveal the outrages of enforced prostitution, that we should make known to all the world the damnable fact that men and women profit in cold cash by plunging unwilling girls into such a cesspool. It is right that we should demand a minimum wage, a living wage for all women and remove one cause for involuntary prostitution. But it is only rubbing the finger across the dust-covered shelf; it shows that the dirt is there, it removes it in a long streak, but it leaves all the rest of the shelf as dirty as before, and soon the streak itself will be gray again from the dust of an impossible system of life—a system that calls nature vicious for women and vice natural for men.

"The white slave traffic gone, there will be white slaves just the same until we open our eyes wide enough to see the whole horrible, unpardonable hypocrisy of the life we demand of women a life in which the wife must dress and eat and sleep and talk and walk as her husband's income and will dictate; who must work interminably or be odiously idle, as his wishes or necessity prescribes; who must bear children unwillingly, because it is a 'crime' to instruct her how to prevent conception, yet imposes the legal duty of 'serving' her husband as 'wife and calls it murder to prevent a birth, and this irrespective of what the state of her health may be or what kind of life her husband may be leading. Let her endure all this or explain to the gentlemen of the court why she objects. We sing the praises of these gentle slaves, lauding sacred motherhood, but in reality laying the iron hand of necessity upon the dazed creature groping her way through the mazes of unnatural penalties.

"Slaves, every woman of them today, whether prostitutes held unwillingly or prostitutes gone willingly 'astray,' whether submissive wife or rebellious virgin. Slaves every one, because there is no freedom of choice, but only a blind, cruel stupid master, the social system, that without reason and without sympathy enslaves its womanhood .

"But the cure is on its way. Women are becoming thinkers, and are testing themselves the chains that bind them. They are learning how to break them. They are at last beginning to realize that they are slaves, and that this is not a necessary condition; just as the working class is beginning to see that wage slavery is not necessary.

"So on with the fight against white slavery and black, on with the working class rebellion against wage slavery, but let women especially keep up the rebellion, demanding fearlessly and incessantly sex freedom and economic freedom."

At no time, nor on any occasion, have I found any temperance in the maner of the suffragists. No debate without heat and rancor, no impersonal consideration of a great question has been in evidence. Time will prove whether Mrs. Blatch is right or wrong as to the inevitable oncoming of woman suffrage, but even had I the will I certainly have not the power to stay the ever-growing, ever-strengthening wave of public opinion against it; a wave which I hope and believe will meet and finally overwhelm the opposing one of woman suffrage.

MRS. ARTHUR M. DODGE.

New York, Oct. 11, 1913.

The above is not pleasant reading, but it is doctrine preached by the Socialist branch of the suffrage party—a very large and influential part of the organization now so loudly demanding "Votes for Women."

The way in which both men and women are flocking to the Anti-Suffrage cause, as if such utterances were having their natural effect. A chain must be tested by its weakest link. Could a weaker one be found than this arraignment of the ties which are still reverenced and cherished by most Americans.

ELIZABETH B. SYKES.

Today, without the vote, the women who are intelligent and interested in public affairs use their ability and influence for good measures. And the indifferent woman does not matter. The unscrupulous woman has no vote. We get the best and bar out the rest. The State gets all the benefit of its best women, and none of the danger from its worst women. The situation is too beneficial to need any change in the name of progress. We have now two against one, a fine majority, the good men and the good women against the unscrupulous men. Equal suffrage would make it two to two—the good men and the good women against the unscrupulous men and the unscrupulous women—a tie vote between good and evil instead of a safe majority for good.

WAISTCOATS LEND DISTINCTION TO SUITS AND GOWNS

The well dressed woman wears to tea in the afternoon a simple, smartly cut frock of satin, crepe de chine or duvetyn, plain or figured. If the dress be of plain material the omnipresent vest is brocaded or figured, showing dainty Oriental color combinations, and if the gown is figured the vest is plain. There is scarcely a gown that does not show the vest in one form or another. It may be only a couple of inches wide or it may be the regulation waistcoat, but it invariably lends distinction.

Dull blue duvetyn in 7798 was touched to brightness by the vest of figured silk duvetyn and the girdle of burnt orange satin. These rich, strong colors may be used boldly this season if handled cleverly so as to avoid crudeness. Often several of them are used on one costume with a most charming effect. The waistcoat may show in its brocade bits of blue, gold and cerise, and what could be smarter on a dark suit or gown?

The blouse of this model shows a drop shoulder, and the skirt is a two-piece peg-top. A medici frill of lace gives a finishing touch to the collar.

To copy in size 36 4¾ yards of 36 inch material will be needed with ½ yard of contrasting material.

No. 7798—sizes 34 to 42.

NOTICE TO VOTERS—Public notice is hereby given that the question of the adoption or rejection of the following mentioned act will be submitted to the legal voters of the State, in Union county, New Jersey, at a general election to be held November fourth, nineteen hundred and thirteen:

Special Session, Chapter No. 20, Laws of 1913, State of New Jersey. A supplement to an act entitled, "An act concerning juries" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

1. In each county of this State there shall be appointed by the Chancellor of this State one citizen, resident therein, who shall not be a member of the same political party as the sheriff of such county, and who, together with the sheriff of such county, shall constitute and be designated as "Commissioners of Juries." The certificates of appointment shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in and for which said commissioner is appointed. Such commissioners shall, before they enter upon the discharge of their duties, take and subscribe an oath, faithfully and impartially to execute the duties of their office according to the best of their skill and understanding, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of said county. No person holding any other public office, or licensed to practise law in this State, shall be appointed as a commissioner of juries except as herein otherwise provided.

2. The said appointed commissioner in said county shall hold office for the term of one year. The office of any appointed commissioner of juries shall become vacant immediately upon his assuming the duties of any other public office. Such appointed commissioner shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by the justice of the Supreme Court holding the Circuit Court in such county, but not more than the sum of nine hundred dollars per annum in counties of the first class, seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum in counties of the second class, and five hundred dollars per annum in all other counties, to be paid semi-monthly by the board of chosen freeholders of such county, and such board of chosen freeholders shall provide each commissioner with such stationery and other equipment as may be required by such commission.

3. The Chancellor of the State may, at any time, remove the appointed commissioner in any county, and in case of a vacancy occurring by such removal, or by death, resignation, removal from the county, or because of disqualification by the assuming of the duties of any other public office, or for any other reason, shall appoint his successor for the balance of the term. The certificate of removal and of appointment to fill the vacancy shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county.

4. The commissioners of juries may, upon the approval of the justices of the Supreme Court assigned to hold the Circuit Court in their county, employ a clerk at a salary to be fixed by such justice, not to exceed the sum fixed and to be paid to the appointed commissioner in such county, which salary shall be paid semi-monthly by the board of chosen freeholders of such county, and which said clerk shall hold office only at the pleasure of the said justice.

5. The commissioners of juries shall, at least thirty days prior to the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court, in their county, make two lists, alphabetically arranged, of persons liable to jury duty, having regard to the just distribution of jury service among those persons qualified therefor in the various wards and municipalities of such county, with their occupation and places of abode, and designating their respective municipalities and wards (if any) in municipalities, which lists shall be designated respectively "grand jury list" and "petit jury list." The number of persons named on the grand jury list shall at no time be less than three hundred, and the number of persons named on the petit jury list shall at no time be less than five hundred. The commissioners shall cause two copies to be made of each of said lists and shall certify the same under their hand as true and correct and shall cause one copy of each to be filed in the office of the clerk of such county at least twenty-five days prior to the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court in their county, there to remain a public record, and shall cause the other copy to be delivered to the justice of the Supreme Court assigned to hold the Circuit Court in such county. Upon the filing of such list with the county clerk he shall cause a copy thereof to be made immediately and posted in his office in a conspicuous place. Said commissioners may from time to time, before certifying such lists, revise, strike off and add thereto, and the said justice may at any time order said commissioners to revise, correct and certify a new jury list or lists which shall not contain any names theretofore stricken off within one year. Each name on the respective jury shall be numbered in consecutive order. Said commissioners shall have access to and may copy the assessment rolls and registry lists of the several municipalities and election districts of their county; and they may, before certifying any lists, send notices to all persons whose names they may propose placing on such lists, requesting such persons to present to the commissioners any claim they may have to exemption from jury duty, and upon satisfactory reasons being given therefor they may be excused by the court.

6. On a day and time to be fixed by the justice of the Supreme Court, not more than fifteen days before the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court, the county clerk of the county, or his deputy, shall in open court, present to such justice, or, in his absence to the president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of such county, the jury lists for the term filed with such county clerk, and the jury commissioners shall at the same time and place, produce uniform pieces of metal, with numbers stamped or impressed thereon in consecutive order to correspond with the numbers set opposite the names on each of said jury lists, and said commissioners shall hand the said pieces of metal to said justice or judge, who shall examine the same and, if found correct, return them to said commissioners. The commissioners shall thereupon deposit the pieces of metal numbered for grand jurors in one box and the pieces of metal numbered for petit jurors in another box.

7. Immediately after the numbered pieces of metal have been so deposited the boxes shall be shaken and the pieces of metal deposited therein thoroughly mixed together, and the commissioners, or one of them, shall forthwith, in the presence of such justice of judge, proceed to draw singly, from the grand jury box twenty-four pieces of metal, and the persons whose names are found on the said grand jury list opposite the numbers corresponding with those found upon the pieces of metal so drawn, shall be summoned to serve as grand jurors in and for such county at the next ensuing term of the courts thereof, and shall in like manner draw singly from the petit jury box such numbers of pieces of metal as the said justice or judge shall direct, and the persons whose names are found on said petit jury list opposite the numbers corresponding with those upon the pieces of metal so drawn shall constitute the panel of petit jurors to serve in and for such county for the next ensuing term of the courts thereof, and shall be so summoned.

8. The names, occupations and places of abode both of grand jurors and petit jurors shall, as each number is drawn, be publicly announced by the commissioners, the metal pieces so drawn from the box handed to the justice or judge for inspection, and the clerk of the county, or his deputy, shall transcribe the same as they are announced and shall make two lists thereof, both of which shall be certified by the justice or judge as true and correct, one of which said clerk shall file in his office and the other he shall forthwith transmit to the sheriff of the county, who shall thereupon cause the persons so drawn, constituting the grand jurors and panel of petit jurors for such county, to be summoned to serve as such according to law.

9. The justice of the Supreme Court may direct that the panel of petit jurors so drawn shall serve for a designated portion of the next ensuing term only, and in such event they shall be so summoned, and the said justice may direct said commissioners, at a time to be fixed by the justice, to draw a new panel or panels of petit jurors to serve for another designated part of such terms, and such new panel or penals shall be drawn and summoned from the list certified by the commissioners prior to the commencement of such term, in the same manner as hereinabove provided.

10. In case a grand jury shall be discharged before the end of the term for which it is drawn, the justice of the Supreme Court may direct the commissioners of juries to draw a new grand jury to serve for the balance of the term, and such new grand jury shall be drawn and summoned from the list certified by the commissioners prior to the commencement of the term, in the same manner as hereinabove provided.

11. The court in which the grand jurors shall be sworn in any county shall select and designate one of said grand jurors to act as foreman thereof, who shall be sworn to so act, and may excuse or discharge one of the said jurors if all shall appear when summoned.

12. Any person having served as a grand or petit juror at a term of court shall be ineligible to serve either as a grand or petit juror for the space of one year thereafter.

13. Nothing herein contained shall be held or construed in anywise to limit the powers of the court or any justice or judge as heretofore had or exercised in connection with the drawing or discharge of jurors or panels of jurors.

14. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately, but its provisions, except as to the referendum herein contained shall remain inoperative as a law of this State until the legal voters of the State voting at the next general election held after the approval of this act for the election of the members of the General Assembly have adopted the provisions of this act in the manner hereinafter provided. The county clerk in every county shall cause public notice of the submission of the question of the adoption of this act in the said general election to be given by advertisement signed by himself and set up in at least fifty different places in his county and published in one or more newspapers thereof for at least fifteen days before such election. The ballots used at the said election shall contain the words "For the adoption of an act approved (insert here the date of approval), and entitled, 'A supplement to an act entitled, "An Act concerning juries," (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.'"

Below upon said ballot shall appear the phrase "I favor the adoption of said act," and the phrase "I oppose the adoption of said act," with a square to the left of each phrase, and below shall appear the words "Place a cross in one square."

The votes cast upon the question of the adoption of this act shall be canvassed in the manner now provided by law for the canvass of votes cast at the general election held for the election of the members of the General Assembly; and if the greater number of vots cast with reference to the adoption or rejection of this act favor the adoption of this act, the act shall become effective as a law of this State on the fourth Tuesday of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen; but if the greater number favor the rejection of this act, then this act shall be null and of no effect.

Approved May 29, 1913.

This notice is given in pursuance and under the direction of Section 14 of the foregoing mentioned supplement.

Dated September 25, 1913.

JAMES C. CALVERT,
10 11 3-s Clerk of the County of Union.

"BUNELLEN BOB" FITZSIMMONS HAS A WORTHY SCHOOLBOY RIVAL.

While the athletic authorities of Dartmouth have pronounced Wallace C. Maxfield, of Bloomfield, one of the physical marvels of the day and have asserted that actual measurement proves his reach to be greater than that of "Lanky Bob" Fitzsimmons, the former Mercersberg Academy giant declares that the long arm of the law has a little on him, and he cites an instance to prove it.

Knowing of his unusual reach, Pete Maxfield measured arms with every man he met who gave the appearance of being there on the extended wing stuff. In every case, his "lunch hooks" extended far beyond the limits of the other's. One day, however, Maxfield came across a country policeman whose arms dangled from his sleeves and flopped about in the proximity of his knees. Calling the "sheriff" to one side, Maxfield essayed to test arm measurements.

The college athlete was surprised to find that the officer's arms were a fraction of an inch longer than his own, and although he pursued the experiment almost continuously he has been unable to find another who can out-distance him in reach. At Mercersburg Maxfield went through the school boarding-houses, but the most experienced and adept cuisine customers were forced to submit to his unusual stretch.

In other measurements, though, Maxfield stands alone as a physical giant. He is twenty-two years and six months old, and weighs 215 pounds stripped. He is six feet two and one-half inches tall, and his waist measures only thirty-four and one-half inches around. His heart and lungs are absolutely normal and his pulse is 84, his respiration 21. The Bloomfield boy's lung capacity is 345 cubic inches. His chest measurements are Normal, 39¼ inches; expanded, 43.5 inches. From his armpits to the tips of his fingers, Maxfield, measures thirty-three inches. With both arms extended, the distance from finger-tip to finger-tip is 81⅝ inches. Larry Whitney, the Dartmouth football player and weight-putter, who was supposed to represent practically the longest reach in the college, measured only 73⅝ inches with both arms extended.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Knowles, the Yale kicker and halfback, runs with the ball very much as Maban, of Harvard, does.

Green, a Harvard second team player, has been making an excellent showing in practice against the varsity eleven.

Oberlin, playing on her new $100,000 football field for the first time, celebrated the occasion by defeating Heidelberg 45 to 0.

After Maine had met both Harvard and Yale, Captain Sawyer of the Maine eleven declared that the Elis were much stronger than Harvard.

Arthur Gilman, commodore of the crew and tackle on last year's freshman eleven, has joined the Cornell varsity football squad.

The Navy, with eight veterans in its lineup, already is having a hard time to get the players to settle down to business. Veterans do not like the early season drudgery.

Members of the Indiana University alumni association are protesting against Indiana being the first conference college to play Chicago each year. They declare that Indiana is always the "goat" and put on for a practice game for the Maroons.

BASEBALL NOTES

Louis Cook, a former Canadian league pilot, has engaged to manage the Asheville club of the Carolina League next season.

Pitcher Harry Gasper, the former Cincinnati slabster, has signed with the Sioux City Western League team for next season.

Every club in the National League suffered one or more shutouts at the hands of the Boston Braves during the season just closed.

The sale of the Indianapolis Club of the American Association to J. C. McGill and Jack Hendricks, of Denver, has been declared off.

Ray Chapman, the Cleveland shortstop, and Otto Knabe, of the Phillies, lead their respective leagues in sacrifice hits. Ray made 43 sacrifices and Otto 34.

Jimmy Johnston, who is to return to fast company as a member of the Chicago Cubs next season, has stolen over 100 bases in the Pacific Coast League this season.

Few youngsters just breaking into the big show have ever equaled the all-round record in the recent world's championship series by Catcher Wallie Schang, of the Athletics.

For the first time since 1906 two teams in the same city have finished in the cellar. Boston held the unenviable distinction in '06 and St. Louis went down and out this season.

Outfielder Orville Woodruff, of the Milwaukee team, has been on three different pennant winning teams in the American Association. He was with Indianapolis in 1902, Louisville in 1909 and Milwaukee in 1913.

WHICH SHALL IT BE CRICKET OR TENNIS?

This is the Important Question Now Troubling English Parents.

Which shall it be, cricket or tennis? This is the question that is causing much agitation in the schools of England. Many parents of school boys have lined themselves up in favor of either one or the other, and the institutions of learning have taken the matter so seriously that just before opening time this fall some of the schools advertised that the pupils would be allowed to play cricket, and that tennis would be barred. Others declared themselves in favor of the lawn sport and opposed cricket, while others still more conservately stated that both games would be encouraged, and the boys allowed to choose for themselves.

There is little doubt but that the controversy was brought up by the defeat of the English veteran racquet wielders in the Davis cup matches by the youthful American team. English sportsmen have at last been awakened to the fact that if Britannia is to be pushed to the front in any form of athletics she must develop the youngsters and depend on them, rather than on the older men to whom she formerly looked to maintain her supremacy.

Having come to this realization, lawn tennis enthusiasts immediately began to start a movement in the schools to have tennis made a feature of the athletic work so that the youngsters might grow up with the sport. Naturally enough this raised a storm among the persons of the old school, who saw naught in the growth of tennis but death to their well established and highly venerated game of cricket.

Editorial pages in the newspapers have been flooded with letters from "mater familias" and "pater familias," crying out against the sacrilegious action of persons who were plotting against the very Lares et Penates of the British home by seeking the over-throw of King Cricket. "Vox Populi" and "Progress," however, were just as active in discussing their side of the affair, and pointed out the stigma put on English athletics by having a couple of Yankee boys go over and wrest the tennis supremacy, so long held on John Bull's demesne, from a team of old veterans who had been champions before the Americans were able to walk.

P. H. S. OPPONENTS DECIDE TO ABANDON BASKETBALL

Manager Nathan Goldberger, of the Perth Amboy High School basketball team, removed the last straw of hope in the camp of that athletic faction yesterday afternoon when he annouced that the basketball team would be disbanded and all of the scheduled games called off, including two that have been arranged with the Plainfield High School five.

The reason given by those in charge of the Amboy school's athletics claim that it was impossible to get a court on which to play the games and the men who were trying for the quintet have turned their attention to other combinations.

BUSY BASKETBALL CARD IN 'PLAINS

Instructor Batterson Planning for a Great Season in all Around Sports.

SCHEDULES FOR TEAMS

Girls and Boys Will Have Different Nights Thereby Eliminating Conflicting Conditions of Last Year—Prospects Bright.

William Batterson, instructor in athletics in the Scotch Plains Parish House, is planning for a busy indoor season durinf the soming winter and within the next two weeks all of the gymnasium activities will get under way. Unlike last year, Mr. Batterson intends to devote the gymnasium periods to all-around endeavor and the entire time will not be devoted to basketball as heretofore. He will inaugurate a systematic and classified schedule whereby every branch of indoor endeavor will be promoted and there will be something of an atnletic nature for the young and old alike, and for those of every hobby.

Bowling, basketball, calisthenics, telegraph, boy scout work, feminine gymnastics, folk dancing and billiards will be some of the prominent features and various other activities will be added as the occasion arises. Certain nights in each week will be devoted to basketball competition and on these occasions outside teams will be brought to the Parish House to contest against the home quintets.

Last year serious objection arose to the practise of staging male and feminine basketball games on the same nights and this was not without ground for it produced a large amount of confusion and no little amount of "gossip" was induced over the backyard fences. This year Mr. Batterson expects to eliminate this objectionable feature by staging boys' games on Saturday nights and girls' games on Thursday nights. Tuesday nights will be devoted to feminine practise while the boys will have Wednesday as their drill night. There will be two male teams in the Parish House this season and the second team will play a preliminary contest before the first team's games in each instance. These two games will be a regular feature as Mr. Batterson intends to have a schedule that will call for a home contest every Saturday night and the fact that but four teams will be on the floor each week end should increase the interest. Last season in some instances there were two boys' games and one or two girls' contests in a single night and the spectators were generally pretty well fatigued and left before the final struggle, whereas two good games would have tended to promote rather than detract from the interest in the popular pastime. Ricketts, Lidgate, Marsten, Thompson and Anson are again available for the first team and a strong second aggregation will also be formed for the preliminary appetizers.

The girls' quintet will be reorganized sometime during the early part of November and added to the material of last season, which was far from poor, several new plyaers have made their appearance and have consented to play with the 'Plains team.

BOWLING AT 'PLAINS.

William R. Guest, of Scotch Plains, will have charge of the bowling at the Scotch Plains Parish House during the coming season and is organizing a representative team which he will place in the field of competition. The bowling game has taken a firm grip on the Parish House frequenters and daily practises are held on the Memorial alleys.

"MAC" SAYS

What the Dexter's heard:
"We cannot lose," said Doyle as he nimbly took to flight,
"We cannot lose our title, if we never have to fight."

What Holy Cross heard: The fact that they had lost the New Jersey Club football championship to the Franklins, very forcibly impressed.

A football promoter, like a baseball magnate, believes in philantrophy when it begins at home.

These fellows handling the Dexter-Holy Cross negotiations are capable of almost as much red tape as a pair of third-rate pugilists signing up articles for a three-round bout.

We predict a little side show all by itself when Managers Doyle and Allen get one glimpse of each other. Their previous fighting has all been done through Uncle Sam's system of delivery, but we sincerely hope that the controversy will be settled to the satisfaction of all concerned November 8.

In the meantime "Doc" Doyle, don't go losing any more of your championship belts to such aggregations as the Franklins or you won't have anything to fight for when the Amboy team invades the wilds of the Queen City.

The Perth Amboy manager refused to make any fuss when his guarantee was sliced to $15. We therefore conclude that the Dexters do not need any press agent aside from their real playing ability.

Another indorsement for early morning runs as a means of training for athletic competition: Captain Denegre, of the Yale crew, gets his men out on the road every morning before daybreak and puts them through a stiff workout. We are led to believe that he also tolls a curfew for the benefit of his charges.

William Batterson, instructor in athletics at the Scotch Plains Parish House, has stirred the populace of that little burg by announcing that he will put three basketball teams in the field this year. It's a good thing someone has the courage to speculate in athletic competition in that section of the continent.

Unlike last winter, when a genuine mix-up was the issue every Saturday night as the result of "too much for the money" he has arranged a schedule that will no doubt work out to perfection. Tuesday and Thursday nights will be devoted to the feminine pastime while the male basketeers will fill the court on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Something else to worry about—Plainfield High School basketball manager will have to look elsewhere for two more games. The Perth Amboy team has disbanded because it could secure no hall in which to play. There are evidently some places worse than Plainfield and the borough.

It may be true, as many basketball promoters claim, that the court game is not a paying proposition, but why are so many of the so-called managers breaking their vertebrae to ring up the curtain?

Years ago we saw a gent in a dime museum who three times a day allowed a weighty individual to swing a sledge hammer on a piece of granite placed on his marble dome but when we yearn for a similar sight these days we go to a football game.

—A good many "things to wear" are advertised in today's paper—and as "wearables" are things of eternal interest, these ads are very timely reading matter.

DEXTER MANAGER WANTS A CHANCE

HE STOOPS TO CONQUER

Published below are two specimens of the war correspondence that has passed between Manager Doyle, of the local Holy Cross football eleven, and Manager Allen, of the Perth Amboy Dexters, during the past seven months, these being only two of the hundred and one missiles of a similar nature. The contents of the two communications, when viewed unbiasly, appear to put the whole matter up to Manager Doyle and it is up to him to make good by scheduling the attraction.

The Dexter manager is ready to pit his forces against the locals and it seems that this is the only right way to decide the controversy that has called forth so much comment.

Sporting Editor:
Enclosed please find letter (copy) from Mr. Doyle, manager of Holy Cross Football team, to me, in regard to the Dexter-Holy Cross argument. I fail to see Mr. Doyle's side of the argument but I presume that the State championship has been lost to the Franklins, he has nothing to lose now and therefore is willing to take us on. However, there is one thing that I would like to make clear and that is, for a team that claimed the State championship and started a midwinter argument with the threat to play us with snow on the ground, they are the most penitent I have ever dealt with. We will be in Plainfield on November 8th and my only hope is that it doesn't rain to stop the game.

Thanking you for your space and also for the "square deal" you have accorded us, I am

Yours in sport,
RUFUS ALLEN,
Manager.

Mr. Rufus Allen, Jr.,
Manager Dexter Football Club,
Perth Amboy, N. J.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter in regard to a game between the Dexter and Holy Cross, I regret to advise that it will be impossible to play in Perth Amboy as it is and has been my policy to play all our games in Plainfield and to play only on Saturdays and holidays.

While I appreciate your offer of $25 very much, I feel that Holy Cross in Perth Amboy or anywhere else, would be an attraction worth $25 or more and I have turned down beter offers than yours, simply to carry out my policy as outlined above. On the other hand, I am able to get what I consider as good or better attractions than the Dexters for less money than you are asking and the maximum amount which I could give you to come to Plainfield would be $15.00. If you care to accept a $15.00 guarantee I will be glad to set aside Saturday, November 8th, for you and if I do not hear from you within a few days, I will take it for granted that this arrangement is not to your liking and will proceed to book another club for the 8th.

With best wishes for your team's success, I am

Yours in sport,
JNO. M. DOYLE,
Manager.

RUBE OLDRING WILL RETURN TO JERSEY

Great Outfielder Will Become Simple Shiloh Farmer in Winter Months.

Rube Oldring, who played second base for the Plainfield baseball club, "when the National Pastime was in its prime hereabouts," and who gained National reputation as a center fielder for the Philadelphia Athletics while the championship of the world was being contested, has decided to return to New Jersey during the off season and take up the work of farming. He expects to abandon city life in Philadelphia and lead the simple life during the winter months on a Jersey truck farm.

Rube is said to have negotiated for the exchange of his $3,213.94 check, garnered from the recent fracas with the New York Giants, plus a few odd shekels hoarded during his successful career on the diamond, for a few fertile acres near Shiloh, in Cumberland county, N. J.

JACK MARTIN WILL REFEREE Y. M. C. A. AJAX COURT GAMES

Jack Martin, a member of the Boston National League baseball club, who exists in the Queen City during the off months in baseball, has been secured to officiate at all of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball games during the coming season and will start his duties November 1 when the association team lines up against North Plainfield High School in the opening contest of the season.

Martin is just as much of an authority on the court game as he is on the National Pastime and has done a large amount of refereeing during the past three years. He is at present engaged as athletic instructor in the Hope chapel gymnasium but will devote Saturday nights to his work at the Y. M. C. A. Martin recently officiated at a public school contest in the New York Public School Athletic League and will probably be able to fill a long felt want in the Ajax games.

MUCH EXPECTED OF MONROE GOOD AGAINST WEST POINT

One of the players in the Colgate College eleven's lineup this afternoon at West Point is none other than that of Monroe Good, who won the Yale cup in the Plainfield High School graduating class of last year, and the local boy is relied upon by his teammates to "bring home the bacon." Good forms the bulwark of his team's kicking strength and won last week's contest with two beautiful three point boots from the gridiron. He is playing half back for the Colgate team and will be used today against the Army representatives.

The Army team also has a number of good kickers and the contest will probably resolve itself into a kicking duel between Good, of Colgate, and Doe, of the Army. The Colgate eleven has piled up a score of 69 to 0 in the last two contests and the West Point representatives expect one of the hardest battles of the season.

MARTIN AGAINST CLIFF.

Jack Martin will play short for Ty Cobb's All American outfit, which is due to lineup against the Suburban A. A., of Brooklyn, on the Suburban Oval, tomorrow afternoon. Cliff Randolph, another local boy, will be on the firing line for the home nine, and Joe Harter will probably play centre field as a teammate to Martin.

CAPTAIN INCH.

Captain Francis Inch, the heroic young master of the Volturno, who was saved by the Kroonland, added more details to the stories of unsurpassed heroism brought forth by the tragedy, but could throw no more light on the origin of the fire. Inch, who, blinded by the intense heat, remained until not another living soul was on board the doomed vessel, is a youthful appearing man of thirty-five, although his face has the hardened appearance which comes from exposure. He comes from Devon, long the nursery of intrepid English sailors. He has followed the sea for sixteen years. He has a wife and three children who are waiting for him in their home in Kent.

THE BUICK CAR

Twenty-one Buicks were driven out of Flint, Saturday afternoon, for Dayton, Ohio, for delivery to the department heads of Dayton Engineering Laboratories Company, manufacturers of the Delco self-starter. The cars were B24 and B25's.

Three more Buicks of the same two models were delivered to other department heads of the company the week previous, making a total of 24 cars.

"When I got down to Dayton after trying to smash up a 25 by sending her over bumpy roads at top speed, I started something," said C. D. Kettering, president of the Delco Company. "I am some smasher when I start out, but I couldn't make a dent in that car. First thing I knew, one of the boys wanted a roadster, and another man with a family wanted a touring car. Before they quit coming, 24 men, all heads of departments, had paid over their money for Buicks."

"It's a delivery that is especially gratifying," said "Trainload" Collins speaking of the deal after his return from the East, "when it is considered that the selection was made by good, practical machine men—men who have an intimate knowledge of technical facts and values. It was a case of the cars selling themselves."

E. J. Copeland, for three years purchase man for the Buick Motor Company in Flint, has resigned to go with the Corcoran Lamp Company at Cincinnati, Ohio, as general manager. The vacancy will be filled by James T. Wilson, for the past four years buyer for the Durant-Dort Carriage Company also in Flint. While Mr. Wilson is already on the job Mr. Copeland will not go with the Corcoran Company until the first of the year.

Mr. Copeland succeeds Thomas Corcoran, who will give his entire attention to the factory end of the business. The past three years Buick purchases have averaged a little over $20,000,000 a year, and in the eight years he has been with the company, Mr. Copeland has either bought or assisted in the buying of a round billion dollars worth of goods. Mr. Copeland began with the Buick Motor Company as stenographer for E. H. Shiland, at that time sales manager, and in thirty days was made assistant purchaser. He is considered one of the best men in the business.

Buick

The Buick season for 1914 will break all Buick records for trainload shipments. And the Buick record is the record of the world.

Bonafide orders for fifteen solid trainloads of Buicks are already on file, and the season is not yet fairly commenced.

Buick power will continue to be the big feature of the Buick line for 1914. There are six models ranging in price from $950 to $1985, the last the lightest six cylinder for its power and wheel base ever manufactured.

The Delco Self Starter is standard equipment. Everybody who buys a Buick gets a Delco at no extra cost. The Delco will start a Buick a hundred times in every hundred, and all Buicks are electric lighted.

While attractive to a degree the Buick Motor Company has never before boasted, the real value of the 1914 body design is in the easy way they ride. There's lots of leg room, the springs are double heat treated, and the cushions are deep and luxurious. Ask for a ride and find out about delivery.

MAKE MONEY WITH POULTRY

AMERICAN POULTRY is a magazine devoted entirely to helping earnest men and women make a financial success of poultry raising. Its staff of writers is composed entirely of those who have made a practical, instead of theoretical, success of poultry farming and who are glad to pass on the results of their hard earned experience to AMERICAN POULTRY readers.

There are many pit-falls in the path of the novice which may be entirely avoided by those who will follow the teaching set forth in this magazine. It fully explains how to make a start, how to construct houses, coops, and other devices, how to get a large egg yield, how to cure and prevent disease, how to exhibit, how to get the top price for eggs, how to use incubators and hundreds of other points which everyone wishes to know. It explains the famous secret system through which poultrymen have become rich and afterwards sold for hundreds of dollars.

AMERICAN POULTRY is a large handsomely illustrated, monthly journal well printed on fine paper, and should be found on file in the home of every poultry lover. No beginner in the poultry business should think of doing without it. It will save him many times the small subscription price. The advanced poultryman will also find it of great value, the articles being varied in their scope.

SPECIAL OFFER. The regular price of AMERICAN POULTRY is 50c per year, but in order to introduce it to several thousand new readers, we will, for a short time, give a large 200 page poultry book, which is a complete guide in the poultry business, absolutely free to everyone sending 50c for a yearly subscription or $1.00 for a three year subscription to AMERICAN POULTRY. A trial six months' subscription (without book) will be sent for 25c. Never has so much been offered for so small a sum. Advantage of this offer should be taken at once.

ASSISTS HUSBAND IN HIS CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Everett Colby Accompanies Progressive Gubernatorial Nominee.

SHE EXPLAINS WHY

Wants to Help Him Win and Tells Why He Should Win—Her Two Children Are Not Being Neglected.

The following interesting story of the part being played by Mrs. Everett Colby, who was formerly Miss Edith Hyde, of Plainfield, in her husband's campaign for the Governorship, is reproduced from the Newark Evening News:

Tried between her desire to be at home with her children and a like desire to be with her husband in the "flying squadron" on its campaign tour of the State, Mrs. Everett Colby, wife of the Progressive candidate for Governor, is looking forward to the time when the campaign will be over and she will be free to enjoy once again the company of her little ones.

It was while the "flying squadron" was touring through Passaic and Sussex counties Tuesday that Mrs. Colby talked of her part in her husband's campaign and why she believes the Progressive candidate should be elected. Incidentally she threw some side lights on her home life and told many sweet, intimate stories concerning her two little girls—Edith, aged seven, and Anne, aged five. Mrs. Colby was Miss Hyde, before her marriage, being the daughter of Mrs. Charles Hyde, of East Front street.

And it may be said in passing that it is no small part that Mrs. Colby is taking in her husband's campaign. Everywhere that opportunity afforded while in the camp of the enemy through both counties, she would bravely and fearlessly, but all the while in the most womanly fashion, discuss the issues of the day with men and women of different political beliefs and if she made no converts it is safe to say she at least gave these men and women something to think about.

Mrs. Colby is entirely conversant with the policies of the Progressive party. Moreover, she believes firmly that in these policies are to be found the solution of the high cost of living, the minimum wage question and the laws that pertain to women and

SEYMOUR PERKINS, JR., THE HOST AT HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Seymour Perkins, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Perkins, of 605 Watchung avenue, acted as host at a party held in his home on Saturday afternoon, which was attended by about fourteen of his playmates. The guests were entertained during the afternoon with various parlor games and enjoyed a number of musical selections.

Following the games and other forms of party entertainment, a luncheon was served, the feature being the cutting of a "Jack Horner's" pie. The house was decorated with novelties appropriate to the Hallowe'en season and each diner received a favor symbolic of a Hallowe'en fable.

MISSION OBSERVED COLUMBUS' BIRTHDAY

Patriotic Service Held by Protestant Italians Marked by Addresses.

The usual Sunday evening service at the Italian Mission in East Third street was given a patriotic and commemorative character, last night, in celebration of the birthday of Christopher Columbus. The rooms were filled to overflowing by an appreciative audience of Italians and a few interested American friends. A program of twenty-one numbers was carried out, the various addresses being interspersed with music of a high order rendered by the Italian band, under the capable leadership of Prof. Anthony Lambiasi.

Short addresses in English by Grove Hinman, Herbert E. Parker and Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring were attentively listened to and apparently appreciated by the Italians. A short introductory address by D. Di Dario, an eloquent recitation by young Mr. Delmonico, followed later by Mr. Brancati, were all enthusiastically received.

Pastor Boretti's discourse, however, by common consent, was the central attraction of the evening. His talents as an orator were never shown to better advantage as he vividly sketched the salient events in the life of the Genoese genius, emphasizing the fact that the great discoverer belonged to the whole world and that Italy could well be proud that Christopher Columbus was by birth and heritage an Italian. To give historical coloring to the occasion there were present an Indian and a cowboy in costume.

Nor should one, in praising the musical part of the program, fail to recognize the tuneful selections rendered by the singers in quartette accompanied by guitars and the excellent ocarina solo parts likewise accompanied. The evening was closed by the whole audience singing heartily our National hymn, "America."

COLORED BIGAMIST.

William Gray, colored, of West Fourth street, was held in $200 bonds for the Grand Jury by City Judge DeMeza this morning when arraigned on a charge of bigamy. Mrs. Sarah Gray, of Webster place, was the complaining witness. She said she was married to the defendant last March and that she later found out that he had a wife living in Newark, who was formerly Miss Lizzie Off. AMATEUR TALENT MADE A BIG HIT Berse Brothers in a Novelty Skit Were Leaders in Lodge Program.

A program featured with black face comedy was presented in the lodge rooms of the Workingmen's Circle, Branch No. 84, last night under the members' auspices and proved a great success, the fun makers entertaining a large audience. Vocal solos and instrumental numbers interspersed with two comedy productions given by local talent furnished entertainment of a kind that is seldom equalled in amateur productions in this city. All of the participants in the various numbers were either members of the lodge or those interested in the fraternal organization and the enthusiastic reception each was accorded was evidence of the way in which their efforts were appreciated.

Conspicuous as entertainers were the Berse brothers, Benjamin and Leo, who appeared in a black face skit and kept the audience in a continuous round of laughter and applause from curtain to curtain fall. These talented comedians have appeared in various other amateur productions both here and in nearby towns during the past two years always making a decided hit, but this was by far their banner appearance before the footlights. Their clever songs and topical jokes formed a collection that would be difficult to duplicate.

An orchestra composed of Leo Hirsh, piano; Isaac Kuntzman and Morris Seigal, violins, and Moses Kuntzman, drum, played a number of selections which were all well received. Recitations were delivered by Mrs. Goldman and Master Harry Goldberg, who recited "A Tailor's Hardship," A. Baum and Professor Goldhaulk rendered solos.

The second sketch to be presented was "The Motorman," and those taking part in this were Mrs. Goldberg, Miss Bertha Bullock, Harry Wolters, Robert Sandler and A. Baum.

GEO. LA MONTE DIES IN HIS 80TH YEAR

Father of Banking Commissioner Passes Away at Bound Brook.

Bound Brook, Oct. 20.—George La Monte, head of the firm of George La Monte & Son, and father of George M. La Monte, Commissioner of Banking and Insurance of New Jersey, died at his home here yesterday morning.

Mr. La Monte was born 79 years ago at Charlotteville, Schoharie county, N. Y., where his family, coming to this country from Scotland about 1750, had settled. He was graduated in 1857 from Union College, Schenectady, and almost immediately was called to the principalship of the Academy at Winchester, Virginia. Here, in 1858, he married Miss Rebecca Kern.

At the close of the Civil War, Mr. La Monte came north and began active business in New York city, establishing in 1871, the manufacture of the safety paper, for the protection of checks and similar documents. He was long a member of the firm of Augustine Smith & Co., and later organized the corporation of George La Monte & Son, which succeeded to its business. Mr. La Monte had made his home for many years at Bound Brook, where he owned and operated a large and successful model farm.

Mr. La Monte had been president of the First National Bank for many years and was active in the M. E. church. He is survived by his widow, two sons, George and Robert La Monte, and two daughters, Mrs. E. G. Thompson, of Philadelphia, and Miss Carrie La Monte, who resided with him. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

LINDSEY'S WHEREABOUTS ARE STILL UNKNOWN

Nothing has been heard of William Lindsey, of West Front street, who disappeared on Monday, October 13, the only word at all received by his mother, Mrs. Edith Lindsey, being contained on a postal card mailed the next day in which the missing young man stated that he intended to earn his own living. Mrs. Lindsey is much disturbed over the report that when he left her son took with him $15 belonging to her. This, she states, is absolutely untrue and that the $15 was a check for that amount belonging to him. She added that it was incorrect that he had ever previously taken any money.

BURGLARS BUSY; ENTER 6 HOUSES

But the Total Value of Loot Aggregates Only About $100.

As a Rule Only Inconsequential Articles Were Taken—Police Hope to Trace the Thieves When They Dispose of Goods.

Burglars visited six residences in the West End of the city last night and early this morning, undisturbed by either a patrolman or the members of the various households visited. At each dwelling entrance was effected by forcing a rear or side window of the structure, and in each instance the kind thief left many valuables untouched, while he took articles of practically small worth. The total amount of lost according to the police is a trifle over $100.

The apartments and houses entered were those of John L. Covas, 1135 Myrtle avenue; William D. R. Hardingham, 1027 Myrtle avenue; David Heaume, 1156 Myrtle avenue; W. F. Wilson, 27 Clinton avenue; Frank T. Ostrom, 40 Albert street, and Miss Florence M. Bowman, librarian at the Free Public Library, 1114 Myrtle avenue.

At the Heaume residence $100 worth of silverware was taken from the dining room, but Sergeant Higgins, who is investigating the burglaries, found the stolen articles in the barn on the place. Mr. Covas is the largest loser. A choice selection of souvenirs consisting of gold and silver spoons and trays, gathered on a recent tour of Europe, was stolen. Aside from the interest associated with the articles, they are valued at approximately $75. At the Hardingham house a quantity of silverware bearing the engraved initial "H" was taken. It is expected by the police that the thieves will be traced while trying to dispose of these goods. The occupants of the other houses entered suffered little losses, with the exception of Mr. Wilson, who had a new raincoat taken and a gold ring containing several opals.

WIFE RECOVERS $500 AS ALIMONY IN ARREARS

Judge Isaac P. Runyon, of the Somerset County District Court, has rendered a verdict of $500 in favor of Councilman Francis J. Blatz, of the law firm of Codington & Blatz, trustee for Mrs. Annie Utzinger, who instituted suit against her husband, August Utzinger, of this city, to compel him to keep the agreements set forth in separation papers the couple signed about a year ago. Charles M. Dolliver was assistant counsel for the plaintiff.

It is claimed that in the articles of separation the defendant agreed to pay his wife $3 a week. According to Mr. Blatz, Mr. Utzinger after several months grew lax in his payments. The case was tried last week and Judge Runyon reserved decision until this morning. Swackhamer & Bird represented Mr. Utzinger.

PLANNING SECOND CONCERT FOR MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA

A new program of music will be rehearsed by the Municipal orchestra at its weekly meeting in the Washington School auditorium tonight, when Martin A. Korff, the leader, will put his charges through the William Tell overture. All members are requested to be present at this rehearsal and any new ones that may wish to join will be welcomed.

The committee is now planning for a public concert which will be rendered in the new High School auditorium on January 15, provided it is completed by that time, and it is hoped that the number of instrumentalists will be greatly increased by that time.

FIGHTERS IN COURT.

Charged with fighting, Wade Jones, Frank Gillette and Eugene Lee, all colored, of West Fourth street, were arrested Saturday afternoon by Patrolmen Vanderweg, McIntyre and Welch. Gillett savagely attacked Welch when placed under arrest but was subdued with the aid rendered by Edward "Red" Ryder, who several months ago demonstrated his own ability in handing out punishment to a policeman. The three prisoners when arraigned before Judge DeMeza this morning in the City Court, claimed they were jesting when placed under arrest for fighting. The magistrate suspended sentence.

MT. ST. MARY COLLEGE BUILDINGS DEDICATED BY BISHOP OF TRENTON

Monsignor Machel Makes Scholarly Address on Catholic Education at Imposing Ceremony Attended by 3,000, Among Whom Were Many Distinguished Members of the Faith—Church Oragnizations Participate in the Event.

Distinguished churchmen comprising representatives of various Roman Catholic societies to the number of about 3,000, attended the formal dedication of the new Mt. St. Mary College, yesterday afternoon. Owing to the inclement weather, the original program planned for outdoors had to be changed and instead was held in the college building.

The Rt. Rev. James A. McFaul, bishop of Trenton, was in charge of the ceremonies and made the dedicatory address, while Monsignor Charles H. Mackel, LL.D., of St. Patrick's church, Elizabeth, made the address of the afternoon, his subject being "Education in the United States."

The Holy Name Societies and Knights of Columbus from Plainfield, North Plainfield and the surrounding towns, including Elizabeth, Perth Amboy, Bound Brook, Somerville and nearby places, assembled at East Second street and Terrill road and headed by St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps playing the National hymn marched to the college.

These societies formed a guard of honor. A procession comprising the bishop, clergy, college graduates and primary departments, acoloytes, marched to the college chapel, where the dedication ceremony took place. Afterward Monsignor Mackel spoke in part as follows:

"We most earnestly approve and advocate universal education as one of the effectual guarantees that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

"But why, then, it may be asked, do not Catholics participate in the benefits of the schools and colleges approved and patronized by the majority of their fellow citizens? Why do Catholics insist on erecting and maintaining their own schools, high schools, and colleges, such as this institution at the dedication of which we now assist?

"We answer that while we love education, and esteem and value education as of priceless worth and importance to the human soul and desire to see education become more and more widespread, not only in this country, but everywhere, we have convictions of the true nature and meaning of education which conscientiously compel us to turn aside from the inducements which other schools and colleges offer and to undertake the arduous task of building, equipping and supporting our own schools, primary, secondary, and collegiate.

"Our conscientious convictions are that education means more than instruction in human learning and science, more than development of character, more than the formation of honorable and upright citizens just and charitable in all their relations with their fellow creatures. Education means all this but it means more than this. We believe that education—to be true and genuine and worthy of the name—must include the unfolding, development and training of the soul and its faculties in the knowledge, love and service of God. We believe that this essential feature of education must accompany, and be intertwined with, all imparting of instruction to the mind of youth and all attempts to develop youthful character. Education is a preparation for life—temporal and eternal life—and our Saviour enjoins upon us that this is eternal life, to know and love the one true God and Jesus Christ whom He has sent. Omit this essential feature and education with all its splendid possibilities resembles a world of beauty, harmony and fertility when deprived of the light and heat of the sun.

"Believing firmly, as we do, in this view of education, it is not surprising that when a Catholic school or college is dedicated, and opened for the reception of students, we hail the event with joy as a step forward in the path of duty and a good omen of advance in the cause of true and genuine education. It is on such an occasion and with such feelings that we gather here today in a spirit of gratitude and of hope, of gratitude to the noble-hearted sisters who have made this dedication possible and of hope that generous benefactors will come forward to second their efforts and aid them in bearing the financial burden which the erection and maintenance of this college necessarily involve.

"Situated here in one of the most beautiful and healthful sections of the country, surrounded by scenes that awaken and invigorate all the powers of mind and body, possessing a teaching faculty unsurpassed for ability, learning and zeal, equipped with all modern appliances for educating a large number of students, blessed and dedicated by the Church, sanctioned and approved by the State Board of Education, enjoying the confidence and good will even of those whose views of education differ from ours, why should not this college have a long and successful career, why should it fail to attract the admiration and patronage of a multitude of parents, the grateful love and affection of hundreds of students? Why should it not appeal persuasively and effectively to the hearts of those who are blessed with an abundance of worldly goods and induce them to win for themselves undying honor and gratitude for their generous donations to so worthy an institution as Mount St. Mary's College?

"Will it be said that the taunts of our enemies are true when they declare that Catholics are lacking in love of education? Or that Catholic parents are unappreciative of the worth and advantages of higher education for their children? In the State of New Jersey there are more than five hundred thousand Catholics. Is it possible that out of this large number there are not one thousand fathers and mothers sufficiently enlightened and generous to bestow upon their daughters the choicest gift in their power to confer—a college education such as Mt. St. Mary's is prepared to impart? We cannot for a moment entertain such thoughts. We believe that to the call of their Church and their country, Catholic parents will give a prompt and joyful response by sending their daughters here to be educated in such numbers that the success of this college will be a new proof and convincing evidence of the loving loyalty of our people to the sacred cause of Christian education.

"There is no doubt that Catholic progress in this country has been seriously impeded by the lack of a greater number of thoroughly educated men and women who to faith and zeal in the Catholic cause have added the superior acquirements and highly cultivated intellectual resources which are the usual results of a college education. Circumstances have rendered it difficult for many of our people to avail themselves of these advantages in the past. But at length the day has come when large numbers of Catholics can well afford to send their children to college. Every consideration of the welfare of those children and every motive of enthusiasm for the honor and glory of the Catholic religion should induce and persuade them to utilize the opportunities which such colleges as Mt. St. Mary's now offer for the higher education of Catholic youth. Whatever vocation in life our young people may deem it wise to choose they will find themselves more efficiently equipped and more thoroughly prepared for their life's work because of the mental and moral discipline to which they have been subjected during a course of studies at college."

Bishop McFaul, who addressed the assemblage afterward, said that it gave him great pleasure to be present on the memorable occasion. A great joy filled his heart to see the noble institution restored in all its splendor. He congratulated the sisters on the success of their efforts for its restoration and wished them ever-increasing success in their work.

The ceremonies closed with the benediction of the Blessel Sacrament and the singing of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," by the entire assemblage.

Among the distinguished churchmen present with the Rt. Rev. Bishop were Rt. Rev. Monsignor John Fox, of Trenton; the Rev. John Spillane, secretary to the Bishop; Rev. John Ryan, Rev. B. Ruddon, Rev. T. Dunphy, Rev. Mr. Tyrell, Father McConnell, superintendent of parish schools; Father Petrie, Rev. William H. Miller and Rev. John A. Baldwin, of St. Joseph's church. Robert McCormack and William J. McCullough acted as marshals.

STYLE—RELIABILITY

Fame!

Fame is various. One man claims the wreath because he jumped from a certain bridge. Another for his ability to hold five men on his chest. Another will tell you that his product "made Milwaukee famous."

It is all a matter of mental attitude. Find the merchant who has the RIGHT attitude—who does not ask for the wreath because his business has been established since so-and-so—who does not trade on the past, nor his right to a place in the Blue Book.

Find the merchant who is not trying to GRAB, but who EARNS the wreath—by selling you a Rothberg Suit or Overcoat—at from $10 to $25, which is worth every dollar he asks you to pay for it—no less.

STRONG ARM RULE NEEDED IN MEXICO

So Declares Miss Edna Kidd, a Returned Missionary.

Miss Edna Kidd, who has been engaged in mission work in and near Mexico City for the past four years, under the direction of the Baptist Home Mission Board, addressed a meeting at the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, telling something of her work. For some time she was in charge of the Baptist Mission at Mixcoac, and she related some of her unpleasant experience there, describing the obstacles placed in her way by the natives.

The speaker said that at one time a woman paid an organ-grinder at the rate of fifty cents an hour to stand near the chapel and disturb the meetings by grinding out music. This was finally stopped. She said that when it is known that 80 per cent. of the natives can neither read nor write their opposition can more readily be understood. While the political conditions in Mexico are bad, the religious conditions are worse, is the opinion of Miss Kidd. She believed that an iron hand is needed to rule the people, expressing the opinion that Madero was too weak. From personal observation she does not believe that Huerta desires to continue as President. The solution to settling the present troubles in Mexico is only possible through the spread of the Gospel of Christ, is the opinion of Miss Kidd.

Elizabeth Arranges Program For 250th Anniversary.

EVENT ON OCT. 25, 1914

Military, Naval and Industrial Pageants High Spots In Week's Holiday—An Effort Is to Be Made to Have President Wilson Attend the Festivities.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 20.—Elizabeth's 80,000 residents are planning to outshine all the rest of New Jersey in celebrating the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its first settlement. The plans are already pretty well matured, although the event does not come off for about a year.

The ceremonies are to begin on Oct. 25, 1914, and will continue for a week. The committee of a hundred appointed by Mayor Mravlag has been working in conjunction with a committee of twenty-five named by President Charles H. K. Halsey of the Elizabeth board of trade.

Charles D. Doctor is chairman of the committee of a hundred, ex-Chancellor William J. Magie is first vice president, and Judge James C. Connolly is second vice president. Raymond T. Parrott is treasurer, and Alexis J. Coleman is secretary.

Religious and patriotic services in the churches will open the celebration on Sunday. The big feature of the exercises on the following day will be a military parade. A naval parade will be a part of Tuesday's events, with fireworks in the evening. On Wednesday there will be a historical pageant illustrating some of the most striking episodes in the city's history. An industrial display will be an interesting event the following day, and on Friday the firemen will hold a parade. The school children from the public and parochial schools will parade on Saturday.

An effort is to be made to have President Wilson attend on one of the days.

BITTERLY ATTACKS BRYAN.

Wilson's Letter of Resignation Excoriates Secretary of State.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 20.—Henry Lane Wilson's letter of resignation as ambassador to Mexico, written in Indianapolis Aug. 28 and made public here by Mr. Wilson, is a bitter personal attack on Secretary of State Bryan, his "partisan zeal," "tempestuous haste" and policies. Delay in making public the letter was due to the fact that Mr. Wilson's resignation took effect only a few days ago.

After "respectfully" declining "to accept as definitive or just the action of the president" or the state department, Mr. Wilson says the president possesses "high and patriotic ideals," but that "he has been badly advised." Mr. Wilson expresses "serious doubts" as to Secretary Bryan's "future success in dealing with delicate international affairs."

SULZER IMPEACHMENT.

The impeachment of Governor William Sulzer, of New York, irrespective of the justice or injustice of the verdict, is a national calamity. In the eyes of the citizenship of the world, this is the greatest calamity that has befallen the politics of our Republic. The people of this country, especially the men in public life, are much misunderstood by other nations. Abroad they get the impression that many, if not most, of our public men are not of high grade or of very great intellectuality or statesmanship. While this impression, as we know at home, is wrong, nevertheless it prevails.

Sulzer is a unique man. It is evident that the higher elements of honor and refinement are not a part of his nature. He did things, for which he was convicted, without apparent thought of the ethical side of the transaction. That he is wilfully corrupt or intentionally dishonest, we do not believe. He has been educated under Tammany influences. Tammany turns upon its own and destroys him, and yet he is exactly what Tammany made him and nothing else. What he did would not have been, and was not objectionable to Tammany or its leadership. If he had followed their wishes and bowed to Murphy's command, he never would have been impeached, but would have been praised by Tammany influences as a great Governor.

It is not quite certain what effect this impeachment will have upon Sulzer's future. The people in New York and the nation know perfectly well the motive behind the impeachment. It is never wise to predict, but one thing seems to be evident, and that is that Tammany has destroyed Sulzer and all signs point to the fact that it has also destroyed itself in doing so. If it were not for the humiliation to our country in the eyes of the world, we should care little for the verdict of the Impeachment Court; but every American must now meet, as he travels abroad, the unjust insinuation that all our public men are careless of their honor, if not corrupt.

If the Sulzer case has the tendency, as it seems to us it must have, to make all public officials more careful about their statements of expenditure, and the like, it cannot be but beneficial, and if, in addition, the verdict shall result hereafter in the overwhelming defeat of all Tammany candidates, there will be at least some compensation for our scandal and disgrace in eyes of the people of the earth.

THE TIMID PHYSICIAN.

Doctors have declaimed against advertising from time immemorial, yet there are "symptoms" in the advertising world that indicate that the physicians are undergoing a process of evolution in beliefs regarding publicity similar to that which brought bankers to the point of advertising their institutions.

Here and there in the smaller towns, "cards" of physicians are appearing and exciting no such strong comment as would have been created a few years ago. No attempt is made at originality, a bare announcement of the name and address of the physician being used, but the momentum of advertising may produce new "copy" in the course of time.

A significant indication is the recent utterance of Dr. Charles E. Parker, for four years physician to former President Taft, at a meeting of the Denver Advertising club. Dr. Parker remarked: "If I thought I could do more business by advertising, I would begin tomorrow; but I believe most people would say, 'that fellow likes to blow about himself,' and I wouldn't get their business." If it is this feeling alone that prevents doctors advertising, they should make at least one fair trial. They will receive quick proof of the erroneous character of such a belief.

REGISTER TOMORROW.

If you are a good American citizen you will qualify tomorrow for the General Election on November 4, if you have not done so already. The district boards will sit at the respective polling places, a list of which will be found in our news columns, for this purpose, and when they finish their work for the day only those whose names are enrolled will be privileged to cast their ballots at the General election.

The election this year is a very important one. A Governor will be chosen and other important offices will be filled, including in Union county three Assemblymen and some Freeholders. For our local government, the voters will be called upon to select men for the Common Council. As three great parties, the Republican, the Democratic and the Progressive, are bending every effort to win with their tickets in State, county and municipal elections, the contest is likely to be a close one and every voter should consider it a duty to cast his ballot on Nov. 4. He can not do this unless his name is on the registry list in his district by tomorrow night.

WILL YOU?

The Anti-Tuberculosis League asks the Daily Press to find something for it. What is wanted is a fur-lined coat to be worn by the teacher in charge of the League's open-air day school. Is there not some one among our readers who has such an article of wearing apparel that she would be glad to give? We believe that there is and we ask the one who will to communicate with any officer of the organization or with this newspaper.

As the campaign progresses, it developes that the greatest thorn in the side of Edward Casper Stokes, who seeks the Governorship as the Republican nominee, is the editorial writer on the Newark Evening News.

Bound Brook loses a valuable citizen in the death of George LaMonte. He took a deep interest in that community's welfare and was ever ready to do more than his share in advancing its best interests.

CHURCH CLUB FEDERATION PLANS LECTURE SERIES

The executive board of the Federation of Men's Church Clubs of Plainfield is planning for a series of two or more lectures to be given this winter by men of national reputation. The matter was discussed at a meeting of the board at the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon, and the arrangements were left with a committee. The matter will be taken up with the various clubs in the federation.

The names of several men of prominence have been suggested to the board, including Comptroller Pendergast, of New York, Secretary of State William J. Bryan and other men of equal prominence. The lectures will not be given until after election, as it is expressly desired that there shall be no political significance attached to the presence of any speakers who may be secured.

REMBRANDT AN EASY MARK.

The Great Painter Was a Victim of Reckless Speculation.

German art students who have been investigating the reason why Rembrandt died hopelessly bankrupt have discovered that he was an incorrigible speculator. It had hitherto been popularly supposed that he was compelled to remain poor because of his extravagant love of jewels.

Unfortunate speculations turn out to have been the cause of his financial ruin. Documents have been disinterred showing that he officially informed the municipality of Amsterdam that he had suffered heavy losses in business transactions as well as through damages and losses on the high seas.

It was at a time, 1640-60, when all Europe was engaged in feverish money making in connection with Holland's meteoric commercial prosperity. Speculation took place on a reckless scale. Immense fortunes were sunk in shipping, banking and colonial enterprises.

Rembrandt, whose highly artistic nature was sadly devoid of even elementary business sense, fell an easy victim to the scheming speculators of that era of frenzied finance, and he lost his entire fortune. Many of his pictures were seized for debt by the legal authorities before the canvases were half finished. Bankruptcy finally overtook him and compelled him to sell all his properties, his home and priceless works of art under the hammer at sacrifice prices.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CARUSO—SALVATORE.

Following the ceremony, at Laurel Garden, in East 116th street, a supper was held. An orchestra rendered music for the dancers and various other forms of social entertainment were provided for the guests. Mr. Caruso has a barber shop on West Front street.

Gano, this morning, charged with playing crap on Greenbrook road, yesterday. Each one was fined $5.

ARRESTED FOR NON-SUPPORT.

Stephen Murphy, who is wanted by the police of this city on a non-support charge, was arrested early this morning by the Dunellen police. According to Chief Kiely, Murphy left his children when his wife died about a year ago, leaving them to secure a livelihood on their own resources. It is said they are now living with friends.

TWENTY SOLDIERS KILLED IN WRECK

One Hundred Hurt as Train Jumps Trestle.

CARS PLUNGE SIXTY FEET

Relief Crews Rushed From Many Points—Coast Artillery Men Were on Way From Fort Morgan, Ala., to State Fair.

Meridian, Miss., Oct. 20.—A special troop train bearing 179 officers and men of the Thirty-ninth and One Hundred and Seventieth United States Coast artillery and the band from Fort Morgan, Ala., plunged through a trestle near State Line, Miss., killing twenty soldiers and injuring about 100 others. All the dead and most of the injured were enlisted men. The train was on its way from Mobile to this place, where the troops were to have participated in the Alabama state fair.

The names of the dead thus far received are Joseph Teben, Ernest Parquette, Clyde Teel, H. B. Bishop, G. C Burleson, Joseph Provence, W. H Brim, — Goodes, — Remsen, — Gruckle — Acres.

The wreck occurred at the very trestle where in 1889 Rube Burrows, a noted outlaw, held up and robbed a Mobile and Ohio train of thousands of dollars.

On Way to State Fair.

The troops caught in the wreck had been stationed at Fort Morgan, and they were on their way from Mobile to Meridian, Miss., to take part in the opening of the Alabama-Missouri state fair. The Eighth regiment band was with them on the train.

A telegram sent to Major Burgess, in command at Fort Morgan, states that several bodies are pinioned under the wreck and that the wrecking crews, with the aid of soldiers who escaped unhurt, are making desperate efforts to get them out.

As soon as the news of the wreck was received in Mobile special trains bearing physicians and nurses were sent out of Mobile and Meridian, Miss. When they reached the scene the work of rescuing the injured from the wreck was done by the aid of lanterns and big bonfires that had been lighted alongside of the ravine. The sufferings of many of the injured were heart-rending. The artillerymen, who were mustered quickly into hospital service by Captain Brent J. Taylor, in charge of the troops, did great service.

The injured were placed in the special trains, and some of them were brought to Mobile and others to Meridian, as the distance is about halfway between the two cities. It is said that no officers were killed.

JERSEY GAME WARDEN SHOT

Was Searching For Violators of Game Law—He May Recover.

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 20.—John C. Reinbold, a Bergen county game warden, was shot as he was hunting for violators of the game laws in the northern part of the county near the New York state line. He was taken to the Nyack (N. Y.) hospital with his nose shot away and gunshot wounds in the abdomen.

Reinbold was accompanied on his trip in an automobile by Edward Taylor of Riverdale and the latter's son. He met three men in the Green woods, near the Tappan borough, and started to question them. They ran and he ordered them to stop. Then one of the trio shot him down. The warden returned the fire, but the men escaped.

Dr. G. A. Leigner of Piermont, who attended Reinbold, said that some of the shots penetrated the intestines and liver. It is believed Reinbold will recover.

ROMNEY JEWELL DISAPPEARS

Former Lieutenant of Seventh Cavalry May Be a Suicide.

Syracuse, Oct. 20.—Romney Jewell of Poland, N. Y., West Point graduate and former lieutenant in the Eleventh infantry and Seventh calvary, has disappeared, and the Syracuse police were asked to aid in a search for him.

Jewell dined with Colonel E. J Andrus, formerly commander of the Eleventh infantry, at a local hotel and then wrote a note to his finacee, Miss May Munk of Poland, stating that he was despondent and determined to end his life. The young woman gave the note to Jewell's sister, who came to Syracuse to institute a search for him

Jewell told Colonel Andrus he was going to Utica.

FOOTBALL MEN SAVE COLLEGE

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 20.—The Hanover fire department, composed largely of Dartmouth football men and headed by Captain Hogsett, by prompt action saved the college from destruction when fire started in the south end of the town.

A burning house stood in the midst of wooden tenements, and a brisk south wind threatened to send the flames over town and college.

The football men formed a bucket line and checked the blaze.

SPIRIT OF THE AIR.

It Permeates the Entire Being of the Flying Bird.

The bird is little more than a drift of the air brought into form by plumes. The air is in all its quills. It breathes through its whole frame and flesh and glows with air in its flying, like brown flames. It rests upon the air, subdues it, surpasses it, outraces it—is the air, conscious of itself, conquering itself, ruling itself. Also in the throat of the bird is given the voice of the air. All that in the mind itself is weak, wild, useless in sweetness, is knit together in its song.

As we may imagine the wild form of the cloud closed into the perfect form of the bird's wings, so the wild voice of the cloud into its ordered and commanded voice, unwearied, rippling through the clear heaven in its gladness, interpreting all intense passion through the soft spring nights, bursting into acclaim and rapture of choir at daybreak or lisping and twittering among the boughs and hedges, through the heat of day, like little winds that only make the cowslip bells shake and ruffle the petals of the wild rose.

Also upon the plumes of the bird are put the colors of the air; on these the gold of the cloud that cannot be gathered by any covetousness; the rubies of the cloud, that are not the pride of Athena, but are Athena; the vermilion of the cloud bar, and the flame of the cloud crest, and the snow of the cloud and its shadow, and the melted blue of the deep wells of the sky—all these, seized by the creating spirit and woven by Athena herself into films and threads of plume, with wave upon wave following and fading along breast and throat and opened wings, infinite as the dividing of the foam and the sifting of the sea sand, even the white down of the cloud seeming to flutter up between the stronger plumes—seen, but too soft for touch.

And so the spirit of the air is put into and upon this created form, and it becomes through twenty centuries the symbol of divine help, descending as the fire to speak, but as the dove to bless.—From John Ruskin's "The Queen of the Air."

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 21.

BACK in 1760, Dr. Samuel Johnson said that the business or profession of advertising had progressed to a point where it was hard to conceive of any further improvement.

Dear old Dr. Johnson! Wonder what he would say if he were among us today and could note the development and growth of the little, but mighty, WANT AD.

Wonder what he would think if he could know that, within a few hours after being written, a little Classified advertisement, costing the advertiser, say, twenty or thirty cents, is carried into the homes of hundreds of people!

Wonder how he would view a system that enables the advertiser, at said expenditure of twenty or thirty cents, to command human and mechanical energy running up into the thousands —to carry his message out into the big, busy world and spread it broadcast!

This is a wonderful age in which we live. It is an Advertising Age. The Advertising Habit is becoming a part of the nation's moral, social and industrial life. And it is well that this is so. For Progress and Prosperity follow ever where the Spirit of Publicity leads the way.

Ask the man who has advertised.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Gas Stove Economy.

Probably nothing has done so much to make housekeeping easier today than it was twenty years ago as the gas stove. Of course, electric cleaners and electric irons and electric toasters and gas radiators and gas logs and various other sorts of improved housekeeping apparatus have done much for womankind. But probably none of these other devices is so widely used and so economical as the gas stove.

If you cannot have a full-sized gas stove, have a small one, with two burners. This makes breakfast getting easy. The tea kettle can go on one burner, the cereal cooker on another, and by the time the coffee is made and pushed to the back of the stove another dish can go where the tea kettle began. Then when the cereal is cooked it can be pushed aside, in a double boiler, where it will stay hot for ten minutes, and a gas toasting plate can be heated over the burner where the cereal was cooked. And so breakfast can be cooked quickly and easily.

Utilize the Heat.

The biggest point in the economy of gas stoves is gained when you learn to utilize all the heat. When you have chops or steak broiled in the broiler, have baked or scalloped potatoes, hubbard squash baked in the oven, stuffed, baked peppers, macaroni baked with white sauce and cheese, cottage pudding or hot brown betty. Or else prepare a dish of baked apples, or bake a cake or pie with the heat which the broiler gives off. Either utilize the heat for something to be eaten immediately, or something to be eaten the next day—like the cake or pie or apples.

It is a good plan to let the oven get thoroughly dry after it is used. It is oftend full of condensed steam when you turn off the heat and when the oven cools the water from the steam forms rust. So leave the oven door open until the oven is dry. If the rust gets the better of you, clean it with linseed oil.

A convenience for the woman who does much baking is a glass door for the oven, with a small thermometer in the center of it. She can see what she is making and at the same time regulate the heat according to the figure registered on the thermometer.

A gas stove seems to be harder to keep clean than a coal stove. Perhaps this is because much grease and water and other liquids spilled on a coal stove are quickly dried. The same things spilled on gas stoves stay longer.

Always rub the top of the gas stove with newspapers, crumpled up into small and conveniently handled wads. These can be burned when they are dirty and really form admirable cleansers for the stove.

Some Cookery Suggestions

TOMATOES WITH RICE.

TOMATOES are plentiful this season, and the housewife who wishes to take advantage of them may be glad to know that cooked with a cereal like rice they are not only tempting, but nutritious.

There are various combinations which may be tried by the ambitious cook who is fond of change. Some of these recipes are suggested here:

A Nutritious Dish.

Tomatoes a la Favorite.—Take two tomatoes, six ounces of rice, a teacupful of grated stale cheese, one teaspoonful of grated onion, a level tablespoonful of beef dripping, salt and pepper to taste.

After rinsing in cold water boil the rice in plenty of salted boiling water.

After about twenty minutes test it by eating a few grains to see if it is tender. Then pour off the rice water, but save it for vegetable soup. Water in which rice has been boiled makes delicious soup if a few vegetables are added to it.

Then into the hot rice stir three parts of the cheese, the juice and pulp of the tomatoes, onion and seasoning.

Turn the mixture into a greased baking dish or a pie dish. Shake the rest of the cheese over the top and dot over it tiny bits of the dripping, or use butter if you like. Bake until the rice is browned and serve as hot as possible.

A Piquant Viand.

Spanish Rice and Tomatoes.—Take a cup of rice and boil it until each grain is flaky and separate. Select four ripe tomatoes and two green peppers and make thin rings of each. Fry in butter until very tender. Add salt, pepper and a bunch of thyme or sage and one large tablespoonful of olive oil. Pour this around the rice, which may be piled in a mound or made into a ring.

A Turkish Recipe.

Pilau of Tomatoes.—Put a pound and a half of peeled fresh or canned tomatoes into a bowl. Press them to remove the juice and strain through a fine sieve. Pour them into a saucepan with an equal quantity of broth. Peel and chop fine two onions and fry them in the tomato juice, add a pinch of salt and place the saucepan over the fire. When the liquor boils put in one pound of washed rice and allow the whole to simmer at the side of the fire till all the moisture is absorbed. Now heat four ounces of butter, stir it in with the rice, put the lid on the saucepan again and let the dish stand on the side of the stove for twenty minutes. Turn on a hot dish, sprinkle with a little pepper and serve while very hot.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—When the Little Raindrops Went to Work.

The Birds Came to Drink.

"That was quite a storm we had, wasn't it?" daddy remarked as he looked out of the window where he could see the garden walks, some of them flooded with rain.

"Once upon a time there was a lovely white cloud in the sky. It was made up of the lightest and clearest raindrops, spread out thin and white.

"The raindrops had a lovely time floating about seeing the beautiful fields and rivers and the big cities as they glided along, now having a game of hide and seek with the sunbeams, again running races with the wind.

"One day as they sailed along having a good time the storm king came rushing up. He brought his thunder and lightning, and the raindrops were very much frightened, for the storm tossed them about and stabbed and cut them with the sharp lightning.

"'My children,' said the cloud to the raindrops, 'the time has come when you must leave me.'

"'No, no,' the little drops cried; 'we do not wish to go!'

"'But perhaps it is best that you should do so. There is work for you to do down there on earth, and when the time comes each little drop must go down and go to work,' the cloud gently answered.

"The storm king was growing rougher and rougher. He had added a cold, fierce wind to the thunder and lightning, and the little drops felt themselves shrinking and growing heavier until they dropped down and down to the earth.

"They fell, not on a nice green field or a pleasant garden where the pretty green things could gather them in their leaves or flowers, but in a sandy place where each drop sank down and down into the darkness.

"They were frightened and clung to one another as well as they could, for they feared they would never see the light again.

"At last they came to a big rock that spread out ever so far, and the little drops ran along the rock as fast as they could. And by and by they reached the end of the rock and came trickling out to form the loveliest little spring you ever saw. Beautiful green ferns grew all around it, and the water sparkled over white sand and then trickled away as a tiny rill through the forest. The birds came down to drink at the spring, and thirsty folks quenched their thirst there. Then the little drops were glad they had come down, for every one loved the spring, and the little raindrops had learned that to be happy they must be useful to others."

ASSISTS HUSBAND IN CAMPAIGN

children. It was a new experience for the men of Essex and Passaic to have a woman debate political questions with them. From all she received the most profound respect and attention, and there were few who did not offer a kind word of approval and encouragement for her course.

When the interest of the people seemed to lag it was Mrs. Colby who spurred the fife and drum corps on to greater activity, thus bringing curious crowds to hear what husband had to say. She even directed the pasting of lithograph pictures of the candidate, and with the managers of the "squadron" gave out the campaign buttons bearing the query, "Have You Met Colby?"

One of Mrs. Colby's reason for taking part in the campaign is that she believes she can lend encouragement to her husband during a trying time, and one could readily see that her enthusiasm would be most encouraging to one more inclined to be pessimistic than Mr. Colby appears to be.

Asked why she is taking a part in the campaign, Mrs. Colby replied:

"I have always had a strong instinct that the man is the head of the home and when the man adopts any important career it is for the woman to adapt herself to that career and enter into his life to the exclusion of every other thing, with the exception of her children. As my children are still young, every need and want of theirs should be attended to first, and for this reason I have never before gone about the State working or speaking. At the same time, I feel strongly that I am acting within my duty by being with my husband during this short time, since I can be of help to him."

Reiterating her statement that she did not believe little children should be denied the care of a mother, Mrs. Colby said:

"That is the reason I did not take any active part in the campaign when my husband was elected to the Senate. A woman should not be ready to respond to any call no matter how urgent when it means depriving her children of her care."

An experience while abroad a few years ago that has some bearing on Mrs. Colby's part in the campaign was related by her as one that helped to convince her she is following the right course at this time.

"The tremendous possibilities that are open to women for usefulness in such a campaign were brought home to me," she said, "while on a visit to a country house in England a few years ago. There, titled women and even the older women of the families, though not often robust, would spend the day and far into the night campaigning for the candidates in their families. Many times during the campaign there would be a loud demand for a speech from the wife of the candidate. This occurred at an enormous meeting I attended in Dorset, where Winston Churchill was the chief speaker. I then became convinced that women could not only encourage their husbands to work politically for cleaner and better food, but would themselves realize that they could be an enormous power for good in many untold ways."

"Do you believe you are showing the way to other women to take similar interest in politics?" was asked, "or are you doing this simply because the candidate happens to be your husband?"

To this Mrs. Colby replied

"Simply because he is my husband. I don't think I would be in duty bound to enter a campaign for any one else, even though I believe in the principles of the party. Still," she added, with a wistful note in her voice, "I might do it if it didn't keep me away from my babies. As I said before, I don't think women with little children should be called upon to do general field work in a campaign."

Asked if there was a particular reason why she believed her husband should be elected, Mrs. Colby said:

"I am trying to remember he is offering himself for the good he will do the people. I would like to see him Governor because he is the Progressive candidate and because he has worked for ten years in the interest of Progressive principles and I know he would carry out his ideals."

While she is a keen suffragist and alive to the political questions of the day, Mrs. Colby is a good type of the domestic woman as well. The management of her large house in Llewellyn Park is entirely in her hands and all plans out of the regular routine are made by her.

So exact is she in this matter, that she even goes so far as to plan and order the things Mr. Colby likes to eat for the meals they will have in their own home during the week-ends when they are not campaigning. All of the canning and preserving for the winter has just been done under her supervision and it is she who directed the storing of fruit and vegetables for winter use grown on their place.

Although the household cares come in for a large share of attention from Mrs. Colby she still has time for a pleasant share of social life, and the entertainments in her home have been among the most successful of past seasons.

One can well imagine that with her love for little children the children in this home come in for a full measure of the mother's love and companionship. Long walks and drives are enjoyed in the company of one another. Both little girls are pupils in a private school in Orange and many a day finds Mrs. Colby at the school during whole sessions, "because," she says, "I want to see my children at their school work. I want to know all about their school surroundings and I want to know if they are able to do the work required of them."

Strange to say, little Edith, the older of the two, has nothing but the deepest scorn for the advocates of suffrage, and no amount of reasoning will make her change her mind. She declares she will never be a suffragist. Although opposed to suffrage in her baby way, she and her little sister are both in favor of their father as a candidate for Governor, and frequently demand to know if he is yet the Governor and when the election will take place.

A TRIPLE SKIRT AND AN OVERBLOUSE OFFER CHANCE ENOUGH FOR CONTRAST

Contrast is the key-note of many of our smart frocks at the moment, and, aside from the charming combinations one is able to achieve, think of the possibilities for economy! Many of the new modes suggest ways of economizing, but none of them are more practical than this combining of two or more colors and materials.

A wee bit of tapestry or brocade works wonders nowadays. It may be used for the vest, cuffs or girdle or some particular dress with pleasing result.

Faille is one of the supple silks much in favor just now. It is used in 7993. The dark brown of the silk is effectively relieved by collar, cuffs and girdle of burnt orange. A combination rich and striking.

In size 36 7993 may be copied with 4¾ yards of 42 inch material and ¼ yard of contrasting silk or brocade.

One shade of chiffon over another offers exquisite beauty of coloring. In 7997 pale blue chiffon is hung over pale pink rose printed chiffon with most dainty effect. An underblouse of shadow lace completes the frock.

An Effective Design for a Pillow Cover.

Unique and attractive are the many articles seen in the Arts and Crafts shops, but very expensive are these lovely things. One may, however, possess those beautiful luxuries at little expense by making them at home, for they demand but a bit of ingenuity in combining materials and colors.

Quite varied are the uses to which this design may be put as it may be used for stenciling, embroidering or for cut leather work.

This design is suitable for use on a pillow or table cover or portions of the design may be used on table runners, portieres, couch covers, screens and curtains of linen, Shauting, poplin, scrim or crafts canvas. The flowers in this design, used as a stencil would make an exceptionally charming allover pattern for decorating the draperies of a room.

These materials are inexpensive and come in a variety of colors. Oil paints may be used for stenciling and, if mixed with gasoline or with a preparation of turpentine one pint, acetic acid one ounce, oil of wintergreen one ounce, the article can be washed.

The essential points to be remembered, in the successful stenciling of textile fabrics, is to have a dry sheet of blotting paper always beneath the part upon which you are working and to have the brush rubbed almost dry before applying it to the material.

Pattern number 14161 is 19 inches in diameter and will be supplied to readers for fifteen cents.

WHITEWASH DECK OF U. S. S. ELEVEN

Holy Cross Defeated Washingtonians With Touchdown in Final Quarter.

A REMARKABLE COMBAT

Hailed as the Greatest Exhibition of Aggressiveness, Sportsmanship, and All Around Football Ever Seen in This Vicinity.

Scoring six points in the nick of time as the contest was fast drawing to a close, the Holy Cross football eleven emerged a victor after a desperate struggle with the U. S. S. Washington team on Cricket Field Saturday afternoon, their eleventh hour spurt netting them the only points scored during the battle. It was a sensational ending to an eventful game and the windup of a battle kaleidoscopic in its periods of rushing, dashes of various lengths, quick changes and general assortment of recurring excitement.

Many new countenances appeared in the Holy Cross cast of characters and while several of the men playing new positions resembled foreigners alighting on the terra firma of Ellis Island, the improvement of the eleven as a whole since the reverse of last Saturday far outshone its faults. The local's line, reinforced with the spacious personage of Charles (alias "Fat") Hurrt, the erstwhile life guard, and other notables, held like the locks of a mammoth canal against the pile driving attack of Uncle Sam's sailor laddies and the Navy quarter presented a very decollete front as the result of sharp tackles by the "Terrible Turk" and the "Borneo Wildman."

Unbiased witnesses of the fracas proclaimed it to be the greatest exhibition of the rugby game ever staged in this city or borough and even in defeat, the supporters of the Red, White and Blue were classed as gridiron heroes of the highest calibre. A more genuinely sincere and commendable exhibition of true sportsmanship than the one displayed at Cricket Field Saturday would be hard to conceive of and they well deserve all the praise that was forthcoming so fluently following the battle.

During the opening three periods of play the two teams battled like Turks for every inch of territory as though preparing the way for the sensational climax that was to follow in the fourth frame.

During the warming up siesta the Holy Cross team put up the stiffest kind of a defense against the heavy, charging forwards and the smashing of the rushing backs, while in their turn the navy recruits literally crushed anything that the locals attempted through their line. Soon after the opening chirp of the referee's whistle it could be plainly seen that the sailors were the most formidable crew the boroughites have had to cope with in years and as the game drew toward the close of the third period the locals were plainly on the downward trend.

Inspired with new life and with craniums full of admonition driven in by the "wise ones" during the intermission the boroughites waded into the final spasm of bangs with remarkable vigor, soon forcing the navy men to relinquish their claim on the oval and boot the ball into the center chalk mark. Holy Cross then essayed to boot the ball and it left Captain Wilson's toe with a thud, landing squarely in the outstretched arms of a Washingtonian. Here endeth the tale and ushereth in the finale for that brave color bearer let the ball slip through his arms like a hunk of quick silver covered with vaseline and Webster pounced on the ball just one yard from the chalk mark. Wilson was given the oval on the pigskin on the next rush and found an opening through the navy's right guard and registered a touchdown and victory. Manning failed to kick the goal.

From this point until the final whistle the most brilliant battling of the contest was staged and in one instance the visitors worked the ball to the Holy Cross team's twenty yard line only to lose it by one yard in the fourth down. The rejuvenated Holy Cross backfield composed of Caufield, Manning and Wilson was a great improvement over last week's trio of ball rushers but there was one thing sadly missing and that was a field general. The Ricketts brothers did their best but were playing the most difficult position in the machine, almost without preparation. Bremble was the bright star in the forward line, recovering several fumbles for the red and white that probably saved the day for the Holy Cross eleven. For the visitors Captain Albertson was the harbor light and as an all around performer he took the laurels from all comers Saturday afternoon, being conspicuous in everything his team attempted. The lineup:

GLOVER REFUSES OPPORTUNITY TO RAISE HIMSELF TO PINNACLE OF FAME.

One of the most peculiar exhibitions of a gridiron "brainstorm" ever seen on a local football field and one that is seldom, if ever duplicated, was staged on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, when the U. S. S. Washington and Holy Cross teams were struggling for pigskin supremacy, with "Cutey" Glover as the leading actor. With the ball in the possession of the navy eleven at a point about forty yards from the chalk mark, the crossing of which meant victory for the locals, one of the Washingtonian backs fumbled the oval and it went rolling down the field toward a red and white victory.

The pigskin rolled past one player after another and at last Glover succeeded in bagging the illusive trouble-maker and after much squirming and twisting started pell-mell in the direction of the U. S. S. Washington goal instead of taking to the clear field and scoring the touchdown for his teammates. Had Glover chosen the easy path he would have had a clear field and a little run of about thirty-five meters would have placed the ball squarely beneath the goal posts and raised the Holy Cross guard to a niche in the Hall of the Elect. Whether Glover had a momentary "brainstorm" or whether he became overjoyed to find that he really had the pigskin in his fond embrace, an honor that seldom comes to a guard, is still a matter of conjecture, but it is safe to say that if "Cutey" is offered another opportunity to gain fame for himself he will welcome the opportunity and speed at an express clip toward the goals labelled "H. C."

F. O. REINHART WINS SELECTED SCORE COMPETITION

Frank D. Reinhart is the winner of the best selected score competition for the season at the Plainfield Country Club, his score being 58. This represents the total of the best scores he made on each of the 18 holes for the entire season and is remarkably low. Some of the other leading scores follow:

Will T. Glenney, 61; J. Whitney Baker, 62; R. S. Rowland, 62; S. H. Patterson, 62; H. D. Hibbard, 63; W. Lester Glenney, 64; Morris J. Dunion, 65; C. B. Morgan, 65; H. R. Stockton, 65; J. E. Erickson, 66; W. W. Coriell, 70. The low scores in the sweepstakes competition are as follows: W. M. Alling, 89, 21-68; George T. Rogers, 102, 27-102; Dr. F. E. DuBois, 99, 19-80. There was the usual weekly dinner-dance at the club in the evening, music for which was furnished by VanEps Brothers.

WINNERS AT WESTFIELD.

Westfield, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McIntosh defeated J. Van Dyke and Mrs. Randall in the play-off of the match for the Westfield Golf Club cup on Columbus Day here Saturday. The summaries for the third round of the competition for the Sinclair cup follow: M. P. Barr beat G. Alpers, 6 up and 4 to play; B. Ludwig beat J. Stewart, 2 up and 1 to play; J. Clark beat C. Knight, 2 up and 1 to play; H. Fukin beat H. W. Hutting, 2 up and 1 to play.

WESTFIELD WINS EASILY.

Westfield, Oct. 20.—The Westfield High School eleven had little difficulty in disposing of the New Brunswick gridiron warriors Saturday afternoon on the latter's field by the score of 33 to 0. Young played a star game for the victors, scoring all their touchdowns. No goals were kicked.

PHILLIPSBURG BEAT SOMERVILLE ELEVEN

Visitors Were Strong in the First Quarter and Put up a Good Contest.

In one of the hardest fought games of the 1913 football season, the Phillipsburg High School football eleven defeated the Somerville High School combination at the former place Saturday afternoon by a score of 10 to 0. The Phillipsburg aggregation is considered one of the best in the State and the showing of the Somerset county warriors was particularly encouraging to its supporters. Phillipsburg has been a close rival of the Plainfield High School athletes for the past two years but has always succeeded in winning the annual contest with an overwhelming count.

The visiting contingent showed strength in the first quarter but weakened perceptibly after that and played a defensive game most of the time. The home eleven lost the ball a number of times on fumbles and was weak on the forward pass. The first touchdown was made on a forward pass to Achroyd and the second on straight line bucking. The lineup:

PHILLIPSBURG	SOMERVILLE
Nolan	Romig
Left End.
Bellis	Fleming
Left Tackle.
Firth	Anderson
Left Guard.
Drake	Vansleet
Center.
Weisel	Johnson
Right Guard.
Phillips	Sisser
Right Tackle.
Korp	Kershaw
Right End.
Kroesen	Desaust
Quarterback.
Ackroyd	McHugh
Left Half.
Applegate	Morton
Right Half.
Gebhart	Robison
Full Back.

Touchdowns — Ackroyd, Nolan. Referee—Eurell, Lafayette. Umpire—Dodd, Phillipsburg A. A. Head linesman—Carpenter, Wesley A. A. Time of quarters—10 minutes.

NEW LINEUP WILL REPRESENT Y. M. C. A. AJAX DELEGATION

As the result of a practice held in the Y. M. C. A. "gym," Saturday night, Captain Albert Brynarski has practically settled on his opening lineup to pit against the North Plainfield High School five a week from next Saturday night in the opening game of the local season and several surprises are in store for those who have been following the Ajax during that team's existence. New men have shown some good basketball ability during the preliminary drills and no veteran is certain of his position on the team as the result of the influx of new material.

While Brynarski has not given out anything for publication he has decided on his quintet of regulars and will devote the remainder of the intervening two weeks to shaping the regular squad for the opening tilt.

RACE MEET FOR WESTFIELD.

Westfield, Oct. 20.—Harness racing of a high order will be on the day's card at the Fair Acres track next Saturday afternoon. LARGE FIELD OF RIDERS IN HUNT CLUB CHASE

The meeting of the Watchung hounds, Saturday, the third of the week, brought out the largest number of riders thus far this season. The meeting place was at the Plainfield Horse Show grounds, the hounds being cast in nearby. They headed straight for Fanwood, where the first check was made on the Peterson estate. They were again cast in on the Rogers farm, crossing the Scudder, Hatfield, Walsh, Whelan, Henry and the Krog farms and checking on the Sikon farm.

Among those noticed in the field were: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; L. B. Smith, J. J. O'Donohue, Miss Marjorie Brown, R. H. Towner, F. D. French, Miss Gertrude Noe, Harry L. Finch, H. S. Hollis, H. A. Bourne, Beverley Brown, Col. C. E. S. Bellows and Huntsman Harrison.

LOW SCORES RETURNED FOR PRESIDENT'S TROPHY

The only event at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, was the weekly competition for the President's cup. There was a large field out, but only a limited number posted their scores. The club's active season will close on Election Day with a holiday competition and other events.

These cards were returned on Saturday: J. L. Watson, 110, 24-86, Charles B. Morse, 102, 11-91; Oliver B. Hill, 114, 23-91; Clarence J. Hand, 118, 26-92; W. R. Faber, 106, 13-93; J. V. Beekman, 110, 17-93; Royle T. Phillips, 108, 14-94.

BERNARDSVILLE DEFEATED.

Bernardsville, Oct. 20.—The local High School eleven was decisively defeated Saturday afternoon by Dover High School, 27 to 0. The game was more closely contested than the score indicates and both teams sprang several good plays.

VIKINGS NEXT ON LIST.

Manager "Doc" Doyle has scheduled the strong Viking football team of Bayonne to play here next Saturday afternoon and the contest will probably be one of the best attractions of the season on local gridirons.

BRASS BAND FAILS TO WIN BIG GAME

LOCALS OUTCLASSED

Offering little resistance and apparently resigned to a defeat, the Plainfield High School football representatives were literally crushed on Parker Field, Saturday afternoon, by the Dickinson High School (Jersey City) eleven which piled up a tally card sounding something like 24 to a whitewash at the final reading. The visiting aggregation's strength and the Queen City team's weakness offered a pathetic contrast and despite a few periodical braces on the part of the locals the ultimate outcome was never in doubt and the only question troubling the minds of the spectators was the amount of divergence that would exist between the rival scores at the conclusion of the match.

Aided by missed tackles and piloted by excellent interference, the visitors carried the ball when and where they chose and toward the close their advantage in weight began to assert itself noticeably. The visitors essayed an open game and their shifting backfield manoeuvres kept the P. H. S. forwards constantly on the defence. Members of the local eleven's backfield, especially little Joe Green, figured in spasmodically sensational but short lived end runs but in each instance the runner had no sooner gotten under steam than he was pulled violently to earth by one of the visitors' obiquitous ends. When given the ball in scrimmage the Jersey City fighters invariably made their distance much to the disappointment of the red and blue cohorts who had engaged a brass band to help their idols on to triumph.

The horn blowers had little influence in the issue, however, and the visitors continued to diagnose the Plainfielders' shifts and series of plays with apparent ease. Neither team made any sensational gains through mass plays and the contest early resolved itself into a succession of off tackle plays and end runs interspersed with humorous kicks and a few forward passes. The lineup:

P. H. S.	D. H. S.
Mann	Conley
Left End
Butler	Luhrs

Berrien	Goldstein

NASH TRYING OUT WITH CONNIE MACK

Local Boy Playing Post-Season Baseball With World's Champions.

Although James Nash, the former Leal School and Plainfield High School athlete, is taking no active part in gridiron competition in Temple Institute, where he is a student, probably due to the fact that his injured leg is still troubling him, he is doing some preliminary work on the baseball diamond in an effort to keep in condition for spring athletics. Since he has been playing with the Temple candidates Nash has attracted the attention of Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, champions of the world, and has been playing under the direction of the famous ball pilot regularly on Shibe Field, Philadelphia.

Although the ball season has closed as far as league baseball is concerned, McGillicuddy, following his annual custom, has gathered together a band of promising recruits in an effort to get a line on some good material to take on the spring training trip and among the latter is James Nash. Nash's ability as a ball player is well known to every local fan and until he injured his leg last Decoration Day in an interscholastic game he was a leader in local scholastic baseball. At various times he has played with Plainfield High School, Leal's School, Dunellen and Scotch Plains, being a clever infielder and all around performer.

Nash's father is a veteran ball player and the athletic ability appears to be hereditary. The senior Nash was at one time a member of the Boston National League outfit and is also a champion weight thrower. In the event of Nash making a good impression on the leader of the greatest living ball nine, and his friends in this city think he will, he will be taken on the spring training trip next year.

HOLY CROSS SCOUTS GOT NOTHING BUT A WETTING

Captain Jack Wilson and Manager "Doc" Doyle chaperoned a crew of Holy Cross football enthusiasts in the direction of Bayonne yesterday afternoon with a view to inspecting the repertoire of trick plays engineered by the Viking eleven, which plays the locals next Saturday afternoon on Cricket Field. The Bayonne eleven was scheduled to lineup against the Franklin athletes who defeated Holy Cross a week ago in this city, but owing to the rain the battle was called off just before opening time.

The Plainfielders contemplated getting a line on just what method of attack the rival eleven fostered, and Captain Wilson went along to instruct his understudies in the points of the struggle as played by the Bayonne team. The rain made its appearance when the Queen City delegation reached the West Eighth Street station and after that—well, nothing further is known of the manner in which the rest of the afternoon was spent.

Those who made the trip were: Captain Jack Wilson, Manager Doyle, Jack Caulfield, George Webster, Bill Coyle, Dan McAfee, James Cullen, Joseph Green, Edward Mundy, Bill Ruttledge, Lou Harding and Jack Coffey.

RAHWAY STILL WINNING.

The Rahway High School football representatives, although handicapped by the absence of four of the regular players, owing to injuries, defeated the warriors representing the Battin High School, of Elizabeth, Saturday afternoon on the Battin High School grounds in the annual gridiron competition between these schools by the score of 20 to 0. By virtue of the victory Rahway assumes first place in the Union County High School Athletic League standing, while Battin ranks second, with Roselle High holding down third place.

HOPE CHAPEL DRILL.

Jack Martin, coach of the Hope chapel basketball team, put his charges through a stiff practise on the chapel court Saturday, all of the regulars with the exception of Johnny Heron being on hand for the drill. No definite squad has as yet been picked by Martin and Acting Captain Jim Doig, but much material is available for the team this year.

HOLY CROSS DEFEATED.

The Holy Cross junior football eleven went to Cranford Saturday afternoon and lost to the team representing that place by a score of 17 to 6. The Queen City representatives were completely outplayed from start to finish and they put up a strong defensive game in an effort to keep their opponents from rolling up the count.

HOLY CROSS PRACTISE.

Members of the Holy Cross football team are requested to be on hand tomorrow night when the regular mid week gridiron drill will be run off. Coach P. V. Martin was present at Saturday's game and will spend the practise hour in ironing out the rough spots.

LOCAL BOY HELPED TO BEAT PRINCETON FRESHMAN ELEVEN

When the Hill School football warriors stacked up against the Princeton Freshmen at Pottstown, Pa., Saturday afternoon, Roger Drew Mellick, a local boy, played the pivot position for the Pennsylvania warriors, who won the fracas by a score of 16 to 7. The team for which the Plainfielder played centre put up a sensational game and outplayed the Freshmen in every department of the gridiron sport.

During the first quarter the Tigers were kept constantly on the defensive and despite a decided brace in the latter part of the second period, the home eleven continued its pace-setting until the final whistle blew, piling up two touchdowns and a field goal.

HOPE CHAPEL'S OPENER.

Manager George Leighs, of the Hope chapel basketball team, has booked the Crescent A. C., of Bound Brook, to appear on the Hope court one week from next Saturday night in the opening game of the basketball season.

DOROTHY AINSWORTH.

Mrs. Eaton's Daughter to Be Witness For Defence.

Mrs. Eaton is on trial accused of the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Eaton. It is said that the defense plans to call Miss Ainsworth, one of the daughters of the accused woman.

MRS. EATON ACCUSED ADMIRAL OF FLIRTING

Seek to Prove Jealousy as Murder Motive.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 20.—With the revelation that the prosecution in the case of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, retired, would put forward the accusation of jealousy as the motive for the alleged murder by poisoning, interest in the case is somewhat heightened. The increased interest is due largely to the possibility of disclosures along this line.

A letter written by Mrs. Eaton to Miss Grace B. Howard of New Bedford, a professional nurse and one time neighbor of the Eatons at Assinippi, was read in evidence. It was:

"Last winter as I introduced you he (the admiral) winked at you as we met in the car, and two hours later when we all came back in the same car he did it again and so pronounced that you laughed outright. Then he stared and winked at you all last year in the church until you were confused and finally stopped singing in the church, and then the night at the minstrel show he was simply disgraceful.

"Now the darling boy" (the Eaton adopted baby) died so suddenly I had an autopsy and if poison is found I believe Admiral Eaton will try to fasten it on my daughter or myself. Now, of course, you know June is too innocent and sweet a child, too tender of nature to be wicked, and so I want you to write me the straightforward truth about my 'husband's' conduct toward you, as I fully believe Admiral Eaton is out of his mind and his conduct toward you and dozens of young women prove it to me. It would be a most pitiful thing that this young life, June, should have to suffer for the wickedness of an old hypocrite."

"Did Admiral Eaton ever wink at you in church?" asked the district attorney.

"No," replied Miss Howard. "Neither did he stare at me or do anything that caused me annoyance or was not perfectly proper," she testified.

—Nine-tenths of the merchants would advertise honestly and frankly, whether or not that were the best policy. But the tenth one will always be wise enough to do so whether it is a principle with him or not.

WILSON TAKES UP PANKHURST CASE

Confers With Committee on Militants' Appeal.

HUNGER STRIKE POSSIBLE

Washington, Oct. 20.—The case of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British suffragette leader, will be handled by President Wilson. The president arranged for a conference at the White House with William B. Wilson, the secretary of labor, and Anthony Caminetti, the commissioner general of immigration, in regard to Mrs. Pankhurst's appeal from the deporting order.

While no official statement on the subject was forthcoming from the White House, it was said that the president's course was due to the fact that an avalanche of telegrams protesting against the action of the board of inquiry had descended on him from all parts of the country, and he had decided to look into the case personally.

This move of the president has encouraged sympathizers with Mrs. Pankhurst to believe that the president is inclined to permit the English leader to enter the United States under bond.

The announcement that the president had interposed in the case was made after Mr. Caminetti had given a ruling continuing the order for Mrs. Pankhurst's detention until after a decision could be rendered as a result of a formal hearing set for today.

The commissioner general's ruling followed a hearing granted to Herbert Reeves, detained by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont to represent Mrs. Pankhurst, and Frank S. O'Neill, counsel for the Madison Square Garden company, with which Mrs. Pankhurst has a contract to deliver lectures.

Threatens Hunger Strike.

New York, Oct. 20.—Threatening to start a "hunger strike" unless released from Ellis island today, according to an attendant in whom she confided, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette leader, who is under order of deportation because of conviction for acts involving "moral turpitude, passed a quiet day yesterday while an informal hearing of her case was held in Washington by Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration.

Mr. Caminetti made it plain that he would not act in the case at once, and Mrs. Pankhurst had to spend another night practically a prisoner on Ellis island, the mass meeting at Madison Square Garden which she was to have addressed last night having been postponed until tonight.

When told that Mrs. Pankhurst had threatened a hunger strike a high immigration official at Ellis island smiled, with the remark, "A day or two of that will not hurt any one." He refused further comment. It is believed that Mrs. Pankhurst either will be released today or the order of deportation sustained, in which case she will be put aboard the next steamship bound for France, and the authorities here will not be seriously concerned with the hunger strike, even though it should be started.

Yesterday Mrs. Pankhurst held an informal reception in the suit which has been assigned to her use in the administration building on the island. Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch was one of the first noted American suffrage workers to call upon her. Many others called in the course of the day, and several took luncheon with her.

Treated as Guests.

Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr, who by special courtesy was allowed to spend the night on the island, was her constant companion. In the afternoon Mrs. Pankhurst and a party of suffrage friends made a tour of the island, receiving the treatment accorded distinguished guests rather than persons involuntarily detained.

The English militant leader ate heartily and seemed in a cheerful frame of mind, though occasionally showing that she is not pleased with her treatment and is determined to win the battle for admittance to the United States if possible. She received numberless messages by telegraph and in person from her sympathizers and insisted that she still hoped and expected to be allowed to land.

The officials at Ellis island were practically all forced to remain there throughout the day on the possibility that an order might be received from Washington for Mrs. Pankhurst's release on a ruling reversing the decision of the board of inquiry, which ordered her detained for deportation. The officials were not informed that Mr. Caminetti's hearing was informal and waited in vain for some definite word.

HUERTA SUSPICIOUS OF HIS WAR MINISTER

Blanquet Said to Be Friendly With Diaz.

Washington, Oct. 20.—New complications in the ever shifting entaglement of Mexican affairs are the repudiation by General Huerta of an agreement to resign and the indications that Great Britain, through her minister to Mexico, Sir Lionel Carden, is fighting for control of the Tampico oil fields.

General Huerta's suspicion of General Blanquet, his minister of war, and one of the men who, with Felix Diaz, conspired with him in the downfall of President Madero, is the reason assigned for his refusal to abandon his virtual dictatorship. Private advices from Mexico City says the provisional president fears a plot to ruin him.

General Blanquet is understood to be on friendly terms with General Diaz, whose arrival is awaited with much interest, since it may result in important developments in the whole Mexican situation.

That the American administration would regard Blanquet in power with as much disfavor as it does the regime of Huerta himself is no secret here. It is known that the two men were in the plot against Madero's life. It is not so widely known, however, that General Huerta at first opposed the step as unnecessary and unwise.

Mexicans in Washington assert that General Blanquet is not a native of Mexico and is therefore ineligible for the presidency. It is not expected however, that, with the army at his back, he would allow such a trifling matter as the constitution to stand in his way.

Assurances have been forwarded to President Wilson by leaders of the constitutionalists that General Huerta can end the warfare in twenty-four hours by stepping out of office and turning the presidency over to a new neutral man in whom all factions can have confidence.

CONVICT TO ALL BUT MOTHER

News of Banker's Two Years Imprisonment Kept From Her.

Kingston, O., Oct. 20.—To every one except his mother Nolan L. Gartner, formerly a banker, returned to Kingston an ex-convict. His mother, who is eighty-six years old, greeted him with smiles and tears and asked him as to his business "in the West."

Gartner was convicted two years ago on a charge of wrecking a bank. Fearing that it would kill his mother the news of the charge against him and his conviction was kept from her. He was sentenced to serve six years and told his mother he was going west. She helped him pack his trunk.

Gartner was paroled and hurried to his mother, who had received letters weekly of his supposed business trip in the west.

GETS $100 PEARL IN OYSTER

Sayville, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Charles Hildreth, a Point o' Woods life saver, bit on something as he was eating raw oysters. It was a big pearl and he rushed with it to the nearest jewelry shop. There he was told it was worth $85.

"I'll try a bit further," he said.

He went to the store of H. L. Terry & Son and received an offer of $100. He decided to keep it awhile. Meantime he is developing an extraordinary taste for oysters.

"Lightning has been known to strike twice in the same spot," he says.

STOKES FLAYED AT PARTY RALLY

Chairman Saunders, Prof. Daniels and Others Score G. O. P. Nominee.

FIELDER CHIEF ORATOR

Before a large crowd of voters, Edward C. Stokes, Republican candidate for Governor, was scathingly denounced last night at Saengerbund Hall, where Acting-Governor James F. Fielder and others made addresses in behalf of Fielder's candidacy. On the other hand, President Woodrow Wilson, for his achievements while chief executive of this State and in his present position, was verbally applauded by the speakers, including former Judge E. C. Westcott, of Camden, who nominated Wilson for the presidency at the Baltimore convention; Prof. Winthrop More Daniels, of Princeton, a member of the Public Utilities Commission; former Judge Delevan A. Holmes, of the borough, and Dr. William L. Saunders, who presided. That Fielder has the backing and endorsement of President Wilson, the orators asserted, should be ample recommendation of the candidate's ability and good faith.

On a plaform draped with American flags and red, white and blue bunting, and several pctures of Fielder, Mr. Saunders, as chairman, said he was going to centre his attack on Mr. Stokes, the G. O. P. Gubernatorial aspirant. He referred to him as a palitical charlatan, fakir and mountebank, and as the sly fox in sheep's clothing who is attempting to grab all credit of the Democratic administration in this State by the claim that he, Stokes, initiated the movements which resulted in the legislation making possible the reforms that have taken place within the past few years. Mr. Saunders also asserted that Stokes framed the platform upon which former Governor Franklin Fort was elected, and then attempted to block every effort made by Mr. Fort to keep the pledges to the people made in that platform. The speaker also claimed that Stokes' brother profited by sales of school bonds when the Republican candidate held the reins of the Governor's office.

"The people of this State will not be fooled by Stokes, said Judge Westcott, and as the election day nears, that black cloud of suspicion against the good faith of Stokes is making itself seen and when the public becomes suspicious of a candidate, that candidate's chance of holding an office is small." Continuing, Mr. Westcott said, that Stokes was a friend of the railroads and cited an instance when Stokes, arriving late at a railroad station, had the power to have the train called back and later caused the engineer to be discharged on the former governor's charge that the train left the station from one-half to a whole minute before schedule time. The speaker also commented on the electric sign displayd on the New York docks of the Pennsylvania railroad, which reads: "Stokes for Governor." Stokes was also condemned as a pal of David Baird, a member of the "Board of Guardians."

Prof. Winthrop More Daniels declared Stokes continually shifted his personal political beliefs in the direction of public sentiment in an effort to gain popularity and votes. He asserted that Stokes after attempting to find weak spots in the Democratic administration and finding his stand strongly opposed by the majority of the people immediately changed his tactics and is now claiming credit for having started the reform movements made in the State since the time Wilson was elected Governor.

Governor Fielder spoke briefly and said that the old guards, the bosses, have been thrown out of the Democratic party and that the element standing for good government is now controlling his party. He said he stood beside Wilson because he knew that Wilson was a friend of the masses and asserted that his views were now and always had been the same as those of the President. Woodrow Wilson, he said, had for years studied political conditions in this State and his study had revealed the fact that the people did not control. He went on to say that the bosses, the men back of Stokes, objected to the Geran law because it dethroned them and put the power into the hands of the people. A few years ago, he declared, the people had absolutly nothing to say about who should be nominated and that vast sums of money were collected and expended by men who could predict long in advance of election day who was going to be elected and by about what majority. Men, otherwise apparently honest and honorable, participated in the creation of these funds knowing that they were

ENGLISH COMPANY IN BLINDNESS OF VIRTUE

Dramatic Sensation a Tremendous Indictment Against Parents.

Cosmo Hamilton's sensational play, the "Blindness of Virtue," will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre on Thursday night. This drama, based on a subject which is of utmost importance to every civilized home, wil be presented by William Morris' English players and is said to be the same cast which appeared in the play at the Little Theatre in London. The company has recently arrived in this country.

According to newspaper reports the "Blindness of Virtue" created a dramatic sensation on the other side of the water. So much so, that the London play censor forbade its presentation until pressure was brought to bear upon him by prominent people and he was finally induced to permit it being shown.

Veiled, it is said, by brilliant comedy and griping dramatic situations, the play casts a great lght upon conditions of the modern home. The relation of mother to daughter and father to son, and presents, it is declared a tremendous indictment against the condition of permitting children to grow up in ignorance of certain impulses.

The "Blindness of Virtue" tells the story of a daughter of a rector of a small parish near London. A young man who was sent down from Eaton and Oxford and regarded with despair by his father is sent to study with the vicar as a final resort. The youth and the daughter of the rector fall in love with each other. The girl not understandng certain inward impulses throws herself into a compromising situation with the student. The rector appears and at once falsely accuses the young man. When the daughter innocently demands to know the meaning of the accusation, the father sees what might have been the result through his daughter's ignorance and begins to understand that the blame for the whole affair rests on himself and his wife.

GARBAGE QUESTION TO BE CONSIDERED

Franklin W. Fort Will Be Chief Speaker at Board of Trade Meeting Tonight.

The much discussed garbage question will be the topic for further discussion at the meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade that will be held tonight in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. No topic of local interest has been more talked about in town than this during recent years, and the people are a unit in urging the need of a systematic and sanitary collection and disposal under the supervision or control of the city.

At tonight's meeting Franklin W. Fort, for many years attorney for one of the biggest contractors in the State, will tell how the problem s handled in some of the cities nearby, and Michael Loprete, who has had the contract in Newark, East Orange and other places at different times in the past fifteen years, will answer any questions put to him about the actual work of the gathering of the refuse.

Prior to the meeting and while it is in progress the Dutch Arms Band of Trinity church, consisting of forty trained musicians, will discourse popular airs. The public is invited, and it is especially urged that the women attend the meeting. The directors of the Board of Trade realize that this is a topic which interests them as well as the men, and have spread the invitation broadcast to attend tonight's gathering. The meeting starts at 8 o'clock.

FACES JURY TOMORROW FOR ASSAULT ON WIFE

Elizabeth, Oct. 21—The trial of Richard Haden Hood, of this city, indicted on a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood, with a telephone receiver, is scheduled to come up in the county court tomorrow, but inasmuch as all the criminal cases have been put off to a later date there is a possibility that the Hood trial may go over. In view of the publicity already gained by the Hoods through divorce proceedings, this case has excited much interest. County Attorney W. R. Codington represents Mr. Hood, while Reed & Hetfield are counsel for Mrs. Hood.

PROCTOR'S GOOD SHOW.

Tom Nawn & Co., in his college comedy sketch, "The College Coach," is making a big hit at Proctor's this week. Mr. Nawn is a clever comedian and the supporting company is good. Cain & Newcomb, present a bright comedy skit, "In Train Time," which is full of wholesome fun. Larabee & Bell presenting "The Photographer and the Girl," produce many good laughs; LeRoy, the man fish, offers a remarkable act, singing, drinking and eating under water, while Ernest Dupille, the English comedian, has many funny lines and good songs. The photo-plays are up to the minute.

AN EDITORIAL.

Former Governor Edward Casper Stokes, the standard bearer of the Republican party in the gubernatorial contest, will speak at the Plainfield Theatre tonight.

Everybody is welcome.

Go and hear Mr. Stokes. It is your duty as a citizen to do so. As an independent newspaper, the Daily Press believes in the "Square Deal" and the "Fair Show."

Mr. Stokes will present his arguments why he should receive your vote. As a juryman voter listen to what he has to say. When James F. Fielder, the Democratic nominee, comes to Plainfield you should listen to his arguments and when Everett Colby, the father of the "New Idea" in American politics, appears here you should do likewise.

If you are an honest man and a good citizen you will agree that you cannot give a just verdict at the polls unless you are informed as to what policies the respective candidates represent, and unless you believe these candidates are honest in their avowed declarations.

Hear all sides before casting your vote. The way to do so is to hear the nominees themselves. And so we say, go and hear Stokes tonight.

THIS CHARITY BALL A BRILLIANT EVENT

The annual charity ball of the Women's Hebrew Benevolent Association, held last night at Abrams' auditorium, was a brilliant event socially. It netted several hundred dollars for the poor of Plainfield. Many of the local business men assisted in making the event profitable and not only lent their personal aid in this direction but donated many articles of jewelry, wearing apparel and souvenirs, which were sold and the proceeds realized contributed to "sweet charity."

The hall was profuse with decorations. Streamers of various colored crepe papers hung from the ceiling and draped the sidewalls. Refreshments were served throughout the evening by the committee assisted by Isadore Schneider.

Those who arranged the event, are Mrs. Isadore Rosenbaum, Mrs. Hyman Adelberg, Mrs. Lillian Perlman, Mrs. Victorson, Mrs. Kalman Rothberg, Mrs. Morris Abrams, Mrs. Molly Levine, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Dreilleich and Kalman Rothberg.

Instructive Papers Read at Monday Afternoon Club Dep't Meetings.

Two departmental meetings of members of the Monday Afternoon Club were held yesterday afternoon that for the study of literature being at the Plainfield Public Library and that for the study of art at the Hartridge Auditorium. Both meetings were well attended and much interest was evidenced in the subjects.

"The Greek Drama" was considered at the meeting for the study of literature, three interesting papers being presented, one on "Greek Writers," by Mrs. George S. Clay, another on "The Greek Stage," by Mrs. Lindsey Best, and the third on "Greek Drama," by Mrs. Charles L. Sykes. These were followed by a general discussion. Mrs. Edward Lee, a member of the committee in charge of this department, presided.

The tracing of the opera from its earliest history was considered at the meeting of the art department, at which Mrs. Duncan W. Taylor, chairman of the committee, presided. Three papers were presented as follows: "Forerunners of Italian Opera," Miss Ruth P. Maxson; "Florentine Reformers," Miss Florence Tweedy; "Italian Influence in Germany and England," Mrs. Evarts Tracy. A feature was the singing of old Italian airs by Mrs. Howard VanHouten Lewis, illustrating the subjects presented. There was also an informal discussion of the papers.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS ROUTINE BUSINESS

Joint Sewer Disposal System Matter Not Taken up at Last Night's Session.

An adjourned meeting of the Common Council was held last night presumably for the purpose of taking further action on the joint trunk sewer proposition, but the matter did not come up and little other business was transacted. It was said that steps were to be taken toward the purchase of the Darling farm, the site for the proposed disposal works, but the subject was not mentioned for some reason which was not explained.

A resolution offered by Councilman Francis J. Blatz and adopted, deeded back to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Hand certain rights on Leland avenue, obtained by the city some time ago with the idea of straightening a sanitary sewer line. Afterward it was found that the rights would not be needed and never will be and at the request of Mr. and Mrs. Hand it was deeded back so as to prevent any incumberance on their property. Accordingly a quit-claim deed was given.

R. E. Danforth, general manager of the Public Service Railway Company, in reply to a letter from the Council, stated that the necessary repairs to roadbed and tracks on Woodland avenue, which had been called to his attention, would be made at once.

Permission was given to Leo Slonim, the West Front street jeweler, to remove his street clock twenty feet east from its present position. He intends to remove his place of business in the near future, having leaesd his present place of business.

Mobus Brothers, contractors, were also given permission to remove a building from 926 Arlington avenue, a distance of 900 feet to a vacant lot, the usual bond being required to protect the city from any damage during the removal of the dwelling. The third quarterly report of Judge Walter L. Hetfield, of the District court, was presented and filed.

It is expected that some of the leading Hebrew citizens of the country will give weekly lectures, to which the public generally will be invited. These are the officers: President, A. Balinsky; vice-president, M. Baum; secretary, C. K. Levy; treasurer, H. Kline.

TILDEN TRUSTEE FILES AN ANSWER

DENIES WASTEFULNESS

Says Randolph Refused to Consider Nomination Other Than Made by Himself—No Monument Because No Suitable Site Offered.

New York, Oct 21—George W. Smith, the only surviving trustee named in the will of Samuel J. Tilden, filed in the Supreme Court yesterday his answer to the suit brought by George H. Tilden, Caroline B. Whittlesey, Susan T. Sabin and Anna Gould for his removal and the appointment of Cornelius B. Tyler, of Plainfield, N. J., in his place. The principal grounds, on which the suit was based were that Mr. Smith had failed to agree with the other trustee, L. V. F. Randolph, of Plainfield, on a successor to John Bigelow, that he was wasteful in managing the securities of the estate, and that he refused his consent for the erection of the Tilden monument which had been authorized under the will and for which plans had been drawn by the other trustees of the funds.

Mr. Smith asserted in his answer that the fault for not finding a successor for the trusteeship made vacant by the death of John Bigelow did not rest with him but with Mr. Randolph, who refused to consider all nominations other than those he made himself.

In regard to the erection of the Tilden monument Mr. Smith said that his only opposition to it was that the city had not as yet offered a suitable site, that in Madison Square not being sufficiently conspicuous. The charge of wastefulness he denied. Under an agreement of 1892, he said, George H. Tilden, Caroline B. Whittlesey and Susan Sabin each received $454,005 as a result of their contesting the will. It is in order that they may profit further, he charges, that they now bring the suit to oust him as trustee.

AUTO FIRE ENGINES TRIALS TOMORROW

Official Tests to Take Place Before National Underwriters' Board Experts.

The official test of automobile fire engines is announced for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Westervelt avenue bridge. It will be conducted under the direction of Mayor Percy H. Stewart, the Councilmanic fire and building committee and experts from the National Board of Fire Underwriters, of New York. So far as known three engines will be subject to test, the Nott, Saurer and LaFrance, although no official acceptance has been received from the last named company.

The representatives of the Nott and Saurer companies informed the committee that they would be ready at an hour's notice, but when the representative of the LaFrance company was in Plainfield last week he was not certain as to the possibility of sending an engine here tomorrow. The test will serve to guide the Common Council, the members of which are expected to be present, in the purchase of an engine. The committee is especially anxious to purchase the apparatus this year, money having been appropriated for the purpose. In case this is not done the money, it is said, will revert to the general fund of the city.

intended for debauching the electorate. Having made a study of political conditions, Woodrow Wilson determined that if it ever came within his power he would strike the shackels of slavery from the electorate just as Abraham Lincoln, when as a boy he witnessed a slave sale in New Orleans, made up his mind that if he ever got the power he would strike the shackels from the negro race.

Governor Fielder paid a fine tribute to his Progressive opponent, Everett Colby. He said that he had known him for a great many years, had served in the Legislature with him and knew that he was conscientious, upright and zealous in everything he advocated and on the other hand E. C. Stokes is the candidate of a party that is a protest against the element that now dominates the Republican party and is advocating the election of Stokes as Governor.

In closing he made a plea for the success of the Democratic Assembly candidates at the polls and if elected said he would bring every power and influence to bear, to keep the promises of his party.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A Republican campaign club has been organized in Somerville, with H. F. Moosbrugger as president, and J. W. Baldwin as secretary.

Governor Fielder had a big reception last night when he visited Somerville, and the armory was crowded where the speaking took place. There was an auto parade, with plenty of red fire, prior to the meeting. Mayor Steele presided, and after delivering a short address, introduced the speakers, among whom were Governor Fielder and Assemblyman A. M. Beekman.

The Republicans will have a big time tonight at Somerville, when former Governor E. C. Stokes addresses a meeting in the armory at that place. The committee in charge will try to surpass the Democratic demonstration of last night.

Members of the Plainfield and Jefferson Democratic Clubs, met at their respective headquarters last night and marched to the mass meeting at Saengerbund Hall. Accompanying the west end delegation were Assembly candidates Griffin and Leonard.

MRS. CHRISTIANA DURR.

At one time she took an active interest in social and charitable work at the German Reformed church. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at her late home. Interment will be made in Hillside.

STYLE—RELIABILITY

Fame is various. One man claims the wreath because he jumped from a certain bridge. Another for his ability to hold five men on his chest. Another will tell you that his product "made Milwaukee famous."

It is all a matter of mental attitude. Find the merchant who has the RIGHT attitude—who does not ask for the wreath because his business has been established since so-and-so—who does not trade on the past, nor his right to a place in the Blue Book.

Find the merchant who is not trying to GRAB, but who EARNS the wreath—by selling you a Rothberg Suit or Overcoat—at from $10 to $25, which is worth every dollar he asks you to pay for it—no less.

300 WOMEN HEAR MRS. PANKHURST

Militant Leader Cheered at Aldine Club Dinner.

MASS MEETING TONIGHT

First Lecture For Cause Will Be Delivered In Madison Square Garden, New York—She Will Leave For Cleveland on Thursday.

New York, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, freed from Ellis Island by a message from Washington after she had been ordered deported, landed in New York rejoicing and proceeded to the home of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, 477 Madison avenue.

Last night 300 prominent women tendered the militant woman a dinner at the Aldine club. Her appearance stirred a storm of applause.

A resolution was offered urging that a cable be sent to Premier Asquith in London asking why he did not seek to extradite Mrs. Pankhurst as a "criminal" and demanding evidences of her "crime."

Mrs. Pankhurst will deliver her first lecture at Madison Square Garden tonight. On Thursday she leaves for Cleveland.

The order freeing her was issued at the suggestion of President Wilson as the result of an overwhelming wave of public opinion in favor of the English suffragist. When Mrs. Pankhurst was told of the order she said she had expected as much, and then added:

"I think this is one of the greatest slaps in the face Great Britain ever had. Great Britain does not want me to tell the truth."

She next referred to Lord Asquith, prime minister of England, and Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, as the "chief torturers of women," and said McKenna is "pig headed, narrow minded and ignorant."

Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, ordered the release of Mrs. Pankhurst. The decision was at once telegraphed to Ellis island, where the little woman had been held.

Will Be Heard Tonight.

"I expected as much," she said. Announcement then was made that the mass meeting at which she is to speak will not be held at Madison Square Garden until tonight. The grounds on which the Ellis island board is overruled and Mrs. Pankhurst admitted to this country are:

First.—Because of doubt on the question of "moral turpitude."

Second.—Because she can be prosecuted in the United States courts if she violates the laws here.

Third.—Because she can be deported if she violates the law.

Although Mrs. Pankhurst had ordered luncheon on Ellis island, she did not wait for it when Byron H. Uhl, acting commissioner of immigration, sent word to her that she was free to go where she pleased.

"I knew it," she exclaimed. "I never had any doubt but that they would release me. Now, what time does the next boat for New York leave the island?"

"At 12:30," said a matron, who is an ardent suffragist.

"Then I will catch it," said Mrs. Pankhurst.

Bouquet From Mrs. Belmont.

As Mrs. Pankhurst ran toward the boat she carried two bouquets. One was of pink roses, a gift from Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and the other was violets, sent by an unnamed admirer. Two matrons lugging her suit cases followed. When she boarded the boat a number of newspaper men surrounded her.

"Now, then," she said to them, smilingly, "I will talk. But first I want to say that I was treated splendidly on Ellis island. Every one was very kind to me.

"The matrons there are splendid types of women. They represent the class of women who should vote. I have never seen better types."

"Did you try to win them over to the cause of suffrage?" she was asked.

"I did not have to do that," she replied. "They are good, sensible women who realize the trend of modern conditions. But let me tell you of my treatment on the island. It could not have been better. I was very comfortable there."

BRYAN STICKS TO PEACE PLAN

Believes Treaties Would Bring About Churchill's Object.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Commenting on Winston Churchill's offer to Germany of a year's "holiday" in naval construction today, Secretary Bryan expressed the opinion that the peace treaty plan would go far toward reducing armament programs by making war less probable. Mr. Bryan said he was in favor of anything which would lessen preparations for war.

The government of Portugal has asked Mr. Bryan for the details of his peace treaty plan and the government of Siam has indorsed the principle of the proposed treaty.

WHAT COLBY REPRESENTS.

Says the Lakewood Times and Journal:

"When the present campaign for Governor first opened the politicians of both the old parties made light of the nomination of Everett Colby for Governor, and the "old guard" Republicans declared that Colby's candidacy could serve no purpose but to help the Democrats. They do not feel that way now. The whole aspect of the campaign has changed. Colby's chances for election are brightening every day. He has both Fielder and Stokes on the defensive and he is speaking to crowds of people every day. What is still more important is the fact that they are listening to him and applauding his frank and sane propositions. The people are beginning to feel that his election would mean something for their uplift.

"Mr. Colby is making a thorough and systematic canvass of the State. He is practically going into every election district. He means to win if he can. He is standing for right things, for better living conditions; for better opportunity for all. Neither Mr. Stokes nor Mr. Fielder can gain anybody by speaking lightly of Mr. Colby's chances. People are thinking these days for themselves. They are not being led to the polls by machine leaders or methods as in the old days.

"Does anyone doubt that Mr. Colby is the intellectual and moral equal of either of the other gentlemen? Does anyone doubt that he is more free to do for the people than either of the other candidates? He has no old machine politicians behind him to demand that he do their will after election. Can the others say as much? The people realize the truth of these things and there is going to be a surprise in store for the old parties on election day. These are days of great political independence."

This is a fact. Colby is gaining votes every day notwithstanding Mr. Stokes, in his speeches, is trying to belittle his strength. The political conditions today are different from what they were some years ago. Partisanship does not count as it used to. The fact that a ma nis on a Republican, Democratic or Progressive party ticket does not matter.

It is the MAN who counts. What does he stand for? Is he sincere in what he professes to believe? Those are the questions the voters are asking, not to what party does he belong? This is the one hopeful sign of the Republic in our day.

Every one must admit that Everett Colby stands for the higher ideals in government. For better things. For man first and material things afterwards. For a true democracy in a Republican form of Government. For the people all the time. For the bosses never. For a Board of Guardians never. He believes that public officials should take their orders from the people, only, and never from a political machine or the special interests seeking government privilege. Is not that what the people of New Jersey want?

Step up to the box office and pay the price to hear an ex-convict give a tirade on equal suffrage ,the box receipts from which are to be applied to the cause of arson, felonious assault and other offenses in the land glad that it is rid of this unwomanly woman. P. T. Barnum said—well, you know what he said.

Mrs. Pankhurst scouted the charge that she had been imprisoned in her own country for an offense involving "moral turpitude" and yet when threatened with deportation she declared that she would begin another "hunger strike" which would end her life in a day.

There's a big lithograph of E. C. Stokes in a Chinese laundry window on Watchung avenue. John doesn't know what it's all about and can't vote, but he's like a whole lot of people who do this sort of thing to please a customer.

Henry Lane Wilson doesn't like William Jennings Bryan one bit, but the Commoner can find comfort in the fact that there are few real Americans who have any respect for the Huerta spokesman.

The Asbury Park Times has made its bow in the field of Jersey daily journalism. Judged by its initial issues, the people at the popular coast resort should be proud of it.

Martine is loyal to the Monroe Doctrine—Newspaper headline. Too bad James Monroe can't know that.

It was the Governor and the Tammany Boss—Sulzer and lemon. It proved a bad mixture.

John McLane, formerly of Paterson, and an employe of the Watchung Silk Company's mill in Watchung avenue, will be arraigned tomorrow morning before Recorder Gano, charged with impersonating a police officer. Weiss was informed of the attempted swindle by Mr. Brown.

PASTOR OF TRINITY GIVES TRAVEL TALK

Rev. John Y. Broek Vividly Describes Present-Day England and Scotland.

Speaking before a large and thoroughly enthused audience at Trinity church, last night, Rev. John Y. Broek, the pastor, gave the first of a series of lectures on his recent tour of Europe under the auspices of the Dutch Arms. Illustrated by numerous reflectroscopic views collected by Mr. Broek while he was touring Europe, the talk was highly interesting In taking his audience through England and Scotland the speaker outlined in a graphic way the characteristics of the inhabitants and the commercial advantages and disadvantages of each place he visited.

The colored views showed vividly the contrast between the American and English idea of dress, recreation and commerce and the geographical conditions existing in Scotland and England. The lecturer told how the natives of each of these countries spent their time, and their views on social functions, the latter being not altogether different from those of the American race. The peculiar mode of dress of the Scottish Highlanders and their methods of transportation were emphasized by him. The postal card views of England showed many of the world famous historic buildings and numerous English streets and business houses.

Dr. Broek described each of these views minutely, having been near the scene on which each was taken and therefore knew just how the picture corresponded with the genuine setting.

Previous to the lecture the Dutch Arms Club met in the church parlors and fourteen new members were added to the roster. Reports read by the officers showed the organization to be flourishing. It was originally planned to have the Dutch Arms band play at last night's lecture, but a large number of the members went to Saengerbund Hall to play at the Democratic rally and it was decided not to hold the proposed concert.

FATALLY STRICKEN WHILE AT HIS WORK

While seated in a room on the first floor of her home in Grove street shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, Mrs. George F. Brown, wife of the borough tax collector, heard a groan in a second story bedroom. There she found John Kline, 62 years old, of Somerset street, prone on the floor gasping for breath. Making the man as comfortable as possible she then summoned Dr. Daniel C. Adams by telephone, but before the physician arrived Kline had died. He was a victim of apoplexy.

For four years, Kline who has been sexton of Grace M. E. church, had been engaged by Mr. Brown to paper a bedroom. While at his work he was stricken. Chief Marshal George Weiss was summoned and arranged for the body's removal to the home. Dr. William Long, of Somerville, county physician, this afternoon granted a burial permit.

Born in Warrenville where he was widely known, Mr. Kline came to the borough twenty-five years ago. He was married on May 14, 1883, to his wife, who survived him, together with one daughter, Mrs. John Fritz, of West Fifth street, and a son, Raymond Kline. Somerset Council, Jo. O. U. A. M., of which Mr. Kline was a member, will attend the funeral. Interment will be made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

MRS. LINCOLN'S JEWELRY STOLEN FROM HER HOME

Miss Annie Lincoln had $250 worth of jewelry, including several diamond rings stolen about noon today, from her home at 110 West Fourth street while she was attending to her florist business in Park avenue.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Ernest Hand, of Netherwood avenue, arrested by Marshal Dennis, of North Plainfield, last Saturday charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws, received a suspended sentence of $10 fine when arraigned before Recorder Gano. "Wanamaker-Standard" Central Needle Sewing Machines represent the attainment of an unusually high standard of efficiency in the manufacture of sewing machines.

The Central-Needle

feature of the "Wanamaker-Standard" makes sewing less of a physical strain because the operator sits in a central position directly in front of the needle instead of having to bend over to the left—as is customary with other machines.

The Lock and Chain Stitch is another feature that appeals to the woman who wants to save time and energy. The highest possible speed with the least possible effort is obtainable with the "Wanamaker-Standard"—without jerks or without puckering or snapping the thread. The Princess model is housed in a dust-proof cabinet of seasoned wood to match any color scheme. $50 and $55.

Other "Wanamaker-Standard" Rotary Sewing Machines, $35 to $60.

Terms—Initial payment of $2, and $1 weekly thereafter. Demonstrations daily in the Housewares Store.

The $18.75 suits, for instance, do not remain here long enough for us to talk about them. But for tomorrow, Wednesday, we have received fresh from the hands of tailors who know Wanamaker specifications, a new group of fancy-tailored suits of fine quality serge, ornamented with braid.

At $16.50 there are plain-tailored suits of black or blue cheviot; at $12.75 men's wear serge or diagonal serge with fancy pleated back. Black and blue.

CONGREGATIONAL FEDERAL COUNCIL

New Statement of Doctrine Will Be Considered at Convention Opening.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 21.—All arrangements have been completed for the reception and entertainment of the delegates to the triennial session of the National Council of Congregational Churches, which commences here tomorrow. The delegates include many of the divines, educators and business men of the country. There are also delegates from Canada, Australia and Great Britain, together with missionaries of the denomination from all parts of the pagan world. Talks with the delegates already on the field give abundant evidence of a general expectation that the convention is destined to be the most important in the history of the church.

A new constitution, containing a new statement of doctrine, will be one of the first and principal matters to be considered by the National Council. If the constitution, so be voted on, is adopted by the council, which thus far has been purely an administrative body, will have its powers vastly increased. The constitution to be presented to the convention has been in process of construction for several years. The final draft, composed by a commission of nineteen members of the council, contains the following statement of doctrine, which is understood to be an adequate expression of the Congregational faith:

"We believe in God, the Father, infinite in wisdom, goodness and love and in Jesus Christ, His Son, Our Lord and Savior, who for us and our salvation lived and died, and liveth evermore; and in the Holy Spirit, who taketh of the things of Christ and revealeth them to us, renewing, comforting and inspiring the souls of men.

"We are united in striving to know the will of God as taught in the Holy Scriptures, and in our purpose to walk in the ways made known or to be made known to us. We hold it to be the mission of the Church of Christ to proclaim the Gospel to all mankind, exalting the worship of the one true God and laboring for the progress of knowledge, the promotion of justice, the triumph of peace, and the realization of human brotherhood.

"Depending, as did our fathers, upon the continued guidance of the Holy Spirit to lead us into all truth we work and pray for the transformation of the world into the Kingdom of God, and we look with faith for the triumph of righteousness and for life and glory everlasting. Amen."

It is proposed to create a secretary of the Council with large advisory powers. A committee to transact the business of the denomination between sittings of the council is to be considered. This committee, it is said, will not trespass on the authority of the local church. A commission of missions is proposed to consider some method for an effective supervision of the six denominational benevolences. Another question of moment to be considered at this gathering is that of theological seminaries. Congregationalists have at present but three seminaries for the training of their ministers in traditional ways, at Alanta, Ga., Bangor, Me., and Chicago. An effort may be made to start a movement for the establishment of one or more additional seminaries. Another question which may cause considerable discussion is the proposition of holding the meetings of the National Council every two years, instead of every three years as it has been customary.

Much interest is manifested in the coming election of a moderator and a secretary of the National Council. There are several candidates for each office and the outcome of the election is awaited with considerable interest by Congregationalists throughout the country. Among the principal candidates for the moderatorship are President Henry Churchill King, of Oberlin College; former Mayor D. Percy Jones, of Minneapolis, Minn.; Rev. Dr. Charles S. Mills, of Montclair, N. J.; Governor Baldwin, of Connecticut, and Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, now president of the Congregational Home Missionary Society.

The principal candidates mentioned for the secretaryship are Rev. W. H. Day, pastor of the First Church of Los Angeles, Calif.; Rev. Dr. William L. Barton, of Chicago, now active in Congregational journalism; Rev. Edward Lincoln Smith, lately of Seattle, but now with the American board, and Rev. Dr. Hubert C. Herring, of the Home Missionary Society.

The office of secretary, which is important as it is now, will be even more important if some proposed changes in the constitution are made, because under the new plan the powers of the secretary will be greatly enlarged and he will be made chairman of the proposed missions commission.

THE DAILY PRESS IN LINCOLN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by E. Purvis, newsdealer.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT-AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 21.

FROM an advertisement of The American Telephone and Telegraph Company I gather the information (which I must admit I wasn't aware of before) that Pheidippides, the most noted runner of ancient Greece, made a record and an everlasting reputation by speeding 140 miles from Athens to Sparta in less than two days.

The runner service of those days, which comprised men trained to perfection for the transmission of messages, was so costly that it could be used only in the interest of rulers on occasions of utmost importance.

Which suggests a train of thought that starts out to make a comparison between those days and the rapid-fire age in which we live, and winds up overwhelmingly partisan to the hustling times of Right Now.

Why, did it ever occur to you that you could employ the services of thousands of swift and sure messengers in this good old year of 1913 for about thirty cents. YOU CAN.

Here's the way it's done: You have a want. You wish other people to know about that want. You wish to reach quickly with that little message of yours as many people as it is possible to reach —and you don't want to wait two days to "get it across," either.

This is what you do: You call up or come to the office of this newspaper and insert a little WANT AD. in the Classified columns. Within 24 hours or less that want of yours has been carried broadcast and brought to the attention of more people than you could reach in any way other than through the columns of a newspaper in ten times the time or at a hundred times the cost.

Think that over. Then you'll come to the conclusion, as I have, that Pheidippides was all right in his day, but that you and I are living in a day of wonders about which the ancients did not even dare to dream.

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Russian Economy.

For some reason the only thing that most of us associate with Russian culinary products is Caviar—and perhaps the black bean soup and mouldy black bread that we imagine to be the year-in-and-year-out diet of the Russian peasants. Caviar is beyond the reach of most of us and fortunately the high price of living has not forced us Americans into eating black bean soup and black bread.

As a matter of fact the great middle class of Russians are as well fed as most of the rest of humanity and the economical Russian housewife can give us some excellent recipes.

How does this national soup size up with your idea of the black bean variety?

Russian Soup.

Take every kind of vegetable you can find; it doesn't make much difference what kinds you use—potatoes, beets, onions, beans, etc. Chop them and fry them together, a little of each, until they are tender. Then pour beef stock over them, add a little chopped parsley and chopped ham, and salt and pepper. Boil for half an hour, slowly. Then add a cupful of hot cream and serve immediately.

This soup is well worth trying as the main dish at luncheon or supper. Of course, it is too heavy to serve for dinner. The dinner soup should never be of the heavy sort. But dinner soup, appetizing and welcome as it may be, is, after all, a sort of perversion. Soup was originally intended to be, and still is among peasants, made the main dish of the meal. For such a soup Russian soup is admirable.

Fish.

One economy that the Russians do excell in is in the use of fish—of which they have a plentiful supply. Caviar, by the way, which consists of the eggs of a certain fish, received its treatment originally only as a means of preserving it, and the Russians are experts in various methods of preserving fish.

In the cooking of fresh fish the simple Russian housewife could probably give even a French chef points. After she has cleaned a large, whole fish, she boils it in water to which half a cupful of vinegar has been added with a few slices of lemon and a few of onion. After it has boiled twenty minutes she adds a generous lump of butter and lets it cook slowly until tender. The Russian serves this fish with a wonderful sweetened brown egg sauce, flavored with cinnamon, but for the American taste a plain brown sauce or any other fish sauce would be suitable.

Another delicious Russian fish dish is made with a mixture of shredded cooked fish and rice, spread on a thin pie crust, sprinkled with butter, rolled and baked brown. It is served hot with wine sauce.

Some Cookery Suggestions

VEGETABLE MARROWS.

DINNER MENU.
Potato Soup.
Boiled Fowl.
Boiled Rice.
Fried Marrows. Vegetable Salad.
Caramel Custard. Coffee.

AMONG the late vegetables the marrow is not so popular nor so well known as it should be. When young it is delicious fried in butter and prepared in other ways. The variety known as custard marrow excels in delicacy of flavor. It is round, looking something like a large apple. When cooked it suggests custard.

Popular Methods.

Boiled Marrows.—To boil vegetable marrows they should be cooked whole. When tender they should be peeled and have the seeds removed. Then they should be dished and coated with white sauce. When done in this way the flavor is good and they are not watery. The proper draining of vegetable marrows is often neglected when they are to be cut up in pieces before boiling.

Fried Marrows.—Cut a vegetable marrow into chips as for chip potatoes. Flour these and fry in deep fat. Drain thoroughly and serve on a hot dish with brown bread and butter and lemon.

Ways of Baking.

Baked Marrows.—Take any cold minced meat, a vegetable marrow, brown bread crumbs and some gravy. Split the marrow down the middle and remove the seeds. Prepare some minced meat and place this in the center of each half of the marrow. Secure the marrow with skewers and tape. Place in a baking tin and bake until tender. Sprinkle with brown bread crumbs. Serve with some good brown gravy.

Stuffed Vegetable Marrow.—Cut a vegetable marrow in two and remove the seeds. Prepare a forcemeat stuffing. Place this in the center and bind the marrow with tapes. Dust with brown bread crumbs. Bake in a well buttered dish for three-quarters of an hour and serve with white sauce or good gravy.

Forcemeat.—Place a teacupful of breadcrumbs in a basin, add half a teacupful of finely chopped suet, also seasonings of salt and pepper, a little marjoram, a slice of chopped onion and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Mix all together with an egg.

Daddy Asked About the Cats.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Pussy Cats In the Shop Window.

JACK and Evelyn were getting ready for bed. They had soft white nests to crawl into, yet sometimes it seemed to their daddy that a bed was the last place to which they cared to go.

"I'm afraid you would rather sleep in a tree or in a hammock on shipboard like the sailor boys," daddy suggested.

"A tree would be heaps of fun if you would build us a little house among the branches," Evelyn laughed.

"A hammock on a ship would be jolly," Jack agreed. "But of course I would want a hammock that wouldn't let me roll out."

"Well," spoke daddy, "you are not the only ones to prefer most any place but a bed for a nap.

"The other afternoon in the city I was walking along a quiet street when I noticed a crowd in front of an art store.

"When I reached the windows I peered over a man's shoulder.

"Stretched out close to the window pane were two big fat pussies. The window sloped toward the front, and the cats looked just as if they had gone to sleep after a roll down hill.

"One cat was gray, and the other was black and white, and the gray cat's paw was stretched out just as if he had been ready to scratch the nose of the other cat

"I went in to the shop to buy a bottle of india ink and asked the shopman about the cats.

"'Ah, yes,' he replied; 'the cats are great pets! We've had one of them three years and the other one a year. Their names are Tom and Ben.

"'They sleep in the window every afternoon. It's because of the sun, you know. The window is warm. Then the cats like to watch what is going on.

"'Ben is the older cat. Long before Tom came to the shop he had found out that the window was a good place to sleep in.

"'Tom was only a kitten when we got him, and Ben bossed him around a good deal. He wouldn't allow him to come into the window when he was there. Now that Tom is older, however, he can hold his own, all right. Of course there is always a good natured tussle. Sometimes they go to sleep before the scrap is over, just as they did today.'

"Then I paid for my bottle of ink and went out. I wondered if the pussies would not have been more comfortable on one of the nice cushions on one of the big chairs inside the shop.

"But, alas, the ways of pussy cats, like those of some little boys and girls, are past finding out."

OBSERVE TRAFALGAR DAY.

London, Oct. 21.—The 108th anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar, and the death of Lord Nelson was observed today on a scale larger and more impressive than on any occasion since the Navy League first undertook to make the anniversary a day of special significance. The Nelson Column in Trafalgar Square was covered with floral tributes from every part of the empire. Wreaths were also placed on the Nelson monument in St. Paul's Cathedral. A public demonstration was held in Trafalgar Square this afternoon and later the celebration of the day was concluded with a banquet.

TUNICKED AND PANNIERED IN MOST APPROVED FASHION

Winter frocks no longer suggest weight and warmth, rather filminess and sheerness. Everything must be diaphanous this season. This is especially true of indoor dresses, luncheon and tea frocks. Mousseline, tulle, voile, net and chiffon are the favored materials.

7922 is a most charming dancing dress. Plaited chiffon is hung over a delicate pink foundation of liberty satin. The shaped trimming band on the skirt is of pink chiffon bordered with pink and blue mousseline rose buds, with now and then a bud of bolder color for contrast. A collar of the pink chiffon is also edged with rosebuds. More vivid color is brought out in the broad folded sash.

A set-in sleeve is used and a three-piece skirt. The dress closes in the back.

This little dancing frock may be copied in size 18 with 4⅛ yards of 36 inch material.

In 7880 flowered chiffon is draped, pannier fashion, over plain satin, and the inset at the bottom of the skirt is of plaited chiffon. The dress is a peasant model, closing in the back. A surplice effect in the front, edged with a frill of plaited net, renders the blouse distinctive, and the wide, sharply contrasting girdle is another smart point.

To make a frock after this design in size 36 5¼ yards of 36 inch material is needed.

No. 7922—sizes 16, 17 and 18.
No. 7880—sizes 34 to 42.

Embroidered Tablecloth and Napkins

Household linens may be made very attractive by finishing their edges with plain scalloping and adding initials or monograms.

A monogram on a square tablecloth should be placed in one corner, about five inches from each hem or scalloped edge. On a round tablecloth, so that it will fall two inches over the edge of the table, when the cloth is in use. For marking napkins place the letters so that, when the napkin is folded four times, the letters will be in the center of the outside fold.

These initials, taken from pattern 14068 are particularly good for marking sets of linens. The pattern includes forty-two letters, five sizes of any one letter in a pattern; 12 each of ½ and 1 inch sizes, 6 each of 2, 3 and 4 sizes.

To form a three letter monogram you will have to buy three separate patterns.

Pattern 14406 contains two scalloped borders, 3-8 and 5-8 inch wide, 3 yards and 4 corners of each, appropriate for embroidering table-linens.

Patterns will be supplied to Daily Press readers for ten cents each.

"MAC" SAYS

THAT DEXTER TILT.

"Will the Dexters trim the borough crew?" said a football fan to us,
"It is a question," I replied, "I cannot will discuss."
"And do you mean," he made reply, "and do you mean to say
You cannot give me all the dope about this well known fray?"
"I do not know a single thing," I answered to the gent,
"And you could frisk me through and through and find me innocent,"
And as I spoke those words to him, he looked in blank amaze,
And there was wonder in his face, and gladness in his gaze.

Believe that and I will tell you another one.

We would have predicted something that would have made that gent feel wondrously good for the time being, but then dopesters are not infallible and the reaction might have been too great for the fan's constitution.

It is one safe bet, however, that if Holy Cross tribe puts up the same kind of a battle as it did against the crew of the steamship paddlers Saturday afternoon, the Perth Amboy immigrants will have to go some to swim to the surface of the whitewash can.

Have you ever noticed how those Plainfield High School boys complain after every contest. "Charley Horses" and bruises appear to have taken a particular liking to the red and blue representatives. All are sore and stiff following Saturday's struggle.

Once more we emphatically deny that Monroe Good, the former Plainfielder, made any appearance against the Army eleven at West Point Saturday. Despite repeated assertions to the contrary, the nearest Good got to the fray was a point very near the grandstand on the terra firma and that is just about one thousand miles nearer than a big majority of the so-called athletes in these diggings will ever get.

With the opening of the basketball season but two weeks in the grim future, the court athletes are getting their final instructions and followers of the popular indoor pastime are beginning to look forward to a busy session of their favorite sport.

By some peculiar coincidence three of the leading Plainfield and North Plainfield teams will get into action for the first time on the same night, no less a trio than North Plainfield High School, Hope Chapel and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax staging their opening tilts on November 1.

A bystander, hearing the racket over the news that Holy Cross had beaten the U. S. S. Washington crew Saturday afternoon, might have gotten the erroneous impression that it is something unusual for the locals to win a football game.

Doyle says hereafter it will be all wins and no defeats for his eleven. There are some that hope so, Doc, old man.

Speaking of loan sharks and other forms of manacles, the prisoner of Chillon never had anything on a football warrior who objects to being designated by a nickname.

Some wild men there are who do not object to being domesticated.

P. H. S. OPPONENT STARRING.

"Bull" Blodgett, the big High School of Commerce athlete of last year who appeared against the Plainfield High School team last spring as a catcher in a New York school uniform and who entered the Navy Academy this fall, has been selected as one of the three men to do the kicking for the Navy eleven during the present season. Blodgett is a powerfully built athlete and was for three years a member of the All-Scholastic eleven of the Metropolitan district. He is pronounced the best punter in the squad both as to distance and placing.

FORMER STARS RETURN.

Gardner Bristol and Frank Clarke, known as "Piggy" and "Shakey," respectively, during their local High School days, are visiting Clarke's parents on East Ninth street and in the meantime spending much of their time in renewing old school acquaintances. Clarke and Bristol took a prominent part in P. H. S. athletics of every branch while they lived here, but Bristol removed to Hartford, Conn., and Clarke took a position in Vermont.

A REST FOR P. H. S. ELEVEN.

No game has been scheduled for the Plainfield High School football team as is the regular mid-week custom, for tomorrow, and the athletes will welcome a rest after the gruelling struggle of Saturday afternoon. Although nothing definite has as yet been arranged it is probable that Manager Eynon White will be able to book the Chattle High School eleven of Long Branch for that date.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—In living in a two family apartment house, what rules apply to the tenants in keeping the halls, yard and porches clean and in cutting the grass and shoveling the snow?—F. P.

Answer—The landlord must make these regulations before the lease is signed by the tenant. You can probably adjust these difficulties through conferring with him.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Please tell me which is the swiftest bird?—B. S.

Answer—I know of no exact data which will enable us with certainty what bird is the fastest flyer, but in my own experience I have never seen birds that flew faster than certain species of "swifts."

Sporting Editor:

Query—What was the velocity of the wind during the storm on October 4?—C. A.

Answer—We keep no records of the winds but recollect that it was pretty speedy.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where is Clinton Farms, New Jersey —F. J. K.

Answer—There is no town or village in New Jersey called Clinton Farms.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How old must a boy be before he can leave school?—T. R. P.

Answer—He must be at least fourteen years old and must have completed the fifth grade.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly inform me where the town of Utopia is?—H. H.

Answer—Someone has been "kidding you along." Utopia means nowhere or something fanciful. The town is a myth.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How can I figure baseball percentages?—T. O. M.

Answer—This is a problem that troubles many a good authority on baseball and also many a mathematician. To find the standing of the teams divide the total number of games won by the total number of games lost, not including the tie games. To find the batting percentages, divide the number of base hits by the number of times at bat. To find the fielding percentages divide the number of chances accepted by the total chances, the chances accepted being the putouts and the assists and the total chances being the sum of these two plus the errors which were also chances. Be sure and always divide the smaller number by the larger one and carry your answer out into the thousandths by adding ciphers and pointing off the decimals.

An answer—If the person who wanted to know where he could dispose of a nineteen-pound turtle he caught in Green brook will communicate with James Babbitt, 74 Somerset street, the latter will examine the shelled fish and if it looks eatable will relieve the owner of his responsibility. "Jim" is anxiously awaiting the appearance of the fisherman. —Sporting Ed.

Sporting Editor:

Query—On what day did June 20, 1889, fall on?—C. F.

Answer—Thursday.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Let me know the prices of tickets for the Princeton and Harvard football game and where can they be procured?—T. O. H.

Answer—All tickets for the game cost two dollars. Have a graduate or undergraduate of one of the colleges secure a ticket for you. Then again you might take a chance and go to the game the day it is played and you may be able to get a ticket at one of the turnstiles. As a rule, however, all of the tickets are sold a week or so in advance of the game.

P. H. S. TENNIS MEET THE LARGEST EVER

Managed by Curtis Dall and Clement Moore the Tourney Is Now Underway.

Under the management of Curtis Ball and Clement Moore, the Plainfield High School's annual tennis tournament, open to male and female recquet wielders, is now well under way and the competition is the keenest ever developed under the red and blue. The school possesses an unusually large number of clever performers in this popular branch of out door sports and much depends on the ultimate outcome of this year's match as the agitation that has so long made itself felt for the organization of a tennis team to represent the institution in interscholastic competition has now come to a head and the available material will be singled out in this tourney. It is probable that the team will be selected as soon as the tourney closes and the players will be chosen upon the merit they show in the present competition.

The boys' singles is now well under way and the third round has been reached by William Beeken and Robert Blanchard. Forty-six athletes have entered the meet, this number including both girls and boys, and the entry list is by far the largest ever compiled for a P. H. S. tourney of this nature. The schedule of girls' doubles and singles opens today and the competition in this class will be held daily until the finals are reached.

HOBOKEN ELKS TOOK THREE GAMES ON RAHWAY ALLEYS

Bowling on the alleys of the Rahway Elks, the members of the Hoboken Elks quintet captured three games in a row last night in an Elks' League match. The scores, for the most part, were low. A striking exception was the tally of 230 to the credit of Mittelsdorf, Miller's 216 and Earle's 202. Here are all of the scores:

BISHOP ADVISED CLERGY TO BASEBALL LEAGUE METHODS

Indianapolis, Oct. 21—Bishop William F. Anderson, of Cincinnati, head of the conference in which Indianapolis is included, told a meeting of the Methodist men here Sunday that they must adopt the methods of major baseball leagues in working for the success of the national contention of Methodist men which is to be held here October 28 to 31.

"We are told that the science of baseball is the most perfect in existence," said Bishop Anderson. "This only goes to show what may be done with continued effort and unity of action. We men of the Methodist church must adopt the methods of the major leagues and work in unity with a certain aim in view. Our aim, as in baseball, should be to win, and we will win if you men will go into this game with the determination with which a professional baseball player enters a game of baseball."

More than 5,000 delegates, from all parts of the country, are expected to attend the convention.

NEWARK BUSINESS MEN RAISE $100,000 FOR CLUB

Newark business men, who are negotiating with Charles H. Ebbets for the purchase of 352 shares of the Newark International League Club, expect to secure control of the club by the end of the week. Thomas A. Blaney and Moe Reichman, representing the Newark business men's syndicate, held a conference yesterday with Mr. Ebbets for the purpose of looking over the stock, list of players, and title to the grounds, with a view to agreeing upon a satisfactory price.

Last week Mr. Ebbets, who with the McKeever brothers and Henry Medicus own 352 of the 400 shares, offered to dispose of the entire interest of the Brooklyn club owners in the Newark club for $111,936. This price is considered excessive, although enough money has been subscribed in Newark to cover this amount. The conference proved satisfactory to the Newark representatives, who will report to a meeting of subscribers in Newark tonight, when a final offer will be made to Mr. Ebbets. It is thought that a flat sum of $100,000 will be offered, and it is generally understood that this will be accepted.

MOTOR SPARKS

Loaded with three passengers and 1200 pounds of baggage, a powerful Oldsmobile has completed a trip from Maryland City to Seattle, after three months on the road. J. A. Snyder, special representative of an eastern concern, was the driver; and he carried several thousand toy balloons which were released along the way for advertising purposes.

When the Ford Motor Company closed its business for the year on September 30, approximately 325,000 model T Fords were in use throughout the world, by far the larger part being driven in the United States of course.

What this really means is simply dazzling when the concrete figures are considered. It means, if all the machines were owned in this country, that there would be one for one person in each 275 in the nation.

In the year which just closed the company built up towards the 200,000 mark which had been predicted. No announcement has been made yet regarding the production for 1914, but from the active manner in which construction is being rushed on the big additions to the plants at Detroit, and also the number of assembling plants being erected throughout the country, it is apparent that the company is preparing for a big production year.

Alexander M. Inderbitzen has just returned to New York after an 8,000-mile motorcycle tour of England.

The Chanute (Kan.) Daily Times uses a motorcycle for rushing proofs from the newspaper office to advertisers.

In recommending the purchase of a motorcycle for the plumbing division of his department, Water Commissioner Blanke, of Fort Worth, Tex., said that the use of a motorcycle would mean the saving of the services of one man and three horses in the department.

A number of members of the St. Joseph (Mo.) Motorcycle Club will ride to Chicago to attend the Motorcycle show, November 3 to 8.

Three hundred and sixty-three miles in fourteen hours and forty-five minutes is the record of August Zimmerman, of Baltimore, Md., in a recent motorcycle run from Springfield, Mass., to Baltimore.

E. W. Vanderfield, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has just completed a 1,000-mile motorcycle tour of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

During the recent national road congress held in Detroit hundreds of the delegates visited the plant of the Ford Motor Company to see the Ford cars in the making.

The delegates were unanimous in declaring that the Ford car had done more to wake up the farmer on the good roads question than any other single agency.

"In any prosperous farming region," declared one prominent delegate from the middle west, "you will find a majority of the farmers driving Ford cars. And as soon as a man gets a motor car he begins to boost for good roads, no matter how long he refused to do anything in this direction when he drove a rig. This has crystalized sentiment for better roads and has led to the many big appropriations being made by the western states for the improvement of the highways, not only the trunk lines but the connecting roads as well."

—In "learning to buy" the ad-reading housewife does not seek mere price-concessions. These are sought, of course; but they must apply to goods that would be value at "regular" prices.

GLADYS RAVENSCROFT.

She Has Won Golf Championship From Marion Hollins.

Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, who defeated Miss Marion Hollins for the United States golf title, will be at the Brookline Country club today. On Thursday the English champion will play at Garden City, she having accepted an invitation extended by Miss Hollins and Miss Lillian B. Hyde. Miss Mabel Harrison, the Irish champion, and the Canadian representative have also been invited.

FISHING NOTES

Long Island fishermen are picking up a few stray bluefish, as well as a number of large weakfish. Surf fishermen on Long Beach are catching both at night with mullet for bait.

The Rockaway fishing piers are well patronized these nights. Fluke are caught, along with a few whiting. Weakfish are in Jamaica Bay and flounder fishing is improving every day.

The real fall hunting season opened in Pennsylvania, Thursday, when it became legal to hunt squirrels, pheasants, Hungarian partridge, rabbits and woodcock. The open season for quail begins November 1 and that for deer on November 20. It is estimated that fully 200,000 licenses will be issued to hunters this year. Just about the time the Pennsylvania game is about gone the New Jersey season opens and then the gunners flock over the border for our game.

WILL USE P. H. S. "GYM."

Contrary to expectations, the Plainfield High School basketball team will use the P. H. S. gymnasium for practice and competitive games during the coming season. It was at first thought that building operations would interfere with the basketball playing at that place and that the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium would have to be used until the new one was finished.

HOLY CROSS PRACTICE.

Members of the Holy Cross football team are requested to turn out for the regular weekly practice to be held tonight under the auspices of Coach P. V. Martin. All of those contemplating getting into Saturday's game with the Vikings should be on hand at this time.

ELKS GAMES OFF.

Owing to the uncompleted condition of the new Elks' alleys in the recently erected club house on Watchung avenue, the contests scheduled to be rolled there in connection with the Elks' Bowling League tonight with New Brunswick, have been indefinitely postponed.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The Lafayette Amusement Company presents J. Leubrie Hill and the Darktown Follies in "My Friend from Kentucky," a company of fifty lively colored entertainers who give a real colored musical comedy, replete with songs and dances, quartet singing, plantation and coon melodies. J. Leubrie Hill plays the part of Mandy Lee, an old Mammy, and instead of burlesquing the part as is customary with colored comedians, he plays the part as a character comedy part, and there is nothing broad or offensive in his manner. Mr. Hill wrote the music book and lyrics of "My Friend from Kentucky," also the author of "Over the River," Eddie Foy's latest starring production. There is a capable company supporting Mr. Hill including such well known colored celebrities as Happy Julius Glenn, Abbit Mitchell, Brown and Gaines, Theo. L. Pankey, Evon Robinson, Jennie Schefer Haston, Johnnie Peters, Lillian Bradford, Alice Ramsey, Eugene Perkins, Daisy Brown, Eddie Stafford and a singing and dancing chorus of forty pretty dusky belles and beaux. The company will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night.

It has come as a surprise to the many followers of Cosmo Hamilton in this country that the original suggestion for the dramatization of "The Blindness of Virtue," which will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, Thursday night, October 23, came from the Bishop of London. Up to recently it was presumed that the play, which deals with sex education and attracted profound attention in England and this country, was the result of the author's wish to evolve the question on the stage, but that the suggestion came directly from the noted English churchman became known recently when Mr. Hamilton revealed a conversation he held with the Bishop of London last year abroad. "The bishop read the book," Mr. Hamilton asserts, "and it made such an impression on him that he wrote to me and asked me to call on him, and in the conversation which took place he declared that an excellent idea for a play was in the book and that the purpose for which it was written should be given the opportunities of the stage. He was kind enough to say that I had given the problem of sex education the most intelligent treatment he had received and he wanted me to carry on the good work. I demurred at first, the subject seemed rather difficult to deal with in the drama, but it is so important, of such vital interest to humanity in general and every father, mother and child, that I determined to act on the bishop's suggestion. To my surprise I found that it worked out much better in the drama than in the book, that the lesson I sought to express could be presented not more delicately, but more forcibly. I wrote the play on the proposition that mothers should be interested for their daughters. Strange to say some of the newspapers scoffed at the idea while the churchmen were all very strong for it. I have been tremendously impressed with the fact that in America the mothers have crowded the matinees, bringing their daughters with them, and I have received thousand of letters from mothers asking for the opportunity of letting their clubs and societies in the work."

GILBERT'S PLAN TO STOP PANICS

Rediscount Through Central Bank a Sure Preventive He Says.

NEEDED IN THE PAST

Plainfielder Gives His Views to the United States Senate Banking and Currency Committee at Washington.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Alexander Gilbert, of Plainfield, N. J., president of the Fulton Market National Bank, of New York, told the Senate Banking and Currency Committee yesterday that the existence of a proper and substantial central bank for the rediscount of prime commercial paper would have averted every panic that has taken place in the American financial world since he entered business life more than fifty years ago. Mr. Gilbert said in answer to a question by Senator Bristow:

"I have weathered every financial panic since the Civil War—1873, 1893 and 1907 and the minor panics and financial stringencies intervening between these great crises—and with a powerful central institution with the legal right to issue currency upon the collateral of good commercial paper rediscounted therein every one of these panics could have been averted and the stringency relieved without the terrible losses in money and credit that have come with them."

Mr. Gilbert produced figures to show what effect the organization of the projected regional bank system would have. He urged on the committee the unwisdom of attempting the organization of twelve banks on the basis provided by the Glass-Owen bill. He said he had prepared a table showing just what capital would be available in the six great subdivisions of the United States used by the Comptroller of the Treasury in his annual report.

These figures showed that the capitalization for the regional bank for New England will be $10,000,000, for the middle States with New York as its centre $33,600,000, for the Southern States $11,000,000, for the middle West with Chicago as the centre $25,000,000, for the Western States, including the Rocky Mountain regions, $7,200,000, and for the Pacific coast, $8,900,000.

"It is obvious from these figures," said Mr. Gilbert, "that twelve regional banks under no circumstances could be established on the capital basis provided in the pending bill."

He then produced other figures to show that in the development of the new financial system there must be produced a vast increase in the amount of rediscounting business else the regional banks would be unable to make sufficient profit to pay more than the running expenses of the institutions out of rediscounting business.

"There is a total of only $108,000,000 in annual rediscounting at present in the United States," he said. "Of this $63,000,000, nearly three-fifths of the total, is in the Southern States, where by reason of inadequate capital and the fact that the country is in the process of development there is a need for the rediscounting of paper."

He acknowledged that in the nature of things there would be an increase with proper rediscounting banks established, but he doubted if the regional banks would pay dividends for some time.

BURGLARIES CONTINUE IN WEST END OF CITY

Another burglary was added to the already long list on the police blotter alleged to have been committed during the past few days, when Joseph Young, who conducts a boarding house in the Vail homestead on Clinton avenue, reported this morning that his house had been entered some time during the night and $18 taken.

In detailing the men to their various posts last night Captain Frederickson issued strict orders to keep a vigilant lookout for thieves as many property owners have asked the police to station men in the vicinity of their premises.

Although the police are working diligently to unearth a clue to the miscreant who has been working with great success during the dark hours of the night but no one who could be connected with the robberies has as yet been apprehended. Detective Sergeant Flynn is of the opinion that the looting is the work of one person and he yesterday arrested a Polish man who gave his name as John Vengowriki who claimed he had come here from Paterson in search of work. No evidence warranted his detention, however, and he was released at nightfall.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE ENTERTAINMENT

HEAR MISS CHITTENDEN

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, a delightful musicale and tea was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pierre Malli, on East Front street. Another feature was the presence of Miss Alice Hill Chittenden, president of the New York association, who made an address at the conclusion of the program.

The musical program, given in a faultless manner, was a sfollows:

Praeludium, (Op. 1, No. 1), Improisation (No. 7) Haldan Cleve, and The Brook, Miss Edith Mellick; Florians Song, Goddard; Four Leaf Clover, Whitney Coombs; Obstination, Fontainaille; Widmung, Schumann; Ich liebe Dich, Grieg; Stille sicherheit, Franz, Randall H. Trumphy; Berceuse, Goddard; Swan Song, Saint-Saens; Cantilena, Golteman; Romance, Van Goens; Song Without Words, Davidoff, Udo Gossweiler; Kreisleriana, Schumann, Mrs. Harry Johnson.

Miss Chittenden, in speaking on the subject of suffrage, said that there is too much appeal to the emotions on both sides in arguing the question. "Changes in government should not be made lightly or on insufficient grounds," said Miss Chittenden. "The changes in the conditions surrounding women are due to the education of public opinion.

"Property rights, higher education, admission to various employments and professions, etc., have all been brought about without the ballot. The vote would be only a burden or responsibility imposed rather than a privilege granted. In California it has been proved that granting the vote to women has lessened the percentage of the vote cast, showing if the women voted as they probably did that the men shirked their duty. As one man expressed it, the stock was watered.'

"In reply to the charge that a democracy calls for the vote of every citizen, ours is not a pure democracy, but a government by representatives. Democracy did not consist in casting the vote but in the true spirit of motherhood and that was manifesting itself in the laws for common good, the united efforts for improving conditions, the closer drawing together of the churches; the public school systems and all such manifestations of a common interest in the common welfare.

"All arguments against equal suffrage go along two lines—governmental and biological. We have proved that the male suffrage statesman passed quite as good and in most instances more and better laws for the protection of women and children as the suffrage States. Judge Lindsey said in a suffrage meeting:

"'A year ago the government in Denver was absolutely rotten and we had to start a third party to clean things up.' Some one in the audience asked, 'Had not the women voted for nineteen years,' and he said, 'Yes,' and went to another subject.

"True progress can only proceed along natural lines. Civilization has more differentiated man from woman and it is the reverse of progress to attempt to stop that differentiation. This is an age of specialization and the functions of men and women are becoming more specialized. Women work by feeling, men by action, women by intuition, men by reason. Women are conservers of energy, men are distributors of it.

"We must have that vote so as to get rid of sweat-shop labor," some one has said. "The way to get rid of it is for every woman to refuse to buy any garment not bearing the label of the Consumer's League or a trades-union label. We must have the vote to get rid of the social evil. Jane Addams and Reginald Kaufman say: 'Sixty-nine percent of the unfortunates come from domestic service' and Mr. Kaufman gives as the reason, the loneliness and unattractive surroundings of the average servant in the homes where only one servant is kept."

Miss Chittenden concluded by asking, "If suffrage coming?" and ringing, "No!" elicited a storm of applause. "It must not come," she said. "It will not come if every woman who believes that it is a menace will do her share in working against it."

Recent Progressive Legislation Stokes Says Are Republican Measures.

DIETZ IS TIRESOME

DeMeza Gets Applause—Ackerman Acts as Chairman—William Newcorn and Harry W. Evans Give Short Talks.

Edward C. Stokes, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, although not scheduled originally to speak in Plainfield during the campaign, his dates being reserved for county seats, broke this rule last night, when he addressed a capacity audience at the Plainfield Theatre. It was expected that he would reach here about 9 o'clock, but it was an hour later before he arrived.

In the meantime the local committee, of which John J. Carroll is the chairman, had some difficulty in entertaining the crowd until the principal speaker could get here. Congressman Dietz, of New York, was on the platform, and he was called upon to fill the "gap." That he failed was a big disappointment not only to the committee, but the audience. He may be thoroughly posted on Congressional affairs, but he showed a lack of knowledge concerning State or local conditions, and after he had talked more than a half hour, the audience began to weary and it was quick to show its disapproval.

Failing to hold his audience, the speaker began to tell stories. He was no more successful in this respect and the continued "applause" finally compelled Mr. Dietz to take his seat, which he did good naturedly. William Newcorn, City Judge William G. DeMeza, who by the way received as great an ovation as the gubernatorial candidate, and Major William B. Martin, one of the Assembly candidates, came to the rescue and held the attention of the audience until Mr. Stokes arrived.

As chairman of the city committee, John J. Carroll opened the meeting and made a few remarks in which he spoke of the bright prospects for Republican victory on November 4.

MINISTER TO SPEAK FOR PROGRESSIVES

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton to Make Political Address in North Plainfield.

The borough Progressives will hold a mass meeting in Debele's Hall on Chatham street on Friday night. Among the speakers will be Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of Watchung; Philip J. Roosevelt, of New York, cousin of Col. Roosevelt, and George T. Hughes, the Progressive candidate for the Assembly in Somerset county. Former Mayor Moy, of Plainfield, is also expected to make an address.

County Chairman C. C. Kenyon, of Somerville, is authority for the statement that the Bull Moose adherents have a big surprise in store for both the old parties on election day. An active campaign has ben carried on for two weeks and the fight will be pushed even more vigorously from this date on. The "Flying Squadron," composed of four big automobiles carrying the county candidates and friends has visited nearly every part of the county and has everywhere been well received. Support has been promised not only by former Republicans but also by many Democrats.

Monday night the squadron visited Basking Ridge and Bernardsville. Mr. Hughes and Dr. Eaton spoke.

"I find great interest in the Progressive plan to reduce the tax rate on improvements and increase it on land values," said Mr. Hughes today.

"Not only in the towns but in the country the people are talking about it. The proposition to amend the election so as to provide for an open primary is also proving very attractive."

Among the farmers the suggestion of Mr. Hughes for a law licensing and regulating commission houses is approved.

"When I have commented on the fact," he continued, "that under the present system farmers have often shipped a consignment to a commission house only to receive a bill instead of a remittance with the explanation that the shipment did not bring enough to pay carry charges, I have been repeatedly interrupted by a producer who acknowledged that this very thing had happened to him."

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 49 degrees; 11 a. m., 59 degrees; 1 p. m., 60 degrees.

Miss Catherine Hummell Stackpole, daughter of former Postmaster Edward J. Stackpole, publisher of the Harrisburg Telegraph, was married to Walter Bruce Caldwell, formerly of this city, but now of Sharon, Pa., in the Market Square Presbyterian church, Harrisburgh, last night, in the presence of a large and fashionable assemblage.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Stackpole as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were: Miss White, Holyoke, Mass.; Miss Clapp, Ithaca; Miss Masters, Washington, and Miss Susanna Westbrook, Pittsburgh. Miss Margaret Fishburn, of Washington, and Miss Frances Caldwell, of New York, were flower girls.

STOKES AT SOMERVILLE.

Former Governor Stokes received an immense ovation last night when he addressed a meeting of Republicans at the armory, in Somerville. The hall was crowded to the doors, and considerable enthusiasm was evident. Former Judge Clarence E. Case presided at the meeting, and the other speakers included Ogden H. Hammond, candidate for the assembly; Charles P. Sebring, candidate for sheriff, and A. G. Anderson, candidate for county clerk. A short parade preceded the meeting.

Franklin W. Fort Discusses Modern Ways of Getting Rid of Garbage.

HE ESTIMATES COST

Under Auspices of Trade Board Lawyer Tells About Contract System—Dutch Arms Band Provides the Music.

Responding to an invitation extended by the local Board of Trade in behalf of citizens interested in the movement for municipal control of garbage and ashes collection and disposal, Franklin W. Fort, of East Orange, who has made a thorough study of the matter, last night, discussed the subject before an interested audience in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. President William Jeffery, of the Board of Trade, presided at the meeting. Following Mr. Fort's address, many of the audience asked questions on the subject which were answered by the speaker.

Mr. Fort said in part: "The ways of collecting and disposing of garbage are as numerous as the towns which have a systematic method of getting rid of this refuse and in my investigation I found no two towns using the same method. As an example of the manner in which the system varies we can take Newark, which has municipal contractors and compare it with Glen Ridge which has a private collection. In Newark everything is taken by the municipal contractor while in Glen Ridge the municipality licenses one contractor and a maximum is fixed for his charges.

"The next step is having the garbage disposal and collection taken charge of by a municipal contractor and the ashes in a private manner, leaving the latter entirely to the householder. The next step is the awarding of a municipal contract which is in use in most towns having a population of over 10,000 and in all places, with the exception of Plainfield, having a population of over 20,000. In my home town of East Orange the municipality has three systems of collection and the

MOSCOWITZ ARRAIGNED FOR CRUELTY TO HORSE

Driving a horse that could hardly walk, Frank Moscowitz, of 525 West Third street, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning charged with cruelty to animals. He signed the necessary papers consenting to the shooting the animal, and Patrolman Saunders, who made the arrest, acted as executioner.

Moscowitz keeps a butcher store at 525 West Third street. He said he purchased the horse a week ago from a Somerville man for $35, but this story is not believed by the police, as the man could not tell the name of the person he made the deal with.

SAURER COMPANY MAY BE DROPPED

International Motor Concern Interests Clash and Break May Occur Friday.

NEED LARGER CAPITAL

Controlling Body Employs "Steam Roller" Methods to Keep Minority Stockholders From the Meeting—Will Apply for Receiver?

Controlling interests of the International Motor Company, which has a plant on West Front street, resorted to "steam roller" methods yesterday afternoon at a special meeting to raise $1,200,000 additional working capital. While twenty-five minority share-holders clamored for admittance the management merely opened the session and abruptly adjourned until Friday, without permitting one minority share-holder to get into the meeting room. The waiting minority were not aware that the meeting had been held until voting trustees and their representatives brushed passed them and rushed into the elevator.

When F. J. Reiriegel, attorney and leader of the minority stockholders, approached Vernon Monroe, secretary of the company, and asked him when the meeting would be held he was informed that it was all over and had been adjourned until Friday morning at 11 o'clock, but could not secure any reason for the adjournment, although he was informed that the fact that newspaper reporters accompanied the minority stockholders was the cause for the action.

Prior to the session the minority stockholders held a two hours' meeting when they aired their grievances and on behalf of his clients Mr. Heiriegel stated that they had been led eo believe that the company would apply immediately for a receivership if this $1,200,000 was not obtained. Mr. Butler one of the committee and an original stockholder of the Mack Motor Company, said that he thought the Mack firm had made a mistake at the time of consolidation in taking in the three companies, particularly the Saurer. He said that all the company claimed to have was $2,800,000 assets, this fact was far from plausible. One of the stockholders declared that he believed the new loan would be dissipated by the management, had no definite idea of what was going to be done and considered cutting out the Mack and Saurer.

HOW INCOME TAX AND TARIFF AFFECT YOU

The widespread interest awakened locally in the tariff law and income tax by the Plainfield Trust Company's action in printing these in book form for general distribution has created a demand for an analysis of the income tax which shall state concisely and clearly its provisions as they affect the average business man.

Such a pamphlet is now in course of preparation by the Plainfield Trust Company and will be available for those who are interested within a week. As soon as it is received from the printer notice of the fact will be given in these columns.

George H. Parker, 54 years old, of 558 West Fifth street, who was arrested last night by Patrolman Wicht, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was fined $8 by City Judge DeMeza when arraigned this morning fo rsentence. He claimed that if set free for several hours he could get the amount of the fine, but when the police refused to do this volunteering to send for any person he wanted Parker said he would serve the forty days in the County jail, which was the alternative condition of the sentence.

SUIT REVEALED A DIVORCE CASE

Tompers Fails in Attempt to Get Property Now in Wife's Name.

FARM NEAR THIS CITY

Newark Oct. 22 (Special)—Julius Tompers, formerly a resident of this city, engaged in business in New York as a clothing cutter, was the complainant in a suit in chancery here today before Vice-Chancellor Stevens, brought against his wife, Mrs. Beulah Hickman Tompers, for the conveyance of a farm in Fanwood Township, and it developed later in the day that Mrs. Tompers has filed papers in a suit for divorce from her husband, alleging extreme cruelty.

The testimony in the Tompers suit showed that he and his wife were married at Oxford, Md., July 18, 1910, that he held a position in New York under a three-year contract at $3,400 a year, and after acquiring the thirty-four-acre farm in Fanwood Township he conveyed it to his wife, it being understood that she was to operate the same until his contract expired in New York. It was incorporated as the Beulah Farm. Now Tompers wants the farm back.

Tompers admitted that there was no written agreement, that Mrs. Tompers held 98 of the 100 shares, the balance being held by two qualified directors, neither one of which was Tompers. At the expiration of his contract in New York, Tompers renewed a contract for three years at a salary of $4,420 a year. He has been contributing a nominal sum weekly toward the support of his wife.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens informed William Newcorn, of counsel for Tompers, that he would dismiss the bill, but that he would allow him twenty days to amend it if he desired.

The suit for divorce instituted by Mrs. Tompers is brought through her counsel, Charles J. Roe and Edmund Johnson, of Jersey City: In her affidavit, Mrs. Tompers alleges extreme cruelty and a generally unhappy life. She declares that her husband said that he hated to see her, that there were other women he liked better and that he made fun of her clothes. On one occasion, she says, her husband wanted her to go to Florida, adding that he would then desert her.

TRIAL OF PAPALILLO TO BEGIN ON MONDAY

Mateio Papalillo, of West Third street, who last April was arrested for the murder of Thomas Deers, colored, a neighbor, following a quarrel, will be tried for the crime the second time on Monday, in the County Court at Elizabeth. On trial last summer, with Victor D'Alola, of Newark, as his counsel, the defense caused a surprise by claiming that another Italian had stabbed Deers to death and had escaped to Europe. The jury disagreed and Papalillo has been in jail since.

A panel of forty citizens was selected by the sheriff and a jury of twelve will be selected by Justice Bergen preceding the trial on Monday. Among the Plainfielders on the panel are Andrew C. Carpenter Roger W. Erickson and Adolph C. Niedermeyer.

TO BUY MORE TYPEWRITERS FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL USE

Routine business occupied the attention of the Plainfield Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting held in the Plainfield High School last night and despite the fact that many anticipated the selection of a site for a proposed new school building nothing was done in the matter. This matter will probably come before the attention of the board at the November meeting.

Included in the routine business was the authorizing of the finance committee to purchase seventeen typewriters for use in the commercial rooms of the new High School which is rapidly nearly completion.

EVERY STREET IN PLAINFIELD

Has Its Share of the Proof that Kidney Sufferers Seek.

Backache? Kidneys weak?

Distressed with urinary ills?

Want a reliable kidney remedy?

Don't have to look far. Use what Plainfield people recommend. Every street in Plainfield has its cases.

Here's one Plainfield man's experience.

Let C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, of 411 East Third street, tell it.

Says Mr. Treat: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not get relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made me feel like a different man. I got this remedy at Randolph's Drug Store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

STYLE—RELIABILITY

One Price

THE ONLY RECOGNIZED BASIS OF CONFIDENCE.

THE LEADING MERCHANTS in every community, the sound substantial men who have helped to create and build up commercial strength and standing, the men who contribute time, thought, energy and money to their city's advancement along commercial and other lines—long ago recognized the POSITIVE BUSINESS-BRINGING VALUE OF THE ONE PRICE SYSTEM, and that thru its application the only direct road to permanent success is kept open to them.

ONE PRICE inspires confidence; it creates a feeling of security and satisfaction in the customer's mind; it removes every vestige of doubt to the merchant, it gives stamina and prestige; plainly marking his merchandise at a fixed price assures equal consideration for every customer.

WORLD W. C. T. U. MEET.

White ribbons will flutter in Brooklyn tomorrow. Women of every creed and station, wearing the snowy badge of the Women's Christian Temperance Union attached to emblems from every land and from every State in the Union and every Province of Canada, will gather in the "City of Churches" for the opening of the ninth triennial convention of the World's W. C. T. U.

Great Britain and her colonies sent the largest delegation from across seas. The delegation is headed by Lady Aurea Howard, daughter of the world's president, the Countess of Carlisle. The latter found it impossible to come to the convention on account of ill health and in her absence the sessions will be presided over by her daughter. Other prominent delegates from England are Lady Hope, the leader of the movement for the establishment of coffee houses in England; Miss Agnes Slack, an honorary secretary of the world's body, and Miss Amie Strankie-Cameron, who is world's secretary of the Young People's Branch.

Miss Ellen M. Stone, the famous missionary who was captured and held for ransom by brigands in Macedonia, will sit in the convention as the representative of Bulgaria. The Australian delegation is headed by Lady Holder, the president of the organization in that part of the world. Scotland and South Africa have sent good-sized delegations, and far-away China, Japan, India, Argentine and Uruguay will have their representatives; also many other countries.

The sessions proper will begin in the Brooklyn Academy of Music Friday morning, when the delegates will be welcomed by Mayor Adolphe L. Kline, Borough President Lewis H. Pounds, of Brooklyn, and Williams A. Marble, president of the Merchants' Association of New York. The sessions will continue until next Tuesday. Sunday will be the big day of the convention. On the morning of that day the pulpits of many of the leading churches in Brooklyn and Manhattan will be occupied by prominent speakers attending the convention. In the afternoon a great mass meeting will be held in the Academy of Music in Brooklyn.

The present year marks the fortieth anniversary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which had its origin in a great temperance movement which swept the United States in 1873. It was not until some years later, however, that the world organization was formed under the leadership of Miss Frances Willard. The first general convention of the World's W. C. T. U. was held in Boston in 1891 and the second in Chicago during the World's Columbian Exposition. London had the convention next in 1895, then Toronto in 1897, Edinburgh in 1900, and Geneva in 1903. It returned to Boston again in 1906, went to Glasgow in 1910, and Brooklyn was selected for 1913.

When the American Packer's Association met at Chicago last month it made a move which if carried out will go a long way toward reducing the high cost of living. They declared against the unnecessary slaughter of heifer calves as a step in a campaign of education inaugurated to prevent a further shortage in the country's meat supply. Farmers were also urged to go into the business of raising hogs for the market on a large scale, the present high price of pork being offered as an inducement to make it profitable. Such action on the part of the packers makes it evident that they are becoming alarmed about the country's meat supply, and feel that urgent steps must be taken to increase the output.

It was even suggested that legislation be enacted in the various States to prevent the needless slaughter of live stock, which is now curtailing the production of future supply. It is quite evident that some action will have to be taken and speedily, or the large majority of the people of the nation will have to become vegetarians by force of circumstances.

President Wilson, following the example set by former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, has placed noted newspapermen at responsible posts in this country and abroad. He made Josephus Daniels Secretary of the Navy and others of his standing in the business he appointed to high positions. But why has he overlooked Edward M. Scudder, of the Newark Evening News. That splendid paper has been his ablest and most powerful advocate and defender since the day he stepped into the political limelight. Its owner is what may be termed a big man and his services should be recognized.

Former Congressman Dietz told the voters how this country is going to go to the "bow-wows" under the new tariff law. If all the men in Congress were of his degree of statesmanship, it would go to the bad without any legislation to hurry it along on that road.

Stokes talked for almost half an hour at the Republican mass meeting and only mentioned the name of Abraham Lincoln once. This is a fact.

Nobody at the G. O. P. mass meeting need be told why Dietz was retired from office.

If the Republican State Committee is wise, it will ship former Congressman Dietz back to New York State. His exhibition as a campaigner at last night's mass meeting convinced the local Republican leaders that they had been handed a lemon.

The attendance at the Board of Trade last night conclusively demonstrated that the people of this city are interested in the proposition for the municipal control and disposal of garbage.

The contributing editor for Saturday's issue will discuss a matter not only of local but of general interest. He will discuss a movement in which Plainfield holds a proud place.

Without William E. Tuttle at the helm the Democratic campaign lacks the vim that has characterized it in recent years.

You will treasure our Industrial Edition shortly to be issued.

ORIENALS IN AMERICA.

Members of the Women's Association of the Congregational church were entertained by Mrs. E. M. Laing yesterday afternoon, at the latter's apartment in Truell Court. One of the features was the reading of a paper on "Orientals in Our Country," by Mrs. Joseph Fuller. The article contained many interesting items on the general habits and the progress made by the Chinese and Japanese in the United States. Following the bsuiness meeting a general social time was held and tea was served.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL ALUMNI.

Over fifty members of the Grammar School Alumni Association attended the monthly meeting and reception in the Franklin School auditorium last night and under the supersion of Miss Emma Ryno, enjoyed a program of terpischore music rendered by an orchestra furnished by Miss Day.

HOSPITAL GOVERNORS MEET.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital at its meeting last night adopted the new constitution and by-laws recently submitted for approval. Considerable routine business was also transacted.

householder is required to separate the garbage from the ashes and the paper from both, and the contractor has to supply three different kinds of wagons, a canvas top vehicle for the collection of papers, a sealed steel or iron wagon for garbage and an ash wagon for ashes. Collections are made daily from the thickly populated districts and among the poorer class while three trips a week are made through the residential section. The result of this method is generally satisfactory but is open to the objection of having to endure the nuisance of placing barrels on the curb and having the paper blow about the streets. As a means of remedying this defect many of the better class engage private scavengers who collect the refuse from the basement or from a place in the rear of the house thereby eliminating the necessity of placing the barrels on the curb.

"In Newark the contractor has to take all the refuse from the rear of the house, and while some cities employ the method of placing the barrels on the curbs, a clause is generally inserted in the contracts to require the contractor to take all of the refuse from the rear in the business section. The system that meets with the greatest approval is the three section contract similar to the one described in Orange with penalties fixed by the municipal government for flagrancy on the part of contractor or householder. When the paper is separated the ashes are found useful in "filling in" and the waste paper is sold to junk dealers by the hundred pounds, thereby yielding a profit to the contractor. The paper is generally collected once a week and the householder is required to bundle it up and place it on the curb for collection on a specified day each week.

"Little trouble is encountered in getting rid of ashes as they are found valuable for filling in and there are three or four good systems of disposing of the garbage and other refuse. Some get rid of it in an old fashioned way by turning it over to farmers but the State Board of Health in some cases has offered objection to this method and it is not generally satisfactory. The rendering plant and the destructor plant have proven the best means of disposing of the refuse. In the rendering plant the refuse is made into by-products but the destructor plant is more modern. In order to operate the latter it is necessary to have ashes, rags, paper, garbage, etc., to develope the heat necessary to run this plant. This is an expensive plant and from a financial standpoint is not profitable although towns have tried to use the heat and produce lighting by this means.

"In a city the size or Plainfield it would be a heavy expenditure to erect a plant of either kind and it is impossible to gauge the original expenditure that would be required to start a disposal system here. The cost ought not to reach over $1 a month for each house including the collection from the rear of the house. In East Orange it costs $19,000 a year but one-half of the city is covered by private scavengers. The collection from the rear is highly preferable and gives everyone an opportunity to reap an equal benefit because the hiring of private contractors is unnecessary. Plainfield has approximately seventy miles of streets and the work could be done for an amount between $25,000 and $30,000 per year."

During the period of questioning it was brought out by Mr. Fort that in Montclair the city buries the refuse in long trenches on a farm on the outskirts of the city, but this method is far too costly to be practical. The speaker advocated the abolition of the "lowest bidder" idea and urged the letting of the contract to a competent man no matter if his bid is not the lowest.

Continuing the speaker said, "a rendering plant is a nuisance wherever it is put while a destructor plant is not objectionable in a community. About ten percent of the cost of running the plant is returned. The cleaning of ash and garbage can is left to the householder and this should be regulated by the municipality when the contract was drawn."

STOKES GIVES PARTY CREDIT

He declared that the party had always been a conservative one, while the Democratic party was destructive. Former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman was then introduced as the chairman of the meeting, who emphasized the remarks of Mr. Carroll that it was an inspiration to see such a large audience. He spoke praiseworthy of Fielder and Colby, but added that Stokes was a hard worker and was at all times working for the best interest of the people of the State.

City Judge W. G. DeMeza had just been introduced and was receiving a great ovation when Mr. Stokes arrived, and he gave way to the gubernatorial candidate, who was presented by Mr. Ackerman during prolonged applause.

"I want to thank you for your patience and apologize for being late," said Mr. Stokes after the applause had subsided, "and I want to say that I am not enthusiastic about these two-night stands. I am, however, glad to speak in the home town of Ernest R. Ackerman, who represents the kind of men and statesmen that characterize the Republican party.

"The Progressives think that we have not accomplished anything, but to the Republican party is due the credit of the Employers' Liability Act, the Corrupt Practices Act, the Geran law and the Public Utilities act, all children of the party which were adopted by the Democrats.

"I want to be fair, and I would not take one jot or title from my Democratic friends. Wilson had the help of the Republican party. He never did trust the Democratic party, except at election. He was obliged to drive Nugent and Smith out, and the Philadelphia Record, which is Democratic 365 days in the year, in speaking of Wilson's visit to New Jersey, said that he came here to speak on Democratic broken pledges. However, Wilson did not hesitate to praise Republican legislators for their help.

"As the Republican party is responsible for progressive legislation why should Wilson ask the people to turn affairs over to the Democrats whom he does not trust himself. Why Wilson received more Republican than Democratic votes and in reality it was a Republican victory.

"If elected I promise you that I shall use my best endeavor to simplify some of the laws. Why every day the attorney-general's office is beseiged to harmonize laws passed by Democrats.

"As to the present election law, I would have another election box for the independent vote and let the independent cast his ballot for whom he saw fit, and then I would urge the nomination of the best candidates to attract that vote.

"Although I was born in the City of Brotherly Love, like Washington I crossed the Delaware into New Jersey and from infancy have been a progressive. When I supported Roosevelt I didn't agree to go outside of the party. My idea is to build up the party to the highest ideals. We have got a platform that is constructive, a new confession of faith, with a new man at the helm and new forces. The party has had its trial by fire, has had its troubles and mismanagement. Last fall was not a disaster, it was 'Bull Run,' and this fall we shall have a Gettysburg."

Others who addressed the meeting included Mayor Harry W. Evans, of Westfield, an Assembly candidate. During the early part of the evening a brass band discoursed popular airs as a means of entertaining the audience. Among those who occupied seats on the platform as vice-presidents were to be found many familiar faces in the ranks of the Republican party.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

List of Speakers for Pedagogus' Gathering at Westfield on Friday.

Elizabeth, Oct. 22—Although no successor has yet been named to Dr. J. J. Savitz, county superintendent of schools, whose term expires this month, it is believed that Professor A. L. Johnson, of Cranford, will be named to fill the vacancy. Dr. Savitz also is superintendent of the Westfield schools. He cannot again be appointed. It is said by those who are familiar with school conditions in the county that Professor Johnson will be the choice.

Others in the county, however, declare that this is by no means certain. Superintendents S. D. Townsend, of Fanwood; D. A. Howell, of Linden; A. S. Davis, of Roselle; L. D. Deyo, of Roselle Park; E. V. Walton, of Springfield; A. G. Woodfield, of Lacns Farms, and the city superintendents of the Rahway and Elizabeth schools are being spoken of for the position.

According to State law the county superintendent must be chosen from the ranks of men already employed in the county schools.

Announcement is made of the subjects to be discussed by several eminent educators at the Union County Teachers' Institute, to be held Friday at the First Presbyterian church, Westfield.

The speakers will be President E. B. Bryan, Colgate University, Hamilton, N. Y.; Henry Turner Bailey, editor School of Arts Magazine, Boston, Mass.; A. B. Meredith, assistant commissioner in charge of Secondary Schools; G. A. Mirick, assistant commissioner in charge of Elementary Schools.

The subjects and program follows: 9:00—opening exercises; 9:15, Dr. Bryan, "The Meaning of Work." 10—intermission; 10:15—sectional readings: High School Teachers, Mr. Meredith, subject, "Tests to be Applied in Measuring the Life of the School." Elementary Teachers, Mr. Mirick, subject, "The Teaching of Elementary English." 1:15, Dr. Bryan, "The Meaning of Play." 2:00, Mr. Bailey, "The Social Ideal in Education." The sectional meeting will be in the nature of roundtable conferences. Teachers are invited to ask questions and to take part in the discussions.

The fifth-ninth annual meeting of the State Teachers' Association will be held in Atlantic City December 29, 30 and 31. An attractive program has been prepared. Superintendent N. J. Neal, of Bridgeton, is president of the State association.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

A new driveway is being made from Park place to the rear of the school building. A part of the fence has been put on the Vine street side and the iron gate from that street has been placed at the entrance of the new drive. This change was made so that the ashes from the new heating plant could be disposed of easier.

The Sigma Gamma Kappa recently held a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. and decided to give a Hallowe'en masquerade dance at Saengerbund Hall next week. At the same time some yearly committees were appointed. After the business meeting the girls enjoyed a fudge party.

At the chapel exercises on Friday morning, Thomas S. Armstrong will speak to the pupils of the High School on "Pharmacy."

Manager Duclos Van Mater has ordered the new jerseys for the basketball team. They will be red with a two-inch black stripe running diagonally across the front from the right shoulder with the red letters, N. P. H. S., in the stripe. The five regular players and two substitutes will receive them.

Manager Van Mater has already arranged sixteen games besides a few practice games. He will have a complete schedule in a few days. The first practice game will be played next week when the team will meet the Watchung A. C. five on the Saengerbund Hall court.

Carroll Taylor, who is now a freshman at the Colorado School of Mines, has sent a beautiful banner of the college as a present to the High School. It is of blue felt, about thirty-six by twenty-four inches with the word "Mines" across the front in large white letters.

At a meeting of the Senior Class yesterday morning the invitations for the dance were distributed. Each member of the class received five, making 125 in all. A large crowd is being provided for by the committee. The dance will be given on Friday night in Saengerbund Hall.

At a meeting of the boys of the Freshman Class, Roy Force was elected captain of the class team and William Seidel was chosen to book games. There is a good amount of material in this class and the first year team should put up a hard fight in the class league.

Sixteen members of the Camp Fire Club attended a ceremonial at the home of Miss Bertha Keliar. Miss Terry, guardian of the organization, was master of ceremonies and presided. All of the party gathered around a large fire in the rear of the hostess' home and after discussing several matters had a general social time. After the blaze had subsided they took to the house and a hot supper was enjoyed. These were present: Miss Terry, Bertha Keller, Ann Hull, Margaret Ewart, Marjorie Burtis, Lucy Douglas, Helen Ryno, Marielle Dunham, Grace DeNise, Bertha Bodine, Esther Kellogg, Lois Peck, Dorothy Martin, Edith Dalley, Edna Green and Margaret Vosseler.

Principal Earley has the organization of a High School Glee Club well under way. The club will meet every Wednesday afternoon with Miss Utter, the singing teacher, as director. It is hoped that fifty voices can be secured for this work and it will undoubtedly prove a huge success.

There is much debate now going on as to whether first team men and substitutes shall be allowed to play in the class league. Heretofore they have been barred and the league has generally worked its way to a one-sided affair from the start. It is thought that if every player in the High School is eligible there will be more competition and therefore the interest will survive throughout the league. No definite action has as yet been taken.

At a recent meeting of the Sigma Gamma Kappa, it was decided to form a Bible class. The class will meet every Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. and will be taught by Miss Florence Smith, secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

At a meeting of the freshman class yesterday, money was appropriated for the purchase of a basketball for the boys' team. The girls also decided to have a class team but no definite action has yet been taken in this matter.

The preparations for the annual play of the Boys' A. A., that was to be presented before Christmas, have been laid aside and it will be given in the early spring. This action was taken because of many delays that have occurred.

Superintendent Vossler has stated that four gold prizes will be offered at the prize speaking contest for the members of the High School next spring. In order that a list of eligible speakers can be obtained, Miss Ray has asked every member of her elocution classes to speak before the High School some time before February. There will be two ten dollar and two five dollar prizes.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 21.

FROM an advertisement of The American Telephone and Telegraph Company I gather the information (which I must admit I wasn't aware of before) that Pheidippides, the most noted runner of ancient Greece, made a record and an everlasting reputation by speeding 140 miles from Athens to Sparta in less than two days.

The runner service of those days, which comprised men trained to perfection for the transmission of messages, was so costly that it could be used only in the interest of rulers on occasions of utmost importance.

Which suggests a train of thought that starts out to make a comparison between those days and the rapid-fire age in which we live, and winds up overwhelmingly partisan to the hustling times of Right Now.

Why, did it ever occur to you that you could employ the services of thousands of swift and sure messengers in this good old year of 1913 for about thirty cents. YOU CAN.

Here's the way it's done: You have a want. You wish other people to know about that want. You wish to reach quickly with that little message of yours as many people as it is possible to reach ——and you don't want to wait two days to "get it across," either.

This is what you do: You call up or come to the office of this newspaper and insert a little WANT AD. in the Classified columns. Within 24 hours or less that want of yours has been carried broadcast and brought to the attention of more people than you could reach in any way other than through the columns of a newspaper in ten times the time or at a hundred times the cost.

Think that over. Then you'll come to the conclusion, as I have, that Pheidippides was all right in his day, but that you and I are living in a day of wonders about which the ancients did not even dare to dream.

The Home-Made Coat.

If you are ever going to make your own coat, make it this year. This is foolish advice, for perhaps this year you can afford to buy it ready made or to have a good tailor make it; and perhaps next year you will be forced to make it. But this is a good year for the home-made coat, for most of the coats look home-made.

The latest word about coats says that they can be made without revers of any sort—that the big French dressmakers are making them without revers. They have little semblance of fit to them. They are loose and baggy and their linings are loose and baggy, and the strictly tailored finish is by no means so often seen as usual.

How to Go About It.

To begin with, look through the fashion magazines—if you would make a coat for yourself—and choose a pattern that can be easily followed. There are certain Russian blouse coats as parts of two piece suits that can be easily made. Choose one without revers, and with an easily made collar. Afternoon and evening coats are even more easily accomplished. Almost all of them are loose and therefore do not fit the figure excepting, in some cases, at the shoulders. Others do not fit even at the shoulders.

Next to the choice of the pattern, comes the choice of material. Choose one that has a firm body, and that does not fray easily. One without a perfectly plain surface is more easily manipulated than one with a plain surface, as joinings and piecings do not show so easily on the broken surface. Velvet and velours and duvetyn are all easily managed.

The Lining.

The lining is an important part of the coat. There are ready-made inter-linings for sale in most of the big department stores. They are not finished, and can be easily changed to fit any figure. Sometimes these are admirable as foundation linings.

But it is the inside lining that must be carefully made. Many of the coats sold now are made without inter-linings. The inside lining, usually of some soft silk, and in afternoon and evening coats of bright silk as well, must be cut so that it is bigger than the outside of the coat. It must be loose. If it is what it appears at first to be the right size, it will surely prove to be too small, and nothing can make a coat look worse than a too-tight lining. Sew the big lining in the coat and then pleat it here and there and catch the pleats with sewing silk to make it fit. This is the way the linings are put in the coats turned out by the big dressmaking establishments.

It is in good taste this year to make trimmings an important part of afternoon and evening coats. Huge buttons and braid ornaments, wide bands of metallic lace and embroidery and many other elaborate ornaments can be wisely used.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CORNMEAL BREADS.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Sliced Oranges and Bananas.
Cereal, Cream.
Spanish Omelet. Coarse Grits.
Cornmeal Muffins.
Cafe au Lait.

NEW cornmeal is now to be purchased, and the housewife who is fond of serving hot breads of various kinds will be glad to avail herself of it. Cornmeal muffins, corn bread and corn cakes are nutritious and popular.

Light Cakes.

Mammy's Cornecakes.—Make a thick batter with yellow cornmeal and warm water. Salt it to taste. Cover and let stand until it rises. Have muffin pans very hot, put them on the stove, drop a teaspoonful of butter in the bottom of each and when it bubbles fill the pans half full of butter. Bake in a moderate oven. They should rise to the top of the tins.

Cornmeal Squares.—Take one pint of cornmeal and sift it with one tablespoonful of sugar and one teaspoonful of salt. Pour over the mixture enough milk or milk and water to moisten. Let stand until cool, add three well beaten eggs. Spread half an inch thick on well greased pans and bake in a hot oven. Cut into squares. Split and serve hot and well buttered.

For a Small Family.

Cornmeal Muffins.—Take three-quarters cupful cornmeal, three-fourths cupful flour, three teaspoonfuls baking powder, one tablespoonful sugar, one-half teaspoonful salt, one egg, three-fourths cupful milk, one tablespoonful butter. Mix and sift the dry ingredients together, beat the egg until very light and add the milk to it. Then mix with the dry ingredients. Melt the butter and add it last, stirring into the mixture. Bake in buttered muffin pans from twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Poor Man's Corn Bread.—Sift together one cupful each yellow cornmeal and white flour, three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one level teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of sugar. Add one beaten egg and two cupfuls milk and water mixed. Beat well and pour into a buttered pan. In baking in a coal or wood stove, start the bread baking on the bottom of the oven. Then if the top fails to brown fast enough it can be changed to the top. If started on the top, a crust will form so it cannot rise and it will be raw on the inside.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the Peacock Teased The Chickens.

Juno Cut the Eyes on Her Pet's Tail.

DADDY had been telling Jack and Evelyn about the beautiful white peacocks he had seen on the lawn at the big park he had visited that day.

"They were handsome fellows, white as milk and with lovely crests on their heads. When they strutted around their long tails trailed behind them like the trains on a court lady's dress," said daddy.

"They are beautiful birds and, like many handsome people, quite vain. They seem to know when they are being admired and stand around to give folks a chance to say nice things about them.

"With all their beauty, I am afraid the peacocks do not have nice dispositions. The one I am going to tell you about did not, at any rate.

"It was a great splendid creature with green and blue and yellow feathers. It lived on a great big farm and was the pet of every one. Its mistress had named it Argus. Argus, by the way, was also the name of a servant of the goddess Juno. Juno had a beautiful cow named Io. This she set Argus to watch, because, having a hundred eyes, she thought he would be able to watch it well. But Hermes, one of the gods who could play on the flute, thought he would show Juno how misplaced was her trust in Argus' hundred eyes.

"So he strolled up one day and made friends with Argus. He knew that half of the hundred eyes went to sleep, while the other fifty were awake and kept watch. Hermes thought he knew of a way to put all the eyes to sleep.

"He asked Argus if he would not like some music, and the hundred eyed one said he would. So Hermes played a soft, soothing air on his flute, and in no time he had all of the hundred eyes asleep at once and could lead away the beautiful cow.

"Juno was so angry with Argus that she took away his hundred eyes and put them in the tail of her favorite bird, the peacock.

"The real farm yard Argus of which I started to tell you liked to tease the chickens. Chickens are afraid of any strange thing which they see in the air above them. They will run from a kite and squawk if a toy balloon floats over the chicken yard. When a peacock raises its tail the train stands up like a fan and makes a rustling noise that frightens the chickens.

"This naughty peacock had a habit of strolling into the chicken house, driving the hens into a corner, then raising his train and shaking it over the scared Biddies' heads until they squawked in terror, thinking the hawk surely was coming.

"Some one always came and chased the naughty Argus away, but it was a prank that the peacock enjoyed, and he played it over and over, for the silly chickens were too stupid to learn how they were being fooled."

TRY A PRESS WANT AD

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

CALIFORNIA SATISFIED.

A Miss Bock, of Los Angeles, affirmed at the recent Congressional hearing that she had worked to carry equal suffrage, but would now be willing to work for its repeal. It is interesting to see the amazement, amusement and disgust with which the California papers comment on her remarks. They say that California is well pleased with the new order of things. In one Los Angeles paper the statement is made that Miss Bock is constitutionally given to taking up one thing after another, and then dropping it; and it is predicted that, just as she has now dropped suffrage, she will presently drop anti-suffrage, and flit off to something new.

Miss Bock does not specify any definite harm that equal suffrage has done. She only speaks vaguely of her dissatisfaction with it, and says the women generally do not vote. At one very important election in her own city of Los Angeles, a larger proportion of women voted than of men; and at several recent elections which called out less public interest and a smaller vote of both sexes, the women voted in almost as large a proportion as the men.

Out of the many thousand women in California, Miss Bock is the only woman formerly in favor who has announced a change of mind. But women and men who were formerly indifferent or opposed have changed their minds by shoals. This was proved by the ignominous failure of the attempt to repeal the suffrage amendment.

California adopted the initiative and referendum at the same time with equal suffrage. The anti-suffragists declared that 80 per cent of the women of California were opposed; and they boasted that they would circulate an initiative petition for the repeal of the suffrage amendment, and would triumphantly disfranchise themselves by their votes—aided, of course, by those of like-minded men. Such a petition was actually started; and, the College League of California says that people were paid for circulating it at the rate of five cent a signature. But, though the suffrage amendment had carried by a rather close vote, so great a change had already come over public opinion that they failed to get among either men or women the small percentage of signatures necessary to resubmit the question. California is the only State where any attempt has ever been made to disfranchise women by iniative petition; and the total collapse of the effort proves that most Californians do not think equal suffrage a failure.

LABOR WILL AID.

At its annual convention held last week in Fall River, the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor voted not merely to endorse woman suffrage, as it did last year, but to make the measure its own and work for it. The resolution was introduced by the telephone operators and members of the Boston Women's Trade Union League. The labor organizations that have endorsed woman suffrage include, among others, the National Woman's Trade Union League and all its State branches, the American Federation of Labor, and the State Federations of California, Connecticut, Colorado, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, Virginia and West Virginia.

"Tom's Advice to Dick and Harry" is the title of a spirited suffrage poem by Grace Wiles Hall, of the Plattsmouth (Neb.) Equal Franchise Society. It says, in part:

We cannot longer fool them
With that story, stale and old,
Of slighted household duties
That so often we have told.
They will raise their eyebrows loftily
And, with an injured note,
They'll say, "Do you quit business
Just because you go to vote?"

COUNCIL WANTS CANDIDATE TO EXPLAIN GRAFT CHARGE

New Brunswick, Oct. 22—The Progressive candidate for Mayor, J. Brognard Wright, was notified by City Clerk Elmer J. McMurtry yesterday to appear before the Common Council Monday night and explain a statement made by him at a recent meeting, in which, it is alleged, he said a bill for $8 had been presented to Council and when payment was made the amount had increased to $24.

Alderman Peter F. Kinney brought the matter to the attention of the Council Monday night. He said he had been told the candidate had asked who got the difference. This cast a reflection upon all the members of the board, he said. Mr. Kinney asserted he went to Mr. Wright and asked him if he had been correctly quoted. He said he had.

Alderman William Goodwin said he thought Mr. Wright should appear before the board and make an explanation.

Mr. Goodwin reported that the police had kept tally on the running time of the "bob-tail" cars of the Public Service Railway Company to which objection has been made and had found the schedule was not being adhered to. In some cases a trip was skipped and the cars were run on all kinds of time and not up to the requirements of the franchise, he said.

The matter of the removal of the cars will now be taken up with the Public Utility Commission.

The board was advised by the city attorney that judgments had been entered in the District Court in favor of officers whose salary had been held up because some of the aldermen claimed they had been elected in place of officers legally ousted.

The bureau estimates that such legislation in thirteen states will amount to $6,000,000 a year. The additional cost to railroads in New York state is given as $854,000 and in New Jersey as $381,000.

THE INCREASING POPULARITY OF THE PEG-TOP

Much of the smartness and grace of the modish broad waist and hip lines is embodied in the peg-top skirt which tapers to a narrow footline, making the effect still more pleasing.

Especially suited to these skirts are the "pile" fabrics, velours, velvets and velveteens. They are thick yet light in weight and aid greatly in bringing out in their folds the loose unfitted effects desired.

7812 shows a peg-top skirt and a blouse with a drop-shoulder, which is another smart detail of many of the new designs. An inset vest which may be of brocade or embroidery is a pretty feature of this design.

Leather colored velours de laine is an unusually smart suggestion for this style of dress. A model of Berny seen at a recent opening of leather colored duvetyn with a belt of green suede inspired the color scheme.

To copy this model in size 36 it requires 5½ yards of 42 inch material.

Plaid for the blouse that cleverly repeats the color of the dark skirt with which it is worn is the combination used in 7538. The low shoulder and a natty collar are features of this design.

An Attractive Froget-me-not Wreath.

Wreaths of dainty forget-me-nots are always in good taste and are suitable for embroidering an infinite variety of articles.

This charming wreath is illustrated on a nightgown-case of white linen and is also appropriate for embroidering laundry bags, pillow cases, baby carriage covers and lingerie pillows or may be carried out in ribbon embroidery on a chair cushion of moire or satin

This design may be embroidered entirely in solid work, or the leaves and ribbon may be developed in outline and seed-stitch, which consists of tiny rows of back stitches taken alternately. The natural colorings may be used for embroidering this design, or it may be done in white. Mercerized cotton should be used for all washable articles, as it launders better than silk.

A four-inch monogram or six-inch initial may be placed in this wreath which is nine and one-half by ten inches.

Pattern number 12709 will be supplied to Daily Press readers for ten cents.

"DUNELLEN BOB" A WITNESS IN FIGHT PROMOTER SUIT.

Bob Fitzsimmons strolled into the Supreme Court, in New York yesterday, where Justice Bartow S. Weeks and a jury were hearing a case, and looked around the room for a familiar face. Justice Weeks recognized him and nodded, and the ex-champion then got up his courage and walking over to the clerk said:

"Am I in the right club?"

"Yes, but this is only a preliminiary," said the clerk, who recognized the freckles. "The main bout comes next. That's your corner over there."

Bob was called as a witness in a damage suit of Kid Egan against Pearson's Magazine for libel.

ELIZABETH Y. M. C. A. TO OPPOSE LOCALS

Queen City Team Being Organized to Race Against Betsytown Faction.

According to those at the helm of Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. track athletics Plainfield will be represented in a duel cross-country run in Elizabeth a week from next Saturday afternoon when Jack Fritts, of this city, will lead an aggregation of Queen City flyers against the Betsytown runners. Although all arrangements have apparently been completed,local sportsmen have not been acquainted with the proposition and it looks as though the representative team from this city would consist of Fritts' all-star choice.

While it is known that a number of good cross country men exist in these diggings it is also known that no active training has been in progress since the last cross-country race betwen Plainfield and Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. teams when the locals were vanquished by the visitors. With the race November 1 the Union county seat enthusiasts plan to revive the running game and are already training for the event a large field of runners having signified their intention of trying out for the eight-man team race that will represent Elizabeth.

While the race this time will again be contested by local and Elizabeth factions the local Y. M. C. A. will not be the contestant and the team that Fritts takes will be entirely independent of the association. Each association will have eight men and the course will be laid out between Elizabeth and Roselle.

Among those who are trying for the Elizabeth team are Willie Weber, who won the race in Plainfield; Bert Parks and Bernie Castles, who finished third and fourth respectively, and Walter Parks who would up in fifth place in the last event. Louis Barr, Charles Black, Romain Harris, Elwood Beers, William Dougherty and Joe Orsini are also trying for the eight.

GOOD AUTO ROUTE

New York City to Trenton, N. J.

The Vest Pocket Touring Company, of 137 East 16th street, New York City, reports the route from New York to Trenton, via the 42nd street ferry, New Brunswick, Franklin Park and Princeton, in excellent shape, with the exception of the portion between Metuchen and New Brunswick. There are two important improvements in this route, notably through West Side Park, making a new cut-off from Hudson County Boulevard to the Newark Plank Road.

The route runs from the 42nd street ferry, up the Palisades to the boulevard, turn left at once, right, and through Third street to the Hudson county boulevard, follow boulevard to West Side Park where, turn right and pass almost directly through the southeast corner of the park to the Plank road; turn right. The Plank road is in excellent shape to Ferry street, which is rough to Polk street. Follow Polk, Lafayette, Broad, Clinton avenue, Astor street, Frelinghuysen avenue and North Broad street to Elizabeth. Thence through Westfield avenue to Cherry street, which is followed to Rahway avenue.

This route is good to Rahway and St. George's avenue is fair to Metuchen. From Metuchen to New Brunswick the road is in very bad condition but it is not impassable in dry weather. From New Brunswick to Trenton the new line through Franklin Park and Princeton is good all the way to Trenton.

Perth Amboy to Metuchen.

Motorists traveling between Perth Amboy and Metuchen will find Amboy avenue in good condition, but if this road is taken care should be exercised on the many sharp curves. There is no paving on the side of the road, it is consequently used by pedestrians as a walk. It is with difficulty that a car traveling at any speed can dodge the weary and often over-burdened laborers which are constantly plying between the public houses thereabout.'

Keyport to Perth Amboy.

The main road between Keyport and Perth Amboy is in a very much worse than its usual bad condition. In wet weather it would be practically impassable at several points for light touring cars and exceedingly dangerous for heavy cars. All tourists are advised to avoid this road during the entire winter as there is no prospect of its being repaired.

Red Bank to Keyport.

A route between Red Bank and Keyport via Holmdel has just been carded. It is a very much superior route to the old one via Middletown. It is not attractive from a scenic point of view, but the road is excellent and the grades are quite easy.

Lakewood to Red Bank.

A very serviceable dry-weather line between Lakewood and Red Bank has been carded. It is composed of the main macadam road as far as Farmingdale; thence over a fair country road, winding, with some grades, to Red Bank. In good weather this road will be found a milage saver but tourists are advised not to attempt the country road part of this route between Farmingdale and Red Bank except in dry weather.

Trenton to Lakewood.

The route from Trenton to Lakewood, via Bordentown and New Egypt, is generally good, except for two miles running out of Chesterfield. From Chesterfield via Cassville the road is very good all the way to Lakewood. This road is given in a very few guide books.

Newark to Morristown.

The road from Newark to Morristown through the Oranges, Livingston, Hanover and Whippany is in excellent shape nearly all of the way.

The departure of the cook or maid does not prostrate the lady who knows the efficiency of Press want ads.

CO. K WILL HAVE BASKETBALL TEAM

James A. Thompson is Again Managing the Quintet and Scheduling Games.

Following the completion of last year's successful basketball season, Co. K athletes are planning to reorganize for another year and will be represented this fall and winter by a senior quintet averaging about 150 pounds. A number of especially fine basket tossers are enrolled on the militiamen's roster and the five this year ought to be able to cope with anything in this vicinity.

The team's average is slightly above that of any other team in Plainfield or vicinity but no doubt a number of the local managers will accord the Co. K outfit a place on their schedule of games. Last year this team put up a good game wherever it appeared and the opening season of experience ought to have put the men in form for this year.

James A. Thompson is again managing the team and is now arranging a schedule of games with rival amateur quintets hereabouts. He is trying to get into communication with all teams of a like strength and would be glad to hear from any game bookers prior to the opening of the season.

PAUL COLLIER WILL COACH N. P. H. S. BASKETBALL FIVE

Paul Collier has given a final statement that he will coach the North Plainfield High School basketball team this year. In an interview with Captain Burner yesterday he agreed to give as much time as possible to this work and will be at Saengerbund Hall this afternon for the first time.

Mr. Collier is thoroughly acquainted with all the fine points of the game and will be a big help in rounding out the team.

EASTERN ATHLETES CANNOT ATTEND AUSTRALIAN MEET

James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, yesterday received word from John Elliott, president of the Pacific Association, to the effect that the special committee selecting the team for Australia, from San Francisco next month, desired from the east a crack hurdler and a middle distance runner, and expressed a preference for Tom Halpin, of Boston, and James Wendell, of the New York A. C.

Mr. Sullivan got into communication with Halpin and Wendell, and found that they could not go; therefore it will be necessary to select two others to represent the Eastern States.

It seems odd, but it is nevertheless true, that it is a hard thing to get two of our amateur cracks to make the trip, and the committee have now under advisement the names of several prominent easterners who would make a creditable showing, and therefore the make-up of the team will be announced either Friday or Saturday. They are anxious to secure a hurdler and sprinter with some all-around ability.

The members selected so far to make the trip are Jimmy Powers, the American mile champion, of Boston, and Alderman, the well-known all-around weight man, formerly of Stanford University.

FIGHTS SCHEDULED TONIGHT.

COEDS OF BARNARD MUST SWIM FOR THEIR DIPLOMAS.

In order to satisfy the requirements for any degree, the faculty of Barnard College, falling in line with the Columbia University authorities, will require the fair students to pass a swimming test. This was decided upon yesterday afternoon, according to Prof. George Holmes, who has been instructing the Columbia youths in swimming for the last ten years. The coeds will not be alone, as the students of Teachers College will have to accompany them. They will be required to swim the length of the tank, seventy-five feet, dive in seven feet of water, and then turn on their backs and swim back to the starting point. With this done, they will divert their energy to learning to dive, swim twenty feet and come back.

MRS. STOCKTON BEST ON HEAVY COURSE

Local Woman Returned Winning Gross Score on Rain Soaked Links.

The golf links of the Sleepy Hollow Country Club were visited yesterday by nearly forty players affiliated with the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association. In view of the rain on Monday the course was exceedingly heavy, so that the scores were generally high. In fact, nearly half of the contestants declined to hand in cards.

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of this city, who made a good showing in the recent national championship at Wilmington against Miss Harriet Curtis, had the best gross score of the day, 103. Her net score of 98 was also the best, but she had to be content with the gross prize, which left Mrs. Charles L. Greenhall, of Hollywood, and Mrs. Henry Blumenthal, of Fairview, tied for the net, with respective cards of 108, 9—99 and 109, 10—99. On the play-off Mrs. Greenhall was the winner. Mrs. Sidney Weil, of Fairview, captured first prize in the approaching and putting contest.

NEW METHODS FOR SELECTING A SQUAD

N. P. H. S. Girls Still Squabbling Over the Election of a Captain.

Owing to the very close competition in the try-outs for positions on the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team, a new plan has been adopted for the present. A squad of twelve girls will be kept temporarily and for the first few games six members of the squad will be picked to report in every contest.

It is hoped that in this way the squad may be cut down and a regular team and substitutes be formed. All of the girls have shown up well in practice and since no captain has yet been elected it is practically impossible to make a selection.

Miss Boxold, librarian of the school, who is thoroughly acquainted with the game, is giving a good part of her spare time to the squad. The team will consist of the following girls: Rose Cooper, Emilie Playdell, Grace Townley, Bertha Keller, Marjorie Burtis, Elsie Debele, Lucy Douglas, Marguerite Barkalew, Lillian Spencer, Helen Meaney, Nora Meaney and Gladys Sullivan.

BRYAN SPEAKS IN ELIZABETH MONDAY

Secretary of State to Campaign for Fielder for Governor.

Elizabeth, Oct. 22—According to the announcement made by State Committeeman Brigadier - General Dennis F. Collins, Monday, Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, will visit Elizabeth Saturday night and make an address in the Armory in the interest of the candidacy of Governor James F. Fielder. Coupled with this announcement, it was said by General Collins, that Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan will make an address in Elizabeth Monday, October 27. It is proposed that Mr. Bryan deliver his address at the T. A. B. baseball grounds. This program, however, may be changed and the address delivered in one of the downtown theatres.

Arrangements are being made for the accommodations of extra large crowds at both meetings. Every Democratic club in the county will be invited. In addition there will be bands and displays of fireworks. It will be Senator James' second visit to Elizabeth. He made a campaign tour of the county in the interest of President Wilson last fall.

Changes were announced yesterday in the itinerary of Governor Fielder's tour of Union county on Saturday, November 1. It was decided to include Roselle, Cranford, Westfield and Summit in the afternoon tour. Governor Fielder will make three addresses in Elizabeth in the evening. 7:30 o'clock he will speak in front of the Young Men's Catholic Lyceum, in Court street, and at 8 o'clock at Union Square, Elizabeth avenue and High street, and at 8:30 at Broad and East Jersey streets. From Elizabeth he will go to Rahway and from there to Plainfield, where he will conclude his tour of the county.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

J. Leubrie Hill and the Darktown Follies, an organization of fifty comedians, singers and dancers, will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre tonight in a three-act musical comedy, "My Friend from Kentucky." This production is said to be fully in keeping with the best standards in this division of entertainment, and the libretto and music are described as original and meritorious and from the pen of J. Leubrie Hill. There is a large cast including Happy Julins Glenn, Abbie Mitchell, Brown and Gaines, Evon Robinson, Jennie Chefer, Alice Ramsey, Johnnie Peters and the best singing and dancing chorus ever seen on the American stage.

A woman is said to be responsible for the appearance of the London Little Theatre Company, which is to present "The Blindness of Virtue" at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night. That it is a play which especially appeals to women is borne out by the fact that the women's organizations throughout the country have taken it up and endorsed it. Mrs. William Morris, wife of the well-known manager of Harry Lauder, is said to have induced her husband to bring this play to this side. Mrs. Morris in London last fall chanced to hear some women in the hotel where they were stopping speaking enthusiastically of "The Blindness of Virtue," which was then appearing at the Little Theatre. Her feminine curiosity aroused, Mrs. Morris attended an afternoon performance. She became so enthusiastic over the sincerity of the play, the splendid message it conveyed and the splendid acting of the members of the company that she and several friends attended the performance again that evening. The next evening, much against his will, Mr. Morris was induced to go to the

Little Theatre and see the play, over which his wife had become so enthusiastic. At the end of the first act Mr. Morris called upon Charles Kenyon, manager of the theatre and secured an option to the American presentation. It is this original production which will be seen here on its second American tour. It played sixteen weeks at the Studebaker Theatre in Chicago and ten weeks at the Plymouth Theatre in Boston last year.

AWAITS DEATH AFTER TAKING MERCURY PILL

Mistook It For Aspirin; Prepares to Draw Will.

New York, Oct. 22. Isaac Levy, a wealthy clothing manufacturer, is dying in the Sunshine sanitarium in Cropsey avenue, Bath Beach, of mercury poisoning. Like the banker of Macon, Ga., who lingered for several days after taking the poison, Mr. Levy swallowed a tablet of bichloride of mercury, mistaking it for a harmless remedy for headache.

Mr. Levy is sixty-five years old and recently had been suffering from insomnia and headache for which his physician, Dr. Jacob Sarnoff of 1819 Eighty-fifth street, prescribed aspirin tablets. Mr. Levy, who is married and has eleven children, lives at 8835 Twenty-second avenue. He awoke with a headache and, getting up, went to a medicine chest in which his tablets were kept.

Not wishing to arouse his wife, Mr. Levy did not make a light, but felt around in the chest until his fingers closed over a bottle which he believed held the tablets. He got out a tablet, swallowed it and returned to bed.

He awoke six hours later in great pain, and then Dr. Sarnoff was summoned. At first the physician could not tell what was the matter with his patient. Levy told of having taken an aspirin tablet, but it was not until he found a spoon marked with mercury that the physician guessed the truth. Then he hurried Mr. Levy to the hospital.

Mr. Levy's lawyer has been summoned and he will try to draw up Mr. Levy's will if the sick man remains conscious long enough. According to his physicians he may linger for several days with intervals of consciousness, but his death is almost certain.

TEST 2 ENGINES FOR FIRE DEP'T

Fire Underwriters Nat. Board Experts to Decide Between Saurer and Nott Machine.

A RIGID EXAMINATION

La France Apparatus Not in the Competition—Nott Agent Claims Conditions of Test Unfair—Judges Don't Heed His Protest.

Under the supervision of A. C. Hudson, A. G. Newell and C. W. Whitney, of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, a test of the Nott and Saurer fire engines is being made this afternoon at the Westervelt avenue bridge. The test was started at noon.

It was announced that there would be a four hour capacity test and two hour high pressure test. At first two 400 feet lengths of hose were used and later 1,000 feet lengths will be tried out. The water is being pumped out of and back into the brook.

The test attracted several hundred people, including many of the officials of Plainfield and North Plainfield and other cities. Lieut. Kuch, of the New York Fire Department, was also present. The test was planned by the Councilmanic fire and building committe of which Fred Endress is the chairman, it being the desire to ascertain officially what each engine is capable of doing.

Before the test was started and while conditions were being explained, it being understood that the specifications used in advertising for an engine were to be the guide for the demonstration, Robert C. Woodhouse, representing the Nott Fire Engine Company, expressed the opinion that the conditions to be imposed were not fair, that of placing his 600 gallon engine in competition with the Saurer engine of 500 gallons capacity. However, it was agreed to go ahead. The specifications called for 600 gallons per minute against 140 pound pressure. The representatives of the underwriters took complete charge of the test using their own guages and other instruments and they will make an official report to the Common Council through the fire and building committee, showing exactly what each engine is capable of doing. The La France company did not bring one of its engines here today for the competitive test.

BRITISH FLEET TO PANAMA.

Invitation From Washington to Join Celebration Accepted.

London, Oct. 22.—Great Britain accepted the invitation from the United States government to send representative vessels of the British navy to the gathering of the international fleet in Hampton Roads early in 1915 to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterway. The acceptance by the British foreign office has been forwarded to the secretary of the United States navy at Washington.

The foreign office has turned over the arrangements as to the war vessels to be sent to Hampton Roads for decision by the admiralty, with a recommendation that the British navy should be liberally represented.

TRAILED MRS. PALMER.

Spencer Declares He Intended to Rob Chicago Society Leader.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The society columns of Chicago newspapers of last November furnished partial corroboration of the story told by Henry Spencer, the confessed murderer and opium dreamer, that he followed Mrs. Potter Palmer for ten days from Chicago to New York, planning to assault her and rob her of a diamond necklace valued at $100,000.

Spencer, awaiting trial at Wheaton, Ill., declared that he trailed Mrs. Palmer from Nov. 3, 1912, following her to New York and to the steamship she boarded for Europe on Nov. 10. Last year's newspapers show that Mrs. Palmer did go to New York and sail for Europe at that time.

LOST LIFE IN HOTEL FIRE.

Marysville, O., Oct. 22.—One man was burned to death, five persons were seriously injured and more than a score of others had thrilling escapes in a fire which destroyed the Continental hotel here. A general store, a restaurant and barber shop adjacent to the hotel also were destroyed. The flames were fanned by a small blizzard which raged during the early morning hours. Defective wiring caused the fire.

GREEK DYING OUT, SAYS PROFESSOR

Oxford Representative Addresses Students.

SCIENCE AND CULTURE TALK

French Educator Delivers Lecture in His Native Tongue at Graduate College Celebration — Oxford Instructor Says That His Statements Are Admitted by Advocates of Classics.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—That the classics are dying out was asserted here by Arthur D. Godley, M. A., the representative of Oxford to the Princeton Graduate college celebration, in his address. After saying that the old pre-eminence of Latin and Greek was now gone, the lecturer added that at the schools the classics were only one branch of the large number of courses that are offered to students.

This was admitted even by the advocates of the classics, according to the speaker, in their wish that some kind of Greek culture should be as widespread as possible.

He concluded his address by showing the difficulty for the average man of steering a course between dilettantism and overspecialization.

Emile Boutroux, honorary professor in the University of Paris, president of the Foundation Thiers and member of the French academy, delivered a lecture in French on "Science and Culture."

New election officers have been appointed to serve in place of those indicted.

SULZER GREETED AS POPULAR HERO

AUTO PARADE IS FORMED

Tears In Deposed Governor's Eyes as He Declares It the Greatest Moment of His Life—Talks to Ten Thousand From Auto.

New York, Oct. 22.—Ten thousand persons last night met William Sulzer in the Grand Central station on his arrival from Albany. The great waiting room looked like Broadway on election night.

The deposed governor reached here at 10:25 o'clock on the Empire State express. He was ill in a stateroom all the way down, but his health came back fast when he saw the banked up, shouting mass of humanity awaiting him.

As he walked from his car, far back on the long train, there was a staccato accompaniment of flashlight shots. That was the first intimation he had that his return was a matter of moment. From then on there was no doubt.

In the waiting room every foot of space was occupied and had been for an hour with the thousands upon thousands, most of them from the east side, where the ex-governor grew up and where he hopes to get a firm foothold in his fight for political rehabilitation.

The main floor was jammed to the inch, and in the long galleries hundreds more were crowded. Every man and every woman was shouting Sulzer's name.

Guards Swept Aside.

"We want Sulzer!" was the shout that went up as the slouch hatted, gray clad, gaunt figure walked through the turnstiles. The railroad employees had roped off a space to keep back the crowd and let him reach the street, but the east siders would stand for no such restraint. At first sight of their idol they swept away the barriers and the guards with them and surged about him. More flashlights sounded, and a hundred hats went flying into the air.

Outgoing passengers gave up the struggle to get to their trains and stood aside until the welcome was over. Mr. Sulzer's friends who had come down with him from Albany were carried off, and Mrs. Sulzer, too, was swept away in the crowd. Horns were blowing like mad, and placards saying, "We want Sulzer!" "Where is Murphy?" and "Sulzer—our choice for the assembly!" were torn from hats and sent scooting over the massed up heads.

In the center of the thickest crowd stood Mr. Sulzer trying vainly to see what had become of his wife. Then somebody took his familiar black hat off and waved it, and a bigger cheer than before went up.

The ex-governor had smiled when he saw the demonstration first, but as it persisted his expression changed, and as he got through finally and into the waiting automobile tears were running down his cheeks.

"This is the happiest and proudest moment of my life," he whispered to a friend who kept with him.

Bigger Crowd Outside.

Outside of the station a crowd which even exceeded that within was waiting. Here again the horns were blowing and the people shouting. East side "Sulzer Marching clubs," improvised at the moment, marched about until they jammed.

A cornet player tried to make "Hail to the Chief" heard, but petered out in competition with the local hullabaloo. Trolley traffic on West Forty-second street was halted, and hundreds of vehicles had to wait for the excitement to end.

Mr. Sulzer came through the exits at the head of a veritable flying wedge, a hundred enthusiasts projecting him in a futile effort to get at him, slap him on the back, call him "Bill," shake his hands or do a thousand things that seemed to occur to the active minds of the demonstrative mob.

Two score automobiles were drawn up at the curb, each one carrying a banner, "Welcome" and "The People's Choice" and the ever present "We Want Sulzer." In the windows of the Belmont hotel scores of heads were seen, and on the tops of the lower buildings around were grouped shouting Sulzerites.

Sulzer went to the east side, where 10,000 persons awaited him. The Sixth assembly district headquarters was too small to hold the crowd, so he spoke from his automobile.

"I want to go back to Albany to represent the people of this district," he said, "and to fight Murphy and the bosses."

Later he went to the Broadway Central hotel, where he will make his home during the campaign.

APPEAL TO GUARD 'MERIT SYSTEM'

Civil Service Reform League Warns Voters as to Assembly Candidates.

GETS AFTER LEONARD

Charles S. Smink Presides at Important Meeting of Body in Newark in Absence of President Everett Colby—Text of Address.

A meeting of the Civil Service Reform League of New Jersey, together with those interested in the promotion of the merit system and opposed to the spoils system and a "pull in politics," was held yesterday afternoon in the Newark Public Library when in the absence of former State Senator Everett Colby, the president, Charles S. Sminck presided. Mr. Sminck is secretary to former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, the author of the civil service law.

The meeting was well attended. Among those present were former Assemblyman Wright, Col. Mullikan, a former civil service commissioner, Gardner Colby, secretary to the Civil Service Commission, Mr. Seligman, of Elizabeth, and Thomas H. Brown, of Jersey City. There was a large delegation present from Hudson county.

It was shown at the meeting that civil service in New Jersey has in five years been demonstrated to be the most popular subject upon which the people have ever voted. In four counties and seven municipalities which voted on this subject the question received a majority of 55,000 votes out of a total of 219,000 votes.

The gathering considered and passed upon several subjects of importance but that which will most interest the people of Union county is the address issued to the voters of the State of New Jersey. There can be no progress or real reform in government without the strict enforcement of the merit system which holds in check the domination of the "boss" in politics. The extension of the powers of the government, such as the operation of the telegraph lines, as proposed by President Wilson, would be a complete failure under a spoils system, whereas the experiment might be successful under the merit system.

For the information of the public the following address issued to the voters of the State by the Reform League is published:

"We congratulate the citizens of the State on the growth of the 'merit system.' In the five years during which the civil service law has been upon the statute books, it has, in addition to its application to State positions, been adopted by the four largest cities, the three largest and the seventh largest county and several other municipalities. More than half the State in population is now under the civil service.

"We commend the law to the voters of the city of Elizabeth, who will have an opportunity to vote upon its provisions as applied to that city at the next general election. We condemn the conspiracy entered into by certain members of the Union County Board of Freeholders, who, after the filing of the legally prescribed petitions, have refused to meet and act thereon, as directed by law, thus preventing, for the time being, a referendum on the law's application to that county.

"We condemn the attempts made to weaken the law by the introduction of bills in the legislature at the last session. In particular, we condemn the action in this regard of Assemblyman Leonard, of Union county, candidate for re-election.

"We recommend to the voters everywhere the selection of such candidates only as shall unqualifiedly pledge themselves to maintain the law and vote for such measures as shall further strengthen its operation. In particular we urge the following:

"A measure which shall guard against the plea of economy in the abolition of positions being used as an instrument for political retaliation.

"The abolition of fixed statutory terms which have the effect of legally removing a position from the protection of civil service.

"Civil Service Reform has proven to be the most popular subject ever submitted to popular vote in New Jersey. There is no question that it is approved by the best of our State's citizenship, yet in many movements toward reform legislation, there is danger that those once active in its behalf may feel that further effort is unnecessary. The tendency to inaugurate reforms in legislation and neglect them thereafter is all too common. We, therefore, urge upon all citizens, irrespective of their political party, constant watchfulness that civil service may be preserved against the attacks of its enemies, and that amendments from time to time necessary to strengthen it be enacted into law."

PROGRESSIVES PLAN WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN

Street Meeting Tuesday Afternoon and Mass Meeting Thursday Night.

In addition to the noon day meetings held at various local factories today, the Progressives have planned two other gatherings for the next week, at both of which the candidate for Governor, Everett Colby, will be the principal speaker. The first will be held on Tuesday next, at 3.15 in the afternoon, at the corner of Second street and Park avenue, and besides Mr. Colby, the speakers will be the three Assembly candidates of the party. Other meetings the same day in the county will be at Summit, 10 a. m.; Springfield, 10.35; Union, 11; Saybrook, 11.25; Elizabeth, 12.00; Rahway, 2.30; Westfield, 3.50; Cranford, 4.20; Roselle Park, 4.45; Linden, 5.10, and Elizabeth, 5.30.

The big evening meeting will be held in Reform Hall on Thursday evening, October 30, and at that time Mr. Colby will have as platform companions Henry Allen, of Kansas, and probably Mrs. Douglas Robinson, a sister of Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Allen is one of the brightest orators in the Progressive party, and made a lasting impression on the delegates to both the Republican and Progressive National conventions at Chicago last summer, by his forceful remarks, which were punctuated by an original style of humor that held the attention of ten thousand or more people in the big coliseum.

The presiding officer and the vice-presidents will be announced later.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR ELDERLY MAN

Arthur Schwartz, of Westfield, Disappears and Family is Alarmed.

Mystery surrounds the strange disappearance of Arthur Schwartz, 62 years old, of Westfield, who yesterday visited his sisted at 51 Laramie road and has not been seen since leaving his relative's house bound for his own home.

Mr. Schwartz bade his sister goodbye, saying he was going direct to his home in Westfield. This morning his friends and relatives inquired of his sister of his whereabouts and when informed that he had left this city at 9 o'clock last night, immediately started a search for him. Schwartz was seen to board an Arlington avenue car but the conductor could not tell when the aged man alighted from the car.

After a trip the couple will live at the bridegroom's home in the borough.

Mr. Compton is widely-known here. He has been employed as a machinist at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works for a number of years and has traveled extensively for the concern as an erector of presses. The bride also has many friends here, where she has visited frequently.

MAXSON NOT AFTER CO. SUPERINTENDENCY

Plainfield Superintendent Not a Candidate for Union County Berth.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the Plainfield Public Schools, is not a candidate for the position of county superintendent of schools, as reported elsewhere. The term of Dr. J. J. Savitz, the present incumbent, will expire within a short time, and several persons have been mentioned as possible successors, among them Prof. A. L. Johnson, of Cranford, who is supervising principal of the schools there, who it is believed will receive the appointment.

The State law provides that a county superintendent cannot succeed himself as formerly, that he must give his entire time to the work of the office. It was for this reason that H. C. Krebs resigned as superintendent of the borough schools, taking the position of county superintendent of schools of Somerset county.

RECEIVE J. A. COLE'S OFFER OF BLDG. SITE

Newark Museum Association Trustees Refer Matter to Committee.

Formal action was taken by the board of trustees of the Newark Museum Association, yesterday afternoon, on the offer made some weeks ago by Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Fanwood township and New York, of a plot of ground in the Roseville section of Newark, on which it is proposed to erect a museum building if certain conditions are observed. The matter was referred to a committee of five to be named by former Governor Franklin Murphy, who presided.

The proposed site, as made public at the time of the offer, is at the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, in Newark, and was tendered by Dr. Coles on condition that a fund of $50,000 be subscribed with which to erect a modern fireproof building. Dr. Coles will contribute $1,000 toward the $50,000 fund. The trustees' committee will make an inspection of the plot and report upon its availability at a future meeting.

In his report to the trustees, John Cotton Dana, director of the museum, outlined a plan for a broadening of the work of the institution. He said it should make a strong appeal to children and that through the little ones the grown-ups would be attracted. He stated that the present children's room at the library was already a valuable adjunct to increasing the usefulness of the museum.

JR. O. U. A. M. BIG GAINS IN A YEAR

Its Increase in Membership of the Order in New Jersey More Than 2,000.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., are largely represented at the annual convention of the State Council, which convened at Atlantic City, yesterday, for its forty-fifth session. The opening meeting was devoted largely to the reception of reports of the several State officers, including that of State Councilor Wakefield.

The State councilor reported that he had assisted in the institution of four new councils during the year, and there was an increase of more than 2,000 in the membership. The financial gain amounted to $106,523.49, and with 313 subordinate councils there is a total membership of 60,698. It was reported that the members of Pennsylvania were unsuccessful in its fight to hold the name of Jr. O. U. A. M., the courts compelling them to change it to wit: Fraternal Patriotic Americans. The change, the State secretary reported, would not affect its relationship with the State council of New Jersey.

Acting Mayor Bell turned the keys of the city over to the delegates and gave a hearty welcome, which was responded to by the president. MR. GILBERT AGAIN BEFORE COMMITTEE

Plainfielder Advises Senators to Go Slow in Enacting Currency Legislation.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Monday next the Senate committee on banking and currency will begin consideration of the pending currency measure in executive session. Senator O'Gorman said last night he thought that with constant attention to the subject, a report could be made to the Senate within ten days, perhaps, in a week.

President Alexander Gilbert, of the Fulton Market National Bank of New York, whose home is at Plainfield, N. J., and who had appeared before the committee on Tuesday, told the committee yesterday that through such a suspension and the locking up of the reserves and funds of thousands of member banks in the suspended regional bank disaster might result. That such a discrepancy had only just been discovered suggested to him the need for great care in drafting the measure and in enacting it into law.

"There are many points of that kind that ought to be carefully inquired into," said Mr. Gilbert. Neither you gentlemen nor the country understand this whole subject. This vast machinery when put into operation should work right or disaster may follow. I advise you to go slow. Time is an element in this question. There are no disquieting conditions demanding haste."

WANTS TO BUILD FENCE AND NEIGHBORS OBJECT

The North Plainfield Township Committee is holding a special meeting this afternoon to consider the right of Dr. Thomas H. Hawkins, who recently purchased a large farm in the lower end of the township, to erect a fence on what is known as the Washington Rock road, on which the farm fronts.

Dr. Hawkins, it is said, plans to erect the fence about fifteen feet beyond his line, encroaching on the roadway, and the committee had received a complaint from neighbors. The farm was formerly occupied by Albert Brokaw, but since the change in ownership he has removed to an adjoining farm. There is a bridge near the farm and it is said that Dr. Hawkins proposed to bring his fence up to the guard rail of the bridge.

MRS. THEO. J. SHIRLEY HAS PASSED AWAY

Wife of Prominent Business Man Dies After Lingering Illness.

Mrs. Mary Elsie Shirley, wife of Theodore J. Shirley, died last night at her home on Springfield road, Scotch Plains, after a lingering illness. She returned home about nine weeks ago after spending a year in Silver City, New Mexico, and El Paso, Texas, in the hope that the change would be beneficial, but the improvement in her health proved to be only temporary. She made a brave fight against great odds and her death is mourned by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Shirley was the daugnter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Cranford. She was born in this city and always lived here. She was a devout member of St. Mary's R. C. church, and was widely-known for her many good deeds and acts of kindness.

There survives beside her husband, who is a member of the firm of Shirley & Johnston, who is a prominent man locally, four children, T. Harold, Leon C., Dorothy E. and Robert R. Shirley; her parents, two sisters, Mrs. John Benner and Mrs. George Reid, and two brothers, Robert and Edgar Reid, of Cranford.

The funeral will be held at the late home Saturday morning at 8.45 o'clock, and there will be a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Mary's church and the interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Under the auspices of the Silver Cross Circle of The King's Daughters, a Cafe Chantant will be given at the Park Club on Tuesday evening, November 11. The decorations, collation and cabaret will all be upon an elaborate scale.

The program will include many excellent numbers, among which will be dances, songs and monologues by the best local and New York amateur talent. Mueller's famous negro quartet will furnish music throughout the evening and for dancing after the performance.

Popular lines of cigars and cigarettes will be on sale, together with an extremely tempting menu. Tables and boxes may be reserved upon application to Mrs. F. E. DuBois, of Washington avenue. The proceeds from the affair will be used to pay the Silver Cross Circle's pledge to the City Union of The King's Daughters.

LIKELY TO TAKE THE NOTT ENGINE

Believed That Judges Will State That it Came up to Requirements of Test.

TO REPORT TONIGHT

'Tis Said That Saurer Apparatus Failed to Meet the Conditions—Many Watched the Public Investigation.

The official test of the Nott and Saurer fire engines held yesterday under the direction of representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was concluded about 5:30 o'clock last night. The engines were run almost continuously from 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The underwriters kept the official figures and they will be sent to the fire and building committee tonight. They will show exactly what each engine did in the test.

The Nott engine being of 600 gallon capacity, and the Saurer of 500 gallon capacity, it was expected that the former would meet the specifications set forth in the advertisement calling for bids for an auto engine. Unofficially, it is reported that the Nott engine more than met the requirements of the specifications, while the Saurer engine did not come up to the specifications.

It is reported that the Saurer engine showed 27 pound pressure at the nozzle on the one thousand feet of hose, while the Nott engine showed 65 pound pressure under the same conditions. It was the opinion of some experts present that it was hardly fair to compare the two engines, the capacity of one exceeding that of the other, while there is a considerable difference in the size of the engines.

During the test two 400 feet lengths of hose were used and then one thousand foot lengths were substituted. The demonstration attracted representatives of fire departments from nearby cities while several experts from New York came here to watch the "try-out."

As it is the intention of the Common Council to purchase an auto fire engine this year, the money being appropriated for that purpose, it is likely that action will be taken by the Common Council at its November meeting, following the receipt of the official report from the underwriters.

REGISTRATION LESS IN UNION COUNTY

But Party Leaders Claim That This Does Not Signify Indifference.

Elizabeth Oct. 23.—Complete figures of the registration in this city were given out yesterday at the City Hall. They are disappointing to the leaders of both parties, who figured on it equaling if not being greater than that of last year. Up until the closing of the polls last night it was indicated that the registration would be larger. For the three registration days this year 11,782 names were registered, against 13,126 a year ago.

In 1911 there were 11,270 registered voters. This is a falling off of 5 per cent. in the Elizabeth registration from that of last year.

In Plainfield there also was a falling off in the registration, there being 3,454 to register as against 3,941 a year ago, making a decrease of 487.

There was a decrease in the Rahway registration. This year there were 1,912 to register against 1,931 a year ago.

Westfield also shows a decrease in registration. A total of 1,342 registered this year against 1,470 last year, making a decrease of 128.

In Summit there also is a decrease. Last year 1,431 persons were registered, while this year there were 1,243, or a decrease of 188.

As far as this city is concerned, there is not a ward but that shows a decrease.

Party leaders, however, said yesterday that this cannot be taken as an indication of indifference. They point out that last year was Presidential year, when the registration is always greater than during other years.

CONVENTION DELEGATES.

Five members of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. boys' department will go to Camden tomorrow afternoon where they will represent the local association at the annual State Boys' Work conference to be held at that place, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Boys' Secretary C. William Bingeman and Randolph Chandler will lead the local delegation.

STYLE—RELIABILITY

One Price

THE ONLY RECOGNIZED BASIS OF CONFIDENCE.

THE LEADING MERCHANTS in every community, the sound substantial men who have helped to create and build up commercial strength and standing, the men who contribute time, thought, energy and money to their city's advancement along commercial and other lines—long ago recognized the POSITIVE BUSINESS-BRINGING VALUE OF THE ONE PRICE SYSTEM, and that thru its application the only direct road to permanent success is kept open to them.

ONE PRICE inspires confidence; it creates a feeling of security and satisfaction in the customer's mind; it removes every vestige of doubt to the merchant, it gives stamina and prestige; plainly marking his merchandise at a fixed price assures equal consideration for every customer.

ILLEGAL COMBIN E ALLEGATION DENIED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company, the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, the Reading Company and the Wilmington and Northern Railroad Company, leading defendants in the government's suit to dissolve the anthracite coal trust, yesterday, filed separate answers in the United States District Court, in which a general denial is made that they formed an alleged combination to stiffle competition in the sale and transportation of anthracite coal.

Each answer makes a detailed denial, so far as the government's allegations are concerned, asserting that none of the companies are directly or indirectly a party to any agreement seeking either to control the output or the marketing of anthracite coal.

The Reading Company, in its answer admits that it is the holding company of the coal and iron company of the Reading Company and controls nearly all the capital stock of the Wilmington and Northern Railroad, the Schuylkill Navigation Company and the Central Railroad of New Jersey. It is also declared that the reorganization of the railway company and the coal and iron company in 1896 was for the purpose of saving and conserving the large investments of the public and that the reorganization is legal under the laws of Pennsylvania, and therefore should not be attacked as an illegal combination. The denial is made by the Reading Company that the purchase of the majority of stock of the railroads was for the purpose of stiffling competition.

In the answer of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, it is declared that the coal from the anthracite mines are marketed over to railroad systems. It also is contended that a substantial tonnage is shipped, by water from Philadelphia, these contentions all leading up to the point of denial of the alleged unlawful combination.

SULZER BEGINS CAMPAIGN TOUR

Stumps East Side In Fight For Assembly.

HENNESSY'S NEW CHARGE

Talks of $35,000 Note Made by Supreme Court Justice For Murphy — McCall Consults Jerome and Hennessy May Face Criminal Action.

New York, Oct. 23.—William Sulzer's reception on the lower east side last night was like the home-coming of a great war hero. Thousands flocked to the sides of his automobile, sometimes blocking its progress.

"Our next assemblyman!" was the least of the prophecies shouted at him. "Our next governor!" was only the cry of the more conservative of his supporters. "Our next president!" was the only phrase that the ardent followers of Mr. Sulzer thought equal to the occasion. "Our next president!" was the popular cry whenever Mr. Sulzer paused for breath and applause after his attacks on "the chief" and Tammany.

Hennessy's New Charge.

John A. Hennessy, the special investigator and closest adviser of ex-Governor Sulzer, speaking at the Harlem River Park casino last night, openly dared Edward E. McCall to bring a libel action against him for his earlier charges. If Mr. McCall would agree to sue, he said, he would libel him unmistakably, as his greatest desire, he said, was to put Mr. McCall under oath and question him.

Mr. Hennessy rehearsed the stories which he told on the stump earlier in the week, but he made two striking departures. One was a challenge to Charles F. Murphy to deny that he had accepted a note for $35,000 from a man who is now on the supreme court bench and was a possible candidate for mayor. The other was a production of evidence to show why Duncan W. Peck, state superintendent of public works, took the stand against Governor Sulzer in the impeachment trial and there swore that he had given the governor money for the campaign and that the governor had told him to "forget it."

"When Mr. Murphy says that it is nonsense that McCall paid anybody Mr. Murphy lies, and he knows he lies," said Mr. Hennessy. "I tell Mr. Murphy that I have held in my hand a note for $35,000, and more than that, I have held the note for $35,000 signed by another justice of the supreme court, who was one of Mr. Murphy's alternatives for mayor."

Not Through With Murphy.

Mr. Hennessy did not mention the $35,000 note again, but later he told the newspaper men that he might have more to say about it at a future time.

"I am not through with Mr. Murphy yet," he said.

The Peck charge came near the close of his speech. Mr. Hennessy said that Peck had never been subpoenaed by the Frawley committee. He dared Senator Frawley to produce either the subpoena or the man who had served it. Peck, said Hennessy, offered to resign as head of the department of public works in his presence. He produced the books of men employed in Peck's department showing how graft had been collected from laborers earning from $20 to $40 a week. It was to cover up the graft disclosures which would lead higher up, Hennessy asserted, that Peck was induced to go on the witness stand and "lie" about the "forget it" incident. The governor did tell Peck to "forget it," Hennessy said, but the governor meant that Peck should forget a letter sent him by the Frawley committee and not any money contributed to the Sulzer campaign fund.

May Arrest Hennessy.

While Edward E. McCall, Democratic candidate or mayor, declared he would deal in his own way with John A. Hennessy's suggestion that he be asked if a police inspector furnished the money for buying a supreme court justiceship nomination, Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, emphatically and angrily denied that anybody had to pay him for a nomination. The Tammany chief denounced the charge as nonsense.

He also asserted that if election were held tomorrow the Democrats would win by 150,000 majority.

Mr. McCall said that he would deal with the Hennessy statement in his own way and not allow it to confuse the issues of the campaign.

William Travers Jerome, formerly district attorney, called on District Attorney Whitman. Ostensibly it was in relation to the Harry K. Thaw case, but rumor spread rapidly that Mr. Jerome had been retained as counsel for Mr. McCall and that Mr. McCall planned to have Hennessy arrested on a charge of criminal libel.

Panic Closes Bombay Stock Market.

Bombay, British India, Oct. 23.—The Bombay share market closed in consequence of a panic following a tremendous fall in Bombay mill shares and the failure of a broker for approximately $800,000 in addition to fourteen other recent failures. The price of goods on the market at Kurrachee as well as the Bombay share market had been depressed for some days owing to fears of failures.

Light Has a Money Value

Manufacturers are itnerested in keeping down costs and increasing the output of their plants.

With these objects in view the utmost care is exercised in the selection of machinery and in the securing of economy and efficiency in the power drive.

When a machine become obsolete it is cast aside to make room for something better. It pays to make the change.

How many manufacturers give the same consideration to the lighting of their plants?

How many realize that a large proportion of their work must be turned out by the aid of artificial light?

How many stops to think that more work and better work can be done in a well lighted factory than in a poorly lighted one?

Proper illumination tends to reduce the time consumed and reduces the cost of production. At the same time it helps to minimize the chances for mistakes and spoilage, thus adding to quality.

Because of these facts light has a real money value and it would pay every employer of labor to have his workshop properly illuminated.

We can do the job for you.

THE JEW.

Benjamin Altman, who gave practically his all, some thirty-five millions of dollars worth, for the benefit of his fellow man, was a Jew. Nathan Straus, another humanitarian, who recently passed "the great bourne," in life revealed his nobility of character by his splendid gifts. They rose to heights in greatness by their deeds. Tens of thousands representative men of this presecuted race, past and present, are to be classed with these two. Oscar Strauss, for instance, is a very fine example. In political life as in the business world they have been and are honored men, achiev'ng greatness in the face of the worst sort of bigotry and attempted ostracism.

This is not only history in America, but in England and other lands where there is boasted political and religious freedom. It is in London, as it is in this little city of ours—the Jew by his own fine qualities and his perseverance wins his way and compels the respect and honor of his fellow citizens. It was not so long ago that the greatest kingdom and empire on the face of the earth had a Jew as its prime minister and the prime minister of Great Britain, as everyone knows, is the real ruler. Today, the Lord Chief Justice of England, Sir Rufus Isaacs, is a Jew. Today, the Attorney General of England, Sir J. A. Simon, is a Jew. Sir Rufus Isaacs' position carries with it the offer of a peerage. England offers a peerage to a Jew and why? Because in England as in America, it is the man that counts and he wins and holds his position by the force of this own ability and character. He does it, we repeat, in Plainfield as he does it in London.

THEY'RE AFTER LEONARD.

Irrespective of the fate of his colleagues on the ticket, it appears likely that Assemblyman Leonard will not be returned to Trenton. The Elizabeth Democrat aroused the ire of the Union county suffragists during the last session and these women are using what influence they may have against him.

To add to his troubles, Leonard is now being pursued by the New Jersey Civil Service Reform Association. In an address to the voters issued today that body warns the people to be on their guard and to support only such Assembly nominees as will uphold and strengthen the merit system in the event of their election. Singling out Leonard the address says:

"We condemn the attempts made to weaken the law by the introduction of bills in the Legislature at the last session. In particular, we condemn the action in this regard of Assemblyman Leonard of Union county, candidate for re-election."

OUT FOR FIELDER.

The Newark Evening News, the State's leading newspaper and a powerful champion of clean and progressive government, has come out in favor of the election of James F. Fielder, the Democratic candidate for Governor. In doing so, it stamps its approval upon Everett Colby's record and his ideals, but it chooses between them simply on the ground of political expediency. It believes that Fielder can win and that Colby can not. In short the News decides to back Fielder on its sole contention that he can defeat Stokes and Stokes' candidacy is as repulsive to it as those of Fielder and Colby are agreeable.

No less a distinguished clergyman than the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton is to speak in behalf of the Progressive party nominees at Debele hall tomorrow night. You should go and hear him for he is a convincing speaker and an able man.

A Rocky Hill concern has made the first bust of Woodrow Wilson. Woodrow, however, has made "busts" of others before. If you don't believe it, ask "Jim" Smith.

Mrs. Emmy Pankhurst intends to invade Jersey. Doesn't our little State have troubles enough without her?

These are the days when the politician is very solicitious as to your welfare.

DUNBAR CLUB TO CELEBRATE EMANCIPATION ANNIVERSARY

Following the suggestion made by Booker T. Washington, that the present week be set aside by the colored people of the country as "anniversary week," President Joseph R. Gates, of the Dunbar Social and Educational Club, has arranged a special program for the meeting of that organization, which will be held tomorrow night at the Washington School. Dr. Washington, the famous head of the Tuskogee Institute, has written to the newspapers of the country calling their attention to the fact that this marks the fiftieth year of emancipation of the colored race, and that it is fitting that some recognition be made of the rapid strides which have been made by that race along intellectual, moral and religious lines.

In view of Dr. Washington's request, President Gates has arranged what promises to be a very good program for tomorrow night, including recitations from the works of Paul Lawrence Dunbar by Miss B. Chapman; the reading of a paper on Lincoln or Frederick Douglas by N. Pollard and singing by a quartet led by Mr. Lombert. Special music has been arranged for, and Mr. Gates hopes to see a large attendance at the meeting.

PROGRESSIVE NOMINEES VISITED LOCAL SHOPS

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of this city, and Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park, candidate for Assembly on the Progressive ticket, visited two of the largest manufacturing concerns in Plainfield today, distributing circulars and buttons among the employes during the noon-hour recess. The candidates were enthusiastically received both at the Saurer plant on Clinton avenue and the Pond plant on South Second street and not in a single instance was the literature declined.

While the campaigners talked individually with the employes, no mass meeting was held. A number of the men requested the candidates to state their views and outline their platform but the short time allotted them before the men were required to return to work did not warrant any speech-making and the Assembly candidates promised to return later in the week and give short talks.

In several cases Colby supporters were so enthusiastic that they volunteered to distribute the literature among their fellow workmen and in this way many miniature campaigns were launched in the two factories. During the two stops the candidates handed out approximately 600 county circulars and 800 platform circulars.

DEDICATE TOWER TO CLEVELAND

Memorial Given to Princeton With Graduate College.

NOTABLES AT EXERCISES.

Former President Taft Says Mr. Cleveland Was Great Lawyer, Economist, Orator and President—Cleveland's Son, Richard, Releases Flag That Floated Over White House.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 23.—Princeton university's graduate college and the Grover Cleveland memorial tower, which is included in the architectural group of the college buildings, were dedicated in the presence of a distinguished company of learned men from Europe and America. Gifts amounting to $2,850,000 for erection and endowment of the college enabled Princeton to realize an idea conceived twenty years ago—the housing of graduate students in a body. The tower was presented to the university by the Cleveland Monument association, which received gifts for the memorial fund from all over the United States.

The exercises were held in the quadrangle formed by the walls of the graduate college, a quarter of a mile southwest of the main campus. President John Grier Hibben of Princeton presided, and about him were ex-President William H. Taft, who delivered the memorial address on Grover Cleveland; representatives of virtually all the universities and colleges in the United States and Canada, hundreds of alumni and delegates from English, German and French universities.

Former President Taft's estimate of Grover Cleveland, as expressed in his oration, in part follows:

Mr. Cleveland was not a great lawyer, he was not a great economist, he was not a great orator, but he was a great president and a great man, and he was these because of the strong mind, clear intelligence and wide knowledge of affairs. He had the character, honesty, courage and sense of public duty which enabled him to meet great and critical issues without regard to personal consequences.

At the close of the exercises Richard Cleveland, a son of the former president, released to the wind a flag that had floated over the White House during the second administration of Mr. Cleveland.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS HELD UP

Jersey State Board Hampered In Carrying Out New Law.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 23.—Although widowed mothers throughout the state have received pensions under the Nichols act, which went into effect on July 4, they have not received the money represented by the grants, and it is said the state board of children's guardians is having trouble in carrying out the law.

After receiving pension grants many widows who had put their children in orphan asylums were forced to remove them. As they have not received the money for their pensions, they have found themselves under a heavier burden than when there were no pensions.

FINED $100 FOR FLIRTING.

Paterson Recorder Also imposes a Penalty of $10 on His Friend.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 23.—"You are a fine specimen to be flirting with young girls," said Recorder Carroll when Andrew J. Quinn, fifty-three years old, was arraigned on complaint of Miss Hattie Scowcroft, nineteen, of this city.

The recorder fined Quinn $100 and imposed a fine of $10 on John E. Fox, who was with him.

AROUND THE STATE.

Edward Flanagan, who was convicted of illegal voting at Atlantic City, was sentenced by Judge C. L. Cole to serve a term of from one to three years in prison.

Mayor Cary Mau of Verona announced that President Thomas N. McCarter of the Public Service Railroad company had refused to grant a 5 cent fare between Caldwell and Newark. The fare between the two points is 10 cents.

Fifteen cans of opium were confiscated by government officers when they raided a laundry in Trenton and arrested Ung Lung and Lee Sung, the proprietors. The Chinese were arraigned before Commissioner Wilson and held in $1,000 bail each.

Charged with manslaughter, Thomas Layland, an orderly at the Newark almshouse, was arraigned in that city and held without bail for the action of the grand jury. He is accused of having caused the death of an aged inmate recently.

MAN WITH ONE LEG SAVES SEVEN AT SUSPICIOUS FIRE

Metuchen, Oct. 23—Seven sleepers were rescued from the peril of fire yesterday by a cripple.

The blaze destroyed the dry goods and tailor shop of Nathan Loomar about 6 o'clock. Its origin has not been determined, but Mr. Loomar said he had suspicions and would confer with the prosecutor today.

Mr. Loomar, his wife and their five children were sleeping above the store when the fire was discovered by Arthur Greaves, an employe of the Public Service. Although he has but one leg and is forced to use crutches, Greaves climbed the stairs and woke the family, while the store was a mass of flame. The department confined the fire to the building, but the merchandise and household furniture were destroyed.

TELLS GIRL'S DEATH FROM PULPIT, FIND SHE IS ALIVE

Belvidere, Oct. 23.—Instead of being dead, as Rev. J. de Hart Bruen recently announced by request from his pulpit, it has been found that Miss Edith Cobb, formerly of Belvidere, is not only alive, but is married.

Mr. Bruen received a letter from Ballston Spa, N. Y., signed Mrs. Kelly, telling of Miss Cobb's death and asking the minister to announce it from the pulpit and have it published in local newspapers. Mr. Bruen complied with the request and the body was expected here for burial.

As a sequel to the first letter, another was received this week, saying that Miss Cobb was recently married and is far from dead. Who "Mrs. Kelly" is, the minister doesn't know, but he and the young woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Cobb, of this place, are trying to learn.

SAYS GRAFT CHARGE WAS NOT DIRECTED AT COUNCIL

New Brunswick, Oct. 23.—In reply to the request of Common Council for an explanation as to graft charges, alleged to have been made by him, J. Brognard Wright, Progressive candidate for mayor, made this statement yesterday:

"I have been misquoted in what I said. I did not state that a bill of $8, while in the hands of the city fathers, had grown to $24. I said that a bill for work which was $8 had been raised to $28, presented to the Common Council, and paid by the city of New Brunswick.

"The statement was not made with the intention of casting any reflection on Common Council. If the body requests my presence Monday evening next, and will grant me the privilege of the floor for twenty minutes or a half hour, I shall be pleased to attend."

TWO YOUTHS BADLY SLASHED IN ATTACK BY HIGHWAYMEN

Jamesburg, Oct. 23.—Badly slashed and beaten by two highwaymen, Frederick Miller, in the McKinley Hospital in Trenton, and Nathan Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, at his home here, are both in a serious condition. Their discovery alongside a road has led the prosecutor to try all resources of the county to find the assailants.

Both Miller and Smith said they were on the road with Morris Vanderventer and Louis Emens when the two highwaymen stopped them and demanded money. The demand was refused and the footpads attacked them in the dark. Vanderventer and Emens were slightly cut, but fled.

Miller received a dozen cuts about the head and face, his lower lip being almost severed. Young Smith was as badly cut. Some of the wounds indicate that the highwaymen used bottles and knives.

HUNTERDON TEACHERS END THEIR INSTITUTE SESSIONS

Flemington, Oct. 23.—The Hunterdon County Teachers' Institute, which opened Monday in the auditorium of the grammar school building, came to a close yesterday afternoon. The sessions were largely attended each day.

Dr. Alvah Agee, of Rutgers College, was the first speaker at the morning's session, which opened at 9:30 o'clock. His subject was "Training for Rural Life." Following Dr. Agee's address two sectional meetings were held. Miss Sarah Askew, of the State Library, Trenton, addressed the High School teachers on 'The High School Library." The elementary teachers were addressed by Miss Charlotte Herckner, director of manual training, of Hackensack, who had as her subject "The Acid-Test Applied to Problems in Manual Arts for Elementary Schools."

Jason S. Hoffman, county superintendent of public instruction, called the afternoon session to order at 1:30 o'clock. Miss Askew made an address on "The Use of Books in the Schools." At the sectional meetings Dr. W. A. Wetzel, principal of the High School at Trenton, talked to the High School teachers on "The Study-Recitation." The elementary teachers were addressed by Miss Herckner, whose subject was "Suggestions for Practical Problems."

BOARD RULES FAST TRAINS—MUST STOP AT MATAWAN

Trenton, Oct. 23.—At the conclusion of a hearing Tuesday the Board of Public Utility Commissioners decided to recommend to the Pennsylvania Railroad that two fast trains be stopped daily at Matawan. These are the trains leaving Red Bank at 7.05 o'clock in the morning and passing through Matawan at 7.20, and the train leaving Newark at 4.51 in the afternoon, and passing through Matawan at about 5.30. The board also announced that unless the railroad acted upon the recommendations, a formal order would issue, compelling the stopping of these trains.

For a number of years residents of Matawan and Keyport have been fighting to obtain better train service. Their efforts, however, never met with success until the appeal was made to the Public Utility Commission. Among those who appeared at the hearing yesterday were former Assemblyman Elmer H. Geran, of Monmouth county, and George W. Cross, who is in business in Newark. A. P. Gest, appearing for the railroad, argued against compelling the trains to stop, upon the ground that the present schedule benefits the greater number of persons.

F. HOPKINSON SMITH 75.

New York, Oct. 23.—Francis Hopkinson Smith, one of the most remarkable geniuses this country has ever produced, noted as artist, author and engineer, celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birth today. He was born at Baltimore, Oct. 23, 1838, and when quite young worked as a clerk in an iron works establishment. Later he was educated as mechanical engineer and became engineer and contractor. He built the government sea wall around Governor's Island, New York, another at Tompkinsville, S. I.; the Race Rock lighthouse off New London and the foundation for the Bartholdi statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, New York harbor. Later he became a landscape painter of great merit and a lecturer on art subjects. He traveled extensively and became noted as the author of a large number of books, mostly fiction and books of travel. In late years he has traveled a great deal in Europe and devoted himself almost exclusively to literary pursuits.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 23.

EDWARD J. LOCKE, author of "The Case of Becky," says that the reason for David Belasco's great success as a producer of plays is his skill in theatrical surgery. Belasco dissects every manuscript word for word, speech for speech, until its anatomy is in perfect theatrical proportion.

Says Mr. Locke: "From ten in the morning frequently till three the next morning we went through the play with miesroscopic care. Often we spent hours on a few lines, on a single speech." And Thomas Dreier, editor of Associated Advertising, commenting on this, writes: "How many business men give a fraction of this attention to the language and the message in their advertisements—advertisement that go into space costing thousands of dollars?"

There's a thought worth whole here. I have often wondered why folks waste even the small amount a WANT AD costs by dashing off any kind of "copy," running it in a newspaper, and serenely expecting the newspaper to deposit the contents of an advertising Horn of Plenty at their feet.

Newspaper space is valuable in proportion to the efficiency of the written word that is set into type and goes into that space. Even a WANT AD. can be given "pulling power" by the kind of careful, painstaking preparation that is nceessary to make any kind of advertising worthy of the name.

So don't dash off that WANT AD. pell-mell. Take a little time and trouble to convey your message just the way it should be conveyed. The newspaper can sell you white space. It is up to you to make that white space effective.

We can't all be Belascos, but we can learn something from his methods.

Home Study for Children

The amount of home study which most children must do is determined by the amount of studying they are given time to do in school and the ability of their teachers to show them how to make the most of this time. But many children are allowed to spend hours in study at home where minutes would suffice. This is usually the fault of their mothers. The economical housewife is allowed herself to the prodigal mother, and is wasting the child's time and strength.

A child should never study when he is tired. He should never study late at night. He should never study in a close or crowded room.

The ideal place for studying is in a quiet, sheltered spot out-of-doors. If there is a back porch which gets enough afternoon sun to make it cheerful, or a quiet corner of the front porch which can be made the place for studying, it should be used.

When to Study.

On bright autumn or winter days studying after dark may be allowed to children who are old enough to do any homework. For they should spend all the daylight hours, when they are not in school, out-of-doors. Of course, if they can devote an hour in the afternoon to out-of-doors study so much the better. Otherwise they can be allowed to study for half an hour after they have come indoors, and for another half hour after their supper. But whenever children are allowed to indulge in evening study, or even reading for their own entertainment, they should be provided with bright, soft and sufficient light.

There are many advocates of the early morning study hour, and in some cases it is admirable. The child is fresh, in mind and body, then. If he studies in the early morning, he should go early to bed—so early that he naturally wakens early in the morning. Then he might waken at six, dress by half-past six, drink a cupful of warm milk or very weak cocoa and a slice of bread and butter, and study until half-past seven, when he could complete his breakfast in time so that he could get in a little outdoor exercise before school.

Teach Him to Concentrate.

A child is never too young to be taught to concentrate on his studying. Some children learn to concentrate in spite of their surroundings. There was once a little girl who could never study unless she was surrounded by chattering and laughing relatives, because she had always studied in the family living room.

Usually the child should study in a quiet room. If three or four children study together, some older person should sit between them. The study hour can be made the mother's mending hour. Then the mother will be within call if her help is wanted, and she can watch the studying to see that time is not wasted and much unnecessary work is not done.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Herbert Parker.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

To Bring Home and School Nearer Together.

Before another school year rolls around Uncle Sam will have invited more than 4,000,000 monthers of the country to join in the working out of a co-operative plan whereby it is hoped to bring home and school nearer together, to help the parent to get the viewpoint of the teacher on one hand and the other to help the teacher to guide little Johnny or Mary along lines of thought and work which will make the child a greater help in the home and assist it to develop into a better citizen in the nation.

For the want of a better name, the new branch of the bureau has been called the division of home education, which might suggest that the purpose of the government is to turn homes into schools. The encouragement of co-operation between parent and teacher, however, is the sole purpose of the division, and in no manner will its work conflict with the activities of the school.

The National Congress of Mothers of the United States is responsible for the establishment of the new branch of the bureau of education. The division now being organized will not be provided for out of government funds, but will be maintained by virtue of a co-operative arrangement with this large mothers' organization which will provide financial backing for the work, which will be directed and supervised by experts of the bureau of education. This method of providing for the work is similar to the plan followed by the government in conducting the co-operative farm demonstration work in the South, which is made possible largely by funds provided by the general education board, a part of the Rockfeller Foundation.

The same system of government co-operation with semi-private institutions is in operation in financing the new rural organization service of the Department of Agriculture, Congress providing $50,000 for part of the work and the general education board subscribing larger amounts to extend the lines of investigations.

The new division of home education will enable the government to give official sanction to the important work of the parent-teacher associations which have been encouraged by the National Congress of Mothers, and which are now organized in most of the large school centres of the country. The purpose in organizing the division is to extend the same idea of co-operation between home and school in the rural and small town communities, which the parent teacher associations have developed in the large cities.

With this end in view, Commissioner P. P. Claxton, of the bureau of education, has just mailed to a list of 4,000 county superintendents of schools a letter asking their co-operation in the work about to be taken up by the division of home education, requesting the names of the schools under their supervision in the open country, villages or small towns, and the names of at least two women of intelligence and influence in the vicinity of every elementary and High School. The women, preferably mothers, will be asked to co-operate in the work of the home education division by organizing parent-teacher associations for the discussion of the care and training of children in the home both before and after school age.

In the entire country it is expected that there will be named at least 4,000,000 mothers who will co-operate with the government in the work of connecting up school and home to the mutual advantage of both.

Each president of the Plainfield Parent - Teacher Associations and Mothers' Association is on the mailing list of this bureau, and literature on prenatal care of children with sample copies of various publications of this bureau has been received. The children's bureau is a part of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The National Congress of Mothers is composed of the State Congress, the State Congresses are composed of the various Parent-Teacher Associations and Mother's Clubs of the States. Plainfield contributes to the State Congress seven associations representing every school in Plainfield and North Plainfield. The thirteenth annual meeting of the State Congress of Mother's and Parent-Teacher Associations will be held in New Brunswick, November 14 and 15, when the State organization will be the guest of the eight Parent-Teacher Associations of New Brunswick and Highland Park. The central topic of the two days' conference will be "Training for Citizenship" and several noted speakers have accepted places on the program. The subject will be studied from the points of view of the Home, the Kindergarten, Self-Government, Character-Building, Play and Industrial and Vocational Education. The complete program will be published later. Every Parent-Teacher president is urged to complete plans for sending delegates to the Congress.

"I am going to see the law changed or stir up an awful row," said Commissioner Newman in Washington, addressing Washington Center of the Drama League. "There is absolutely no sense in having the school buildings closed to the civic and recreation organizations. The people own the schools and are entitled to use them. They should be the meeting place of the neighbors where they can discuss the problems of the day and enjoy social evenings." Plainfield is evidently in advance of our Capitol city as the school buildings are being opened as rapidly as possible under the auspices of a Recreation Committee appointed by the Mayor.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS OF USING GAME.

GAME makes a useful addition to the food list at this season. Ways of cooking it are many, and most cooks have their own favorite methods. The ones given here have the merit of novelty.

Quail Melange.—Take some quails of good size, allowing one for each person. Clean them and put them in a saucepan with piece of butter. Let them cook ten or twelve minutes, according to size of the quails. As soon as they are well cooked arrange them in a warm earthenware dish. Surround the quail with large white grapes, skinned and with seeds removed. Then take from the saucepan the butter which has remained from the cooking and substitute several teaspoonfuls of grape juice. Add a little good veal gravy and let it boil several minutes, pour over the quails and serve at once.

Cooking Partridge.

Scallops of Partridge.—Take six ounces of partridge free from bone, a quarter of a pint of brown sauce, one-half ounce of butter, four tablespoonfuls of browned crumbs and salt and pepper.

Thickly butter four or five scallop shells—either those of fireproof ware or the natural shells—and shake brown crumbs over the inside. Heat the sauce with the bones and trimmings of the bird in order to flavor it. Chop the meat coarsely and mix with it enough of the sauce to make it moist. Season it carefully. Put a well rounded heap of the mixture into each shell, and sprinkle the top with browned crumbs. Put a few small pieces of butter on the top of each and bake the scallops in a quick oven until they are hot through.

Arrange the shells on a folded napkin and serve very hot.

Baked Snipe.

Snipe on Toast.—Clean the birds and truss for roasting. Then chop the liver, etc., add a little fat bacon, a suspicion of shallot, with a dessertspoonful of dried breadcrumbs. Take a slice of bread two-thirds of an inch thick and divide it into pieces suitable for each bird to be served on. Hollow out the center of each piece and form a little dish. Fry lightly in butter and then fill each with the liver, seasoning, etc. Put the pieces of bread on a baking pan, with a snipe on each, and baste with butter till cooked. Serve very hot, with lemon and gravy.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Fox And the Wild Ducks.

The Whole Flock Rose In the Air.

DADDY raised his eyes from the book he had been reading.

"Here again," he said as Jack and Evelyn came into the room.

"It's time for our story, you know," the children suggested, and daddy sighed.

"I was hoping that you might forget about it," he said, "but it seems that you never do.

"These are the lovely moonlight nights when Mr. Fox likes to go abroad and see what he can carry off from the neighboring farmers.

"Once upon a time a very smart fox lived in a den in some lonely woods. Everybody was anxious to catch him, but he was too clever to be caught.

"One day as he was slipping home he heard some ducks saying 'Quack, quack, quack!'

"'Ah,' said Mr. Fox; 'they must be over there on the water!' So he slipped through the bushes so he could peer out over the brook.

"Then he saw them swimming gayly down the stream.

"He followed them until they turned into a pond that opened into the brook. Mr. Fox thought he was sure of the ducks, so he did not try to hide.

"'Come on out of the water!' he called to them, but at first they did not pay any attention to him.

"Now, the leader of the seven little ducks was a very wise bird. He looked around at his companions, and maybe he winked an eye. At any rate, the other little ducks kept very quiet and looked at their leader.

"The wind was blowing straight toward them, and their leader perched his head on one side for a minute as if he were listening.

"'Hist, brother ducks!' he quacked. 'When I give the signal all be ready.'

"Mr. Fox had never been more interested in anything than he was in those ducks. The leader gave a screech, and the whole flock rose into the air.

"Mr. Fox had never seen wild ducks before, and he was so surprised that he just sat and stared at them as they flew away.

"He was so busy staring that he did not notice his old enemy, the dog, come rushing up with open mouth and tongue lolling out.

"Right after the dog came a man with a gun. He looked regretfully after the wild ducks that were flying away and then at Mr. Fox, who now, very much frightened, was trying to get off the stone.

"'Oh, ho,' cried the man; 'here we have the fox who has been stealing my chickens!' And crack went his gun. Over tumbled Mr. Fox, and they do say that the gun man's wife now has a set of furs that look very much like Mr. Fox's coat."

COLORED BROCADE BRIGHTENS DARK FROCKS

While vivid colors are very modish, a touch is quite sufficient to brighten and trim the street dress or suit. For evening wear, of course, these bright dyes may be indulged in to the heart's content. The rich coloring of the brunette is enhanced by a touch of that new flame color that so well deserves its name. The blond or she of the "in-between" complexion may select Turkish green or one of the brilliant blues for the touch of sharp contrast required on the new suit or frock.

A plain blouse and a plaid skirt are used in 7713-7861. The design shows a novel two-piece skirt. The arrangement of the tucks on the front gives the effect of a tunic in front and a slightly draped appearance in back. The blouse shows a good looking raglan sleeve in a drop-shoulder.

To make 7713 in size 36 it requires 2¾ yards of 36 inch material. 7861 needs for size 24, 3 yards of 36 inch material.

A clever way to introduce the vivid bit of colored brocade or embroidery is shown in 7773. The material of the dress is navy blue silk poplin. There is a mingling of several soft Turkish tones in the embroidery. Rose and gold predominating. Aside from the inset on the side of the blouse and skirt, the sash may be in a contrasting shade also. A high roll collar is an attractive feature of this model.

This design may be copied in size 36 with 4¼ yards of 42 inch material.

No. 7713—sizes 32 to 42.
No. 7861—sizes 22 to 30.
No. 7773—sizes 34 to 42.

MAYOR EVANS A CROPPER IN HUNT CLUB CHASE

A large field including Mayor Harry W. Evans, of Westfield, followed the Watchung hounds over fifteen miles of open trappy country, yesterday. The hounds were cast in at Valentine's bridge, going in the direction of Oak Tree, where they were checked. They were then cast in on the Speer farm, crossing the Ellis estate, the Borden, Compton and Manning farms and checking at Metuchen.

In crossing the Ten Eyck farm, where the jumping was stiff, the Mayor came a cropper, but was quickly up and after his horse was caught rode to the finish amid much applause. Those noticed in the field were: R. C. Finch, M. F. H., F. D. French, J. J. O'Donohue, H. S. Hollis, R. H. Towner, Mayor Harry W. Evans, of Westfield; J. Greenleaf Sykes, of New York; Col. C. E. S. Bellows and Huntsman Harrison.
